enough, and mocked the Hebrews.

2. THEY ARE BEFORE HIS EYES—and he says of them, "How belated, belated are they, saying, 'We will then leave ourselves; will they feed us; will they build us a day; will they make their households against out of the heaps of dust, seeing they are burnt.'"

3 And Tobias the Announcer was before him, and said, Although our hands, yeil a loud voice, ye shall even speak power from your wall.

4 Weare, Your God (for we are delivered) and turne their shame upon their own head, & give them unto a praye " In the land of their captivitie.

5. And cover not their sinquities neither let their shame be put out in the audience: but they have promised to be long the builders.

6. So he built the wall, and all the wall was joined unto the house thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.

7. But when Sanballat and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Moabites heard that the walls of Jerusalem were repaired, (for the quarters began to be stopped) then they were very wroth.

8 And conspired altogether to come and to fight against Jerusalem, and to hinder them.

9. Then wee prayed unto our God, and set watchmen by them day and night, because of them.

10 And Judah said, The strength of the bearers is weakened, and there is much earth, so that wee are not able to build the wall.

II Also our adversaries had said, They shall not know, neither see, till we come into the mids of them and slay them, and cause the woeke to cease.

12 But when the Jewes (which dwelt beside them) came, they tolde vs ten times
From all places whence pee shall returne,
they will be upon vs.

13 Therefore set I in the lower places behind the wall upon the tops of the stones, and placed the people by their families with their swordes, their speares and their homes.

14. Then I beheld, and, rose by, and laid unto the princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, Be not afraid of them:
I remember the great Lord, and fear-
full and fight for you: brethren, your sons, and your daughters, your wives, and your boulders.

15 And when our enemies heard that it was known unto us, then God brought their counsell to nought, and wee turned all againe to the wall, every one vnto his worke.

16 And from that day, halfe of the yong men did the labour, and the other halfe part of them held the speares, and shields, and bowes, and habergins: and the rulers stode behind all the house of Judah.

17 They that builded on the wall, & they that

72 And the rest of the people gave twenty thousand drams of golde, and two thousand pieces of silver, and therefore and seven Priests garments.

73 And the Priests and Levites, and the porters and the singers and the rest of the people, and the Scribes, and all Israel dwelt in their cities: and when the seventh moneth came, the children of Israel were in their cities.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Ezra gathered together the people, and readeth to them the Law. 12 They rejoice in Israel for the knowledge of the word of God. 23 They keep the feast of Tabernacles or booths.

And all the people assembled themselves together, in the streete that was before the water gate, and they spake unto Ezra the Scribe, that he would bring the booke of the Law of Moyses, which the Lord had commanded to Israel.

2 And Ezra the Priest brought the Law before the Congregation both of men and women, and of all that could heare and understand, in the first day of the seventh moneth.

3 And he read therein in the streete that was before the water gate (from the morning until the midday) before men and women, and them that understood it, and the eares of all the people hearkened unto the booke of the Law.

4 And Ezra the Scribe stood upon a pulpit of wood, which he had made for the preaching, and beside him stood Baniashab, and Shema, and Amariah, and Azariah, and Ussiah, and Shabbethai on his right hand, and on his left hand Zebadiah, and Meshai, and Malchiah, and Baithan, and Mathbada, Zechariah, and Meshulam.

5 And Ezra opened the booke before all the people: for he was above all the people: & when he opened it, all the people stood up.

6 And Ezra prayed the Lord the great God, and all the people answered, Amen, with lifting up their hands: and they bowed themselves, and worshipped the Lord with their faces toward the ground.

7 Also Jeshua, and Bani, & Sherebiah, Jamin, Akub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Zechariah, Jolabab, Banan, Zebadiah, and the Levites caused the people to understand the Law, and the people stood in their place.

8 And they read in the booke of the Law of God distinctly, & gave the sense, and caused them to understand the reading.

9 Then Nehemiah (which is Tirathatha) and Ezra the Priest and Scribe, and the Levites that instructed the people, said unto all the people, This day is holy unto the Lord your God: mourn not, neither weepe: for all the people wept, when they heard the words of the Law.

10 We say also unto them, Go and eat of the fat, and drinke the sweete, and send part unto them, for whom none is prepared: for this day is holy unto our Lord: be ye not sorrowful therefore: for the joy of the Lord is your strength.

11 And the Levites made silence through all the people, saying, Hold your peace for the day is holy: be not sad therefore.

12 Then all the people went to the tabernacle, and to send away part, to make great joy, because they had understood the words that they had taught them.

13 And on the second day, the chief of the people, all the people, the Priests and the Levites were gathered unto Ezra the Scribe, that he also might instruct them the words of the Law.

14 And they found written in the Law (that the Lord had commanded by Moyses) that the children of Israel should dwell in booths in the feast of the seventh month.

15 And that they should cause it to be declared and proclaimed in all their cities, and in Jerusalem, saying, Go forth into the mount, and bring olive branches, and pine branches, and branches of myrtles, & palm branches, and branches of thick trees, to make booths, as it is written.

16 So the people went forth and brought them, and made them booths, every one upon the roof of his house, & in their courts, and in the courtes of the house of God, and in the streete by the watergate, & in the street of the gate of Cymanai.

17 And all the Congregation of them that were come againe out of the captivity, made booths, and late under the booths: for since the time of Joshua the sonne of Nun unto this day, had not the children of Israel done so, and there was very great joy.

18 And he read in the booke of the Law of God every day, from the first day unto the last day. And they kept the feast seven dayes, and on the eighth day a solemn assembly according unto the manner.

CHAP. IX.

1 The people repent, and forsake their foreign wives. 5 The Levites exhort them to praise God. 6 Declaring his wonders. 26 And their gratitude. 30 And Gods great mercies toward them.

1 And the four & twentieth day of this month, the children of Israel were assembled with fasting, and with sackcloth, and earth upon them.

2 (And they that were of the seed of Israel were separated from all the strangers) and they stood and confessed their sinnes and the iniquities of their fathers.

3 And they stood up in their place and read in the booke of the Law of the Lord their God four times on the day, and they confessed and worshipped the Lord their God four times.

4 Then stood up upon the stairs of the Levites Jeshua, and Bani, Kadmiel, Shabbethai, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Shema, and cried with a loud voice unto the Lord their God.

5 And the Levites sayd, even Jeshua and Kadmiel, Bani, Shabbethai, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shabbethai and Zebadiah stand up, and praise the Lord your God.

his own enemies, and let them praise thy glorious Name, O God, which excelleth above all thanksgiving and praise.

6 Thou art Lord alone: thou hast made heaven, and the heaven of all heavens, with all their hosts, the earth, and all things that are therein, the seas, and all that are in them, and thou perfectedst them all, and the hosts of the heaven worshipped thee.

7 Thou art, O Lord, the God that hast chosen Aaron, and broughtest him out of Egypt for a high priest, and madest his name a husband.

8 And foundedst his heart faithful before thee, and madest a covenant with him, to give unto his seed the land of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, and Hivites, and Jebusites, and Gergazites, and hast performed thy wordes, because thou art true.

9 Thou hast also considered the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, and heard their cry by the red sea.

10 And shewed tokens and wonders upon Pharaoh, and on all his servants, and on all the people of his land: for thou knowest that they dealt proudly against them: therefore thou madest thee a name, as appeareth this day.

11 For thou didst breake by the sea before them, and they went thowise the mids of the sea on dry land: and those that pursued them, hast thou cast into the bottomes as a stone in the mighty waters.

12 And leddest them in the day with a pillar of a cloud, and in the night with a pillar of fire, to give them light in the way that they went.

13 Thou comest downe also upon mount Sinai, and shakest unto them from heaven, and gapest them right iudgements, and true lawes, ordinances, and good commandments.

14 And declardest unto them thine holy Godhead, and commanddest them precepts, and ordinances, and lawes, by the hand of Moses thy servant.

15 And gapest them bread from heaven for their hunger, and broughtest forth water for them out of the rocks for their thirst: and promisedst them that they should go in, and take possession of the lande, for the which thou haddest lift up thine hand for to give them.

16 But they and our fathers behaved themselves proudly, & hardened their necke, so that they hearkened not unto thy commandments.

17 But refused to obey, and would not remember thy marvellous workes that thou hast done for them, but hardened their neckes, and had in their heads to returne to their bondage by their rebellion: but thou, O God of mercies, gracious and full of compassion, of long suffering and of great mercy, yet forsookest them not.

18 Wherefore, when they made them a molten calfe (and said, This is thy God that brought thee up out of the land of Egypt) and committed great blasphemies,

19 Yet thou for thy great mercies for-sookest them not in the wilderness: the pillar of the cloude departed not from them by day to lead them the way, neither the pillar of fire by night, to shew them light, and the way whereby they should goe.

20 Thou gapest also thy good Spirit to instruct them, & withheldest not thy M A N from their mouth, and gapest them water for their thirst.

21 Thou didst also feed them forty yeeres in the wilderness: they lacked nothing: their clothes waxed not old, and their feet swelled not.

22 And thou gapest them kingdoms and people, and scatteredst them into corners: so they possessed the land of Sion and the land of the kings of Ierushon, and the land of Og king of Bashan.

23 And thou diddest multiplye their children like the starrs of the heaven, & broughtest them into the land, wherof thou hadst spoken unto their father, that they should go, and possesse it.

24 So the children went in, and possessed the land, and thou subduedst before them the inhabitants of the land; even the Canaanites, and gapest them into their handes, with their kings and the people of the land, that they might doe with them what they would.

25 And they tooke their strong cities and the fat land, and possessed houses, full of all goods, cisternes digged out, vineyards, and olives, and trees for food in abundance, and they did eate, and were filled, and became fat, and lived in pleasures through thy great goodness.

26 Yet they were disobedient, & rebelled against thee, and cast thy law behind their backs, and slew thy Prophets (which) protested among them to turne them unto thee) and committed great blasphemies.

27 Therefore thou deliveredest them into the hand of their enemies that vexed them: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cryed unto thee, thou heardest them from the heaven, and through thy great mercies thou gapest them lions, who saved them out of the hand of their adversaries.

28 But when they had rest, they returned to doe evill before thee: therefore thou didst thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that they had the dominion over them, yet when they converted, and cried unto thee, thou heardest them from heaven, and deliveredest them according to thy great mercies many times.

29 And protestedst among them that thou mightest bring them againe unto thy Law: but they behaved themselves proudly, and hearkened not unto thy commandments, but sinned against thy iudgements (* which) a man should do and live in them) and pulled away the shoulder, & were stiff-necked and would not heare.

30 Yet thou diddest forbear them many yeeres, and protestedst among them by thy Spirit, even by the hands of thy Prophets, but they would not hear: therefore gauest thou them into the hand of the people of the lands.

31 Yet for thy great mercies thou hast not consumed them, neither forsaken them: for thou art a gracious and merciful God.

32 Now therefore our God, thou great God, mightie and terrible, that keepeth covenant and mercy, let not all the affliction that hath come vnto vs, seeme a little before thee, that is, to our Kings, to our Princes, and to our Priests, and to our prophets, and to our fathers, and to all thy people, since the time of the kings of Asshur vnto this day.

33 Surely thou art iust in all that is come vpon vs: for thou hast dealt truly, but we haue done wickedly.

34 And our Kings and our Princes, our Priests and our fathers haue not done thy Law, nor regarded thy commandments, nor thy prohibitions, wherewith thou hast prospered among them.

35 And they haue not serued thee in their kingdom, and in thy great goodness that thou shewest vnto them, and in the large and fatte land which thou givest, set before them, and haue not conuered from their evil works.

36 Beholde, we are seruants this day, and the lands that thou gapest vnto our fathers, to eate the fruit thereof, and the goodness thereof, behold, we are seruants therein.

37 And it yeeldeth much fruite vnto the kings whom thou hast set ouer vs, because of our sinnes: and they haue dominion ouer our bodies and ouer our cattell at their pleasure, and we are in great affliction.

38 Nowe because of all this we make a sure covenant, and write it, and our princes, our Levites and our Priests seale vnto it.

11 Seraiah, the sonne of Hilkiab, the sonne of Shephulaim, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Seraiah, the sonne of Ahitub was chiefe of the house of God.

12 And their brethren that did the worke in the Temple, were eight hundred twenty and two: and Abiaiah the sonne of Jeroham, the sonne of Belaiab, the sonne of Amzi, the sonne of Zerachiah, the sonne of Pahur, the sonne of Pahaiab:

13 And their brethren, chiefe of the fathers two hundred and two and fourtie: and Amasai, the sonne of Azazel, the sonne of Amasai, the sonne of Shephai, the sonne of Amasai:

14 And their brethren valiant men, an hundred and eight and twenty: and their over-seeer was Zabdiel the sonne of Bageadolin.

15 And of the Levites, Shephaniah the sonne of Hashub, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Hashabiah, the sonne of Bunni.

16 And Shephaniah, and Azabab of the chiefe of the Levites were over the workers of the house of God without.

17 And Bartaiah the sonne of Bitha, the sonne of Zaddi, the sonne of Asaph was the chiefe to begin the thanksgiving and prayer: and Bakuchiah the second of his brethren, and Abda the sonne of Shephaniah, the sonne of Galai, the sonne of Jeduthan.

18 All the Levites in the holy citie were two hundred fourty and four.

19 And the porters Akub, Talmon and their brethren that kept the gates, were an hundred twenty and two.

20 And the scribes of Israel of the Priests, and of the Levites dwell in all the cities of Judah, every one in his inheritance.

21 And the Sacerdotes dwell in the fortress, and Ziba, and Gisha were over the Sacerdotes.

22 And the overseer of the Levites in Jerusalem was Uzri the sonne of Sani, the son of Ababiah, the sonne of Bartaiah, the son of Bitha: of the sonnes of Asaph singers were over the worke of the house of God.

23 For it was the Kings commandment concerning them, that faithfull provision should be for the singers every day.

24 And Zerachiah the sonne of Geshazabael, of the sonnes of Zerach, the sonne of Judah was at the Kings hand in all matters concerning the people.

25 And in the villages in their landes, some of the children of Judah dwell in Athath-arba, and in the villages thereof, and in Dibon, and in the villages thereof, and in Jehazabel, and in the villages thereof.

26 And in Bethua, and in Moladah, and in Beth-palet.

27 And in Hazer Shual, and in Beer-sheba, and in the villages thereof.

28 And in Sikkag, and in Geshonah, and in the villages thereof.

29 And in En-rimmon, and in Zareah, and in Jarmuth.

23 The sonnes of Levi, the chief fathers were written in the booke of the Chronicles even unto the dayes of Johanan the sonne of Eliashib.

24 And the chiefs of the Levites were Hattabiah, Sherebiah, & Ieshua the sonne of Kadmiel, and their brethren about them to give praye and thanks, according to the ordinance of David the man of God, warde over against ward.

25 Wattaniah and Bakkukiah, Shadiah, Beshullam, Talmon, and Akkub were porters keeping the ward at the thresholds of the gates.

26 These were in the dayes of Joiakim the sonne of Ieshua, the sonne of Josadak, and in the dayes of Jeremia the captaine, and of Ezra the Priest and Scribe.

27 And in the dedication of the wall at Jerusalem they sought the Levites out of all their places to bring them to Jerusalem to keepe their dedication and gladness, both with thanksgivings and with songs, cymbals, viols, and with harpes.

28 Then the singers gathered themselves together both from the plaine country about Jerusalem, and from the villages of Bethphathi.

29 And from the house of Gilgal, and one of the countreys of Gaba, and from the fingers had built them villages round about Jerusalem.

30 And the Priests and Levites were purified, and cleaned the people, and the gates, and the wall.

31 And I brought up the princes of Judah upon the wall, and appointed two great companies to give thanks, and the one went on the right hande of the wall towards the doung gate.

32 And after them went Hoshai, and halfe of the princes of Judah.

33 And Azariah, Ezra and Beshullam.

34 Judah, Benjamin, and Shemaiah, and Jeremia.

35 And of the Priests sonnes with trumpets, Zerachiah the sonne of Jonathan, the sonne of Shemaiah, the sonne of Wattaniah, the sonne of Hilkiah, the sonne of Saccar, the sonne of Alaph.

36 And his brethren, Shemaiah, and Azareel, Bilalal, Gilgal, Shai, Athanai, and Judah, Hanani, with the musical instruments of David the man of God: and Ezra the scribe went before them.

37 And to the gate of the fountaine, even over against them went they by by the staires of the city of David, at the going up of the wall beyond the house of David, even unto the water gate Eastward.

38 And the second company of them that gave thanks, went on the other side, and I after them, and the halfe of the people was upon the wall, and upon the tower of the furnaces even unto the broad wall.

39 And upon the gate of Ephraim, and upon the old gate, and upon the fish gate, and the tower Hananeel, and the tower of Shai, even unto the threpe gate: and they stood in the gate of the ward.

40 So stood the two companies (of them that gave thanks) in the house of God, and I and the halfe of the rulers with me.

41 The Priests also, Eliakim, Shadiah, Hinnai, Hilkiah, Elienai, Zerachiah, Hananiah, with trumpets.

42 And Shasrah, and Shemaiah, and Eleazar, and Azai, and Jehohanan, and Bakkiah, and Elam, and Ezer: and the singers: sang loud, having Ieremiah which was the overier.

43 And the same day they offered great sacrifices and rejoiced: for God had given them great joy, so that both the women and the children were ioyfull: and the ioy of Jerusalem was heard farre off.

44 Also at the same time were men appointed over the chambers of the store in the offerings (for the first fruits, and for the tithes) to gather into them out of the cities of the portions of the Lawe: for the Priests and the Levites: for Judah rejoiced for the Priests and for the Levites, that served.

45 And both the singers and the Levites kept the ward of their God, and the ward of the purification, according to the commandment of David, and Salomon his sonne.

46 For in the dayes of David & Asaph.

of old were chief fingers, and songs of praise and thanksgiving unto God.

47 And in the dayes of Zerubbabel, and in the dayes of Nehemiah did all Israel give portions unto the fingers and porters, every day his portion, & they gave the holy things unto the Levites, and the Levites gave the holy things unto the sonnes of Aaron.

C H A P. XIII.

1 The Law is read. 3 They separate from them all strangers. 15 Nehemiah reproveth them that break the Sabbath. 30 An ordinance to serve God.

And on that day did they read in the book of Moses, in the audience of the people, and it was found written therein, that the Ammonite, and the Moabite, should not enter into the Congregation of God.

3 Because they met not the children of Israel with bread and with water, & but hired Balaam against them, that he should curse them: and our God turned the curse into a blessing.

3 Now when they had heard the Lawe, they separated from Israel: all those that were mixed.

4 And before this had the wisest Eliashib the oversight of the chamber of the house of our God, being a kinsman to Tobiah:

5 And hee had made him a great chamber, and there had they at sometime laid the offerings, the incense, and the vessels, and the tithes of come, of wine, & of oyle (appointed for the Levites, and the fingers, and the porters) and the offerings of the priests.

6 But in all this time was not I in Jerusalem: for in the two and thirtieth yeere of Artabassher king of Babel, came I unto the king, and laster certaine dayes I obtained of the king.

7 And when I was come to Jerusalem, I understood the evil that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in that he had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God.

8 And it grieved me thus: therefore I cast forth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber.

9 And I commanded them to cleanse the chambers: and either brought I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meat offering and the incense.

10 And I perceived that the portions of the Levites had not bene given, & that every one was fled to his lande, even the Levites and fingers that executed the worke.

11 Then reprovoun I the rulers, and said, Why is the house of God forsaken? And I assembled them, and set them in their place.

12 Then brought all Judah the tithes of come and of wine, and of oyle unto the treasures.

13 And I made treasurers over the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, and Zadack the Scribe, and of the Levites, Bedaiab, and under their hand I gave the somme of Jaccur the somme of Bartanaiab: for they were counted faithful, and their office was to distribute unto their brethren.

14 Remember mee, O my God, hererin, and wipe not out my kindness that I have shewed on the house of my God, and on the offices thereof.

15 In those dayes saw I in Judah, them that trode wine presses on the Sabbath, and that brought in sheaves, and which laden asses also with wine, grapes, and figges, and all burthens, and brought them unto Jerusalem upon the Sabbath day: and I protested to them in the day that they tolde victuals.

16 There dwelt men of Tyne also therein, which brought fish and all wares, & sold on the Sabbath unto the children of Judah, even in Jerusalem.

17 Then reprovoun I the rulers of Judah, and sayd unto them, What evil thing is this that ye doe, and breake the Sabbath day?

18 Did not your fathers thus, & did our God bringe al this plague upon vs, & upon this cite: yet ye increase the wrath upon Israel, in breaking the Sabbath.

19 And when the gates of Jerusalem began to be darke before the Sabbath, I commanded to shut the gates, and charged, that they should not be opened till after the Sabbath, and some of my servants set I at the gates, that there should no burden be brought in on the Sabbath day.

20 So the chappmen and merchants of all merchandise remained once or twise all night without Jerusalem.

21 And I protested among them and said unto them, Why tarre ye all night about the wall? If ye doe it once againe, I will lay hands upon you. From that time came they no more on the Sabbath.

22 And I sayd unto the Levites that they should cleanse themselves, and that they should come and keepe the gates to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and pardon me according to thy great mercy.

23 In those dayes also I saw Jewes that married wives of Aethiops, of Ammon, and of Moab.

24 And their children spake halfe in the speech of Aethiops, and could not speake in the Jewes language, and according to the language of the one people, and of the other people.

25 Then I reprovoun them, and cursed them, and smote certaine of them and pulled off their haire, and tooke an othe of them by God, Ye shall not give your daughters unto their sonnes, neither shall ye take of their daughters unto your sonnes, nor for your selves.

26 Did not Salomon the king of Israel sinne by these things: yet among many nations was there no king like him: for he was beloved of his God, & God had made him king over Israel: Per strange women caused him to sinne.

27 Shall we then obey unto you, to do all this great evil, and to transgresse against our God, even to marrie strange wives?

28 And one of the sonnes of Joiada the sonne of Eliashib the high Priest was the sonne in law of Sanballat the Mojonite: but I chased him from me.

29 Remember them, O my God, & defile

g I declared vnto them, that God would not suffer such transgressors of his law to be unpunished.

h Was not this a great cause why God plagued vs in times past? meaning, that if they transgressed now in the same againe, their plague should be greater.

THE ARGUMENT.

Because of the diversitie of names, whereby they vsed to name their kings, and the supposition of Byaces, wherein the Hebrews & the Grecians do vary, diuers authors write diuersly as touching this Ahashuerosh, but it seemeth, Dan. 6. 1. and 9. 1, that he was Darius king of the Medes, and sonne of Astyages, called also Ahashuerosh, which was a name of honour, and signified great and chiefe, as chiefe head. Herein is declared the great mercies of God toward his Church, who neuer faileth them in such great dangers, but when all hope of worldly helpe faileth, he euer stirreth vp some by whom he fetcheth comfort and deliverance. Herein also is described the ambition, pride, and cruelty of the wicked when they come to honour, and their sudden fall when they are at the height: and how God prevaileth and preferreth them which are zealous of his glory, and have a care and loue toward their brethren.

CHAP. I.

3 King Ahashuerosh maketh a royall feast, 12 Whereunto the Queene Vashti will not come: 19 for which cause she is divorced. 20 The kings decree touching the preeminence of man.

In the dayes of Ahashuerosh (this is Ahashuerosh that reigned from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer and hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces)

2 In those dayes when the king Ahashuerosh sate on his throne, which was in the palace of Shushan,

3 In the third yere of his reigne he made a feast vnto all his princes and his seruants, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the captaiues and gouernours of the prouinces which were before him,

4 That hee might shewe the riches and glory of his kingdom, and the honour of his great maiestie many dayes, euen an hundred and fourescore dayes.

5 And when these dayes were expired, the king made a feast to all the people that were found in the place of Shushan, both vnto great and small, seuen daies, in the court of the garden of the kings palace,

6 Vnder an hanging of white, Greene, and blew clothes, fastened with cords of fine linnen and purple, in siluer rings, and pillars of marble: the beds were of gold, and of siluer vpon a pavement of porphyre, and marble and alabaster, and blew colour.

7 And they gaue them drinke in vessels of gold, and changed vessels after vessel, and royall wine in abundance according to the power of the king.

8 And the drincking was by an order, none might compell: for so the king had appointed vnto all the officers of his house, that they should doe according to euery mans pleasure.

9 Then queene Vashti made a feast also for the women in the royall house of king Ahashuerosh.

10 Vpon the seventh day, when the king was merry with wine, he commanded Shehban, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the seuen Eunuchs, (that serued in the presence of king Ahashuerosh)

11 To bring Queene Vashti before the king with the crowne royall, that hee might shew the people and the princes her beautie: for she was faire to looke vpon.

12 But the Queene Vashti refused to come at the kings word, which hee had giuen in charge to the eunuchs: therefore the king was very angry, and his wrath kindled in him.

13 Then the king sayde to the wise men, that knew the times (for it was the kings manner towards all that knewe the law and the iudgement;

14 And the next vnto him was Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Parshana and Memucan the seuen princes of Persia and Media, which saw the kings face, and sate the first in the kingdom)

15 What shall we doe vnto the Queene Vashti according to the law, because she did not according to the word of the King Ahashuerosh by the commission of the eunuchs?

16 Then Memucan answered before the king and the princes, The Queene Vashti hath not onely done euill against the king, but against all the princes, and against all the people that are in all the prouinces of king Ahashuerosh.

17 For the act of the Queene shall come abroad vnto all women, so that they shall despise their husbands in their owne eyes, and shall say, The king Ahashuerosh commanded Vashti the Queene to be brought in before him, but she came not.

18 So shall the princesses of Persia and Media this day say vnto all the kings princes, when they heare of the act of the queene: thus shall these be much despised fullnesse and wrath.

19 If it please the king, let a royall decree proceed from him, a let it be written among the statutes of Persia, and Media (and let it not be transgressed) that Vashti count no more before king Ahashuerosh: & let the king giue her royall estate vnto her companion that is better then she.

20 And when y decree of the king which shall be made, shall be published throughout all his kingdom, (though it be great) all the women shall giue their husbands honour both great and small.

21 And this saying pleased the king and the

the princes, and the King did according to the word of the Lord.

21. For he sent letters into all the provinces of the King, into every province according to the writing thereof, and to every people, after their language, that every man should observe rule in his own house, and that he should publish it in the language of the same people.

CHAPTER II.

1. After the Queen a put away, certain young maidens are brought to the King. 2. After pleased the King, and is made Queen. 3. Mordecai discovers the King those that would betray him.

After these things, when the wrath of King Ahasuerus was appeased, he remembered Esther, and what she had done, and what was decreed against her.

2. And the kings servants that ministered unto him, said, Let them seek for the king beautiful young virgins.

3. And let the king appoint officers through all the provinces of his kingdom, and let them gather all the beautiful young virgins unto the palace of Shushan, in the house of the women, under the hand of Hegai the kings eunuch, keeper of the women, to give them their things for purification.

4. And the maids that shall please the king, let her reign in the stead of Esther. And this pleased the King, and he did so.

5. ¶ In the cite of Shushan, there was a certain Jew, whose name was Mordecai the son of Jair, the sonne of Shimei, the sonne of Kish a man of Benjamin.

6. Which had beene carried away from Jerusalem with the captivitie that was carried away with Ierobal King of Judah (whose name was Nabuchodonosor King of Babel had carried away)

7. And hee nourished Hadassah, that is Esther, his uncles daughter: for shee had neither father nor mother, and the maide was faire, and beautifull to looke on: and after the death of her father and her mother, Mordecai tooke her for his owne daughter.

8. And when the Kings commandment and his decree was published, and many maidens were brought together to the palace of Shushan, under the hand of Hegai, Esther was brought also unto the Kings house under the hand of Hegai the keeper of the women.

9. And the maide pleased him, and shee found favour in his sight: therefore hee caused her things for purification to bee given her by friends, and her state, and seven countie maidens to bee given her out of the Kings house, and hee gave change to her and to her maidens of the best in the house of the women.

10. But Esther shewed not her people and her kindred: the Mordecai had charged her, that shee should not tell it.

11. And Mordecai walked every day before the court of the womens house, to know if Esther did well, and what should bee done with her.

12. And when the course of every maide came, to goe in to King Ahasuerus, after that she had bene twelve moneths according to the manner of the women (for so were the dayes of their purifications accomplished, sixe moneths with oyle of myrre, and sixe moneths with sweete odours, and in the purifying of the women)

13. And thus went the maydes unto the King: whatsoever he required, was given her, to goe with her out of the womens house unto the Kings house.

14. In the evening shee went, and on the morrow shee returned into the second house of the women under the hand of Shashtagaz the Kings eunuch, which kept the concubines: shee came in to the King no more, except hee pleased the King, and that shee were called by name.

15. Nowe when the course of Esther the daughter of Abihail the uncle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, that shee should goe in to the King, shee desired nothing, but what Hegai the kings eunuch the keeper of the women said: and Esther found favour in the sight of all them that looked upon her.

16. ¶ So Esther was taken unto King Ahasuerus into his house royall in the tenth moneth, which is the moneth Tebeth, in the seventh yeere of his reigne.

17. And the King loved Esther above all the women, and shee found grace and favour in his sight more then all the virgins: so that hee set the crowne of the kingdom upon her head, and made her Queene in stead of Esther.

18. Then the King made a great feast unto all his princes, and his servants, which was the feast of Esther, and gave rest unto the provinces, and gave gifts, according to the power of a King.

19. And when the virgins were gathered the second time, then Mordecai sat in the Kings gate.

20. Esther had not yet shewed her kindred, nor her people, as Mordecai had charged her: for Esther did after the word of Mordecai, as when shee was nourished with him.

21. ¶ In these dayes when Mordecai sat in the Kings gate, two of the Kings eunuchs, Bigthan and Teresh, which kept the doore, were wroth, and sought to lay hand on the King Ahasuerus.

22. And the thing was knowne to Mordecai, and hee tolde it unto Queene Esther, and Esther certified the King thereof in Mordecais name: and when inquisition was made, it was found so: therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the booke of the Chronicles before the King.

CHAPTER III.

1. Haman after hee was exalted, obtained of the King that all the Jewes should be put to death, because Mordecai had not done him worship as other had.

After these things did King Ahasuerus promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, and exalted him, and set his seat above all the Princes that were with him.

reuerenced Haman: for the king had so commanded concerning him: but Mordecai bowed not the knee, neither did reuerence.

3 When the kings seruants which were at the kings gate, layde vnto Mordecai, why traunscellest thou the kings commandment?

4 And albeit they spake dayly vnto him, yet he would not heare them: therefore they tolde Haman, that they might see howe Mordecais matters would stand: for he had tolde them, that he was a Jew.

5 And when Haman saw that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was full of wrath.

6 Now hee thought it too little to lay handes onely on Mordecai: and because they had shewed him the people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Jewes, that were throughout the whole kingdom of Aghsherois, euen the people of Mordecai.

7 In the first moneth (that is the moneth of Nissan) in the twelfth yeere of King Aghsherois, they call Nisan (that is a Iew) before Haman, from day to day, and from moneth to moneth, vnto the twelfth moneth, that is the moneth of Adar.

8 Then Haman said vnto King Aghsherois, There is a people scattered, and dispersed among the people in all the provinces of thy kingdom, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they doe not obserue the Kings lawes: therefore it is not the Kings profit to suffer them.

9 If it please the King, let it bee written that they may be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of silver by the hands of them that haue the charge of this business to bring it vnto the Kings treasure.

10 Then the Kingooke his ring from his hand and gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, the Jewes aduersarie.

11 And the King said vnto Haman, Let the silver be thine, and the people to do with them as it pleaseth thee.

12 Then were the kings officers called on the thirteenth day of the first moneth, and there was written (according to all that Haman commanded) vnto the kings officers, and to the captaynes that were ouer euery province, and to the rulers of euery people, and to euery province, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people according to their language: in the name of king Aghsherois was it written, and sealed with the kings ring.

13 And the letters were sent by postes into all the kings provinces, to roote out, to kill and to destroy all the Jewes, both young and old, children and women, in one day vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, (which is the moneth of Adar) and to spoyle them as a pray.

14 The contents of the writing was, that there should bee giuen a commandment in all provinces, and published vnto all people, that they should bee readie against the same day.

15 And the postes compelled by the kings commandment went forth, and the commandment was giuen in the palace at Shushan: and the king and Haman were drinking, but the citie of Shushan was in perplexitie.

CHAP. III.

1 Mordecai giueth the Queens knowledge of the cruell decree of the King against the Iewes. 2 She willeth that they pray for her.

3 When Mordecai perceived all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth and ashes, and went out into the middes of the citie, and cryed with a great crye and a bitter.

4 And hee came euen before the kings gate, but hee might not enter within the kings gate, being clothed with sackcloth.

5 And in euery province, and place, whither the kings charge and his commission came, there was great sorrow among the Jewes, and fasting, and weeping, and mourning, and many lay in sackcloth & in ashes.

6 Then Esther maidens her eunuches came and tolde it her: therefore the Queene was very braute, and shee sent rayment to cloth Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloth from him, but hee received it not.

7 Then called Ester batath one of the kings eunuches, whom hee had appointed to serue her, and gaue him a commandment vnto Mordecai, to know what it was, and why it was.

8 So batath went forth to Mordecai vnto the streete of the citie which was betwixt the Kings gate.

9 And Mordecai tolde him of all that which had come vnto him, & of the summe of the silver that Haman had promised to pay vnto the kings treasure, because of the Jewes for to destroy them.

10 Also hee gaue him the copie of the writing & commission that was giuen at Shushan, to destroy them, that hee might shew vnto Ester, and declare it vnto her, and to charge her, that she should go in to the king, and make petition and supplication being him for her people.

11 So when batath came, he tolde Ester the words of Mordecai.

12 Then Ester layde vnto batath, and commanded him to shew vnto Mordecai.

13 All the kings seruants doe know, that whosoeter man or woman, that cometh to the king into the inner court, which is not called, there is a law of his, that hee shall except him to whom the king holdeth out the golden rod, that hee may liue. Now I haue not bene called to come vnto the king these thirtie dayes.

14 And they certified Mordecai of Esters words.

15 And Mordecai said, that they should answer Ester thus, Think not with thy selfe, that thou shalt escape in the kings house, more then all the Jewes.

16 For if thou holdest thy peace at this time, I commit and deliurance shall appeare to the Jewes out of another place, but thou and thy fathers house shall perish.

and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdome? such a time?

12 Then Ester commanded to answer Mordecai.

13 And, after all the Jewes that were in Shushan, and fast ye for me, and eat not, nor drinke in three dayes, day nor night. I also and my maydes will fast likewise, and so will I goe in to the king, which is not according to the law: and if I perish, I perish.

17 So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Ester had commanded him.

CHAP. V.

1 Ester came in to the king, and biddeth him and Haman to a feast.

2 As on the third day Ester put on her apparel, and stood in the court of the kings palace within, over against the kings house: and the king came upon his roial throne in the kings palace over against the gate of the house.

3 And when the king sawe Ester the Queene standing in the court, she found fauour in his sight: and the king & her out the golden scepter that was in his hand: so Ester drew nere, and touched the top of the scepter.

4 Then sayde the king vnto her, What wilt thou Queene Ester? and what is thy request? it shall be euen giuen thee to the halfe of the kingdome.

5 Then said Ester, If it please the king, let the king and Haman come this day vnto the banquet, that I haue prepared for him.

6 And the king sayd, Cause Haman to make haste that hee may doe as Ester hath sayd. So the king and Haman came to the banquet, that Ester had prepared.

7 And the king sayd vnto Ester, at the banquet of mine, What is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy request? it shall euen be performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

8 Then answered Ester, and sayd, My petition and my request is,

9 If I haue found fauour in the sight of the king, and if it please the king to giue mee my petition, and to performe my request, let the king and Haman come to the banquet that I shall prepare for them, and I will do as they shall say according to the kings saying.

10 Then went Haman forth the same way to sayll and with a glad heart. But when Haman sawe Mordecai in the kings gate, that hee shoud not bow, nor moued to him, then was Haman full of indignation at Mordecai.

11 Neuertheless Haman restrained himselfe, and when hee came home, hee sent and called for his friends and Seruethis wife.

12 And Haman told them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and of all the things wherein the king had promoted him, and howe that hee had set him above the princes and lieutenants of the king.

13 Haman sayd moreover, Now, Ester the Queene did let no man come in with the king to the banquet that shee had prepared, save me: and to morrow am I bidden vnto her also with the king.

14 But all this doeth nothing answere me, as long as I see Mordecai the Jewe sitting at the kings gate.

15 Then sayd Zereth his wife and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of sctice: cutts it, and to morrowe speake thou vnto the king, that Mordecai may bee hanged thereon: then shalt thou go sayfully with the king vnto the banquet. And a thing pleased Haman, and he caused to make the tree.

CHAP. VI.

1 The king warreth Mordecai, and findeth the falsenes of Haman, 10 And commandeth Haman to cause Mordecai to bee had in honour.

1 The same night the king slept not, and he commanded to bring the booke of the Records and the Chronicles: and they were read before the king.

2 Then it was found written that Mordecai had told of Bigtana, and Zereth two of the kings enunches, keepers of the doore, who sought to lay handes on the king Ashtasereth.

3 Then the king said, What honour and dignitie hath bene giuen to Mordecai for this? And the kings seruants that ministered vnto him, sayd, There is nothing done for him.

4 And the king said, What is in the court? (Some Haman was come into the inner court of the kings house, that hee might speake vnto the king to hang Mordecai on the tree that he had prepared for him.)

5 And the kings seruants said vnto him, Behold, Haman standeth in the court. And the king said, Let him come in.

6 And when Haman came in, the king said vnto him, What shall be done vnto the man, whom the king will honour? Then Haman thought in his heart, To whom would the king do honour more then to me?

7 And Haman answered the king, The man whom the king would honour,

8 Let them bring for him royall apparel, which the king useth to wear, and the horse that the king rideth vpon, that the crowne royall may be set vpon his head.

9 And let the raiment and the horse be delivered by the hand of one of the kings most noble princes, and let them apparel the man (whom the king will honour) and cause him to ride vpon the horse through the streets of the cite, and proclaime before him, Thus saith it be done vnto the man whom the king will honour.

10 Then the king said to Haman, Make haste, take the raiment and the horse as thou hast said, and do so vnto Mordecai the Jew, that sitteth at the kings gate: let nothing faile of all that thou hast spoken.

11 So Haman took the raiment and the horse, and arrayed Mordecai, and brought him on horsebacke through the streets of the cite, and proclaimed before him, Thus saith it be done to the man whom the king will honour.

CHAP. VII.

3 The Queene biddeth the king and Haman a game, and prayeth for her selfe and her people. 9 She accuseth Haman, and he is hanged on the gallies which he had prepared for Mordecai.

¶ The King and Haman came to banquet with the Queene Ester.

2 And the king said againe vnto Ester, What is thy petition, Queene Ester, that it may bee giuen thee: and what is thy request? It shall be euen performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

3 And Ester the Queene answered, and says, If I haue found fauour in thy sight, O king, and if it please the king, let my life be giuen mee at my petition, and my people at my request.

4 For we are sold, I, and my people, to be destroyed, to be slaine and to perish: but if wee were sold for seruants, and for hand-maydes, I would haue helde my tongue: although the aduersarie could not recompence the kings loss.

5 Then King Abasheroth answered, and sayde vnto the Queene Ester, What is hee? and where is hee that shall presume to doe thus?

6 And Ester sayde, The aduersary and euemie is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was asfraid before the king and the Queene.

7 And the king arose from the banquet of wine in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: but Haman stood vp, to make request for his life to the Queene Ester: for he saw that there was a mischief prepared for him of the king.

8 And when the king came againe out of the palace garden, into the house where they dranke wine, Haman was fallen vpon the bed whereon Ester sat: there fore the king sayd, Will hee saue the Queene also before me in the house? As the word went out of the kings mouth, they couered Hamans face.

9 And Harbonah one of the eunuches sayde in the presence of the king, Beholde, there standeth yet the tree in Hamans house fit for cubites hie, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that shalbe good for the king. Then the king said, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Haman on the tree that hee had prepared for Mordecai: then was the kings wrath pacified.

1 After the death of Haman was Mordecai rewarded. 14 Comfortable letters are sent vnto the Jewes.

¶ The same day did king Abasheroth give the house of Haman the aduersarie of the Jewes vnto the Queene Ester. And Mordecai came before the king: so Ester said what he was vnto her.

2 And the king tooke out his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mordecai: and Ester set Mordecai ouer the house of Haman.

3 And Ester shoke yet more before the king, and fell downe at his feete weeping, and besought him that hee would put away the wickednesse of Haman the Agagite, and his deuise that he had imagined against the Jewes.

4 And the king helde out the golden scepter toward Ester. Then arose Ester, and stoode before the king.

5 And said, If it please the king, and if I haue found fauour in his sight, and the thing be acceptable before the king, and I please him, let it be written, that the letters of the deuise of Haman the sonne of Ammedatha the Agagite, may be called againe, which he wrote to destroy the Jewes, that are in all the kings prouinces.

6 For how can I suffer and see the ruin, that shall come vnto my people? O how can I suffer and see the destruction of my kindred?

7 And the king Abasheroth said vnto the Queene Ester, and to Mordecai the Jew, Beholde, I haue giuen Ester the house of Haman, whom they haue hanged vpon the tree because hee laid hand vpon the Jewes.

8 Write ye also for the Jewes, as it lieth you in the kings name, and seale it with the kings ring (for the writings written in the kings name, and sealed with the kings ring, may no man reuoke.)

9 Then were the kings scribes called at the same time, euen in the third moneth, that is the moneth of Sivan, on the thirte and twentieth day thereof: and it was written, according to all as Mordecai commanded vnto the Jewes, and to the princes, and capitaines, and rulers of the prouinces, which were from India euen vnto Ethiopia, an hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces, vnto euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their speech, and to the Jewes, according to their writing, and according to their language.

10 And he wrote in the king Abasheroths name, and sealed it with the kings ring, and hee sent letters by postes on horsebacks, and that rode on besides of piers, as horsemen, and scoles of mares.

11 Wherein the king granted the Jewes (in what cities former they were) to gather themselves together, and to stand for their life, and to roote out, to slay and to destroy all the power of the people and of the prouinces that hated them, with children and women, and to spoile their goods:

day of the twelfth month, which is the month Abar.

12 The copy of the writing was both there found to be a commandment given to all and every province, published among all the people, and that the Jewes should be ready against that day to avenge themselves on their enemies.

13 So the politer rode upon beasts of asies, and camels, and went forth with speed, to execute the kings commandment, and the decree was given at Shushan the 24. last.

14 And Mordecai went out from the king in royal apparel of blue and white, and with a great crowne of gold, and with a garment of fine linnen and purple, and the cite of Shushan rejoyced and was glad.

15 And unto the Jewes was come light and joy and gladnesse and honour.

17 And in all and every province, and in all and every cite & place, where the kings commandment and his decree came, there was joy and gladnesse to the Jewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the land became Jewes: for the feare of the Jewes fell upon them.

CHAP. IX.

1. At the commandment of the king the Jewes put their adversaries to death. 14. The ten sonnes of Haman are hanged. 17. The Jewes keepe a feast in remembrance of their deliverance.

1 In the twelfth month, which is the twelfth Abar, upon the thirteenth day of the same, when the kings commandment and his decree thereto were to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Jewes hoped to have power over them (but it was contrary: for the Jewes had rule over them that hated them).

2 The Jewes gathered themselves together into their cities, throughout all the provinces of the king Ahasuerus, to lay hands on such as sought their hurt, & no man could withstand them: for the feare of them fell upon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the provinces, and the rulers and the captaynes, and the officers of the king, exalted the Jewes: for the feare of Mordecai fell upon them.

4 For Mordecai was great in the kings house, and the report of him went through all the provinces: for this man Mordecai was greater and greater.

5 Thus the Jewes smote all their enemies with strokes of the sword and slaughter, and destruction, & did what they would unto those that hated them.

6 And at Shushan the palace slew the Jewes and destroyed five hundred men.

7 And Barnabatha, and Dalpeth, and others.

8 And Parthas, and Abaila and Arion, and others.

9 And Barnabatha, and Arisai, and Arisai, and others.

10 The ten sonnes of Haman, the sonne of Haman, the adversary of the Jewes, they slew: but they layd not their hands on the king.

11 On the same day came the number of those that were slain, unto the palace of Shushan before the king.

12 And the king layd unto the Queen Ester, The Jewes have slain in Shushan the palace and destroyed five hundred men, and the ten sonnes of Haman: what have they done in the rest of the kings provinces? and what is thy petition, that it may be given thee? or what is thy request moreover, that it may be performed?

13 Then layde Ester, If it please the king, let it be granted also to morrow to the Jewes that are in Shushan, to doe according vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang upon the tree Hamans ten sonnes.

14 And the king charged to doe so, and the decree was given at Shushan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes.

15 & On the Jewes that were in Shushan assembled themselves upon the fourteenth day of the month Abar, & slew their hundred men in Shushan, but on the people they layd not their hands.

16 And the rest of the Jewes that were in the kings provinces assembled themselves and stood for their lives, and had rest from their enemies, and flew of them that hated them, twenty and five thousand: but they layd not their hands on the people.

17 Thus they did on the thirteenth day of the month Abar, and rested the fourteenth day thereof, and kept it a day of feasting and joy.

18 But the Jewes that were in Shushan assembled themselves on the thirteenth day, and on the fourteenth thereof, and they rested on the fifteenth of the same, and kept it a day of feasting and joy.

19 Therefore the Jewes of the villages that dwelt in the unwall'd towne, kept the fourteenth day of the month Abar with joy and feasting, even a joyfull day, and every one sent presents unto his neighbour.

20 And Mordecai wrote these words, and sent letters unto all the Jewes that were through all the provinces of the king Ahasuerus, both neere and farre.

21 Injoyning them that they shoulde keepe the fourteenth day of the month Abar, and the fifteenth day of the same, every yeere.

22 According to the dayes wherein the Jewes rested from their enemies, and the month, which was turned unto them from sorrow to joy, and from mourning unto a joyfull day, to keepe them the dayes of feasting and joy, and to send presents every man to his neighbour, and gifts to the poore.

23 And the Jewes promised to doe as they had begun, and as Mordecai had written unto them.

24 Because Haman the sonne of Hamanabatha the Agagite all the Jewes adversary, had imagined against the Jewes, to destroy them, and had said Hara (that is a lot) to consume and destroy them.

THE ARGUMENT.

1 N this historie is set before our eyes the example of a singular patience. For this holy man, Iob was not only extremely afflicted in outward things and in his body, but also in his mind and conscience by the sharpe tentations of his wife, and chiefe friends: which by their vehement wordes, and false disputations brought him almost to despair: for they set fourth God as a fawles Iudge, and mostall enemie vnto him which had calt him off, therefore in vaine hee should seek to win him for succour. These friends came vnto him vnder pretence of consolation, and yet they tormented him more then he did all his affliction. Notwithstanding hee did constantly reuile them, and at length had good success. In this story we haue to marke that Iob maintaineth a good cause, but handleth it euill: against his aduersaries haue an euill manner, but they defend it craftily. For Iob held that God did not alway punish men according to their finnes, but that hee had secret iudgements, whereof man knewe not the cause, and therefore man could not reason against God therein, but hee should be conuicted. Moreouer, hee was assured that God had not retriued him, yet through his great torments and affliction, hee brast forth into many inconueniences both of wordes and humences, and sweeth himselfe in desperate man in many things, and as one that would reuile God: and this is his good cause which he doeth not handle well. Again, the aduersaries mainteine with many goodly arguments that God punisheth continually according to the trespass, grounding vpon Gods providence, his iustice, and mercifullnes, yet their intention is euill: for they labour to bring Iob into despair, and so to trye him as an euill cause. Ezekiel commendeth Iob as a iust man, Eccl. 8. 14. and James reuerech his patience for an example, James 5. 11.

5 For death was appointed to the blasphemers, and so hee meant that he should be foisted out of his paine. 6 That is, to be patient in adversity, as we reioyce when hee sendeth prosperitie, and so to acknowledge him to be both mercifull and iust. 7 He so biddeth his affections, that his tongue through impatience, did not murmur against God. 8 Which were men of authoritie, wise and learned, and as the Septuagint write, Kings, and came to comfort him, but when they saw how he was visited, they conceived an euill opinion of him, as though he had bene an hypocrite, and so iustly plagued of God for his fautes. 9 This was also a ceremonie, which they vsed in those countreies, as the renting of their clothes in signe of sorrow, &c. 10 And therefore that hee would not have hearkened to their counsell.

14 Hee taketh the wise in their craftines,
and the counsell of the wicked is made foolish.

15 They meeete with darkenesse in the day time, and grope at noone day, as in the night.

16 But hee saucth the poore from the sword, from their mouth, & from the hand of the violent man.

17 So that the poore hath his hope, but iniquitie shall stop her mouth.

18 Behold, blessed is the man whom God correcteth: therefore refuse not thou the cha-stising of the Almighty.

19 For hee maketh the wound, and bind-eth it vp: hee smiteth, and his handes make whole.

20 He shall deliuer thee in fire troubles,
and in the seuerity the euill shall not touch
thee.

21 In famine hee shall deliuer thee from death: and in battell from the power of the sword.

22 Thou shalt be hid from the scourge of which declareth that sinne is euer in our corrupt nature: for before sinne it was not subiect to paine and affliction. k If I suffered as thou doest, I would seeke vnto God. l He counselleth Iob to humble himselfe vnto God, to whom all creatures are subiect, and whose workes declare that man is inexcusable, except hee glory in God in all his workes. m He sheweth by particular examples what the workes of God are. 1. Cor. 3. 19. n In things plaine and eu-ident they shew themselves fooles in stead of wise men. o This declareth that God punisheth the worldly wise, as he threatened, Deu. 28. 37. p That is, hee that humbleth himselfe before God. q Hee compareth the slander of the wicked to sharpe swords. r If the wicked be compelled at Gods workes to stop their mouthes, much more they that professe God. s He will send trouble after trouble, that his children may not for one time, but continually trust in him: but they shall have a comfortable issue, euen in the greatest and the last, which is here called the seuerity.

Hee willch-Iob so consider-
the example of all them that haue liued or doe
liue godly, whether any of them
be like vnto him
in raging against God as because of his afflictions,
b Murmuring, and against God in his afflictions, increase the paine
and vnto the sinner mans
soul.

c That is, the sinner that hath not the feare of God.

d I was not moued with his prosperity, but knew that God had cursed him
and his.

e Though God
sometime siteth
the fathers to pass in this world, yet his iudgements will light vpon their wicked children.

f By publike iudgements they shall bee condemned and none shall pite-
tie them.

g Though there be but two or three eares left in the hedges, yet
these shall be taken from him.

h That is, the earth is not the cause of barren-nesse, and man's misy, but his owne sinne.

1 Whereas the wicked lament in their troubles, thou shalt have occasion to rejoyce.

u When we are in Gods favour, all creatures shall serve vs.

x God shall so bleſſe thee, that thou shalt have occasion to rejoyce in all things, and not to be offended.

y Though the children of God have not always this promise performed, yet God doeth recompense it otherwise to their advantage.

z Wee have learned these points by experience, that God punisheth not the innocent, that man cannot compare in justice with him, that the hypocrites shall not long prosper, and that the affliction which man susteineth, cometh for his owne sinne.

22 But thou shalt laugh at destruction and death, and shalt not be afraid of the breath of the earth.

23 For the stones of the field shall be in league with thee, and the beasts of the field shall be at peace with thee.

24 And thou shalt know that peace shall be thy habitation, and thou shalt visit thy habitation, and shalt not sinne.

25 Thou shalt perceive also, that thy seed shall be great, and thy posteritie as the grasse of the earth.

26 Thou shalt goe to thy grave in a full age, as a ricke of corne cometh in due season into the barn.

27 Lo, thus have we enquired of it, and so it is: heare this, and know it for thy selfe.

28 I have learned these points by experience, that man cannot compare in justice with him, that the hypocrites shall not long prosper, and that the affliction which man susteineth, cometh for his owne sinne.

CHAP. VI.

1 Job answereth, that his paine is more grievous then his fault. 2 He wisheth death. 3 He complaineth of his friends.

B Ut Job answered, and sayd, 2 Oh that my griefe were well weighed, and my miserie were layd together in the balance!

3 For it would be now heavier then the sand of the seathertoe: my words are swallowed up.

4 For the arrows of the Almighty are in mee, the venime whereof doth drinke by my spirit, and the terrois of God fight against me.

5 Doeth the wilde asse bray when he hath grasse? or loweth the oxe when he hath fodder?

6 That which is unsauourie, shall it be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egge?

7 Such things as my soule refused to touch, as were sowres, are my meate.

8 Oh that I might haue my desire, and that God would grant me the thing that I long for!

9 That is, that God would destroy me: that he would let his hand goe, and cut me off.

10 Then should I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorrow, let him not spare) because I haue not denied the words of the Holy one.

11 What power haue I that I should endure? or what is mine end, if I should prolong my life?

12 Is my strength the strength of stones?

a To know whether I complain without iust cause.

b My griefe is so great, that I lacke words to expresse it.

c Which declarereth that he was not onely afflicted in body, but wounded in conscience, which is the greatest battell that the faithfull can haue.

d Thinke you that I live without cause, seeing the bruite beasts doe not complain when they haue what they would?

e Can a mans taste delight in that that hath no flavour? meaning that none take pleasure in affliction, seeing they cannot away with things that are unsauourie to the mouth.

f Herein he sinneth double, both in wishing through impatience to die, & also in desiring of God a thing which was not agreeable to his will. g That is, let me die at once, before I come to distrust in Gods promise through mine impatience. h He feareth lest he should be brought to inconveniences, at his footes should continue,

or is my flesh of brasse?

13 Is it not so, that there is in mee no helpe? that strength is taken from mee?

14 He that is in miserie ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but men have taken the teare of the Almighty.

15 My brethren haue decreed me as a brooke, and as the running of the river they passe away.

16 Which are blackish with ice, & when the snow is hid,

17 But in time they are dyed up with heat, and are consumed: and when it is hot, they passe out of their places.

18 Or they depart from their way & course, yes, they banish and perish.

19 They that goe to Senna, consider them, and they that go to Sodom, wasted by them.

20 As they were confounded: when they hoped, they came thither and were ashamed.

21 Surely now are ye like = unto it: ye haue seene my fearful plague, and are afraid.

22 As if because I sayd, Bring unto mee = as give a reward to mee of your substance?

23 And deliver me fro the enemies hand, or ransom me out of the hand of tyrants?

24 Teach me, & I will = both my tongue: and cause me to understand wherein I have erred.

25 What = steadfast are the words of righteousness: and what can any of you fully reprove?

26 Doe ye imagine to reprove = words, that the talke of the afflicted should be as the wind?

27 Ye make your wrath to fall upon the fatherlesse, and dig a pit for your friend.

28 Howe therefore be content to = look upon me: for I will not lie before your face.

29 Turne, I pray you, let there be no iniquitie: returne. I say, and ye shall see yet my righteousness in that behalf. Is there good or iniquitie in my tongue? doth not my mouth speele sayings?

table words. o Shew me wherein I have erred, and I will amend my fault. p He that hath a good conscience, doth not need the sharpe words or reasoning of others, except they be able to swade him by reason. q Do you censure at my words, because I have been thought to speake foolishly which am now in misery? consider whether I speake as one that is driven to this impatience by very sorrow, or as an hypocrite as you condemn me.

CHAP. VII.

1 Job sheweth the shortness & misery of mans life. 2 Heer not an appointed time to man upon earth: and are not his dayes as = dayes of an hireling?

2 As a hireling longeth for the shadowe, and as a hireling looketh for the end of his worke,

3 So haue I had as an inheritance the = moneths of banitie, and painefull nightes haue bene appointed unto me.

4 I I pray mee dotage, I sayd, Deliver me from moneth to moneth, and I looked for hope in vain.

and he hath sent them into the place of their iniquitie.

5 Yes if thou wilt early seek unto God, and pray to the Almighty.

6 If thou be pure and upright, then surely he will awake up unto thee, and hee will make the habitation of thy righteousness prosperous.

7 And though thy beginning be small, yet thy latter end shall greatly increase.

8 Inquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy self to search of their fathers.

9 For we are but of yesterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes upon earth are but a shadow.

10 Shall not they teach thee and tell thee, and utter the words of their heart?

11 Can a rush grow without mire? or can the grass grow without water?

12 Though it were in greene and not cut downe, yet shall it wither before any other herbe.

13 So are the paths of all that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shall perish.

14 His confidence also shall be cut off, and his trust shall be as the house of a spider.

15 Hee shall lean upon his house, but it shall not stand: hee shall hold him fast by it, yet shall it not endure.

16 The tree is greene before the sunne, and the branches spread over the garden thereof.

17 The rootes thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, and are soulden about the house of stones.

18 If any plucke it from his place, and it denie, saying, I have not seene thee,

19 Behold, it will reioyce by this meane, that it may grow in another moile.

20 Behold, God will not cast away an upright man, neither will hee take the wicked by the hand.

21 Till hee haue filled thy mouth with laughter, and thy lips with joy.

22 They that hate thee shall bee clothed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not remaine.

23 And why dost thou not pardon my transgression: and take away mine iniquities? now that I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seeke me in the morning, I shall not be found.

24 I feare mine terme of life is short, let me haue some rest.

25 Seeing that man of himselfe is so vile, why dost thou honour to contend against him? To vnder all kinds of temptation, and leadeth Job to repentance: yet it was his perfection, that he could bridle himselfe from reasoning.

26 That is, I shall be dead.

CHAP. VII.

1 Bildad sheweth that Job is a sinner, because God punisheth the wicked, & preserveth the good.

2 Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,

3 How long wilt thou talke of these things: and how long shall the words of thy mouth be as a mighty wind?

4 Dost thou pervert iudgement: or dost thou the Almighty subvert iustice?

5 If thy sonnes haue sinned against him,

and he hath sent them into the place of their iniquitie.

6 Yes if thou wilt early seek unto God, and pray to the Almighty.

7 If thou be pure and upright, then surely he will awake up unto thee, and hee will make the habitation of thy righteousness prosperous.

8 And though thy beginning be small, yet thy latter end shall greatly increase.

9 Inquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy self to search of their fathers.

26 That is, I shall be dead.

CHAP. IX.

1 Job declareth the mighty power of God, and that mans righteousness is nothing.

2 Then Job answered, and said,

3 I know verely that it is so: for how should man compared vnto God be iustified?

4 If he would dispute with him, he could not: nor were one thing of a thousand.

5 Iustice of God and his innocency, confessing God to be infinite in iustice, and man to be nothing in respect.

6 Of a thousand things, which God could lay to his charge, man cannot answer him one.

7 That is, hath rewarded them according to their iniquities.

8 Meaning, that Job ought to be warned by the example of his children, that he offend not God.

9 That is, if thou turne betime, whiles God calleth thee to repentance.

10 Though the beginnings be not so pleasant, as thou wouldst desire, yet in the end thou shalt haue sufficient occasion to content thy selfe.

11 He will let Job to examine all antiquities, & he shall find it as which he here sayth.

12 Meaning, that it is not enough to haue thee experience of our felicity, but to be confirmed by the examples of the that went before.

13 As a rush cannot grow without moisture, so cannot the hypocrite because he hath not faith, which is moistened with Gods Spirit.

14 Which is to say, although it be removed from one place to another, yet flourisheth: so the affliction of the godly turneth to their profit.

15 That is, so that there remaine nothing there so prouue whether the tree hath grown there or no.

16 To be planted in another place, where it may growe at pleasure.

17 If thou be godly, hee will giue thee occasion to reioyce, and if not, thine affliction shall increase.

18 A thousand things, which God could lay to his charge, man cannot answer him one.

Remember I pray thee, that thou hast made me as the clay, and wilt thou bring me thus to a grave?

10. Hast thou not begotten me one as mine, and turned me to crabs like cheese?

11. Thou hast clothed me with thine and thine, and togged me together with thine bones and sinners.

12. Thou hast given me life, and grace; and the visitation hath quickened my spirit.

13. Though thou hast made these things in mine heart, yet I know: that it is to wish thee.

14. If I have sinned, then thou wilt surely look into me, and wilt not holde me guiltless of mine iniquities.

15. If I have done wickedly, thou wilt not: if I have done wickedly, I will not rub up mine hands; being full of confusion, because of mine wickedness.

16. But let it increase: thine thou me as a flower returns, and thine thy self: I marvel how thou wilt.

17. Thou renewest thy plagues against me, and thou increasest thy wrath against me: changes and armies of thine are against me.

18. Therefore thou hast thou brought me out of the womb: O that I had perished, and that mine eyes had seen me!

19. And that I were as I had not bene, but brought from the womb to the grave!

20. Are not my dayes few? let him cease, and leave off from me, that I may take a little comfort.

21. Before I goe, and shall not: returns, down to the land of darkness, and shadow of death:

22. Into a land, I say, darke as darkness it is: self, and into the shadow of death, where is none order, but the light is there as darkness.

23. Into a land, I say, darke as darkness it is: self, and into the shadow of death, where is none order, but the light is there as darkness.

of mine bones, but thou hast delivered me, according to thy promise: therefore that God hath forgotten thee, thy words are vain.

7. Canst thou be searching him out? canst thou make out the things hid in his perfection?

8. The heavens are his, what canst thou doe? it is deeper than the heyl, how canst thou know it?

9. The measure thereof is longer than the earth, and it is broader than the sea.

10. If he cut off mine head, I will not: if he gather together, who can turne him backe?

11. For he knoweth vain men, and setteth iniquities, and him that understandeth nothing.

12. Per vain man would be wise, though man as a doge is like a wilde ass: cont.

13. If thou: I prepare thine heart, and stretch out thine hands toward him:

14. If iniquities be in thine hand, wilt thou face away, and let no wickedness dwell in thy tabernacle.

15. Then truly shalt thou lift up thy face without spot, and shalt bee stable, and shalt not feare.

16. But thou shalt forget thy misery, and remember it as waters that are past.

17. Thine age also shall appeare more clear than the noone day: thou shalt thine and be as the morning.

18. And thou shalt be bold, because there is hope: and thou shalt dig pits, and shalt lie downe safely.

19. For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraid: yea, many shall make sure unto thee.

20. But the cries of the wicked shall fade, and their refuge shall perish, and their hope shall be layde of minde.

d That is, this perfection of God;

and if man bee not able to comprehend the height of the heaven, the depth of hell, the length of earth, the breadth of the sea, which are but creatures: how can he attaine to the perfection of the Creator?

e If God should turne the state of things, and establish a new order in nature, who could controll him?

f That is, without understanding: so that whatsoever gifts he hath afterward, come of God, & not of nature.

2. Job accuseth his friends of ignorance. 7. He declareth the might and power of God, 17. and how he chaungeth the course of things.

Then Job answered and sayd,

2. In deede because that yet are the people onely, willedome must die with you.

3. But I have understanding as well as you, and am not inferior unto you: yea, who knoweth not such things?

4. I am as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth upon God, and he heareth him: the lust and the vppright is laughed to scorn.

5. I see that it is ready to fall, as a lampe despised in the opinion of the rich.

Pro. 1. 2. b He reproveth these his friends of two faults: the one, that they thought they had better knowledge then indeed they had, and the other, that in stead of true consolation, they did deride and despise their friend in his adversitie. c The rich neighbour being a mocker, and a wicked man, thinketh that no man is in Gods favour but he, because he hath all things that he desireth. d As the rich esteeme not a light or torch, that goeth out, so is hee despised that falleth from prosperitie to adversitie.

† Ely. to whom God hath brought on with his hand.

He declareth
 to them that did dispute against him, that their wisdom is common to all, and such as the very bruite beasts doe
 dayly teach.

Or, fish.
 He exhorteth
 them to be wise
 in iudging, and
 as well to know
 the right vie why
 God hath giuen
 them eares, as hee hath done a mouth.

Though men
 by age, and experience of time
 attain to wise-dome, yet it is not comparable to Gods wise-dome, nor able to comprehend

 his iudgements,
 wherein he an-swereth to that,

which was alled-
 ged, Chap. 8. 8.

h. He sheweth
 that there is nothing done in this world without Gods will, & ordinance: for else

he should not be almighty.

i. He taketh wise-
 dome from them.

k. He abateh
 the honour of Princes, and bringeth them into the subiection of others.

l. He causeth that their words haue no credite, which is, when he will punish sinne. m. In this discourse of Gods wonderfull workes, Job sheweth that what soeuer is done in this world, both in the order, and change of things, is by Gods will and appointment: wherein he declareth that hee thinketh well, of God, and is able to sit forth his power in words, as they that reasoned against, &c.

6 The tabernacles of waters her mo-tier, and they are in saltis, that prouoke God, & whom God hath smitten with his hand.

7 After now the beasts, and they shall teach thee, and the fowles of the heauen, and they shall tell thee:

8 I speake to the earth, and it shall shew thee: of the fishes of the sea, and they shall declare unto thee.

9 Also is ignorant of all these, but that the hand of the Lord hath made thee?

10 In whose hand is the soule of every li-
 uing thing, and the breath of all mankind.

11 Doth not the earth differ? whether
 and the mountaine differ: for it telleth:

12 Among thee is an ancient wisdom, and in the length of dayes is understanding.

13 Also him is wisdom and strength:
 he hath counsell and understanding.

14 Behold, he will beake holme, and it cannot be built: he smiteth a man up, and he cannot be loosed.

15 Beholde, he withholdeth the waters,
 and they drye up: but when he sendeth them
 out, they destroy the earth.

16 With him is strength and wisdom:
 hee that is deceiued, and that deceiveth,
 are his.

17 See causeth the counsellors to goe as shoopt, and maketh the iudges fooles.

18 See looketh the collar of kings, and giueth their lynes with a girdle.

19 He leaeth away the princes, as a pray,
 and ouerthroweth the mighty.

20 Hee taketh away the speech from the faithfull counsellors, and taketh away the iudgement of the ancient.

21 He pouereth contempt vpon princes, &
 maketh the strength of the mighty weak.

22 Hee discovereth the deepe places from their darknesse, and bringeth forth the shadow of death to light.

23 Hee increaseth the people, and de-stroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and bringeth them in againe.

24 Hee taketh away the hearts of them that are the chiefe ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the wilderness out of the way.

25 They grope in the darke without light: and he maketh them to stagger like a drunken man.

1 He causeth that their words haue no credite, which is, when he will punish sinne. m. In this discourse of Gods wonderfull workes, Job sheweth that what soeuer is done in this world, both in the order, and change of things, is by Gods will and appointment: wherein he de-

 power in words, as they that reasoned against, &c.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Job comprehendeth his knowledge with the experience of his friends. 16 The patient shall be saved:
 and the hypocrite condemned. 20 He prayeth vn-
 to God that he would not handle him rigorously.

De, mine eye hath seene all this: mine
 eare hath heard and understood it.

2 I know also as much as you know: I am not inferior vnto you.

3 But I will speake to the Almighty,

and I desire to dispute with God.

4 For in these ye say less, and all ye are physicians of no value.

5 Oh that you would hold your tongue,
 that it might bee imputed to you for wis-
 dome!

6 How heare my disputation, and give eare to the arguments of my lips.

7 Will ye speake wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitfully for his cause?

8 Will ye accept his person, as will ye contend for God?

9 Is it well that he should feare of you?
 will you make a lie for him, as one lieth to a man?

10 He will surely reprove you, if ye doe secretly accept any person.

11 Shall not his excellencie make you afraid, and his feare fall vpon you?

12 Your memories may bee corrupted vnto albes, and your holies to visions of clay.

13 Hold ye your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon what will.

14 Therefore do I take my flesh in my teeth, and put my soule in mine hand:

15 For though he slay me, yet will I trust in him, and I will reprove my sinnes in his sight.

16 He shall be my saluation also: for the hypocrite shall not come before him.

17 I care diligently my wayes, and make my rath.

18 Beholde now: if I prepare mer to iudgment, I know that I shall bee iusti-fied.

19 Also is he that will please vnto me?
 for I now hold my tongue, I die.

20 But do not these two things vnto me:
 then will I not hide my selfe from thee:

21 I confide vnto thine hand from me, and let not thy feare make me afraid.

22 Then call thou, and I will answer:
 or let me speake, and answer thou me.

23 How many are mine iniquities and sinnes: shewe me my rebellion, and my sinne.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and takest me for thine enemy?

25 Tell it thou breake a leafe drinen to and fro: and wilst thou pursue the drie stubble?

26 For thou wilst bitter things against mee, and makest me to possesse the iniquities of my youth.

27 Thou puttest my feet also in the channels, and lookest narrowly vnto all my gpathes, and makest the print thereof in the offes of my feet.

28 Such one consumeth like a rotten as thing, and as a garment that is much catcheth
 the smell.

29 I will defend not my cause, for I will condemne mee, k. Hee sheweth what these things are.

1 His pangth thus moue him to reason with God, that he had sinned: but he desireth to vnderstand what his sinnes, that had deferred such reproof, wherein hee
 would know a cause of God why hee did punish him.

2 Hee sheweth that hee was not ignorant of his sinnes,
 but that hee had deferred such reproof, wherein hee
 would know a cause of God why hee did punish him.

3 Hee sheweth that hee was not ignorant of his sinnes,
 but that hee had deferred such reproof, wherein hee
 would know a cause of God why hee did punish him.

P He sheweth what weapons God vseth against the wicked which lift vp themselves against him, to wit, terror of conscience, and outward afflictions.

q That is, he was so pult vp with great prosperitie and abundance of all things, that he forgate God: noting that Job in his felicitie had not the true feare of God.

r Though he build and repaire ruinous places to get him fame, yet God shall bring al to nought, and turne his great prosperitie into extreme misery. f Meaning, that his sumptuous buildings should neuer come to perfection.

s Hee standeth so in his owne conceit, that he will give no place to good counsel, therefore his owne pride shall bring him into destruction. a As one that gathereth grapes before they be ripe. x Which were built or maintained by pawning and bittorie. y And therefore all their vaine deuices shall turne to their owne destruction.

CHAP. XVI.

i Job moued by the importunitie of his friends, j Cometh in what extreme he is, k And telleth God so witness of his innocencie.

B Et Job answered, and saye,

2 I haue oft times heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all.

3 Shall there be none end of wordes of winde? or what maketh thee bold to re-answer?

4 I could also speake as ye doe (but would God your soules were in my soules stead) I could keepe you companie in speaking, and could shake mine head at you.

5 But I would strengthen you with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips should almage you for ever.

6 Though I speake, my sorow cannot be asswaged: though I cease, what releefe haue I?

7 But now I he maketh mee weare: O God, thou hast made all my congregation where hee may: hee knoweth that the day of darkness is prepared at hand.

24 Affliction and anguish shall make him afraid: they shall vnturne against him as a king ready to the battell.

25 For hee hath stretched out his hand against God, and made himselfe strong against the Almighty.

26 Therefore God shall rime vpon him, even vpon the necke, and against the most thicke part of his shield.

27 Because he hath covered his face with his farnesse, and hath collops in his flanke.

28 Though hee dwell in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes.

29 Hee shall not be rich, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall hee prolong the perfection thereof in the earth.

30 Hee shall neuer depart out of darkness: the flame shall drie vp his branches, and hee shall goe away with the breath of his mouth.

31 Hee belongeth not that hee erred in hantie: therefore his heritage shall be his change.

32 His branch shall not be green, but shall be cut off before his day.

33 God shall destroy him as the vine hee sowe: a grape, and shall cast him out, as the olive doth her flower.

34 For the congregation of the hypocrite shall be desolate, and the shall denoure the houses of hydes.

35 For they shall conceale mischief, and bring forth vanity, and their belly shall propheet decreit.

8 And hast made me full of: which is a wicked threat, and my language riseth up in me, telling thee the same to thy face.

9 His mouth hath found me, and hee hath terred mee, and gathered vpon me with his teeth: mine enemy hath fastened his eyes against me.

10 They haue opened their mouths vpon me, and bitten me on the cheek: in reproch: they gathered themselues together against me.

11 God hath deliuered me to the vntill, and hath made mee to turne out of the way by the hands of the wicked.

12 I was in wealth, but hee hath brought mee to nought: hee hath taken surety of my necke, and beaten me, and set me as a mark for himselfe.

13 His archers compass me round about: hee curseth my reines, and doeth not spare, and pouerth my gall vpon the ground.

14 He hath broken mee with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon mee like a giant.

15 I haue sown a sackcloth vpon my flanne, and haue abased mine: come into the dust.

16 My face is withered with weeping, and the shadow of death is vpon mine eyes.

17 Though there bee no wickednesse in mine hands, and my prayer be pure.

18 I feared, conceit not thou my blood, and let my crying haue no place.

19 For loe, now my wickednesse is in the hidden, and my reuolt is on hid.

20 My friends speake eloquently against mee: but mine eye pouerth out teares vnto God.

21 Oh that a man might please vnto God, as a man with his neighbour!

22 For the years accounted come, and I shall goe the way whence I shall not returne, no more.

condemne mee, yet God is witness of my cause. x Thus by his words in stead of true consolation. x Thus by his words he is caried away, and brasteth out into passions, and is comforted, as though God should increase man more gently, but hath but a short time here to liue.

CHAP. XVII.

i Job saith that hee consumeth away, j And patiently abideth it. k He exhorteth his friends to repentance, l Showing that hee looked but for death.

M Death is corrupt: my dayes are cut off, and the graine is ready for me.

2 There are none but mockers with me, and mine eye continueth in their bitterness.

3 Lay downe now and giue me in surry for thee: who is hee, that will touch mine hand?

4 For thou hast sett thine heart from vnderstanding: therefore shalt thou not see them vpon thee.

venge me. c Hereafter with God as a man beside himselfe intent that his cause might bee brought to light. d And for thee? e That the mine affliction are thy punishment, though men know not the cause.

a Which serueth for vaine ostentation, and for no true comfort.
b For Eliphaz did reply against Job's answer.
c I would you felt that which I do.
d That is, mocke at your affliction, as you do at mine.
e If this were in my power, yet would I comfort you, and not doe as ye doe to mee.
f If they would say, Why dost thou not then comfort thy selfe? hee answereth that the iudgements of God are more heauie, then hee is able to asuage either by word or silence.
g Meaning God.
h That is, destroyed most of my familie.

For the eyes of his children shall faile,
his strength shall faile to his friends.

See hath also made me a byword of the people, and I am as a tauber before
them.

Whence therefore is divine for griefe,
and all my strength is like a shadow.

The righteous shall bee astonished at this, and the innocent shall be moved against the hypocrite.

But the righteous will hold his way,
and his whole hands are pure, shall increate
his strength.

All you therefore turne you, and come now, and I shall not finde one wiſe among you.

My dayes are paſt, mine enterpriſes
are broken, and the thoughts of mine heart have changed the night for the day, and the light that approached, for darkneſſe.

Though I hope, yet the grave ſhall bee mine houſe, and I ſhall make my bed
in the darke.

I ſhall ſay to corruption, Thou art my father, and to the worme, Thou art my mother and my ſiſter.

Where is then now my hope? or who ſhall conſider the thing that I hoped for?

They ſhall goe downe into the bottoms of the pit: ſurely it ſhall lie together in the duſt.

Iob ſpeaketh to them three, that came to him. That is, hath brought me ſorrow in ſtead of comfort. Though I ſhould hope to come from adgerſitie to proſperitie, yet I ſee nothing. O I have no more hope in father, ſiſter, or any worldly thing: for the duſt and wormes are ſet over me. All worldly hope, and proſperitie are but as a ſmoke, and are onely figures of Gods favour: but ſeeing, that I have loſt all, let mine hope in God, and in the life everlaſting.

CHAP. XVIII.

Bilhad rehearſeth the paines of the unſuſ-tainable and wicked.

Then answered Bilhad the Shuhite, and ſayd,

When will I ſee thee make an ende of your torments? I will ſee thee cauſe vs to underſtand, and then we will ſpeake.

Wherefore are we counted as beaſtes,
and are vile in your ſight?

Thou art as one that tearerth his ſoule
in his anger. Shall the earth bee forſaken for thy ſake? the rocke remooued out of his place?

Yea, the light of the wicked ſhall bee quenched, and the ſpark of his fire ſhall not ſhine.

The light ſhall bee darke in his dwelling, and his candle ſhall be put out with him.

The ſteps of his ſtrength ſhall bee re-ſtrained, and his owne counſell ſhall caſt him downe.

For he is taken in the net by his feete,
and he walketh vpon the ſnares.

The graine ſhall take him by the heele,
and the thieſe ſhall come vpon him.

A ſnare is laid for him in the ground,
and a trap for him in the way.

Fearfullneſſe ſhall make him afraid
on every ſide, and ſhall diſturb him to his feete.

His ſtrength ſhall bee ſanctified: and de-ſtruction ſhall be ready at his ſide.

It ſhall deuoure the inner parts of his ſkinne, and the firſt borne of death ſhall deuoure his ſtrength.

His hope ſhall bee rooted out of his dwelling, and ſhall cauſe him to goe to the king of feare.

Fear ſhall dwell in his houſe (becauſe it is not his) and brimſtone ſhall be ſcattered vpon his habitation.

His rootes ſhall bee dried vnderneath,
and aboue ſhall his branch be cut downe.

His remembrance ſhall periſh from the earth, and hee ſhall haue no name in the ſtreets.

They ſhall diſturb him out of the light vnto darkeneſſe, and chaſe him out of the world.

Hee ſhall neither haue ſonne nor nephew among his people, nor any poſteritie in his dwellings.

The poſteritie ſhall be aſtonied at his day, and feare ſhall come vpon the auncient.

Surely ſuch are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

CHAP. XIX.

Iob reprooueth his friends, and reciteſh
his miſeries and grievous paines. He aſſureth himſelfe of the generall reſurrection.

As Iob answered, and ſaid,
How long will yee vex my ſoule,
and torment me with words?

Yee haue now ten times reproched
mee, and are not aſhamed: yee are impudent toward mee.

And though I had in deed erred, mine error remaineth with mee.

But in deepe if you will aduance your ſelues againſt mee, and rebuke mee for my reproch,

Knowe now, that God hath overthrowen mee, and hath compaſſed mee with his net.

Behold, I crye out of violence, but I haue none anſwere: I crye, but there is no iudgement.

Yee hath hedged vp my way that I cannot paſſe, and hee hath ſet darkneſſe in my paths.

He hath ſpoiled me of mine honour, and taken the crowne away from mine head.

Yee hath deſtroyed mee on euery ſide,
and I am gone: and hee hath remooued mine
hope like a tree.

And he hath kindled his wrath againſt
mee, and counted me as one of his enemies.

His armies came together, and made their way vpon mee, and campe about my tabernacle.

Yee hath remooued my brethren farre from mee, and alſo mine acquaintance were ſtrangers vnto mee.

My neighbours haue forſaken mee, and my familiars haue forgotten mee.

They that dwell in mine houſe, and my maides tooke mee for a ſtranger: for I was a ſtranger to their light.

I called my ſervant, but he would not anſwer,

That which ſhould nourish
him ſhall be con-
ſumed by famine.

That is, ſome
ſtrong and violent
death ſhall
conſume his ſtrength: or as the Ebrew word ſignifieth, his members or parts.

That is, with
moſt great feare, Meaning, not truly come by.

Though all the world would fa-uour him, yet
God would deſtroy him and his name.

He ſhall fall
from proſperitie
to aduerſitie.

When they ſhall ſee what came vnto him.

That is, many times, as Nebe.
4.12.

That is, I my ſelfe ſhall be pu-niſhed for it, or you haue not yet
conſuted it.

He brasteth
out againe into his paſſions, and declareth ſtill, that his affliction
commeth of God, though he
be not able to feeble the cauſe
in himſelfe.

Meaning, out
of his afflictions.

Meaning, I am children, and whatſoeuer was deare vnto him
in this world.

Which is plucke
vp, and hath no
more hope to grow.

His manifold afflictions.

Mine houſehold ſeruants: by all theſe loſſes Iob ſheweth,
that touching the fleſh he had great occaſion
to be moued.

i Which were hers and mine.
k Besides these great losses, and most cruel unkindnesses, he was touched in his owne person as followeth.
l All my flesh was confounded, m Seeing I haue these iust causes to complaine, condempne me not as an hypocrite, especially ye which should comfort me, n Is it not enough that God doth punish me, except you by reproches increase my sorrow? o To see my bodie punished, except ye trouble my minde? p He protesteth that notwithstanding his sore passions, his religion is perfect, and that he is not a blasphemer, as they iudged him. q I do not so iustifie my selfe before the world, but I know that I shall come before the great Iudge, who shall be my deliuerer and Saviour. r Herin Job declareth plainly that he had a full hope, that both the soule and bodie should enioy the presence of God in the last resurrection. s Though his friends thought that he was but persecuted of God for his sinnes, yet hee declareth that there was a deeper consideration: to wit, the trial of his faith and patience, and so to be an example for other. t God will be reuenged of this halie iudgement, whereby you condempne me.

a He declareth that two things moued him to speake: to wit, because Job seemed to touch him, and because he thought he had knowledge sufficient to confute him.
b His purpose is to proue Job to be awicked man, & an hypocrite, because God punished him, and changed his prosperitie into aduersitie.

answer, though I prayed him with my mouth.
17 My breath was strange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens sake of mine owne body.
18 The wicked also despised me, and when I rose, they spake against me.
19 All my secret friends abhorred mee, and they whom I loved, are turned against mee.
20 My bone cleaued to my skinne, and to my flesh, and I haue escaped with the skinne of my teeth.
21 Haue pittie vpon mee: haue = pittie vpon mee, (O ye my friends) for the hand of God hath touched me.
22 Why doe ye persecute mee as = God? and are not satisfied with my = flesh?
23 Oh that my wordes were now written! Oh that they were written euen in a booke!
24 And I graued with = any pen in lead, or in stone for euer!
25 For I am sure, that my Redeemer lieth, and he shall stand the last on the earth.
26 And though after my skinne wormes destroy this body, yet shall I see God = in my flesh.
27 Whom I my selfe shall see, and mine eyes shall beholde, and none other for mee, though my reines are consumed within me.
28 But ye said, Vellie is hee persecuted? And there was = a deepe matter in me.
29 Be ye afraid of the sword: for y sword will be = auenged of wickednesse, that yet may know that there is a iudgement.
I do not so iustifie my selfe before the world, but I know that I shall come before the great Iudge, who shall be my deliuerer and Saviour. r Herin Job declareth plainly that he had a full hope, that both the soule and bodie should enioy the presence of God in the last resurrection. s Though his friends thought that he was but persecuted of God for his sinnes, yet hee declareth that there was a deeper consideration: to wit, the trial of his faith and patience, and so to be an example for other. t God will be reuenged of this halie iudgement, whereby you condempne me.

CHAP. XX.

1 Zophar sheweth that the wicked and the covetous shall haue a short end, 22 Though for a time they flourish.

T hen answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said,
2 Doubtlesse my thoughts cause mee to answer, and therefore I make haste.
3 I haue heard the = correction of my reproch: therefore the spirit of mine understanding causeth me to answer.
4 Knowest not thou this of olde? and since God placed man vpon the earth,
5 What the reioicing of the wicked is short, and that the ioy of hypocrites is but a moment?
6 Though = his excellencie mount vp to the heauen, and his head reach vnto the clouds, 7 Yet shall hee perish for euer, like his dung, as = they which haue seene him shall say, Where is he?
8 He shall flee away as a dream, and they shall not finde him, and shall passe away as a vision of the night.

9 So that the eye which had seene him, shall doe so no more, and his place shall be him no more.
10 His children shall = flatter the poore, and his hands shall = restore his substance.
11 His bones are full of the sinne of his youth, and = it shall lie downe with him in the dust.
12 When wickednesse = was sweete in his mouth, and he hid it under his tongue, 13 And fauoured it, and would not forsake it, but kept it close in his mouth, 14 Then his meate in his bowels was turned: the gall of Aspes was in the mids of him.
15 Hee hath deuoured substance, and hee shall vomite it: for God shall drawe it out of his belly.
16 He shall sucke the = gall of Aspes, and the vipers tongue shall slay him.
17 Hee shall not be the = riuers, nor the floods and streames of honie and butter.
18 Hee shall restore the labour, and shall deuoure no more: euen according to the substance shall be his exchange, = and he shall enioy it no more.
19 For he hath vndone many: he hath forsaken the poore, = and hath spoiled houses which hee builded not.
20 Surely hee shall feelee no quietnesse in his body, neither shall hee referue of that which hee desired.
21 There shall none of his = meate be left: therefore none shall hope for his goods.
22 When hee shall be filled with his abundance, hee shall be in paine, and the hand of all the wicked shall assaile him.
23 Hee shall be aboue to fill his belly, but God shall send vpon him his fierce wrath, = and shall cause to raine vpon him, euen vpon his meate.
24 Hee shall flee from the yon weapons, and the bow of Steele shall strike him through.
25 The arrow is drawn out, and cometh forth of the = body, and syneth of his gall, so feare cometh vpon him.
26 = All darknesse shall be hid in his secret places: the fire that is not = blown, shall deuoure him, and that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shall be destroyed.
27 The heauen shall declare his wickednesse, and the earth shall rise vp against him.
28 The = increase of his house shall goe away: it shall floure away in the day of his wrath.
29 This is the portion of the wicked man from = God, and the heritage that hee shall haue of God for his = words.

for after, God will take it from them, = and cast downe their tower, so that it is but an exchange. k Hee shall leave his posteritie. l The wicked shall neuer be iudged: man shall seeke to destroy another. m Some read, vnto Job, whole flesh was smitten with a scab: = of the quier, o All feare and sorrow shall light vpon hee thinketh to escape. p That is, fire from heauen. q Gods wrath. r Meane, the children of the wicked shall way like riuers, and be dispersed in diuers places. s The plague the wicked. t Against God, thinkinge to escape Gods hand.

Iob exhorted to repentance.

h That so much the more by that excellent worke thou mayest feare God, and reuerence him. i He reproveth Iob as though he denied Gods providence, and that he could not see the things that were done in this world. k How God hath punished them from the beginning? l He proueth Gods providence by the punishment of the wicked, whom he taketh away before they can bring their wicked purposes to passe. m He answereth to that which Iob had said, Chap. 21. 7. that the wicked have prosperitie in this world: defining that hee might not be partaker of the like. n The iust reioyce at the destruction of the wicked for two causes: first, because God sheweth himselfe iudge of the world, and by this meanes continueth his honour and glorie: secondly, because God sheweth that hee hath care ouer his, in that hee punisheth their enemies. o That is, the state and preservation of the godly is hid vnder Gods wings. p Meaning of the wicked. q He exhortheth Iob to repentance, and to returne to God. r God will restore vnto thee all thy substance. s Which shall be in abundance like dust. t That is, the fauour of God. u God will deliuer his, when the wicked are destroyed round about them, as in the flood, and in Sodome. x God will deliuer a whole countrey from perill, euen for the iust mans sake.

behold the height of the * starres bowe hie they are.
13 But thou sayest, What should God knowe? can hee iudge through the darke cloud?
14 The clouds hide him that hee cannot see, and he walketh in the circle of heauen.
15 Hast thou marked the way of the world, * wherewith men haue walked?
16 Which were cut downe before the time, whose foundation was as a river that overflowed:
17 Which said vnto God, Depart from vs, and asked what the Almighty could doe for them.
18 Per he = filled their houses with good things: but let the counsell of the wicked bee farre from me.
19 The righteous shall see them, and shal reioyce, * and the innocent shall laugh them to scorne.
20 Surely * our substance is hid: but the fire hath deuoured the remnant of * them.
21 Therefore acquaint thy selfe, I pray thee, with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt haue prosperitie.
22 Receive, I pray thee, the Lawe of his mouth, and lay vp his words in thine heart.
23 If thou returne to the Almighty, thou shalt be * built vp, and thou shalt put iniquity farre from thy Tabernacle.
24 Thou shalt lay vp gold for * dust, and the gold of Ophir, as the flintes of the riuer.
25 Yea, the Almighty shall be thy defence, and thou shalt haue plentie of siluer.
26 And thou shalt then delight in the Almighty, and lift vp thy face vnto God.
27 Thou shalt make thy prayer vnto him, and he shall heare thee, and thou shalt render thy voyces.
28 Thou shalt also decreet a thing, and hee shall establish it vnto thee, and the * light shall shine vpon thy wayes.
29 * When others are cast downe, * then shalt thou say, I am lifted vp: and God shall saue the humble person.
30 The innocent shall deliuer the * Ilands, and it shall bee preferred by the purenesse of thine hands.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Iob affirmeth that he hath knoweth & feareth the power & sentence of the Iudge, 10 And that he is not punished onely for his sinnes.

3 * Would God yet I knew how to finde him, I would enee vnto his place.
4 I would please the cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.
5 I would knowe the wordes, that hee would answer mee, and would vnderstand what he would say vnto me.
6 * Would he * plead against mee with his great power? No, but he would * put strength in me.
7 * There the righteous might reason with him, so I should bee deliuered for sure from my Iudge.
8 * Behold, if I goe to the East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I cannot perceiue him:
9 If to the North where hee worketh, yet I cannot see him: hee wil hide himselfe in the South, and I cannot behold him.
10 But hee knoweth my * way, and trieth me, and I shall come forth like the gold.
11 My foot hath followed his steps: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined.
12 Neither haue I departed from the commandment of his lips, & I haue * esteemed the wordes of his mouth more then mine appointed food.
13 Yet hee is in one minde, and who can * turne him? yea, hee doeth what his minde desireth.
14 For hee will performe that which is decreed of mee, and many * such things are with him.
15 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, and in considering it, I am afraid of him.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Iob describeth the wickednesse of men, and sheweth what curse belongeth to the wicked, 13 How all things are gurned by Gods providence, 17 And the destruction of the wicked.
H OW should not the times bee: hid from the Almighty, seeing that they which know him, see not his * dayes?
2 Some remoue the land marks, that rob the flockes, and seeke thereof.

4 They make the poore to turne out of the way, so that the poore of the earth hide themselves * together.
5 Behold, others as wilde Ases in the rear of the wilderness, goe forth to their business, and * rile rarely for a paire: the wilderness

7 They reape his promise in the field, but they gather the later vintage of the wilderness.

8 They cause the naked to lodge without garment, and without covering in the cold.

9 They are met with the sheeters of the mountaines, and they embrace the rocks for want of a covering.

10 They plucke the fatherless from the breast, and take the pledge of the poore.

11 They cause him to goe naked without clothing, and take the gleaming from the hungry.

12 They that make oyle betweene their wailes, and treade their wine presses, suffer thirst.

13 When a cry out of the citty, & the soulders of the flaine cry out; yet God doeth not charge them with fault.

14 They know not the wayes thereof, nor continue in the paths thereof.

15 The murderer riseth early, & killeth the poore, and the needie; and in the night he is a thief.

16 The eye also of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, & saith, None eye shall see me, and disguiseth his face.

17 They dig through houses in the darke, which they marked for themselves in the day: they know not the light.

18 But the morning is even to them as the shadow of death: if one knowe them, they are in the terrours of the shadow of death.

19 He is swift upon the waters: there portion shall be curles in the earth: he will not behold the way of the vineyard.

20 As the dry ground and heats consume the snow waters, so shall the graue the sinners.

21 The pitiful man shall forget him: the woman shall scile his sweetnesse: he shall be no more remembered, and the wicked shall be broken like a tree.

22 He doeth evil intreat the barren, that doeth not beare, neither doeth hee good to the widow.

23 Hee hateth also the mightie by his power, and when he riseth up, none is sure of life.

24 Though men give him assurance to be in safety, yet his eyes are upon their wayes.

25 They are exalted for a little, but they are gone, and are brought lowe as all others: they are destroyed, and cut off as the top of an earre of coyme.

26 Hee sleeth to the waters for coyme. ( They thinke that all the world is bent against them, as hee goe by the way. )

27 As the dry ground is never full of waters, so will they never cease sinning, till they come to the end. 28 Though God suffer the wicked for a time, yet their ende is destruction, and in this point Iob cometh to him.

29 Hee sleeth with confidence, x Hee sleeth with the wicked, because hee did not pierce others. y Hee decla- reth that the wicked have destroyed the weakest, they will be the stronger, and therefore are easily prevented by Gods

Bilhad proueth that man is cleane nor without sinne before God.

Then answered Bilhad the Shubite, and sayd,

1 Power and feare is with him, that maketh peace in the his places.

2 Is there any number in his armies: and upon whom shall not his light arise?

3 And how may a man be iustified with God: or how can hee be cleane, that is borne of woman?

4 Beholde, hee will giue no light to the moone, and the starres are uncleane in his sight.

5 How much more man, a woman, euen the sonne of man, which is but a woman?

6 That is, be iust in respect of God? d If God shew his power, the moone and starres cannot haue that light, which is giuen them, much lesse can man haue any excellencie, but of God.

CHAP. XXVI.

Iob sheweth that man cannot helpe God, and proueth it by his miracles.

At Iob answered, and sayd,

1 What helpest thou? him that hath no power? sauest thou the arme that hath no strength?

2 Whom counellest thou? him that hath no wisdom? thou? shewest right well as the thing is.

3 To whome doest thou declare these words? or what spirit cometh out of thee?

4 The dead things are formed under the waters, and nere vnto them.

5 The graue is naked before him, and there is no couering for destruction.

CHAP. XXVII.

3 The constancie and perfectness of Job. 13
The reward of the wicked and of the tyrants.

Moreover Job proceeded and continued his parable, saying,

2 The living God hath taken away my judgement: for the almighty hath put my soule in bitterness.

3 Yet so long as my breath is in me, and the Spirit of God in my nostrils,

4 My lips surely shall speak no wickedness, and my tongue shall utter no deceit.

5 God forbid, that I should justify you: unles I die, I will never take away mine innocence from my selfe.

6 I will keepe my righteousness, and will not forsake it: mine heart shall not reprooche me of my dayes.

7 Mine enemy shall bee as the wicked, and hee that riseth against mee, as the unrighteous.

8 For what I hope hath the hypocrite when hee hath heaped up riches, if God take away his soule ?

9 Will God heare his cry, when trouble cometh upon him ?

10 Will hee let his desire on the Almighty: will hee call upon God at all times ?

11 I will teach you what is in the hand of God, and I will not conceale that which is with the Almighty.

12 Behold, all ye your selves have seene it: why then doe you thus vanity in vanitie ?

13 This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of tyrants, which they shall receive of the Almighty.

14 If his children bee in great number, the sword shall destroy them, and his posteritie shall not be satisfied with bread.

15 His remnant shall be buried in death, and his widowes shall not weep.

16 Though he should heape up silver as the dust, and prepare raiment as the clay,

17 Hee may prepare it, but the lust shall put it on, and the innocent shall devide the silver.

18 Hee buildeth his house as the moth, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh.

19 When the rich man sleeper, he shall not bee gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.

20 Terrours shall take him as waters, and a tempest shall carry him away by night.

21 The East winde shall take him away, and he shall depart: and it shall hurle him out of his place.

22 And God shall cast upon him and not spare, though hee would faine flee out of his hand.

23 Every man shall clap their hands at him, and hisse at him out of their place.

a He hath so sore afflicted me, that men cannot judge of mine uprightnesse: for they judge onely by outward signes.
b Howsoever men judge of me, yet will I not speake contrary to that which I have sayd, and so doe wickedly in betraying the truth.

c Which condemne me as a wicked man, because the hand of God is vpon me.
d I will not confesse that God doeth thus punish me for my finnes.

e Of my life past.
f What advantage hath the dissembler to gaine neuer so much, seeing hee shall lose his owne soule ?

g That is, what God referueth to himselfe, and whereof hee giueth not the knowledge at all.
h That is, these secret iudgements of God, and yet doe not vnderstand them.

i Why maintaine you then this error ?
k Thus will God order the wicked, and punish him euen vnto his posteritie.

l None shall lament him,
m Which breedeth in another mans possion or garment, but is soone shaken out.

n Hee meaneth that the wicked tyrants shall not haue a quiet death, nor be buried honourably.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Job sheweth that the wisdom of God is searchably.

1 The silver surely hath his veine, and the gold his place, where they take it.

2 Iron is taken out of the dust, and brasse is molten out of the stone.

3 God putteth an end to darkness, and he trieth the perfection of all things: he ordereth a bond of darkness, and of the shadow of death.

4 The flood breaketh out against the inhabitant, and the waters forgotten of the foot, being higher then man, are gone away.

5 Out of the same earth cometh brasse, and vnder it, as it were fire is turned up.

6 The stones thereof are a place of sapphires, and the dust of it is gold.

7 There is a pitch which no soule hath known, neither hath the birds eue seene it.

8 The Lyons whelpes haue not walch it, nor the Lyon paked therof.

9 He putteth his hand vpon his rocks, & ouerthroweth the mountaines by the roots.

10 He breaketh rimers in the rocks, and his eye seeth every precious thing.

11 He bindeth the floods that they do not overflow, and hee styng that is hid, bringing he to light.

12 But where is wisdom found? and where is the place of vnderstanding?

13 Man knoweth not the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the living.

14 The depth saith, It is not in me; the sea also saith, It is not with me.

15 Gold shall not be giuen for it, neither shall silver be weighed for the price thereof.

16 It shall not be valued with the wodge of gold of Ophir, nor with the precious onyx, nor the sapphire.

17 The gold nor the chissell shalbe equal vnto it, nor the exchange shall be for place of fine gold.

18 No mention shall bee made of corall, nor of the iacinth: for wisdom is more precious then pearles.

19 The topaz of Ethiopia shall not be equal vnto it, neither shall it bee valued with the wodge of pure gold.

20 Whence then cometh wisdom, and where is the place of vnderstanding?

21 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all the living, and is hid from the foules of the heauen?

22 Destruction and death say, We haue heard the same thereof with our eares:

23 But God vnderstandeth the way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.

24 For he beholdereth the ends of y world, and seeth all that is vnder heauen,

25 To make the weight of the windes, and to weigh the waters by measure.

26 When he made a decree for the raine, and a way for the lightning of the thunders,

27 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

by man may attaine to the heavenly wisdom: which hee can see by the foules that flie hie. n He maketh God onely wise in this wisdom, and the giuer thereof.

6 When the * light shined upon me, and my children round about me:

7 When I washed my paths * with butter, and when the rocks poured me out rivers of oyle:

8 When I went out to the gate, even to the * judgement seat, and when I caused them to prepare my * seat in the streets.

9 The young men saw mee, * and hid themselves, and the aged arose, and stood up.

10 The princes * raised talke, and said their hand on their * mouth.

11 The voice of princes was hid, * and their tongue cleaned to the roofe of their mouth.

12 And when the * eare heard me, it blest mee: and when the eye saw mee, it gave witness to * me.

13 For I delivered the * pooze that cried, and the fatherlesse, and him that had none to helpe him.

14 The blessing of him that was ready to perish, came upon mee, and I caused the widowes heart to reioyce.

15 I put * on iustice, and it covered mee:
my judgement was as a robe, and a crowne.

16 I was the eyes to the blind, and I was the feet to the lame.

17 I was a father unto the poore, and when I knew that * the cause, I sought it out diligently.

18 I brake also the chawes of the unrighteous man, and plucked the pray out of his teeth.

19 Then I said, I shall die in my * nest,
and I shall multiply my dayes as the sand.

20 For my route is * spread out by the water, and the dew shall lie upon my branch.

21 My glorie shall renue toward me, and my bow shall be * restored in mine hand.

22 Unto me men * gaue eare, and waited,
and held their tongue at my counsel.

23 After my words they replied not, and my talke * droopped upon them.

24 And they waited for mee, as for the raime, and they opened their mouth * as for the latter raime.

25 If I * laughed on them, they beleeued
it not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance * to fall.

26 If I * laughed on them, they beleeued
it not: neither did they cause the light of my
countenance * to fall.

27 If I * laughed on them, they beleeued
it not: neither did they cause the light of my
countenance * to fall.

28 If I * laughed on them, they beleeued
it not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance * to fall.

25 I appointed out * their way, and hid it as chiefe, and dwelt as a king in the armies, and like him that compasseth the mountains.

world. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6. 7. 8. 9. 10. 11. 12. 13. 14. 15. 16. 17. 18. 19. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31. 32. 33. 34. 35. 36. 37. 38. 39. 40. 41. 42. 43. 44. 45. 46. 47. 48. 49. 50. 51. 52. 53. 54. 55. 56. 57. 58. 59. 60. 61. 62. 63. 64. 65. 66. 67. 68. 69. 70. 71. 72. 73. 74. 75. 76. 77. 78. 79. 80. 81. 82. 83. 84. 85. 86. 87. 88. 89. 90. 91. 92. 93. 94. 95. 96. 97. 98. 99. 100.

2 Now they that are younger then I,
B * mocke mee: yea, they whole fathers I haue refused to set with the * dogges of my flockes.

3 For whereto should the strength of their hands haue serued mee, seeing age * perished in them?

4 For pouertie and famine they were soli-tarie, fleeing into the wilderness, which is darke, desolate and waste.

5 They cut vp * nettles by the bushes,
and the tumpie rootes was their meate.

6 They were * chased forth from among men: they shouted at them, as at a chiefe.

7 Therefore they dwelt in the cleftes of rivers, in the holes of the earth and rocks.

8 They roared among the bushes, * and under the thistles they gathered themselves.

9 They were the children of fooles, and the children of villaines, which were moie vile then the earth.

10 And now am I their * song, and I am
their talke,

11 They abhorre me, and flee farre from me, and spare not to spit in my face.

12 Because that God hath loosed my * cord, and humbled mee, * they haue looked the by-de before me.

13 The youth rise by at my right hand:
they haue pushed my feet, and haue troden on me as on the * pathes of their destruction.

14 They haue destroyed my pathes: they tooke pleasure at my calamitie, they had none helpe.

15 They came as a great breach of waters, and * under this calamitie they come on heapes.

16 Feare is turned vnto me: and they pursue my soule as the wind, and mine health passeth away as a cloud.

17 Therefore my soule is now * powred out vpon mee, and the dayes of affliction
haue taken hold on me.

18 * It pierceth my bones in the night,
and my sinewes take no rest.

19 For the great vehemencie is my garment changed, which compasseth me about as the collar of my coat.

20 He hath cast me into the myre, and I am become like ashes and dust.

21 When I cry vnto thee, thou dost not heare mee, neither regardest mee, when I stand vp.

22 Thou turnest thy selfe * cruelly against mee, and art enemy vnto mee with the strength of thine hand.

23 Thou takest mee by and causest me to ride vpon the * winde, and makest my half dead. m Meaning sorrow. n That is, God hath brought me into contempt. o He speaketh not thus to accuse God, but to declare the vehemencie of his affliction, whereby hee was caried beside himselfe. p He comparath his afflictions to a tempest or whirlwind,

1 I had them at commandement.

a That is, mine
state is changed, and whereas I before the ancient men were glad to doe me reue-
rence, the yong
men now con-
temne me.

b Meaning, to be
my shepherds,
or to keepe my dogges.

c That is, their fathers died for famine before they came to age.

d Or, mallowes.

e Iob sheweth
that hee that mocked him in his afflictions,
were like to their fathers, wicked &
lewd fellows,
such as hee here
describeth.

f God hath taken from me the force, credit, and authoritie, where-

yong men when they saw him, hid themselves, as

rune they were impudent and li-cencious.

h That is, they sought by all might destroy

me.

to helpe them.

they tooke an

me.

me, and I am as

|| Or, wisdom,
or law.

q None can deliuer me thence, though they lament at my death
r In stead of comforting, they comfort at me,
f Not delighting in any worldly thing, no nor so much as in the vse of the sunne,
s Lamenting them that were in affliction, and mouing others to pitie them.
u I am like the wilde beastes that desire most solitarie places.
x With the heate of affliction.

|| Striving to faile.

23 Surely I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the hole appointed for all the liuing.

24 Doubtlesse none can stretch his hand vnto the graue, though they cry in his destruction.

25 Did not I weepe with him that was in trouble? was not my soule in heauinelle for the poore?

26 Yet when I looked for good, euill came vnto me: and when I waited for light, there came darknesse.

27 My bowels did boyle without rest: for the dayes of affliction are come vpon me.

28 I went mourning without sunne: I stood by in the congregacion and cried.

29 I am a brother to the dragons, and a companion to the ostriches.

30 My kinne is blacke vpon me, and my bones are burnt with heate.

31 Therefore mine harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organes vnto the voyce of them that weepe.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Iob reciteth the innocencie of his liuing, and number of his vertues, which declareth what ought to be the life of the faithfull.

2 I made a covenant with mine eyes: why then should I thinke on a maidee?

3 For what portion should I haue of God from above? and what inheritance of the Almighty from on high?

4 Is not destruction to the wicked, and strange punishment to the workers of iniquities?

5 Doth not he behold my wayes, and tel all my steps?

6 If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my foote haue made haste to decrete,

7 Let God weigh me in the iust balance, and he shall know mine vprightnesse.

8 If my step haue turned out of the way, or mine heart hath walked after mine eye, or if any blot hath cleaued to mine hands,

9 Let mee sowe, and let another eate: yea, let my plants be rooted out.

10 If mine heart hath bene deceiued by a woman, or if I haue laide waite at the doore of my neighbour,

11 Let my wife grind vnto another man, & let other men bow downe vpon her:

12 For this is a wickednesse, and iniquity to be condemned:

13 Yea, this is a fire that shall deuoure to destruction, and which shall roote out all mine increase.

14 If I did contemne the iudgement of my seruant, and of my maide, when they did contend with me,

15 What then shall I doe when God standeth by? and when hee shall visite me, what shall I answer?

16 He that hath made me in the wombe, hath hee not made him? hath hee not hee alone fashioned vs in the wombe?

17 If I restrained the poore of their fire, or haue wanted the eyes of the deuo-

18 If I haue eaten my morsels alone, and the fatherlesse haue not eaten thereof,

19 For from my youth hee hath growen by with me - as with a father, and from the mothers wombe I haue bene a guide vnto her)

20 If I haue seene any perijh for want of clothing, or any poore without covering,

21 If his loynes haue not blessed mee, because hee was warmed with the fleece of my sheepe,

22 If I haue lift vpon mine hand against the fatherlesse, when I sawe that I might helpe him in the gate,

23 Let mine arme fall from my shoulder, and mine arme be broken from the bone,

24 For Gods punishment was a fearful vnto me, and I could not be deliuered from his highnesse.

25 If I made golde mine hope, or haue said to the wedge of gold, Thou art my confidence,

26 If I reioiced because my substance was great, or because mine hand had gotten much,

27 If I did behold the sunne, when it shined, or the moone walking in her highnesse,

28 If mine heart did flatter me in secret, or my mouth did kisle mine hand,

29 (This also had bene an iniquity to be condemned: for I had denied the God above)

30 If I reioiced at his destruction that hated me, or was moued to ioy when euill came vnto him, 31 Neither haue I suffered my mouth to sinne by wishing a curse vnto hisoule.

32 Did not the men of my Tabernacle say, Caluo shall giue vs of his flesh: wee can not be satisfied.

33 The stranger did not lodge in the streete, but I opened my doores vnto him that went by the way.

34 If I haue hid my sinne, as Adam, concealing mine iniquity in my bosome, 35 Though I could haue made asratra great multitude, yet the most contemptible of the families did feare me: so I kept silence, and went not out of the doore.

36 What I had some to heare mee? I do hold my tongue that the Almighty will visite me: though mine aduersarie should write a booke against me, 37 I could not I take it vpon my shoulder, and binde it as a crowne vnto me?

38 I will tell him the number of my goings, and goe vnto him as to a prince.

39 If my land crye against mee, or the furrowes thereof complaine together,

40 If I haue eaten the fruites thereof, or my cause, B should not this booke of his accusations and commendation to mee?

41 I will make him as a life without feare, d As though I had withholden my labour in it.

a I kept mine eyes from all wanton lookes,
b Would not God then haue punished me?
c Iob declareth that the feare of God was a bridle to stay him from all wickednesse, d Hesheweth wherein his vprightnesse standeth, that is, in as much as he was blamelesse before men, and sinned not against the second Table.
e That is, hath accomplished the lust of mine eye,
f According to the curse of the Law, Deut. 28.
g Let her bee made a slaue,
h He sheweth that albeit man neglect the punishment of adultery, yet the wrath of God will neuer cease till such bee destroyed.

 THE WORDS OF JOB
 ARE ENDED.

CHAP. XXXII.

1. Elihu rebuketh them of folly. 2. Age maketh not a man wise, but the Spirit of God.
 2. These three men ceased to answer Job, because he had answered himself with.

3. Then the wrath of Elihu the sonne of Barachel the Buzite of a family of Ram, was kindled: his wrath, I say, was kindled against Job, because hee justified himselfe
 more then God.

4. Also his anger was kindled against his three friends, because they could not find an answer, and yete condemned Job.

5. Now Elihu had waited till Job had spoken: for they were more ancient in yeres
 then he.

6. So when Elihu sawe that there was none answer in the mouth of the three men,
 his wrath was kindled.

7. Therefore Elihu the sonne of Barachiel the Buzite, answered and sayd, I am young in yeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afrayde to shewe you mine opinion.

8. For I sayd, The dayes shall speake, and the multitude of yeres shall teach wisdom.

9. Surely there is a spirit in man, but the inspiration of the almighty giueth understanding.

10. Great men are not alway wise, neither doe the aged alwaye understande.

11. Therefore I say, heare me, and I will shewe also mine opinion.

12. Elihu, I did wait vpon your words, and hearkened vnto your knowledg, whyles
 you sought out a reason.

13. Yea, when I had considered you, loe, there was none of you that repproued Job,
 nor answered his words:

14. Left ye should say, We haue found wisdom: for God hath cast him downe,
 and so man.

15. Yet hath hee not directed his words to me, neither will I answer him by your words.

16. Then they fearing, answered no more,
 lest of their talke.

17. When I had waited (for they shalke not, but shalke still, and answered no more)

18. Then answered I in my turne, and I shewed mine opinion.

19. For I am full of matter, and the spirit within me compelleth me.

20. Behold, my belly is as the wine, which hath no vent, and like the new bottles that burst.

21. Therefore will I speake, that I may take breath: I will open my lips, and I will answer.

22. I will not now accept the person of man, neither will I giue titles to man.

23. For I may not giue titles, lest my mouth should take me away suddenly.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1. Elihu accuseth Job of ignorance. 2. He sheweth that God hath diuers means to instruct man and to draw him from sinne. 3. He offereth man, and suddenly delivereth him. 4. Man being deliuered giueth thanks to God.

Wherefore, Job, I pray thee, heare my talke, and hearken vnto all my words.

2. Behold now I haue opened my mouth;
 my tongue hath spoken in my mouth.

3. My words are in the straightnesse of mine heart, and my lips shall speake pure knowledg.

4. The Spirit of God hath made mee, and the bearty of the Almighty hath giuen
 me life.

5. If thou canst giue me answer, prepare thy selfe, and stand before me.

6. Behold, I am according to thy wish in Gods stead: I am also fownd of the clay.

7. Beholde, my terrour shall not feare thee, neither shall mine hand be heauie vpon
 thee.

8. Doubtlesse thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy
 words:

9. I am cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquity in me.

10. Loe, he hath found occasions against me, and counted me for his enemy.

11. I see hath put my feete in the stocks, and looketh narrowly vnto all my pathes.

12. Beholde, in this hast thou not done right: I will answer thee, that God is greater then man.

13. Altho thou dost stricke against him, for hee doeth not: giue account of all his matters.

14. For God speaketh vnto of twise, and once leeth it not.

15. In dreames and visions of the night, when sleepe falleth vpon men, vthey sleepe
 vpon their beds,

16. Then hee openeth the eares of men, euen by their corrections, which hee had sealed.

17. That hee might cause man to turne away from his enterprise, and that he might hide the pride of man,

18. And keepe backe his soule from the pit, and that his life should not passe by the sword.

19. Hee is also stricken with sorrow vpon his bed, and the griefe of his bones is sore.

20. So that his life causeth him to abhorre bread, and his soule dainty meate.

21. His flesh faileth that it cannot bee seene, and his bones which were not seene, clatter.

22. So his soule draweth to the graue, and his life to the buriers.

23. If there be a messenger with him or stoude,

a I confesse the power of God,
 and am one of his, therefore thou oughtest to heare me.
 b Because Job
 had wished to dispute his cause
 with God, Chap.
 16. 21. so that he might doe it without feare.
 c Elihu saith he will reason in Gods stead.
 d whom he needed not to feare,
 because he is a man made of the same matter that he is.
 e I will not handle thee too roughly as these others
 haue done.
 f He repeateth
 Jobs words, whereby he protested his innocencie in diuers
 places, but specially in the 13. 16.
 and 30. chapters.
 g The cause of
 his iudgements
 is not alwayes declared to man.
 h Though God
 by sundry examples of his iudge-
 ments speake va-
 to man, yet the reason thereof is not known:
 yes, and though God should speake, yet hee
 is not understood.
 i God, his messenger, is the cause of his iudgements, or
 els by afflictions,
 or by his messengers. h That is, determined to send vpon them. i He sheweth for what cause God sendeth afflictions, to heaven downe mans
 pride, and to turne
 from euill. k That is, his painefull
 and miserable life.
 l To them that shall bury him, in a man sent of God
 to declare his will.

a A singular man, and as one chosen out of a thousand, which is able to declare the great mercies of God vnto sinners: where- in mans righte- ousnes standeth, which is through the iustice of Ie- sus Christ and faith therein. o He sheweth that it is a sure token of Gods mercie toward sinners, when he causeth his word to be preached vnto them.

p That is, the mi- nister shall by the preaching of the word pronounce vnto him the for- giuenesse of his finnes.

q He shall seele Gods fauour and reioyce: declaring hereby, wherein standeth the true ioy of the faith- full: and that God will restore him to health of body, which is a to- ken of his blessing. r God will forgive his finnes, and accept him as iust. s That is, done wickedly. t But my sinne hath bene the cause of Gods wrath toward me. u God will forgive the penitent sinner. x Meaning, oft times, euen as oft as a sinner doth repent. y If thou doubt of any thing, or see occasion to speake against it. z That is, to shew thee wherein mans iustification consisteth.

C H A P. XXXIIII.

5 Elihu chargeth Job, that hee called himselfe righteous. 12 He sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements. 24 God destroyeth the mighty. 30 By him the hypocrite reigneth.

Mouther Elihu answered, and sayd, 2 And hearken vnto mee, yee that haue know- ledge.

3 For the eare trieth the wordes, as the mouth talketh meate.

4 Let vs seeke iudgement among vs, & let vs know among our selues what is good.

5 For Job hath sayd, I am righteous, and God hath taken away my iudgement.

6 Should I lie in my right? my wound of the arrowe is greivous without my sinne.

7 What man is like Job, that dynterh [scornfulnesse] like water?

8 Which goeth in the company of them that worke iniquite, and walketh with wicked men?

9 For he hath sayd, It profiteth a man nothing, that he should walke with God, an interpreter, one of a thousand to declare vnto man righteousness.

24 Then will he haue mercy vpon him, and will say, Deliver him, that he goe not downe into the pit: for I haue receiued a reconciliation.

25 Then shall his flesh bee as fresh as a childes, and shall returne as in the dayes of his youth.

26 We shall pray vnto God, and he will be fauourable vnto him, and he shall see his face with top: for he will render vnto man his righteousness.

27 Wee looke vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and perverted righteousness, and it did not profit me,

28 Wee will deliuer his soule from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light.

29 Lo, all these things will God worke twice vpon thee with a man,

30 That hee may turne backe his soule from the pit, to be illuminate in the light of the liuing.

31 Marke well, O Job, and heare mee: keepe silence, and I will speake.

32 If there be matter, answer me, and speake: for I desire to iustifie thee.

33 If thou hast not, heare mee: hold thy tongue, and I will teach thee wisdom.

10 Therefore hearken vnto mee, of wisdom, God saith that wickednes should bee in God, and iniquite in his might.

11 For he will render vnto man according to his worke, and cause euery one to liue according to his way.

12 And certainly God will not doe wil- kedly, neither will the Almighty peruert iudgement.

13 Whom hath hee appointed ouer the earth besides himselfe, or who hath plac'd the whole worlde?

14 If he let his heart vpon man, and gather vnto himselfe his spirit, and be heare, 15 All flesh shall perish together, and man shall returne vnto dust.

16 And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this, and hearken to the voyce of my words.

17 Shall hee that hateth iudgement, re- turne: and wilt thou iudge him wicked that is most iust?

18 Shall thou say vnto a king, Thou art wicked: or to princes, Ye are vngodly?

19 How much lesse to him that accepteth not the person of princes, and regardeth not the rich, more then the poore: for they be all the worke of his hands.

20 They shall die suddenly, and the people shall be troubled at midnight, and they shall passe swiftly and take away the mighty without hand.

21 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and hee seeth all his goings.

22 There is no backsliding nor shadow of death, that the workers of iniquite might be hid therein.

23 For hee will not lay on man so much that he should enter into iudgement with God.

24 Wee shall breake the mighty without seeking, and shall set vp other in their stead.

25 Therefore shall hee declare their wickednes: he shall turne the night, and they shall be destroyed.

26 Wee striketh them as wicked men in the places of the scers,

27 Because they haue turned backe from him, and would not consider all his wayes:

28 So that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to come vnto him, and hee hath heard the crye of the afflicted.

29 And when hee giueth quietnesse, who can make trouble: and when hee hideth his face, who can behold him, whether it be vpon nations, or vpon a man onely?

30 Because they hypocrite doth reigne, and because the people are snared.

31 Surely it appertained vnto God to pardon say, I haue pardoned, I will not destroy.

32 But if I see not, teach thou mee: if I haue done wickedly, I will doe no more.

33 All hee will performe the thing though thou sayest: for thou hast reprooued it, because a Which are esteemed wife of the world.

b Let vs examine the matter rightly.

c That is, hath afflicted me with our measure.

d Should I say, I am wicked, being an innocent?

e I am forget- ful, then my sinne deserveth.

f Which is compelled to receive the re- proach & scornes of many for his foolish words. g Meaning, that Job was like to the wicked, because he seemed not to glorifie God and submit himselfe to his iudgements. h He wretheth loose words, who sayd that Gods children are oftentimes punished in this world, and the wicked go free.

i That is, liue godly, as Gene 5. 22.

geth to God to moderate his corrections, and not as Elihu speaketh in the person of God, as it were mocking, he would be wiser then God, b Will God retri- buting his workes? c Thus hee speaketh in the person of God, Job should chafe and refuse affliction at his pleasure. that and he that is perfect in knowledge, speaketh

with thee.

Beholde, the mightie God calleth a way none that is: mightie and valiant of courage.

He maintaineth not the wicked, but he giveth indigement to the afflicted.

He will openeth not his eyes from the righteous, but they are with him: in the throne, where he placeth them for ever: thus they are exalted.

And if they be bound in fetters and tied with the cords of affliction.

Then will he shew them their wicked
and their finnes, because they have bene proud.

He openeth also their eare to discipline,
and commandeth them that they returne
from iniquitie.

If they obey and serve him, they shall end their dayes in prosperitie, and they shall perceyve in pleasures.

But if they will not obey, they shall passe by the sword, and perishe without knowledge.

But the hypocrites of heart increase the wrath: for they call not when he bindeth
them.

Their soule dieth in youth, and their life among the whoremongers.

He delivereth the poore in his affliction,
and openeth their eare in trouble.

Even so would he have taken thee out of the strait place into a broad place, and not shut up beneath: and that which resteth
upon thy rable, had bene full of fat.

But thou art full of the judgement of the wicked, though judgement and equite maintaine all things.

For Gods wrath is, lest he should take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of gifts can delivier thee.

Could he regard thy riches: hee regardeth not golde, nor all them that excell in strength.

Be not carefull in the night, both he destroyeth the people out of their place.

Take thou heede: looke not to in-quiritie: for thou hast chosen it rather then actuation.

Beholde, God exalteth by his power:
what teacher is like him?

Who hath appointed to him his way: or who can say, who hath done wickedly?

Remember that thou magnifie his works, which men behold.

All men see it, and men beholde it as farre off.

Beholde, God is excellent, and wee
know him not, neither can the number of his
perces be searched out.

Beholde, God is excellent, and wee
know him not, neither can the number of his
perces be searched out.

Beholde, God is excellent, and wee
know him not, neither can the number of his
perces be searched out.

Beholde, God is excellent, and wee
know him not, neither can the number of his
perces be searched out.

Beholde, God is excellent, and wee
know him not, neither can the number of his
perces be searched out.

Beholde, God is excellent, and wee
know him not, neither can the number of his
perces be searched out.

Thou shalt perceive the faithfull in the water, which I speak to thee
in the name of God.

Strong, & con-
fiant, & of understanding: for these are the gifts of God, & he loveth
them in man: but God punisheth
now loe, it is a signe that these are not in him.

Therefore he will not preserve
the wicked: but to the humble &
afflicted heart he will shew grace.

He pretereth
the godly to honour.

He will move their hearts to
feele their finnes,
that they may come to him by repentance, as he did Mamsell.

te, or shall

own destruction.

Which are maliciously bent against God, and flaunt themselves
in their vice.

When they are in affliction, they seek not to God
for succour, as Ahab, 1. Chro. 16.

k They die of
some vile death,
and that before
they come to age.

1 If thou hadst
bene obedient to God, he would have brought thee to liberde
and wealth.

1 Thou art also gather after the manner of the wicked:

for thou dost murmur against the justice of God. n God doth punish thee, lest thou shouldst forget God in thy wealth, and supercilious. o Bec not thou curious in seeking the causes of Gods judgments, when he destroyeth any. p And so murmur against God through impatience q The workes of God are so manifest that a man may see them asare off, and know God by the same. r Our infirmities hindere vs so, that we cannot attaine to the perfect knowledge of God.

and the raine.

A T this also my heart is astonied, and is moued out of his place.

2 Heare the sound of his voyce, and the noyse that goeth out of his mouth.

3 He directeth it vnder the whole heauen,
and his light vnto the ends of the world.

4 After it a noyse liquideth: he thundereth with the voyce of his maiesty, and he will not stay: then when his voyce is heard;

5 God thundereth maruelously with his voyce: he worketh great things, which wee knowe not.

6 For he saith to the snow, Be thou vpon
the earth: likewise to the small raine and to the great raine of his power.

7 Which the force thereof he smuteth vp curry man, that all men may knowe his workes.

8 When the beasts goe into the den, and
remaiue in their places.

9 The whirlwinde cometh out of the South, and the cold from the Northwinde.

10 At the breath of God the frost is giuen, and the breadth of the waters is made narrow.

11 We maketh also the cloudes to labour, to water the earth, and scattereth the cloud of his light.

12 And it is turned about by his government, that they may doe whatsoeuer he com-mandeth them vpon the whole world:

13 Whither it be for punishment, or for his land, or of mercy, he causeth it to come.

14 Hearken vnto this, O Job: stand and consider the wondrous workes of God.

15 Dost thou know when God hideth them, and causeth the light of his countenance to shine?

16 Dost thou knowen the secret of the cloud, and the wondrous works of him that is perfit in knowledge?

17 Or how thy clothes are warme, when he maketh the earth quiet through the winde?

18 Dost thou stretched out the branch,
which are strong, and as a molten glasse?

19 Tell he what we shall say vnto him, for wee cannot dispoist our matter because of darkenesse.

20 Shall it be told him when I speake, or shall man speake when hee shall bee destroyed?

21 And now men see not the light, which shineth in the cloudes, but the wind passeth and cleareth them.

22 The highnesse cometh out of the South: the people thereof is to God, which is terrible.

23 It is the Almightye: we cannot find him out: hee is excellent in power and iuge-ment, and abundant in iustice: hee is still truth not.

24 Let men therefore feare him: for hee will not regard any that are wise in their owne conceits.

thou, and darknesse as the a swaddling
bands thereof.

10 When I established my commandement vpon it, and set barres and doores,

11 And said, whither shall thou come, but no further, and here shall it stay thy poudre feet.

12 Hast thou commanded the morning since thy dayes? hast thou caused the morning to know his place,

13 That it might take hold of the corners of the earth, and that the wicked might bee shaken out of it?

14 It is turned as clay to fashion, and all stand by as a garment.

15 And from the wicked their light shall be taken away, & the fire arme shall be broken.

16 Hast thou entered into the bottomes of the sea? or hast thou walked to seeke out the depth?

17 Have the gates of death bene opened vnto thee? or hast thou seene the gates of the shadow of death?

18 Hast thou perceived the breadth of the earth, tell if thou knowest all this.

19 Where is the way where light dwelleth, and where is the place of darknesse,

20 That thou shouldst receiue it in the bonds thereof, and that thou shouldst know
the pathes to the house thereof?

21 Knowest thou it, because thou wast then borne, and because the number of thy dayes is great?

22 Hast thou entered into the treasures of the snow? or hast thou seene the treasures of the hail?

23 Which I haue hid against the time of trouble, against the day of warr and battelle?

24 By what way is the light parted, which scattereth the East wind vpon the earth?

25 Who hath diuided the spoutes for the raine? or the way for the lightning of the thunders,

26 To cause it to raine on the earth where no man is, and in the wilderness where there is no man,

27 To fulfill the wilde and waste places,
and to cause the bud of the herbe to spring
foorth?

28 Who is the father of the raime? or who hath begotten the drops of the dew?

29 Out of whose wombe came the yee?
who hath engendred the frost of the heauen?

30 The waters are hid as with a stone:
and the face of the depth is frozen.

31 Canst thou retraineth the sweete influence of the Pleiades? or looke the bands of Orion?

32 Canst thou bring forth? & Bazzaroth thy yong ones, as they were not his, and is without feare, as if he translated in vaine.

they may walke, and say vnto thee, Loe, here
we are?

of heauen,

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 This bounty and prouidence of God, which extendeth euen to the yong rauen, giueth man full occasion to put his confidence in God. 37 Iob con-fesseth and humblye humbleth himselfe.

W<sup>V</sup>ilt thou hunt the praye for the Lyon or fill the appetite of the Lyon
whelpes,

2 When they couch in their places, and remaine in the covert to lie in water?

3 Who prepareth for the rauen his meat,
when his birds crie vnto God, wandering
for lacke of meate?

4 Knowest thou the time when the wilde goats bring forth yong? or dost thou marke when the hindes doe calue?

5 Canst thou number the moneths that they fulfill? or knowest thou the time when they bring forth?

6 They bowe themselves: they humble
their yong, and cast out their sorrowes.

7 Yet their yong ware fat, and grow by with come: they goe forth and returne not vnto them.

8 Who hath set the wild ass at libertie?
who hath loosed the bonds of the wild ass?

9 It is I which haue made the wilderness his house, and the salt places his dwelling.

he heareth not the crye of the dyler.

pasture, and searcheth after euery greene thing.

12 Will the Unicorne serue thee? or will
he tarie by thy crib?

13 Canst thou binde the Unicorne with his hand to labour in the furrow? or will hee plow the valleyes after thee?

14 Wilt thou trust in him, because his strength is great, and cast off thy labour vnto
him?

15 Wilt thou beleene him, that hee will bring home thy seed, and gather it vnto thy barn?

16 Hast thou giuen the pleasant wings vnto
the peacocks? or wings and feathers vnto
the ostrich?

17 Which leaueth his egges in the earth,
and maketh them hote in the dust,

18 And forgetteth that the foote might scatter them, or that the wilde beast might breake them.

19 Hee sheweth himselfe cruell vnto his yong ones, as they were not his, and is without feare, as if he translated in vaine.

20 For God hath depriued him of wis-

35 Is this to learne, to strive with the Almighty? he that reppoweth God, let him answere to it.

36 Then Iob answered & Lord, saying, a How weak mens power is, being compared to the workes of God: to Whose power appeareth in the creation, and gouerning of the great beasts.

A Gaine, the Lord answered Iob out of the whirlwind, and said,

2 Stirr vp now thy lynes like a man: I will demaund of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

3 Wilt thou disanull my iudgement? or wilt thou condemne me, that thou maest be iustified?

4 Hast thou an arme like Gods? or dost thou thunder with a voyce like him?

5 Decke thy selfe now with maiestie and excellencie, and aray thy selfe with beautie and glorie.

6 Cast abroad the indignation of thy wrath, and behold euery one that is proud, and abate him.

7 Look on euery one that is arrogant, and hying him lowe: and destroy the wicked in their place.

8 Hide them in the dust together, and binde their faces in a secret place.

9 Then will I confesse vnto thee also, that thy right hand can save thee.

10 Behold now Behemoth, (whom I made with thee) which eateth grass.

as an ore.

11 Beholde now, his strength is in his lynes, & his force is in the napp of his belly.

12 When hee taketh pleasure, his tayle is like a Cedar: the finches of his bones are waipt together.

13 His bones are like stauess of hyale, and his small bones like stauess of yron.

14 He is the chiefe of the wayes of Gods: hee that made him, will make his way to approach vnto him.

15 Surely the mountains bring him forth grasse, where all the beasts of the field play.

16 Leth hee vnder the trees in the count of the reede and fennes?

17 Can the trees couer him with their shadow? or can the willowes of the riuier compasse him about?

18 Behold, hee spoyeth the riuier, and hastereth not: he trusteth that he can dray vp Iordan into his mouth.

19 Hee taketh it with his eyes, & thrusteth his nose through whatsoeuer meeteth him.

20 Canst thou dray out Libanus with anooke, and with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue?

21 Canst thou cast anooke into his nose, canst thou pierce his lables with an aigle?

22 Wilt hee make many prayers vnto thee, or speake thee faire?

23 Wilt hee make a couenant with thee, and wilt thou take him as a seruant for euer?

24 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou binde him for thy maidens?

25 Shall the companions banquet with him: shall they diuide him among the merchants?

26 Canst thou fill the basket with his skinner? or the fish panter with his head?

27 Lay thine hand vpon him: remember the battell, and doe no more so.

28 Behold, his hope is in vaine, for shall not one perishe euen at the sight of him?

CHAP. XLI.

i By the greatness of this monster Libanus, God sheweth his greatness, and his power, which nothing can resist.

None is so fierce that dare stirre him vp. Neecho is he then? he can stand before me:

2 Who hath prevented me that I should make an ende? All vnder heauen is mine.

3 I will not keepe silence concerning his partes, nor his power, nor his comely proportion.

4 Who can discouer the face of his garment? or who shall come to him with a double battle?

5 Who shall open the doores of his face? his teeth are fearefull round about.

6 The maiestie of his scales is like strong shielles, and are lare sealed.

7 One is set to another, that no wind can come betweene them.

8 One is ioyned to another: they stick together, that they cannot be diuided.

9 His needlings make the light to shine, and his eyes are like the eye lids of the morning.

10 Out of his mouth goe lampes, and sparkes of fire leape out.

11 Out of his nostrils cometh out smoke,

as out of a boiling pot of caldron.
 12 His breath maketh the coales burne:
 for a flame goeth out of his mouth.
 13 In his necke remaineth strength, and labour is reiected before his face.
 14 The members of his body are formed:
 they are strong in themselves, and cannot be moved.
 15 His heart is as strong as a stone, and as hard as the nether millstone.
 16 The mighty are afraid of his maicesty,
 and leave their faint in themselves.
 17 When the sword doth rouch him, hee will not rile up, nor for the speare, dart nor habergeon.
 18 He esteemeth yron as straw, and brasse
 as rotten wood.
 19 The atcher cannot make him flee: the fenes of the sling are turned into stubble unto him.
 20 The bars are counted as straw: and he laugheth at the shaking of the speare.
 21 Sharpe stones are under him, and he spreadeth sharpe things upon the mire.
 22 He maketh the depth to be boyle like a pot, & maketh the sea like a pot of ornament.
 23 He maketh a path to shine after him:
 one would thinke hee depth as an hoare head.
 24 In the earth there is none like him:
 he is made without feare.
 25 He beholdeth = all the children: he is a King over all the children of pride.

CHAP. XLII.

6 The repentance of Job. 9 Hee prayeth for his friends. 12 His goods are restored double unto him. 13 His children, age, and death.
Then Job answered the Lord, and sayd,
 1 I knowe that thou canst doe all things, and that there is no thought hid from thee.
 2 Who is he that hideth counsel without knowledge: therefore haue I spoken that I understood not, euen things too wonder-full for me, & which I knew not.
 3 Heare, I beseech thee, & I will speake:
 I will demand of thee, & and declare thou unto me.
 4 I haue heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee.
 5 Therefore I abhorre my selfe, and repent in dust and ashes.

6 Therefore I abhorre my selfe, and re-
 pent in dust and ashes.
 7 How after that the Lord had spoken these wordes vnto Job, the Lord also layde vnto Eliphaz the Temanite, & Wymath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for ye haue not spoken of mee the thing that is right, like my seruant Job.
 8 Therefore take vnto you now seuen bullocks, and seuen rammes, and goe to my seruant Job, and offer vp for your selues a burnt offering, and my seruant Job shall pray for you: for I will accept him, leaue I should put you to shame, because ye haue not spoken of me the thing which is right, like my seruant Job.
 9 So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bil-
 dad the Shubite, and Zophar the Naama-thite went, and did according as the Layde had sayd vnto them, and the Lord accepted Job.
 10 When the Lord turned the captiui-tie of Job, when hee prayeth for his friends:
 also the Lord gaue Job twice as much as hee
 had before.
 11 Then came vnto him all his brethren,
 and all his sisters, and all they that had bene of his acquaintance before, & did eate bread with him in his house, and had compassion of him, and comforted him for all the euill
 that the Lord brought vpon him, and e-uery man gaue him a piece of money, and euen an earring of golde.
 12 So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Job more then the first: for hee had fourteene thousand sheepe, and fixe thousand ca-uenets, and a thousand yoke of oxen, & a thousand the asses.
 13 Hee had also seuen sonnes, and three daughters.
 14 And hee called the name of one = Jemimah, and the name of the second = Rezi-ah, and the name of the third = Kerenhaphuch.
 15 In all the land were no women found so faire as the daughters of Job, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.
 16 And after this liued Job an hundred and forty yeres, and saw his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, euen foure generations.
 17 So Job died, being old, & full of dayes.

THE ARGUMENT.

THis booke of Psalmes is set forth vnto vs by the holy Ghost, to bee esteemed as a most precious treasure, wherein all things are contained that appertaine to true felicitie, as well in this life present as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge, and heavenly wisdom are here set open for vs to take thereof most abundantly. If we would know the great and high maicesty of God, here wee may see the brightnesse thereof shine most cleerely. If we would seeke his incomprehensible wisdom, here is the schoole of the same profession. If we would comprehend his inestimable bountie, and ap-proch neere thereunto, and fill our hands with that treasure, here wee may haue a most liuely and comfortable taste thereof. If we would know wherein standeth our saluation, and howe to attaine to life everlasting, here is Christ our onely Redeemer and Mediatour most euidently described. The rich man may learne the true wise of his riches. The poore man may finde full contentation. Hee that will reioyce, shall knowe the true ioy, and howe to keepe measure therein. They that are afflicted and oppressed, shall see wherein standeth their comfort, and how they ought to prayse God when he sendeth them deliueraunce. The wicked and the persecuters of the children of God shall see howe the hand of God is euer against them: and though he suffer them to prosper for a while, yet hee buildeth them, in so much that they cannot touch an haire of ones head, except hee permit them, and how in the end their destruction is most miserable. Briefly, here wee haue most present remedies against all temptations and troubles of minde and conscience, so that being well practised herein, we may be assured against all dangers in this life, line in the true feare and loue of God, & at length attaine to that incomparable crowne of glory, which is layd for them that loue the coming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

PSAL. I.

Whether it was Esdras, or any other that gathered the Psalmes into a booke, it seemeth he did set this Psalm first in manner of a Preface, to exhort all godly men to study & meditate the heavenly wisdom. For the effect hereof is, 1 That they bee blessed, which giue themselves wholly all their life to the holy Scriptures: 2 And that the wicked conueners of God though they seeme for a while happy, yet at length shall come to miserable destruction.

Blessed is the man that doeth not walke in the counsell of the wicked, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seate of the scornfull.

2 But his delight is in the Law of the Lord, and in his Law doeth he meditate day and night.

3 For he shall be like a tree planted by the riuers of waters, that will bring forth her fruit in due season: whose lease shall not fade, & whose fruit shall neuer be cut off.

4 The wicked are not so, but as the chaffe, which the winde driueth away.

5 Therefore the wicked shall not stande in the iudgement, nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous.

6 For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked shall perish.

a When a man hath giuen once place to euil counsel, or to his own concupiscence, he beginneth to forget himselfe in his sinne, and so falleth into contempt of God, which contempt is called the seate of the scornfull.

PSAL. II.

1 The Prophet David reioiceth that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God will continue his kingdom for euer, and aduance it euen to the end of the world. 2 And therefore exhorteth Kings & rulers, that they would humbly submit themselves vnder Gods yoke, because it is in vaine to resist God. Herein is figured Christs kingdom.

Why doe the heathen rage, and the people murmure in vaine?

2 The Kings of the earth band themselves, & the princes are assembled together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

3 Let vs breake their bandes, and cast their cordes from vs.

4 But he that dwelleth in the heauē shall laugh: the Lord shall haue them in derision.

5 When shall he speake vnto them in his wrath, & breake them in his fure displeasure,

6 Euen I haue set my King vpon Zion

mine holy mountaine.

7 I will declare the decree: that is, the Lord hath layd vnto mee, Thou art my Sonne: this day haue I begotten thee.

8 Aske of mee, and I shall giue thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the ends of the earth for thy possession.

9 Thou shalt crush them with a scepter of yron, & breake them in pieces like a potters vessel.

10 Be wise now therefore, ye Kings: be leaernd ye Iudges of the earth.

11 Serue the Lord in feare, and reioice in trembling.

12 Kisse the sonne, lest he be angry, & perish in the way, when his wrath shall kindlenly burne: blessed are all that trust in him.

on to the world. f Not onely the Iewes, but the Gentiles too. g Hee exhorteth all rulers to repent in this signe of homage. i When the wicked shall say, Peace shall be mingled yet to be but in the midway of their purposes, destruction suddenly come, 1 Thes. 5. 3.

PSAL. III.

1 David driuen forth of his kingdom, was grieved & tormented in minde for his sinnes against God: 2 And therefore calleth vpon God, and waxeth bolde through his promises against the great railings and terrors of his enemies, yet against death it selfe, which he saw present before his eyes. 3 Finally, hee reioiceth for the good successe that God gaue him, and all his Church.

A Psalm of David, when he fled from his sonne Absalom.

Lord, how are mine aduersaries increased: how many rise against me?

2 Where say to my soule, There is no helpe for him in God. Selah.

3 But thou Lord art a buckler for mee: my glory, and the lifter vp of my head.

4 I did call vnto the Lord with my voice, and he heard mee out of his holy mountaine. Selah.

5 I layd me downe and slept, and rose by againe: for the Lord sustained me.

6 I will not be afraid fourteen thousand of the people, that should beset me round about.

7 The Lord, arise: helpe me, my God: for thou hast smitten all mine enemies vpon the cheekes bone: thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked.

8 Saluation belongeth vnto the Lord, and thy blessing is vpon thy people. Selah.

d Be the danger neuer so great or many, yet God will deliuer him.

PSAL. IIII.

1 When Saul persecuted him, he calleth vpon God, trusting much assuredly in his promise, & therefore boldly reprooeth his enemies, who wilfully resisted his dominion, 7 and finally proferreth the fauour of God before all worldly treasures.

Psalm of David.
¶ To him that excheleth on Beremoth.

Hear me when I call, O God of my righteousness: thou hast set me at liberty, when I was in distress: have mercy upon me, and hearken unto my prayer.

2 O ye * issues of men, how long will ye turne my glory into shame, * louing vanitie, and seeking lies? Selah.

3 For he yet saith that the Lord hath chosen to himselfe: a godly man: the Lord will heare when I call vnto him.

4 Tremble, and sinne not: examine your stome heart vpon your bed, and be * sil. Selah.

5 Offer the sacrifices of righteousness, and trust in the Lord.

6 Many say, * who will shew vs any good? but the Lord, lift vp the light of thy countenance vpon vs.

7 Thou hast giuen me more loy of heart, then they haue had, when their wheate and their wine is abounded.

8 I will lay mys downe, and also sleepe in peace: for thou Lord, * onely makest mee dwell in safety.

PSALV.

2 David oppressed with the crueltie of his enemies, and fearing greater dangers, calleth to God for succour, shewing how requisite it is that God should punish the malice of his aduersaries. 7 After being assured of prosperous successe, he conceiveth comfort. 13 Concluding that when God shall deliuer him, others also shall bee partakers of the same mercies.

4 For thou art not a God that loatheth wickednesse: neither shall euill dwell with thee.

5 The foolish shall not stande in thy light: for thou hatest all them that worke iniquitie.

6 Thou shalt destroy them that speake lies: the Lord will abhorre the bloody man and wicked.

7 But I * will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: and in thy hate will I worshippe toward thine holy Temple.

8 Lead me, O Lord, in thy righteousness: * because of mine enemies: make thy wayes straight out of the dangers of mine enemies, thy paine before my face.

9 For no confurance is in their mouth: within they are very corruption: their * throat is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue.

10 Deliuer them, O God: let them fall from their countenances: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee.

11 And * let all them, that trust in thee, reioyce and triumph for euer, and couer thou them: and let them that loue thy Name, reioyce in thee.

12 For thou Lord wilt * blesse the righteous, and with fauour * wilt compasse him, as with a shield.

PSAL. VI.

1 When David by his sinnes had prouoked Gods wrath, and now felt not only his hand against him, but also conceived the horrors of death euerslasting, he desireth forgiveness, 6 Breuallng that if God took him away in his indignation, he should lacke occasion to praise him as hee was wont to doe, whiles he was among men. 9 Then suddenly feeling Gods mercie, he sharply rebuketh his enemies, which reioiced in his affliction.

¶ To him that excheleth on Beremoth vpon the right side. A Psalm of David.

O Lord, * rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

2 Haue mercy vpon mee, O Lord, for I am weake: O Lord deale me, for * my bones are decayed.

3 * My soule is also sore troubled: but Lord how long wilt thou delay?

4 Returne, O Lord: deliuer my soule: saue me for thy mercies sake.

5 For in * death there is no remembrance of thee: in the graue who shall praise thee?

6 I fainted in my mourning: I caused my bed euer night to swimme, and water my couch with my teares.

7 Mine eye is dimmed for despayre, and sunke in because of all mine enemies.

8 * Away from me all ye workers of iniquitie: for the Lord hath heard the voyce of my weeping.

9 The Lord hath heard my petition: the Lord will receiue my prayer.

10 All mine enemies shall be confounded and sore vexed: they shall be turned backe, and put to shame * suddenly.

11 When the wicked thinke that the godly shall perish, God deliuereth them suddenly, and destroyeth their enemies.

PSAL. VII.

1 Being fully assured by Christ one of Sauls kinsmen, bee calleth to God to bee his defender. 3 To whom he commendeth his innocencie. 9 First shewing that his conscience did not accuse him of any euill toward Saul: 10 Next that it touched Gods glorie to award sentence against the wicked. 12 And so entering into the consideration of Gods mercie and promise, he waxeth bold and denideth the vaine enterprises of his enemies, 16 Threatning that it shall fall on their owne necke which they haue purposed for others.

PSAL. VIII.

1 The Prophet considering the excellent liberalité and fatherly providence of God towards man, whom he made as it were a god ouer all his works,
doth not onely giue thanks: but is astonished with the admiration of his Name, as one nothing able to compasse such great merites.

O Lord my God, in thee I put my trust:
I haue me from all that persecute me, and
deliuer me.

O Lord my God, how excellent is thy Name in all the world: which hath let thy glory above the heauens.
2 Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings hast thou founded strength, because of thine enemies, that thou mightest kill the enemy and the aungell.

3 When I behold thine heauens, and the workes of thy fingers, the moone and the starres which thou hast ordered, 4 What is man, say I, that thou art mindfull of him? and the sonne of man, that thou visting him?
5 For thou hast made him a little lower then God, and crowned him with glory and worship.
6 Thou hast made him to haue dominion in the workes of thine hands: thou hast put all things vnder his feet:
7 All heepe and open: yea, and the
beastes of the field:
8 The foules of the ayre, and the fish of the sea, and that which passeth through the parhs of the leas.
9 O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy Name in all the world!

1 After hee had giuen thanks to God for his sundry victories: that hee had fane him against his enemies, and also proued by manifold experience
how readie God was at hand in all his troubles:
14 He being now likewise in danger of new enemies, desired God to helpe him according to his wordes, 27. And we destroy the malicious arrogant of his aduersaries.

O Lord my God, in thee I put my trust:
I haue me from all that persecute me, and
deliuer me.

1 I will be glad, and reioyce in thee: I will sing praise to thy Name, O most high.
2 For that mine enemies are turned backe: they shall fall, as quickly as thy power.
3 For thou hast maintained my right and my cause: thou art let in the thorne, and iudgeth right.
4 Thou hast rebuked the heathen: thou hast destroyed the wicked: thou hast put out their name for euer and euer.
5 O enemy, destructions are come a perpetuall end, and thou hast destroyed the cities: their memoriall is perished with
them.

6 But the Lord I shall sit for euer: hee hath prepared his throne for iudgement.

7 For he shall iudge the world in righte-ousnesse, and shall iudge the people with equitie.

8 The Lord also will be a refuge for the
poore, a refuge in due time, euen in affliction.

9 And they that knowe thy Name, will trust in thee: for thou, Lord, hast not failed them that seke thee.

10 Sing praises to the Lord, which teach eth in Zion: shew the people his workes.

11 For when he maketh inquisition for blood, hee remembereth it, and forgetteth not the complaint of the poore.

12 Haue mercy vpon me, O Lord: consider my trouble, which I suffer of them that hate me, thou that liftest mee vp from the gates of death.

14 The heathen are slunked down in the net that they have made: for they make it in their own snare.

15 The Lorde is known by executing iudgement: the wicked is snared in the works of his owne hands. Psalm.

17 The wicked shall turne into hell, and all nations that forget God.

18 For the poore shall not bee alway forgotten: the hope of the afflicted shall not perish for ever.

19 O Lorde: Let not man preuaile: let the heathen bee iudged in thy sight.

20 But them in feare, O Lorde, that the heathen may know that they are but men.

Psalm. Which they cannot learne without the feare of thy iudgement.

PSAL. X.

1 He complaineth of his fraud, rapine, tyranny, and all kinds of wrong, which worldly men vsing the cause in rooff, that wicked men, being as it were drunken with worldly prosperitie, and therefore setting apart all feare and reuerence toward God, thinke they may doe all things with out controuling. 15 Therefore bee callest vpon God to send some remedie against these desperate vniu, 16 and as length comfort himself with hope of deliuerance.

Why standest thou farre off, O Lorde, and hidest thee in due time, euen in affliction?

2 The wicked with pisse doeth persecute the poore: let them bee taken in the craftes that they haue imagined.

3 For the wicked hath made boast of his owne hearts desire, and the courteous blessed himselfe: he contemner the Lorde.

4 The wicked is so proud that he seeketh not for God: he thinketh alwayes, There is no God.

5 His wayes alway prosper: thy iudgements are high about his sight: therefore he beliethe hee all his enemies.

6 Hee saith in his heart, I shall neuer be moued, nor be in danger.

7 His mouth is full of cursing, and deceit, and fraude: vnder his tongue is mischief and iniquitie.

8 He lieth in wait in the villages: in the secret places doeth he murder the innocent: his eyes are bent against the poore.

9 He lieth in wait secretly, euen as a lion in his den: hee lieth in wait to spoylle the poore: hee doeth spoyle the poore, when hee watcheth him into his net.

10 Hee crouchereth and boweth: therefore heapes of the poore doe fall by his might.

11 Hee hath layd in his heart, God hath forgotten, hee hideth away his face, and will neuer see.

12 Artie, O Lorde God: lift vp thine hand: forget not the poore.

13 Therefore doeth the wicked contemne God: hee saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

14 Therefore doeth the wicked contemne God: hee saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

15 Therefore doeth the wicked contemne God: hee saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

16 Therefore doeth the wicked contemne God: hee saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

17 Therefore doeth the wicked contemne God: hee saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

18 Therefore doeth the wicked contemne God: hee saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

19 Therefore doeth the wicked contemne God: hee saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

20 Therefore doeth the wicked contemne God: hee saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

21 Therefore doeth the wicked contemne God: hee saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

14 Yet thou hast seene it: for thou beholdest mischief and wrong, that thou mayest take it into thine handes: the poore committeth himselfe vnto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherlesse.

15 Break thou the arme of the wicked and malicious: search his wickednesse, and thou shalt finde none.

16 The Lorde is King for ever and ever: the heathen are destroyed forth of his land.

17 Lorde, thou hast heard the desire of the poore: thou preparest their heart: thou bearest thine eare to them.

18 To iudge the fatherlesse and poore, that earthly man is able to feare no more.

PSAL. XI.

1 This Psalm cometh two parts. In the first David sheweth how hard assaults of temptations he sustained, and in how great anguish of mind hee was when Saul did persecute him. 4 Then next he reioiceth that God sent him succour in his necessity, declaring his iustice as well in governing the good, and the wicked men, as the whole world.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

1 As the Lorde put I my trust: howe say wee I then to my soule, I flee to your mountaine as a bird.

2 For the wicked bend their bow, and make ready their arrowes upon the string, that they may secretly shoot at them, which are brought in heart.

3 For the foundations are cast downe: what hath the righteous done?

4 The Lorde is in his holy palace: the Lorde thome is in the heauen: his eyes will consider: his eyelids will trie the children of men.

5 The Lorde will trie the righteous: but the wicked and him that lowly iniquitie, doeth his soule hate.

6 Upon the wicked he shall raine snares, fire, and haustione, and stormie tempest: this is the portion of their cup.

7 For the righteous Lorde lowly righteousness: his countenance doeth behold the iust.

1 O Lord, consider my cry: hearken unto my prayer of lips un-
cleansed.

2 Let my sentence come forth from thy presence, and let thine eyes behold equity.

3 Thou hast provoked and visited mine heart in the night: thou hast tried me, and foundest nothing: for I was purposed that my mouth should not offend.

4 Concerning the works of men, by the words of thy lips I kept me from the paths of the cruel man.

5 Stay my steps in thy paths, that my feet do not slide.

6 I have called upon thee: I surely thou wilt hear me, O God: incline thine ear to me, and hearken unto my words.

7 Shew thy marvellous mercies, thou

mouth.

11 They have compassed by noise in our ears: they have set their eyes to biting down to the ground.

12 As for as a Lion that is greedy of prey, and as it were a Lions whelpes lurking in secret places.

13 O Lord, I have appointed him: cast him down: deliver my soul from the wicked with thy sword.

14 From men by thine hand, O Lord, from men of the world, who have their portion in this life, whose bellies thou fillest with thine good treasure: their children have enough, and leave the rest of their substance to their children.

15 And feel not the fear that God will send upon them.

16 Thy bow is well belov'd: thy hand in rightness: and thou art strong: thy right hand shall bring down thine enemies.
17 I have the favour of God, and his loving-kindness shall deliver me out of my great troubles.

PSAL. XVIII.

1 This Psalm is the first beginning of his gratulation and thanksgiving in the entering into his kingdom, wherein he extolled and prayeth most highly the marvellous mercies and grace of God, who hath thus preserved and delivered him. 2
Also he sheweth forth the image of Christes kingdom, that the faithfull may be assured that Christ shall at length conquer and overcome by the unspeakeable power of his Father, though all the whole world should strive thereagainst.

2 O Lord, thou hast delivered me, O Lord, thou hast delivered me, O Lord, thou hast delivered me from the hand of all mine enemies, and from the hand of David and Goliath.

3 I will praise thee, O Lord, my
strength.

4 The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and he that delivereth me, my God and my strength: in him will I trust, my shield, the horn and of my salvation, and my refuge.

5 I will call upon the Lord, which is worthy to be praised: to shall I be safe from mine enemies.

6 The sorrows of death compassed me,
and the floods of wickedness made me a stray.

7 The sorrows of the grave have com-passed me about: the snares of death overtook me.

8 But in my trouble did I call upon the Lord, and cried unto my God: he heard my voice out of his Temple, & my cry did come before him, ever into his ears.

9 When the earth trembled, and quaked: the foundations also of the mountains moved and shook, because he was angry.

10 Smoke went out of his nostrils, and a consuming fire out of his mouth: coales were kindled thereat.

11 He bowed the heavens also and came down, and darkened was under his feet.

12 And he rode upon a Cherub, and did fly, and he came flying upon the wings of the wind.

13 He made darkeness his secret place,
and his pavilion round about him, even darkness of waters, and cloudes of the air.

14 At the brightness of his presence his cloudes passed, hailstones and coales of fire.

15 The Lord also thundered in the heaven,
and the brightest gaze: his bowes, hailstones
and coales of fire.

16 When he sent out his arrows and scattered them, and he increased lightnings
and destroyed them.

17 He sent out his arrows, and
scattered them, and he increased lightnings
and destroyed them.

This is the fulfillment of the promise
made to David, that he should be a king
over his enemies.

they were too strong for me.

17 They incircled me in the day of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay.

place: hee hath delivered me because he favour-eth me.

19 The Lord rewarded me according to my righteousnesse: according to the pure-nesse of mine hands hee recompensed me.

20 Because I kept the wayes of the Lord,
and did not wickedly against my God.

21 For all his lawes were before me, and I did not call away his commandments
from me.

I had consumed them.

37 I have wounded them, that they were not able to rise: they are falle under my feet.

38 I have wounded them, that they were
not able to rise: they are falle under my feet.

39 For thou hast giveth me with strength to battell: them, that rose against me, thou hast subdued under mee.

40 And thou hast given mee the mouth of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me.

41 They cryed, but there was none to save them, even unto the Lord, but hee delivered them not.

42 Then I will beate them small as the dust before the winde: I will tread them
as the clay in the streetes.

43 Thou hast delivered me from the tentations of the people: thou hast made mee
the head of the heathen: a people, whom I have not known, shall serve me.

44 As soone as they heare, they shall obey me: the stranger shall see in subjection to
me.

45 Strangers shall stirre away, and feare in their pinn chambers.

46 Let the Loude live, and blessed be my strength, and the God of my salvation be exalted.

47 It is God that giveth me power to overcome me, & subdueth the people under me.

48 O my deliverer from mine enemies, even thou hast let me up from them, that rose against me: thou hast delivered me from their cruell man.

PSALM XXII

David in his personification of Christ, speaks of the victory, attributing it to God, and not to the strength of man. Whence in the holy Gospels, Christ is said to be the King of the Jews, who is the perfection of the kingdom.

To him that exelleth, A Psalm of David.

The King shall receive in thy strength, O Lord: yea, thou greatly shalt bestow in thy salvation.

Thou hast given him his hearts desire, and hast not denied him the request of his lips, saying,

For thou shalt prevent him with liberal blessings, and dost set a crown of pure gold upon his head.

We asked life of thee, and thou gavest him a long life for ever and ever.

His glory is great in the salvation, dignity and honour hast thou laid upon him.

For thou hast him as a blessing for ever: thou hast made him glad with the joy of thy countenance.

Because the king triumpheth in the Lord, and in the merit of the most High, thy shall no fall.

Thine hand shall smite out all thine enemies, and thy right hand shall smite out them that hate thee.

Thou shalt make them like a fether, which in time of storme is blown away: the Lord shall destroy them in his wrath, and the fire shall consume them.

Thou shalt smite them, thou shalt destroy from the earth, and their name from the children of men.

For they intended evil against thee, and imagined mischief, but they shall not prevail.

Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make rattle against their faces.

Be thou exalted, O Lord, in thy strength: so will we sing & praise thy power.

As a marke to shew it. I maintain thy Church against thine adversaries, that we may have ample occasion to praise thy Name.

PSALM XXII

David complaineth because he was brought into such extremities, that he was past all hope. But after, he had, referred, the sorowes and cruelties whereunto he was wicked, to he recovered himself from the bondage of temptations, & growth in hope. And here under his own person he sets forth the figure of Christ, whom he did forsake by the spirit of prophesie, that he should mercifully and strangely be delivered by a dead, before his Father should raise, and exalt him as alive.

To him that exelleth upon I David's Psalm.

My God, my God: why hast thou forsaken mee, and art so farre from mine heeles, and from the words of my roaring?

O my God, I cry by day, but thou hearest not, and by night, but I have no audience.

But thou art holy, and dost inhabite

The Law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soule: the testimony of the Lord is true, & giveth wisdom unto the simple.

The statutes of the Lord are right, and prynces the heart: the commandment of the Lord is pure, and giveth light unto the eyes.

gether. And none to bee desired then golde, yea, then much fine golde: whereas also then woe, and the same come.

For ever by them thy servants made circumpect, and in keeping of them there is great reward.

Which can understand his faultes: cleane me from secret faultes.

Keep thy servant also from presumptuous finnes: let them not reigne over me: so shall I be upright, and made cleane from much wickednesse.

The Lord beare thee in the day of trouble: the name of the Lord of Jacob be with thee.

Send thee helpe from the sanctuary, and strengthen thee out of Zion.

Let him remember all thine offerings, and turne thy burnt offerings into ashes.

And grant thee according to thine heart, and fulfill all thy purpose.

For thou mayest rejoyce in thy salvation, and let us be in the banner in the name of the Lord: when the Lord shall performe all thy petitions.

For knowe I that the Lord will helpe his anointed, and will beare him from his sanctuary by the mighty helpe of his right hand.

Some will in charity, and some in malice: but we will remember the name of the Lord our God.

2 And fathers trusted in thee: they trusted, and thou didst deliver them.

3 They called upon thee, and were delivered: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded.

6 But I am a woman, and not a man: a shame of men, and the contempt of the people.

7 All they that see me, hate me in derision: they make a mock and nod the head, saying.

8 * We trusted in the Lord, let him deliver him: let him save him, seeing hee longeth him.

9 But thou hast not draw me out of the woman: thou hast not given me hope, even at my mothers breast.

10 I was cast upon thee, even from the wombe: thou art my God from my mothers belly.

11 Be not farr from me, because trouble is better: for there is none to helpe mee.

12 Many young buls have compassed me: mightie & bulles of Babylon have closed me about.

13 They gave upon me in their mouths, as a stamping and roaring lion.

14 I am like a water poured out, and all my bones are out of ioynt: mine heart is like wax: it is molten in the midst of my bowels.

15 My strength is dried up like a potsherd, and my tongue cleaveth to my jaws, and thou shalt bring me into the dust of death.

16 For dogges have compassed mee, and the assembly of the wicked have inclosed mee: they pierced mine handes and my feete.

17 I may tell all my bones: yet they behold, and looke upon me.

18 They part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture.

19 But bee not thou farr off, O Lord, my strength: hasten to helpe me.

20 Deliver my soule from the sword: my desolate soule from the power of the dog.

21 Save me from the Lyons mouth, and answer me in saving mee from the handes of the wickednes.

22 * I will declare thy Name unto my brethren: in the midst of the Congregation will I praise thee, saying.

23 * Praise the Lord, see that feare him: magnifie ye him, all the seede of Jacob, and feare ye him, all the seede of Israel.

24 For he hath not despised me, nor shamed the affliction of the woman: neither hath he hid his face from him, but when hee called unto him, he heard.

29 All they that be farr in the earth, shall eate and worship: all they that goe downe into the dust, shall bowe before him, * saye he that cannot quicken his owne soule.

30 * Their seede shall serve him: it shall be counted unto the Lord for a generation.

31 They shall come, and shall declare his righteousnes unto a people that shall be borne, because hee hath * done it.

is no hope that he shall recover life: so neither power nor dead shall be relected from his kingdom, & rise, which the Lord keepeth as a seed to the Church, & people among men, & that is, God hath fulfilled his promise.

PSALM XXXII.

1 Because the Prophet had praised the great mercies of God at divers times, and in sundry manner, hee gathered a certaine confession, fully persuading himselfe that God will continue the same goodnesse toward him for ever.

A Psalm of David.

The Lord is my shepherd, * I shall not want.

2 He maketh me to rest in green pastures, and leadeth me by the still waters.

3 * He restoreth my soule, and leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his Names sake.

4 Yea, though I should waile through the valley of the shadow of death, I will feare no evil: for thou art with me, thy rod and thy staffe they comfort me.

5 Thou dost prepare a table before me in the sight of mine adversaries: thou dost * anoint mine head with oyle, and my cup runneth over.

6 Donot mine kindness and mercy shall follow me all the dayes of my life, & I shall remain a long season in the shoulde of the Lord.

e Albeit his enemies sought to destroy him, yet God preserved him, and hee was not libelously with him in despite of death: the manner of great leas: He seetheth out his life, & the fruit of this world, but in the future and future of God.

PSALM XXXIII.

1 Albeit the Lord God hath made, and governeth all the world, yet toward his chosen people his gracious goodnesse doth most abundantly appear, in that when they be in bondage, hee will save them, which though it was appointed, among the children of Abraham, yet easily they doe enter againe into this Sanctuary, which are the true worshippers of God, & saved from the insull fifth of this world: & finally hee magnifyeth Gods grace for the building of the Temple, so the vnde he might serve up all his faithful to the true service of God.

A Psalm of David.

The earth is the Lords, & all that therein is: the world & they that dwell therein.

1 For he hath founded it upon the seas: and established it upon the floods.

2 Who shall ascend into the mountaine of the Lord? and who shall stand in his holy place?

3 He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart: which hath not lift up his mind unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully.

4 He shall receive a blessing from the Lord, and righteousness from the God of his salvation.

5 This is the generation of them that seek him, of them that seek thy face, O Lord. Blessed.

6 Lift up your heades, ye gates, and be ye lift up ye everlasting doores, and the king of glory shall come in.

7 Who is this King of glory? the Lord, strong and mighty, even the Lord mighty in battell.

8 Lift up your heades, ye gates, and lift up your selues, ye everlasting doores, and the King of glory shall come in.

9 Who is this King of glory? the Lord of hosts, he is the King of glory. Blessed.

10 Wherein the glory of God should appeare, and vnder the Temple, hee also prayeth for the spirituall Temple, hee commends because of the promise which was made to the Temple. Psal. 138. 14.

PSAL. XXV.

1 The Prophet touched with the consideration of his sinnes, and afflicted with the cruell malice of his enemies, 6 Praised to God most fervently to haue his sinnes forgiven. 7 Especially such as hee had committed in his youth. Hee beginneth every verse according to the Hebrew letters, two or three except.

A Psalm of David.

Vnto thee, O Lord, lift I up my soule. 2 My God, I trust in thee: let mee not be confounded: let not mine enemies reioyce ouer me.

3 So all that hope in thee, shall not be ashamed: but let them be confounded, that transgress without cause.

4 Shew me thy wayes, O Lord, and teach me thy pathes.

5 Lead me forth in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my salvation: in thee doe I trust all the day.

6 Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies, and thy louing kindnesse: for they haue bene for euer.

7 Remember not the sinnes of my youth, nor my rebellions, but according to thy kindnesse remember thou mee, euen for thy goodnesse sake, O Lord.

8 Gracious and righteous is the Lord: therefore will hee teach sinners in the way.

9 Them that be meele, will hee guide in iudgement, and teach the humble his way.

10 All the pathes of the Lord are mercy and truth vnto such as keepe his covenant and his testimonies.

11 He will gouerne and comfort the meekly humbled for the sinnes.

11 For thy name sake, O Lord, be mercifull vnto mine iniquities, for it is great.

12 What man is hee that feareth the Lord? him will hee teach the way that he shall chuse.

13 His soule shall dwell at ease, and his seed shall inherit the land.

14 The secret of the Lord is reueiled to them that feare him: & his covenant to giue them vnderstanding.

15 Mine eyes are euen toward the Lord: for he will bring my feet out of the net.

16 Turne thy face vnto me, & haue mercy vpon me: for I am desolate and poore.

17 The sorowes of mine heart are enlarged: draw me out of my troubles.

18 Look vpon mine affliction and my trouble, and forgie all my finnes.

19 Beholde mine enemies, for they are many, and they hate me with cruell hatred.

20 Keepe my soule, and deliuer mee: let me not be confounded, for I trust in thee.

21 Let mine vprightnes and equity preserue me: for mine hope is in thee.

22 Deliuer Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

the more that his enemies increased, the more neere felt hee Gods helpe, p Forasmuch as I haue behaue my selfe vprightly toward mine enemies, let them knowe that thou art the defender of my iust cause.

PSAL. XXVI.

1 David oppressed with many iniuries, finding no helpe in the world, calleth for ayde from God: and assured of his integrity toward Saul, desireth God to be his iudge, and to defend his innocencie. 6 Finally, he maketh mentio of his sacrifice, which he will offer for his deliuerance, and desireth to be in the company of the faithfull in the Congregation of God, whence he was banished by Saul, promising integrity of life, and open praises and thanksgiving.

A Psalm of David.

Iudge me, O Lord, for I haue walked in mine innocencie: my trust hath bene also in the Lord: therefore shall I not feare.

2 Prooue me, O Lord, and trie me: examine my reins, and mine heart.

3 For thy louing kindnesse is before mine eyes: therefore haue I walked in thy truth.

4 I haue not haunted with vaine persons, neither kept company with the dissemblers.

5 I haue hated the assembly of the euill, and haue not companied with the wicked.

6 I will wash mine hands in innocencie, O Lord, and compasse thine altar.

7 That I may declare with the voyces of thanksgiving, and let forth all thy wonderous workes.

8 O Lord, I haue loued the habitation of thine house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.

9 Rather not my soule with the sinners, nor my life with the bloody men:

e I will serue thee with a pure affection, and with the godly that sacrifice vnto thee. f Destroy me not in the ouerthrowe of the wicked.

Dauids request.

S Whose cruell hands do execute the malicious desires of their hearts, h I am preferred from mine enemies by the power of God, and therefore will praye him openly.

IO In whose hands is a wickednesse, and their right hand is full of bribes.

11 But I will walk in mine innocency: re-deeme me therefore, & be mercifull vnto mee.

12 My foote standeth in uprightnesse: I will playe thee, O Lord, in the Congregations.

P S A L. XXVII.

a David maketh this Psalm being deliuered from great perils, as appeareth by the prayes and thanksgiving annexed: b Wherein wee may see the constant faith of Dauid against the assaults of all his enemies, c And also the end wherefore he desireth to live and to be deliuered, onely to worship God in his Congregation.

A Psalm of Dauid.

The Lord is my light and my saluation, whom shall I feare? the Lord is the strength of my life, of whom shall I be afraid?

2 When the wicked, euen mine enemies, and my foes came vpon mee to eat vp my flesh, they stumbled and fell.

3 Though an hoste pitched against mee, mine heart should not be afraid: though warre be raised against mee, I will trust in this.

4 One thing haue I desired of the Lord, that I will require, euen that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to visite his Temple.

5 For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his Tabernacle: in the secret place of his pauillion shall he hide mee, and let me by vpon a rocke.

6 And now shall hee lift vp mine head about mine enemies round about me: therefore will I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of ioy: I will sing and praise the Lord.

7 Hearken vnto my voice, O Lord, when I cry: haue mercy also vpon me and heare me.

8 When thou saydest it, Breake ye my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I will seeke thy face.

9 Hide not therefore thy face from me, nor cast thy seruant away in displeasure: thou hast bene my succour: leaue me not, neither forsake me, O God of my saluation.

10 Though my father and my mother should forsake mee, yet the Lord will gather me by.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and lead me in a right path, because of mine enemies.

12 Give mee not vnto the lust of mine aduersaries: for there are falsse witnesses risen by against mee, & such as speake cruelly.

13 I should haue fainted, except I had be-lieued to see the goodness of the Lord in the land of the liuing.

14 Hope in the Lord: be strong, and hee shall comfort thine heart, and trust in the Lord.

a Because he was assured of good successe in all his danger, and that his saluation was surely layd vp in God, he feared not the tyrannie of his enemies. b That God will deliuer me, and giue my faith the victory. c The losse of countrey, wife, and all worldly commodities grieue me not in respect of this one thing, that I may not praye thy name in the mids of the congregation. d Dauid assured himselfe by the Spirit of prophesie, that hee should overcome his enemies, and serue God in his Tabernacle. e He groundeth vpon Gods promise, and sheweth that he is most willing to obey his commandement. f He magnifieth Gods loue toward his, which falsly passeth the most tender loue of parents towards their children. g But either pacifie their wrath, or bridle their rage. h In this present life before I die, as Isa. 38. 11. i He exhorteth himselfe to depend on the Lord, seeing he neuer failed in his promises.

A Psalm of Dauid.

Vnto thee, O Lord, doe I cry: O my strength, be not deate toward mee, lest if thou art werc me not, I be like them that goe downe into the pit.

2 Heare the voyce of my petitions, when I cry vnto thee, when I hold vp mine hands toward thine holy Diacle.

3 Draw me not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquitie: which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice is in their hearts.

4 Reward the according to their deeds, and according to the wickednesse of their inuentions: recompense them after the worke of their hands: render them their reward.

5 For they regard not the worke of the Lord, nor the operation of his hands: therefore breake them downe, and build them not vp.

6 Praised be the Lord, for he hath heard the voyce of my petitions.

7 The Lord is my strength, & my shield: mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped: therefore mine heart shall reioyce, and with my song will I praise him.

8 The Lord is their strength, & he is the strength of the belinances of his anointed.

9 Haue thy people, & blisse thine inob-edience: feed them also, & graunt thine cure.

e Let them be utterly destroyed, as Mal. 1. 4. the assurance of Gods helpe in his heart, his mouth was opening his prayes. f Meaning, his souldiers, who were whom God declared his power.

P S A L. XXIX.

a The Prophet exhorteth the princes and rulers of the world, (which for the most part: thank thee as no God) b As the least to feare him for the thunder and tempests, for feare whereof all creatures tremble. c And though thereby God threateneth sinners, yet is he alwayes mercifull to his, and moneth them thereby to praye his Name.

A Psalm of Dauid.

PSALM XXX.

1 When David was delivered from great danger he rendered thanks to God, exhorting others to do the like, and learns by his example, that God is rather mercifull then severe & rigorous towards his children. 7 And also that the fall from prosperity to adversity is sudden. 8 Thus done he returns to prayer, promising to praise God for ever.

2 A Psalm of King of the house of David.

3 I will magnifie thee, O Lord: for thou hast raised me, and hast not made my foes to rejoice over me.

4 O Lord my God, I cryed unto thee, and thou hast relieved me.

5 O Lord, thou hast brought me up out of the grave: thou hast rescued me from them that goe downe into the pit.

6 Sing praises unto the Lord, ye his Saints, and give thanks before the remembrance of his holinesse.

7 For he endured me a while in his anger: but in his favour is life: weeping may abide at evening, but joy cometh in the morning.

8 And in my prospectie I said, I shall never be moved.

9 For thou Lord of thy goodnesse haddest made my mountaine to stand strong: but thou diddest hide thy face, and I was troubled.

10 Then cried I unto thee, O Lord, and prayed unto my Lord.

11 What profit is there in my blood, when I goe downe to the pit: shall the dust give thanks unto thee: or shall it declare thy truth?

12 Heare, O Lord, and have mercy upon me Lord, without mine helper.

13 Thou hast turned my mourning into joy: thou hast looked my lacke and girded me with gladnesse.

14 Therefore shall my tongue praise thee and not cease: O Lord my God, I will give thanks unto thee for ever.

15 After that thou hadst withdrawn thine helpe, I felt my want. I had meened that the dead are not profitable to the living: the Lord here in earth: therefore he would live to the name, which is the end of mans creation. 1 Because thou hast delivered me, that my tongue should praise thee, I will not be silent of my distress.

PSALM XXXI.

1 David delivered from some great danger, first returns what meditation he had by the power of faith, while death waite for his eyes, his enemy being ready to take him. 15 Then hee affirmeth that the favour of God is alwayes ready to those that feare him. 20 Finally, hee exhorteth all the faithfull to trust in God, & to love him, because hee preferreth & strengtheneth them, as they may see by his example. To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

1 I & thee, O Lord, I have put my trust: let me never be confounded: deliver me in thy righteousness.

2 Botn downe thine care to mee: make haste to deliver mee: bee unto mee a strong rocke, and an house of defence to save me.

3 For thou art my rocke and my fortress: therefore for thy names sake direct me and guide me.

4 Draw me out of the net, that they have layed primly for mee: for thou art my strength.

5 Into thine hand I commend my spirit: for thou hast redeemed me, O Lord God of truth.

6 I have hated them that give themselves to deceitfull vanities: for I trust in the Lord.

7 I will be glad and rejoyce in thy mercie: for thou hast seene my trouble: thou hast known my soule in adversities.

8 And thou hast not put me up in hand of the enemy, but hast set my feete at large.

9 Have mercie upon me, O Lord: for I am in trouble: mine eye, my soule and my belly are consumed with griefe.

10 For my life is waiked with heavinesse, and my yeeres with mourning: my strength faileth for my paine, and my bones are consumed.

11 I was a reproch among all mine enemies, but especially among my neighbours: and a feare to mine acquaintance, who seeing me in the streete, fled from me.

12 I am forgotten, as a dead man out of minde: I am like a broken vessell.

13 For I have heard the rayling of great men: feare was on every side, while they conspired together against me, and consulted to take my life.

14 But I trusted in thee, O Lord: I said, Thou art my God.

15 By times are in thine hand: deliver me from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that persecute me.

16 Wake thy face to shine upon thy servant, and save me through thy mercie.

17 Let me not be confounded, O Lord: for I have called upon thee: let the wicked bee put to confusion, & to silence in the grave.

18 Let thy lying lippes bee made dumbe, which cruelly, proudly, and spitefully speake against the righteous.

19 How great is thy goodnesse, which thou hast laide up for them that feare thee! and done to them that trust in thee, even better then the sonnes of men!

wouldst defend mine innocencie. 1 Whatsoever changes come, thou governeest them by thy providence, n Let death destroy them, to the intent that they may hurt no more. n The treasures of Gods mercie are alwayes laide up in store for his children, albeit at all times they do not enjoy them, a For then God declareth himself iust, when hee preferreth his, according as hee hath promised.

Psalm 71.

b Prefrue me from the craftie counsels and subtil practises of mine enemies.

c Hee desireth God not onely to take care for him in this life,

d But that his soule may be saved after this life.

e This affection ought to be in all Gods children, to hate whatsoever thing is not grounded upon a sure trust in God, as deceitfull and vaine.

f Largeesse signifieth comfort, as straitnesse, sorrowe and perill.

g Meaning, that his sorrow and torment had continued a great while.

h Mine enemies had drawn all men to their part against me, even my chiefe friends.

i They were afraid to shewe me any token of friendship.

j They that were in authority, condemned me as a wicked doer.

k I had this testimony of conscience, that thou

he temple to rest in God, to share and serve him. 16 Who defendeth the godly with his sword. 17 And utterly destroyed the wicked in his fury.

8 A Psalm of David, when he changed his dominion before Achishlech, who house him away, and he departed.

9 I will alway give thanks unto the Lord: his grace shall be in my mouth continually. 10 My soul shall praise in the Lord: the Lord shall hear it, and be glad.

11 Praise ye the Lord with me, and let us magnify his Name together.

12 I loue the Lord, and hee heard mee: hee deliuered me out of all my feare.

13 They shall looke vnto him, and run to him: and their faces shall not be ashamed.

14 This poore man cried, and the Lord heard him, and liued him out of all his troubles.

15 The Angel of the Lord pitcheth tents about them, that feare him, and deliuereth them.

16 Praise ye, & see how gracious the Lord is vnto him: the man that trusteth in him.

17 Feare the Lord, ye his seruants: for no man caner to them that feare him.

18 The strong doe lacke, and suffer hunger, but they which seek the Lord, shall want nothing that is good.

19 Come children, hearken vnto mee: I will teach you the feare of the Lord.

20 As that man is hee that desireth life, and longeth long dayes for to see good.

21 Keepe thy tongue from euill, and thy lips that they speake no guile.

22 Refraine euill, and doe good: seeke peace, and follow after it.

23 The eyes of the Lord are vpon the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their crye.

24 But the face of the Lord is against them that doe euill, to cut off their remembrance from the earth.

25 The righteous crye, and the Lord heareth them, and deliuereth them out of all their troubles.

26 The Lord is neere vnto them that are in a contrite heart, and will saue such as be afflicted in spirit.

27 Great are the troubles of the righteous: but the Lord deliuereth him out of them all.

28 He keepeth all his bones: none of them is broken.

29 His malice shall slay the wicked: and they that hate the righteous, shall perish.

30 The Lord redeemeth the soules of his seruants: and none that trust in him, shall perish.

31 When they seeme to bee swallowed vp with affliction, his God is at hand to deliuer them. m And as Christ is to liue his head, in Their wicked enterprises shall they be destroyed.

32 For when they seeme to bee consumed with the danger and death it selfe, then God sheweth them.

PSAL. XXXV.

33 Soling as Saul was enemy to David, all that had any authority vnder him so flatter their king (in the cause of the world) did also most cruelly persecute David: against whom he prayeth God to pleade and to avenge his cause, & that they may be taken in their nets and snares, which they laide for him, that his innocencie may be declared, & that the innocent, which taketh part with him, may reioyce and praise the Name of the Lord, that thou deliuerest his seruant. 28 And so hee promiseth to speake forth the iustice of the Lord, and to magnifie his Name all the dayes of his life.

A Psalm of David.

1 Plead thou my cause, O Lord: with them that strive with mee: fight thou against them that fight against me.

2 Lay hands vpon the shield and buckler, and stand vp for mine helpe.

3 Bring out also the spear, and stay the way against them that persecute me: say vnto my soule, I am thy saluation.

4 Let them bee confounded and put to shame, that leere after my soule: let them bee turned backe and brought to confusion, that imagine mine hurt.

5 Let them bee as chaffe before the wind, and let the Angel of the Lord scatter them.

6 Let their way bee dark and slippery: and let the Angel of the Lord persecute them.

7 For without cause they haue laid the pit and their net for me: without cause haue they digged a pit for my soule.

8 Let destruction come vpon him at vnwares, and let his net that hee hath laide privately take him: let him fall into a the same destruction.

9 Then my soule shall bee ioyfull in the Lord: it shall reioyce in his saluation.

10 All my bones shall say, Lord, who is like vnto thee, which deliuerest the poore from him that is too strong for him: yea, the poore, and him that is in misery, from him that spoiled him.

11 Cruell witnesses did rise vp: they asked of me things that I knew not.

12 They rewarded mee euill for good, to haue spoiled my soule.

13 Yet I, when they were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke: I humbled my soule with fasting: and my prayer was turned vpon my holow.

14 I behaved my selfe as to my friends, or as to my brother: I humbled my selfe, mourning as one that bewailed his mother.

15 But in mine aduersity they reioyced, and gathered themselves together: the abjects assembled themselves against mee, and I knew not: they came at me and ceased not.

16 Altho the false tongues as bankers, gnashing their teeth against me.

17 Lord, how long wilt thou behold this: deliuer my soule from their tumult, euen my desolate soule from the lions.

18 So will I give thee thanks in a great congregation: I will praise thee among much people.

19 Let not them that are mine enemies, into despaire. I prayed for them with inward affection, as I would haue done for my selfe: or, I declared mine affection, with bowing downe mine head.

20 When they saw me ready to slip, and as one that halset for infirmity. n With their railing words. o The word signifieth cakes: meaning that the proud courtiers at their daintie feasts, scoffe, raile, and conspire his death.

PSAL. XXXVI.

1 The Prophet grievously vexed by the wicked, doth complaine of their malicious wickednesse. 2 Then he turneth to consider the unspeakable goodness of God toward all creatures: 3 But specially towards his children, that by the faith thereof hee may be comforted & assured of his deliuerance by this ordinarie course of Gods worke. 4 who in the end destroyeth the wicked & sauerh the iust.

¶ To him that excelleth. A psalme of Dauid the seruant of the Lord.

Wickednesse saith to the wicked man, even in mine heart, that there is no feare of God before his eyes.

2 For he flattereth himselfe in his own eyes, while his iniquitie is found worthy to be hated.

3 The words of his mouth are iniquitie and deceit: hee hath left off to understand and to doe good.

4 Hee imagineth mischief upon his bed: hee setteth himselfe upon a way, that is not good, and doth not abhorre euill.

5 Thy mercie, O Lord, reacheth vnto the heauens, and thy faithfulness vnto the clouds.

6 Thy righteousnesse is like the high mountaines: thy indignements are like a great deepe: thou, Lord, dost saue man a beast.

7 How excellent is thy mercie, O God!

8 By describing at large the nature of the reprobate, hee admonisheth the godly to beware of these vices. e Though wickednesse seemeth to ouershow all the world, yet by thine heauenly providence thou governeest heauen and earth. f Thy mountaines of God: for whatsoeuer is excellent, is thus called. g The depth of thy prouidence governeeth all things, and disposeth them, albeit the wicked seeme to ouerwhelme the world.

therefore the children of men trust in the shadow of thy wings.

8 They shall be satisfied with the fruit of thine house, and thou shalt giue them drink out of the fountaine of thy pleasures.

9 For with thee is the well of life, and thy light shall mee see light.

10 Extend thy looking kindnes vnto them that know thee, and thy righteousness vnto them that are vpright in heart.

11 Let not the foot of pride come against me, and let not the hand of the wicked man moue me.

12 Where they are fallen that worke iniquitie: they are cast downe, and shall not be able to rise.

13 They are cast downe, and shall not be able to rise, because they are cast downe, and shall not be able to rise.

PSAL. XXXVII.

1 This psalme containeth exhortation and consolation of the weak, that are grieved at the prosperitie of the wicked; and the of affliction of the godly. 2 For how prosperously flourisheth the wicked doe liue for the time, he doth asseure them that they shall be vaine and transitorie, because they are not in the favour of God, but in the hand of his enemies, &c. and how miserably the righteous seemeth to liue in the world, yet in the end he is in the favour of God, he is deliuered from the wicked, and persecuted.

¶ A psalme of Dauid.

Ere not thy selfe because of the wicked man, neither be enuious for the euil hee doeth.

2 For they shall soon be cut downe like graile, and shall wither as the greene berde.

3 Trust thou in the Lord: he is good vnto the land, and thou shalt be rich abundantly.

4 And delight thy selfe in the Lord, and he shall giue thee thine hearts desire.

5 Commit thy way vnto the Lord, and trust in him, and he shall bring it to passe.

6 And he shall bring forth thy righteousness as the light, and thy iudgement as the noone day.

7 Wait patiently vpon the Lord, & hope in him: fret not thy selfe for him: which prospereth in his way: nor for the man that bringeth his enterprises to passe.

8 Cease from anger, and leave off wrath: fret not thy selfe: also doe euill.

9 For euill doers shall be cut off, & they that wait vpon the Lord, they shall inherit the land.

10 Therefore yet a little while, and the wicked shall not appeare, and thou shalt looke after his place, and he shall not be found.

11 But meeke men shall possesse the earth, and they shall haue their delight in the multitude of peace.

and have bent their bows, to kill the righteous and meek, and to slay such as be of blessed conversation.

19. As the sword shall enter into their own heart, and their bowes shall be broken,

20. I shall sing unto the Lord man truer, then great riches to the wicked and mighty.

21. For the armes of the wicked shall be broken: but the Lord upholdeth the just men.

22. The Lord knoweth the dayes of righteous, and their inheritance shall be perpetuall.

23. They shall not be confounded in the perious times: and in the dayes of famine
they shall have enough.

24. But the wicked shall perish, and the remmes of the Lord shall be consumed as the fat of Lambes: euen with the smoke shall they consume away.

25. The wicked boweth and payeth not again: but the righteous is mercifull, and griues.

26. For such as be blessed of God, shall inherit the land, & they that be cursed of him,
shall be cut off.

27. The pathes of man are directed by the Lord: for he loveth his way.

28. Though he is fall, hee shall not be cast off: for the Lord purrcth vnder his hand.

29. I haue bene young, and am olde: yet I haue neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begg'd bread.

32. For the Lord loveth iudgement, and forsaketh not his saints: they shall be preferred before curmeare: but the seed of the wicked
shall be cut off.

33. The righteous men shall inherit the land, and dwell therein for euer.

34. The mouth of the righteous will speake of wisdom, and his tongue will talke of iudgement.

35. For the law of his God is in his heart, and his steps shall not slide.

36. The wicked watcheth the righteous, and stretcheth to slay him.

37. But the Lord will not leaue him in his hand, nor condeigne him, when he is in indignation.

38. Wait thou on the Lord, and keepe his law, and hee shall reule thee, that thou shalt inherit the land: when the wicked men shall perish, thou shalt see.

39. I haue bene like the wicked strong, and quailing himselfe like a greene bay tree.

40. For hee is passed away, and loe, he was gone, and I sought him, but he could not be found.

41. For though in the sometime so exalted he was, yet he will approve himselfe in his wrong. So that the prosperie of hold the will: for the will of man is peace.

38. But the thing which shall be destroyed together, and the end of the wicked shall cut off.

39. But the saluation of the righteous men shall bee of the Lord: hee shall bee their strength in the time of trouble.

40. For the Lord shall helpe them, and de-liuer them: hee shall rescue them from the wicked, and shall saile them, because they trust in him,

41. But in the end he hath good success, though for a time God
prooue them by sundry temptations.

PSALM XXXVII.

1. David lying sicke of some grievous disease, acknowledgeth himselfe to bee chastised of the Lord for his finnes, and therefore prayeth God to turne away his wrath. 2. He overreth the grieuance of his griefe by many words and circumstances wounded with the arrowes of Gods ire, for sakes of his friends, and intreated of his enemies. 3. But in the ende with firme confidence hee commendeth his cause to God, and begetteth for speedy helpe at his hand.

2. A Psalm of Dauid for remembrance.
Lord, rebuke mee not in thine anger,
neither chastise me in thy wrath.

3. For thine arrowes haue light vpon me, and thine hand lieth vpon me.

4. There is nothing sound in my flesh, because of thine anger: neither is there rest in my bones, because of my sinne.

5. For mine iniquities are gone ouer mine head, and as a weighty burden they are too heauie for me.

6. My wounds are putrified, and corrupte because of my foolishnesse.

7. I am bowed, and crooked very sore:
I goe mourning all the day.

8. For my reines are full of burning, and there is nothing sound in my flesh.

9. I am weakened and sore broken: I roare for the very griefe of mine heart.

10. Lord, I pouer my whole desire before thee, and my sighing is not hid from thee.

11. Mine heart is panted: my strength faileth mee, and the light of mine eyes, euen
they are not mine owne.

12. My louers and my friends stand afarre off from my plague, and my kinne-men stand afarre off.

13. They also, that seeke after my life, lay shares, and they that go about to do me euill, talke wicked things, & imagine deceit
continually.

14. But I as a deafe man heare not, and as a dumbe man, which openeth not his mouth.

15. Thus am I as a man, that heareth not, and in whose mouth are no reproofes.

16. For on thee, O Lord, do I wait: thou wilt heare me, my Lord, my God.

17. For I said, Heare me, lest they reioyce in mine affliction: but I haue not hearkned to their voice. For though in the sometime so exalted he was, yet he will approve himselfe in his wrong. So that the prosperie of his wicked-knowledgeth

God to be iust in his punishments,
because his finnes
had deserued
much more.

his finnes, Gods
iustice, and mak-

and consumed
with sicknesse.

9. This example
warneth vs neuer
to despair, be the
torment neuer so great:

10. But alwayes to cry vnto God with sure trust for deliuerance.

11. He was destitute of all helpe and counsell.

12. Partly for feare, and partly for pride they denied
all duty and friendship.

13. For I can haue no audience before
men, and therefore patiently wait for the helpe of God.

14. Partly for feare, and partly for pride they denied
all duty and friendship.

15. For I can haue no audience before
men, and therefore patiently wait for the helpe of God.

16. For I can haue no audience before
men, and therefore patiently wait for the helpe of God.

1 That is, if they see that thou succour me not in time, they will mocke and triumph, as though thou hadst forsaken me.

m I am without hope to recover my strength.

n In my greatest misery they most reioyce.

o He had rather have the harred of all the world, then to faile in any part of his due to Godward.

p Which are the hour of my saluation; and this declareth that he prayed with sure hope of deliuerance.

ouer me: for I when my foote slipper, they extoll themselves against me.

17 Where I am ready to halt, and my sorrow is neuer before me.

18 I when I declare my paine, and am torie for my sinne.

19 Then mine enemies are a line, and I am in misery, and they that hate me wrongfully are many.

20 Where all that reward euill for good, are mine adversaries, because I followe goodnesse.

21 Forake me not, O Lord, be not thou farre from me, my God.

22 Hasten thee to helpe mee, O my Lord, my saluation.

P S A L M XXXIX.

1 David uttereth with what great griefe & bitterness of minde he was driven to these outrageous complaints of his infirmities. 2 For he confesseth that when hee had determined silence, hee brast forth yet into words that he would not, through the greatnesse of his griefe. 3 Then he rehearseth earnest requests which taste of the infirmity of man, and mixeth them with many prayers; but all doe shewe a minde wonderfully troubled; that it may plainly appeare howe hee did strive mightily against death and desperation.

C To the excellent musician: Jeduthun.

A Psalm of David. I thought, I will take heed to my wayes, I shal linnie not with my tongue: I will keepe my mouth hidde, while the wicked is in my light.

2 I was dumbe and spake nothing: I kept silence euen from good, and my spow was more stirred.

3 Mine heart was hote within mee, and while I was musing, the fire kindled, and I spake with my tongue, saying.

4 Lord, let me know mine ende, and the measure of my dayes, what it is: let mee know how long I haue to liue.

5 Beholde, thou hast made my dayes as an hand breadth, and mine age as nothing in respect of thee: surely every man in his best state is altogether vanitie. Selah.

6 Doubtlesse man walketh in a shadow, and disquieteth himselfe in vaine: he heapeth up riches, and cannot tell who shall gather them.

7 And now Lord, what wait I for? mine hope is euen in thee.

8 Deliuze me fro all my transgressions, and make me not a rebuke vnto the foolish.

9 I should haue bene dumbe, and not haue opened my mouth, because I shouldest it.

10 Take thy plague away from me: for I am consumed by the stroke of thine hand.

11 When thou wilt rebuke doest chastise man for iniquitie, thou as a moth makest his beauty to consume: surely every man is vanitie. Selah.

12 Heare my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my cry: keepe not silence at my tears, for I am a stranger with thee, and a sojourner as all my fathers.

13 Stay thine anger from me, O Lord: I will recouer my strength, before I see death, and be not taken away all that is desired in this world. I persecuted him to thinke that God would destroy him: see howe hard it is for the very Saintes to keep their word, when death and despaire assaile them.

P S A L M XL.

1 David deliuered from great danger, and magnified and prayeth the grace of God for his deliuerance, and commendeth his providence vnto all mankind. 2 Then doeth hee promise to give himselfe wholly to Gods seruice, and so declareth how God is truly worshipped. 3 Afterward he giueth thanks, and praiseth God, and hauing complained of his enemies, with good courage he calleth for ayde and succour.

C To him: excelleth. A Psalm of David, the psalmist: patiently for the Lord, and hee inclined vnto me and heard my cry.

2 Hee brought me also out of the horrible pit, out of the mire clay, and set my feet vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings.

3 And he hath put in my mouth: a new song of praise vnto our God: many shall see it, and feare, and shall trust in the Lord.

4 Blessed is the man that maketh the Lord his trust, & regardeth not the proud, nor such as turne aside to lies.

5 O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderful workes so many, that none can count in order to thee thy thoughts toward vs: I would declare, and speake of them, but they are more then I am able to express.

6 Sacrifice is offering thou didst not desire: (for I mine eares hast thou prepared) burnt offering a sin offering hast thou not required.

7 Then said I, Lo, I come: for in the roll of the booke it is written of me.

8 I desired to doe thy good will, O my God: yea, thy Law is within mine heart.

9 I haue declared thy righteousness in the great Congregation: loe, I will not restraîne my lips: O Lord, thou knowest.

10 I haue not hidde thy righteousness within mine heart, but I haue declared thy truth and thy saluation: I haue not concealed thy mercede and thy truth from the great Congregation.

11 Censurest thou not thou thy tender mercy from mee, O Lord: let thy mercy and thy truth alway presterue me.

12 For innumerable troubles haue encompassed mee: my sinnes haue taken hold vpon mee, that I am not able to looke vp: yea, they are more in number effecteth the ceremonies of the law nothing in itselfe seuer, g When thou hadst opened mine eyes, was ready to obey thee, being assured that I will not be of thine elect for this end. h In the Church of the Quary. i David here numbeth three degrees of Gods mercede, whereby he picketh vs: his mercies, his continual protection, and his waite, constant fauour, so that hereof proceedeth our saluation.

a This was one of the chief singers, Chron. 16.41.

b Albeit he had appointed with himselfe patiently to haue taried Gods leisure, yet the vehemencie of his paine caused him to breake his purpose.

c Though when the wicked ruled, he thought to haue kept silence, yet his zeale caused him to change his minde.

d He confesseth that he grudged against God, considering his greatness of his power and the shortness of his life.

e Yet David confesseth in that he reasoned with God, as though that he were too feare toward his weak creature. f Make me not a mocking stocke to the wicked, or wrap mee not vp with the wicked, when they are put to shame. g Seeing my troubles came of thy providence, brought to haue endured them patiently. h Though thine open plaies light not euermore vpon them, yet thy secret cause continually freeth them.

from the hairs of mine head: therefore mine heart hath failed me.

12 Let it please thee, O Lord, to deliver me: make haste, O Lord, to help me.

13 Let them bee confounded and put to shame together, that seeke my soule to destroy it: let them bee driven backward and put to rebuke that desire mine hurt.

14 Let them bee destroyed for a reward in their shame, which say unto mee, Aha, hee.

15 Let all them that hate thee, reuoyce, & bee glad in thee: and let them that hate thy salvation, say alway, The Lord bee prayed.

16 Though I be poore & needie, the Lord thinketh on mee: thou art mine helper and my deliverer: my God, make no taryng.

which they intended to haue brought vpon him. Aske faithfull alway praye for his benefices: so the Lord God will in their need.

PSAL. XLII.

1 David being grievously afflicted, blessed them, that gave him cause, 2 And complaint of the troubles of his soules friends and familiars, as came to passe in Iudas, Iohn 14. 18. After hee feeling the great sorrows of God gently chastising him, and yet suffering his enemies, to triumph against him, 3 Giveth most hearty thanks to God. 4 To him that excelleth. A Psalm.

1 Blessed is hee that remembereth wisely the bygone: the Lord shall deliver him in the time of trouble.

2 The Lord will keepe him, and preserve him: aliter he shall be blessed upon the earth, and thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the will of his enemies.

3 The Lord will strengthen him vpon the bed of sorrow: thou hast said, all his bed in his sickness.

4 Therefore I said, Lord, haue mercy vpon mee: deale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.

5 Oppone enemies I speake euill of me, saying, When shall he die, and his name perishe.

6 And when I come to the me, he speaketh euill, but his heart heauiely inquitie watch in him, and when he commeth forth, he reioiceth it.

7 All they that hate mee, twispen together against mee: & euen against mee doe they imagine mine hurt.

8 A mischief is light vpon him, and he that hath shall no more liue.

9 Per, my familiar friend, whom I trusted, which bit eat of my bread, & hath lifted up the heele against me.

10 Therefore, O Lord, haue mercie vpon mee, and call me up: so I shall reward them.

11 By this I know that thou fauourest mee, because mine enemies doeth not triumph against me.

12 And as for mee, thou Opholdest mee in mine integritie, and dost set me before thy face for mee.

13 Blessed bee the Lord God of Israel without end. 4 Doe be it, men to be it.

14 By this repetition bee stirred up the faithfull to praye God.

1 The Prophet grievously complaineth, that being lashed by his persecutors, he could not be present in the congregation of Gods people, protesting that although he was separate in body from them: yet his heart was thitherward affectioned. 7 And last of all he sheweth, that he was not forgiues any come with these words: and thought, 8 Doe that he continually put his confidence in the Lord.

9 To him that excelleth. A Psalm to giue instruction, committed to the singers of Iudas.

10 The hart heareth for the criers of water, so & panted my soule after thee, O God.

11 My soule thirsted for God, as for the lining God: when shall I come and appeare before the presence of God.

12 My teares haue bene my meate day and night, while they say vnto mee, Where is thy God.

13 When I remembered these things, I poured out my very heart, because I had gone with the multitude, and ledde them into the house of God with the hope of singing, and praye, as a multitude that keepeth a feast.

14 Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and inquier within mee: waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks for the helpe of his presence.

15 Why should my soule be cast downe within mee, because I remember thee from the land of Iudas, and Hermon, and from the Mount of Sion.

16 One deeper calleth another, deeper by the noyse of the water spouter: all thy waters and thy floods are gone ouer mee.

17 The Lord will graunt his louing kindness in the day, and in the night shall I sing of him, as a prayer vnto the God of my life.

18 I will say vnto God, which my rocke, why hast thou forgotten mee: why art thou I mourning, when the enemies oppressed mee.

19 Why are they cast asunder, while mine enemies reproach me, saying dayly vnto mee, Where is thy God.

20 Why are they cast downe, my soule: and why art thou disquieted within mee: waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks: doe in my perfect peace, and my God.

to offer a solemne
sacrifice of thanksgiving in token of his great deliverance.

e When
by he admonisheth the faithful not to relent, but constantly to waite on the Lord, though their troubles be long and great.

I Edge mee, O God, and defend my cause against the unmercifull people: deliver me from the deceitfull and wicked man.

2 For thou art the God of my strength:
why hast thou put mee away? why goest thou mourning, when the enemy oppresseth
mee?

3 Send thy light and thy truth: let them lead mee: let them bring me vnto thine
holie Mountaine, and vnto thy Tabernacles.

4 Then will I goe vnto the altar of God: I will goe vnto the God of my joy and glad-nesse: and vpon the harpe will I giue thanks
vnto thee, O God, my God.

5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule?
and why art thou disquieted within mee?
waite on God: for I will yet giue him
thanks, he is my present helpe, and my God.

6 When thou art cast downe, my soule:
waite on God: for I will yet giue him
thanks, he is my present helpe, and my God.

7 The faithful remember the great mercy of God toward his people. 8 After they complaine, because they feele no more. 9 Also they alledge
the covenant made with Abraham, for the keeping whereof they shew what grievous things they suffered. 10 Finally they pray vnto God not to renewe their afflictions, seeing the same redound ab-
to the contempt of his name.

11 To him that excelleth. A Psalm to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Asaph.

12 We haue heard with our eares, O God: our fathers haue tolde vs the workes, which thou hast done in their dayes, in the olde time.

13 How thou hast driuen out the heathen with thine hand, and plantest them: how thou hast destroyed the people, and caused them to grow.

14 For they inherited not the land by their owne sword, neither did their owne arme saue them: but thy right hand, and thine arme, and the light of thy countenance, because thou diddest fauour them.

15 Thou art my King, O God: send helpe vnto me, O God.

16 Although thou haue beene thougt backe
our aduersaries: by thy flame haue wee tro-den downe them that rose up against vs.

17 For I doe not truite in my bow, neither can my sword saue me.

18 But thou hast senced vs from our ad-uersaries, and hast put them to confusion:
that haue vs.

19 Therefore will wee prayse God continually, and will confesse thy name for evermore.

20 But now thou art farre off, and puttest vs to confusion, and goest not forth with our armes.

21 Thou makest vs to turne backe from the aduersarie, and they, which hate vs, shall be confounded.

22 Therefore will wee prayse thee, O God,
in the midst of the Church, and thou shalt reigne vnto all ages.

therefore deli-
uer thy people
from their miserie.

i Because they and their forefathers made both one Church, they apply that to themselves, which before they did attribute to their fathers.

k As they confessed before,
that their strength came of God, so now they acknowledge that this affliction came by his iust iudgement.

spoke for themselves.

11 Thou guest vs as sheepe to be slaueter, and dost scatter vs among the nations.

12 Thou sellest the people without price,
and dost not increase their paine.

13 Thou makest vs a reproch to our neighbour, a test and a laughing stocke to them that are round about vs.

14 Thou makest vs a prouerbe among the nations, and a mocking of the heathen
among the people.

15 Thy confusion is dayly before mee, and the shame of my face hath covered me.

16 For the voyce of the slanderer and of the detraiter, for the enemy and an enemy.

17 All this is come vpon vs, yet wee haue not forgotten thy covenant.

18 Our heart is not turned backe: neither our steps gone out of the pathes.

19 Albeit thou hast smitten vs downe into the place of dragons, and covered vs
with the shadow of death.

20 If wee haue forgotten the name of our God, and holden by our hands to a strange God,

21 Shall not God search this out? he knoweth the secrets of the heart.

22 Surely thy lake are we thine continually, and are counted as sheepe in the slaughter.

23 Thy wrath sleepest thou, O Lord: awake,
be not sleepe off for ever.

24 Wherefore biddest thou thy face, and forgettest our miserie and our affliction?

25 For our soule is beaten downe into the dust: our bellie cleaues vnto the ground.

26 Rise up for our succour, and redeeme vs from thy mercies sake.

27 Thy name is the name of the Lord, and thy name is the name of the Lord.

28 Thy name is the name of the Lord, and
thy name is the name of the Lord.

29 Thy name is the name of the Lord, and

1 David describeth the arrogant tyranny of his aduersary Doeg, who by false sacrifices caused a homelech with the reb of the Priests to be slaine. 5
David prophesied his destruction. 6 And encouraged the faithfull to put their confidence in God, whose iudgements are most sharpe against his aduersaries: 9 And finally he rendereth thanks to God and the streames runne ouer me.

I am wearie of crying: my throte is dry: mine eyes faile, whilst I waite for my God.

They that hate mee without a cause,
 are more then the haire of my head: they
 that would destroy mee, and are mine enemies: false, are mightie, so that I reioyce that which I take not.

O God, thou knowest my foolishnes,
 and my faultes are not hid from thee.

Let not them that trust in thee, O Lord God of holies, bee ashamed for me: let not their shamee thee, be confounded through me, O God of Israel.

For thy sake haue I suffered reproche:
 haue had covered my face.

I am become a stranger unto my brethren, euen an alien unto my mothers house.

For the zeale of thine house hath eaten me, and the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen upon me.

I wept, and my soule fasted, but that was to my reproche.

I put on a sacke also: and became a mourner unto them.

They that face in the gate, spake of me, and the humbards sang of me.

But Lord, I make my prayer unto thee
 in an acceptable time, euen in the multitude of my mercy, O God, heare me in the truth
 thy saluation.

Deliver mee out of the myre, that I take not: let mee bee delivered from them that hate mee, and in their life denie the same, thine holy spirit shall reprove them, and defend thy glorie. K My prayer is, and pray for my Iulianus. U The more thou knowest him, the more they were against him, both in this world, and in the next.

Knowing that albeie I suffer now trouble, yet I knowe, which thou hast appointed my deliuerance.

that hate me, and out of the deepe waters.

Let not the waters flood: destroy mee, neither let the deepe swallowe me up: and let
 not the pit shut his mouth upon me.

Heare mee, O Lord: for thy loving kindeesse to good: turne vnto mee according to the multitude of thy tender mercies.

And hide not thy face from thy servant, for I am in trouble: make haste and heare mee.

Deliver mee from mine enemies, and re-
 deeme me from mine enemies.

God hath knowen my reproche and my shame, and my dishonour: all mine ad-uersaries are before thee.

Rebuke hath broken mine heart, and I am full of heavinesse, and I looked for some to take pittie on me, but there was none:
 and the comforters, but I found none.

For they gave me gall in my meat, and in my thirst they gave me vinegar to drinke.

Let their table be a snare before them,
 and their posteritie their ruine.

Let their eyes bee blinded, that they see not: and make their waynes alway to tremble.

Put out thine anger upon them,
 and let thy wrathfull displeasure take them.

Let their habitation be void, and let none dwell in their tents.

For they persecute him, whome thou hast smitten: and they adde vnto the sores of them, whom thou hast wounded.

Lay an inquitie upon their inquitie, and let them not come into thy righteousness.

Let them bee put out of the booke of life, neither let them bee written with the righteous.

When I am poore, and in heavinesse,
 thine helpe, O God, shall exalt me.

I will praise the name of God with a song, and I magnifie him with thanksgiving and with a psalter.

This also shall praise the Lord better then a young bullocke, that hath hoynes and hooves.

The humble shall see this, and they that seeke God, shall be glad, and your heart shall live.

For the Lord heareth the poore, and despiseth not his prisoners.

Let heauen and earth praise him: the seas and all that moveth in them.

For God will save Zion, and builde the cities of Iudah, that men may dwell there,
 and have it in possession.

The seed also of his servants shall inherit it: and they that loue his name, shall dwell therein.

They which seemed by their profession to haue bene written in thy booke, yet by their frutes prove the contrarie, let them be knowne as reprobate.

There is no sacrifice, which God more esteemeeth then thanksgiving for his benefites. 2 For as hee deliuered his servant Dauid, so will hee doe all that are in distresse, and call vpon him, 3 Vnder the temporal promise of the land of Canaan, he comprehendeth the promise of life everlasting to the iust: and their posterity.

He desired the shame of his enemies, 4 and the joyfull comfort of all those that seeke the Lord.

DAVID THE SON OF JONATHAN.

1. For I turned to the foolish, when I saw the prosperity of the wicked.

2. For their are no torments in their death, but they are in life and strong.

3. They are not in trouble as other men, neither are they plagued with other men.

4. Therefore pride is as a chain unto them, and greediness covereth them as a garment.

5. Their eyes stand out for fatness: they have more than they can eat.

6. They are full of treachery, and speak wickedly of their oppression: they talk presum-ptuously.

7. They deride their mouth against heaven, and their tongue waltereth upon the earth.

8. Therefore his people turne hereto for waters of a full cup are turned out to them.

9. And they say, How doeth God know it? he knoweth not in the most high.

10. Lo, these are the wicked, yet prosper
they always, and increase in riches.

11. Certainly I have cleansed my heart in vain, and washed mine hands in innocence.

12. For daily have I become punished, and chastened every morning.

13. If I say, I will judge thus, behold the generation of the children: I have repent.

14. Then thought I to know this; but it was too painful for me.

15. Until I went into the Sanctuary of God: then understood I their end.

16. Surely thou hast set them in slippery places: thou hast cast them down into desolation.

17. How suddenly are they destroyed, perished and horribly consumed.

18. As a dream when one awaketh: I awoke, when thou raisedst me up, thou shalt make their image desolate.

19. Certainly mine heart was vexed, and I was pined in my reins.

20. So foolish was I, and ignorant: I was as a beast before thee.

21. But I was always with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand.

22. Thou wilt guide me by thy counsel, and afterward receive me to glory.

23. Whom have I in heaven but thee?
and I have desired none in the earth
with thee.

24. My flesh failerh, and mine heart also:
but God is the strength of mine heart, and my portion for ever.

25. For to thee, O Lord, shall I trust: thou shalt deliver my soul from all trouble.

26. Thou shalt deliver my soul from all trouble, and thou shalt deliver my soul from
all trouble.

27. Thou shalt deliver my soul from all trouble, and thou shalt deliver my soul from
all trouble.

28. Thou shalt deliver my soul from all trouble, and thou shalt deliver my soul from
all trouble.

29. Thou shalt deliver my soul from all trouble, and thou shalt deliver my soul from
all trouble.

30. Thou shalt deliver my soul from all trouble, and thou shalt deliver my soul from
all trouble.

1. The wicked
in this life live as pharisees, and are not drawn to death like prisoners: that is, by sickness, which is death's medication.

2. They glory in their pride, as some do in their chances: and in cruelty as some do in apparel.

3. For they have the desire of the heart.

4. They blaspheme God and frare not his power, and sale
upon men, because they esteem themselves above
all others.

5. Not only the reprobate, but also the people of God often-
times fall backe,
seeing the pro-
fperous estate of the wicked, and are overhelmed
with sor-
rowes, thinking that God con-
demneth not right
the flock of the godly.

6. Thus the flesh
moueth even the godly to dispute with God
touching their poore estate, and the prosperitie
of the wicked.

7. If I give place thought, I offend against thy providence, seeing thou dispo-

sest all things

8. greatest danger.
h. Vasil entered into thy school, and learned by thy word and

stly.

9. By thy
mercifull iudgement.
k. When thou openest
thy heavenly felicity, wee confesse all their
vaile pompe.

10. For the more that man gloryeth
about by his owne
reason to seeke
out Gods iudgements,
the more doeth hee declare himselfe a beast.

11. By faith I was unto me, and I preferred me before

thee.

q Though all the world shake from God, yet he promisseth to trust in him, and to magnify his works.

28 As for me, it is good for me, to draw nether to God: therefore I have put my trust in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy wonders.

PSAL. LXXIII.

1 The faithful complaint of the destruction of the Church and true religion. 2 Under the name of Zion, & the Temple destroyed: 11 And trusting in the might and free mercies of God. 20 By his covenant. 21 They require help and succour for the glory of Gods holy Name, for the salvation of his poor afflicted servants. 22 And the confusion of his proud enemies.

¶ A Psalm to give instruction, committed to Asaph.

a The Church of God being oppressed by the tyrannic either of the Babylonians, or of Antiochus, prayeth to God, by whose hand this yoke was layd vpon them for their finnes.

O God, why hast thou put us away for ever? why is thy wrath kindled against the throne of the pastors?

2 I thinke vpon thy congregation, which thou hast possessed of old, and on the ruin of thine inheritance, which thou hast redeemed, and on this mount Zion, wherein thou hast dwelt.

3 Lift vp thy strokes, that thou mayest for ever destroy every enemy that doeth euill to the Sanctuary.

4 Thine aduersaries, reare in the mids of thy congregation, and let up their banners for signes.

5 He that lifted the axes vpon the thicke trees, was renoumed, as one that brought a thing to perfection:

6 But now they haue down the carved worke thereof with axes and hammers.

7 They haue cald the Sanctuary into the fire, and rated it to the ground, and haue defiled the dwelling place of thy Name.

8 They said in their hearts, Let vs destroy them altogether: they haue burnt all the Synagogues of God in the land.

9 What les our names there is not one Prophet more, nor man with vs that knoweth: how long.

10 O God, how long shall the aduersaries report thee? how long shall the enemies blaspheme thy Name for euer?

11 Lift up thine hand, thou thy hande, euen thy right hande, & take it out of thy bosome, and confound them.

12 When God is king of old, working saluation in the mids of the earth.

13 Thou hast diuided the sea by thy power: thou hast broken the heaues of the wagons in the waters.

14 Thou hast broken the head of Leviathan in pieces, and gauest him to be meate for the people in the wilderness.

15 Thou hast digged up the fountaine and the riuier: thou hast digged up many riuers.

16 The day is thine, and the night is thine: thou hast prepared the light & the sun.

long their miseries should endure. g. They joyed their ielloumence with Gods glory & power, knowing that the punishment of the enemies should be their deliuerance. h. Morning, in the sight of all the world. i. To wit, Pharaohs army. k. Which was a great monster of the sea, or while, meaning Pharaoh. l. His destruction did reioyce them in heart, refreshed the body. m. Seeing that God by his providence gouerneth and disposeth all things, hee gathereth that he will take care chiefly for his children.

17 Thou hast set all the borders of the earth: thou hast made sinners and iust men.

18 Remember this, when the enemies blasphemed the Lord: and the foolish people hath blasphemed thy Name.

19 Give not the lords of the earth into the hands, and forget not the congregation of thy poor for euer.

20 Consider thy covenant: for the holes places of the earth are filled of the habitation of the cruel.

21 Oh let not the oppressed returne againe, but let the pauer and needy praise thy Name.

22 Arise, O God: maintaine thy cause: remember the deeply respect by the foolish man.

23 Forget not the voice of thy enemies for the tumult of them: that rise against thee, O Lord continually.

PSAL. LXXV.

1 The faithful do praise the Name of the Lord, which shall come to iudge at the time appointed. 2 Where the wicked shall be put to confusion, and drinke of the cup of wrath: the meek. 10 Their pride shall be abated, and the righteous shall exult in him.

¶ A Psalm that excelleth: Of Asaph.

VV We will praise thee, O God, we will praise thee, for thy Name is great: therefore, they will declare thy wonderful works.

2 When I shall see a convenient time, I will singe righteously.

3 The earth and all the inhabitants thereof are dissolved: but I will establish the pillars of it. Selah.

4 I said vnto the foolish, Doe not in foolish, and to the wicked, Lift not up thy voice.

5 Lift not up your voice on his, neither speake with a stiff necke.

6 For to come to judgement is better from the East, nor from the West, nor from the South.

7 But God is the Iudge: he maketh low and he maketh high.

8 For in the hands of the Lord is a cup, and the wine is red: it is full wine, and he hath poured out of the same: surely all the wicked of the earth shall tynge out and drinke the dregs thereof.

9 But I will declare for euer, and sing praises vnto the God of Jacob.

10 All the homes of the wicked also will I break: but the homes of the righteous shall be exalted.

gainst Gods people, seeing that God at his time destroyeth the wicked, and rule wickedly. f. Gods wrath is compared to a cup of dreges mine, where with the wicked are made to drinke till they come to the very dreges, they are made to drinke. g. The godly shall better prosper by their innocency, the wicked shall fall by their craft and subtilty.

5 How hee established a testimonie in Iaakob, & ordeined a Law in Israel, which he commanded our fathers, that they should teach their children:

6 That the posteritie might know it, and the children which should be borne should stand vp, and declare it to their children:

7 That they might let their hope on God, and not forget the workes of God, but keepe his commandments:

8 And not to be as their fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generation: a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit was not faithfull vnto God.

9 The children of Ephraim being armed, and shooting with the bowe turned backe in the day of battell.

10 They kept not the covenant of God,
but refused to walke in his law,

11 And fugate his actes, and his won-derfull workes that he had shewed them.

12 He did marvellous things in the sight of their fathers in the land of Egypt: euen
in the field of Zoan.

13 He diuided the sea, and led them through: he made also the waters to stand as an heap.

14 In the day time also hee ledde them with a cloud, and all the night with a light of fire.

15 He claue the rocks in the wilderness,
& gaue them drinke as of the great depths.

16 He brought floods also out of the stomie rocks, so that hee made the waters to descend like the euers.

17 Yet they sinned still against him, and prouoked the highest in the wilderness,

18 And tempted God in their hearts in requiring meate for their lust.

19 They spake against God also, saying, Can God prepare a table in the wilderness?

20 Behold, hee smote the rocks, that the water gusheth out, and the streames ouerflowed: can hee giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people?

21 Therefore the Lord heard and was angrie, and the fire was kindled in Iaakob,
and also wrath came vpon Israel,

22 Because they beleued not in God, and trusted not in his helpe.

23 Yet hee had commanded the cloudes aboue, and had opened the doores of hea-
uen,

24 And had rained downe MAN vpon them for to eate, and had giuen them of the wbrate of heauen.

25 When did eate the bread of Angels:
he sent them meate enough.

26 Hee caused the East winde to blow in the heauen, and through his power he brought in the South wind.

27 Hee rained flesh also vpon them as man,
and feathered fowle as the fowle of the hea-
uen.

28 And hee made it fall in the midst of their campe, euen round about their habita-
tions.

29 So they did eate and were well filled:
for he gaue them their desire.

30 They were not turned from their lust, but the meate was yet in their mouths.

31 When the wrath of God came euen vpon them, and flew the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel.

32 For all this, they sinned still, and be-leued not his wonderous workes.

33 Therefore their dayes did hee continue in vanitie, and their yeres baselly.

34 And when hee slew them, they sought him, and they returned, and sought God early.

35 And they remembered that God was their strength, and the most high God their redeemer.

36 But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their tongue.

37 For their heart was not straight with him: neither were they faithfull in his covenant.

38 Yet hee being mercifull forgave their iniquitie, and destroyed them not, but oft times called backe his anger, and did not stirre vp all his wrath.

39 For hee remembered that they were flesh: yea a winde that passeth, and cometh not againe.

40 How oft did they prouoke him in the wildernes: and grieue him in the desert?

41 Yea, they returned, and tempted
God, and limited the holy one of Israel.

42 They remembered not his hand, nor the day when hee deliuered them from the enemie.

43 Nor him that set his signes in Egypt,
and his wonders in the field of Zoan.

44 And turned their stners into blood,
and their floods, that they could not drinke.

45 Hee sent a swarme of flies among them, which denoured them, and frogs which destroyed them.

46 Hee gaue also their fruites into the caterpillar, and their labour into the gnat hopper.

47 Hee destroyed their vines with hail,
and their wilde figues with the hailstone.

48 He gaue their cattell also to the hail,
and their flockes to the thunder bolts.

49 Hee cast vpon them the fiercenes of his anger, indignation and wrath, and vexation by the sending out of a euill angel.

50 He made a way to his anger: hee sent nifeth a confused mixture of flies and yemenon

it for all sortes of Serpents: some for all wilde beastes, peneth not here all the miracles that God did in Egypt, which might bee sufficient to conuince the people of gratitude. d So called, either of the effect, that is, of

PSALM LXXIX.

The Israelites complain to God for the great calamities & oppression that they suffered by their enemies, & and confessing their sinners: that to Gods mercies with full hope of deliverance: & because their calamities were removed with the contempt of his Name, 13 for the which they promise to sing thankfull.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

O God, the heathen are come into thine inheritance: thine holy Temple have they defiled, and made Jerusalem heaps of stones.

2 The dead bodies of thy servants have they given to be meate unto foules of the heaven: and the flesh of thy Saints unto the beastes of the earth.

3 Their blood have they shed like waters round about Jerusalem, and there was none to bury them.

4 We are a reproch to our neighbours, even a scoffe and derision unto them that are round about vs.

5 Lord, how long wilt thou be angry, for ever: shall thy cloud be burnt like fire?

6 Bowe out thy wrath upon the heathen that haue not known thee, and upon the kingdoms that haue not called upon thy Name.

7 For they haue denoued Iacob, and made his dwelling place desolate.

8 Remember not against vs the former iniquities, but make haste, and let thy tender mercies preuent vs: for we are in great miserie.

9 Helpe vs, O God of our saluation, for the glory of thy Name, and deliuer vs, and be mercifull vnto our finnes for thy Names sake.

10 Wherefore should the heathen say, Where is their God: let them bee known among the heathen in our sight by the vengeance of the blood of thy servants that is shed.

11 Let the fighting of the prisoners come before thee: according to thy mightie arme presterue the children of death.

12 And render to our neighbours seven fold into their bosome their reproch, where-with they haue reproched thee, O Lord.

13 So wee thy people, and sheepe of thy pasture shall praise thee for ever: and from generation to generation we will set forth thy praise.

compensed for our finnes. h Seeing we haue none other Saviour, neither e we helpe our selues, and also by our saluation thy Name shall be praised, therefore, O Lord, helpe vs. i Who though in respect of God they were iustly punished for their finnes, yet in consideration of their cause, were vniustly murdered. k Which were captiues among their enemies, and could looke for nothing but death. l We ought to desire no benefice of God, but on this condition to praise his Name, Isa. 43. 21.

PSALM LXXX.

A lamentable prayer to God to helpe the miserie of his Church, & desiring him to consider their first estate, when his saviour shined towards them, so the intent that he might finish that worke which he had begunne.

To him that excelleth on Shohannim Church, A Psalm committed to Asaph.

F 4

Deare,

our kinde from death, but gaue thee life in the possession.

11 And haue all the first borne in Egypt, even the beginning of their strength in the tabernacles of Moise.

12 But he made his people to goe out like sheepe, and led them in the wilderness like a flocke.

13 Yea, he caried them out safely, and they strayed not, and the Sea covered their enemies.

14 And hee brought them vnto the borders of his Sanctuarie: euen to this Mountaine, which his right hand purchased.

15 Yea cast out the heathen also before them, and caused them to fall to the lot of his inheritance, and made the tribes of Israel to dwell in their tabernacles.

16 Yet they tempted, and provoked the most high God, he kept not his covenants.

17 But turned backe and dealt falsely like their fathers: they turned like a deceitfull bowe.

18 And they provoked him to anger with their high places, and moued him to wrath with their grauen images.

19 God heard this and was wroth, and greatly abhorred Israel,

20 So that hee lookt vpon the habitation of Shilo, euen the Tabernacle where hee dwelt among men,

21 And deliuered his power into captiuitie, and his beautie into the enemies hand.

22 And hee gaue by his people to the heathen, and was angry with his inheritance.

23 The first denoued their chosen men, and their maidens were not praised.

24 Their Virgins sell by the sword, and their widowes lamented not.

25 But the Loue awaked as one out of sleepe, and as a strong man that after his wine crieth out,

26 And smote his enemies in the hinder part, and put them to a perptuall shame.

27 Yet he refused the tabernacle of Joseph, and chose not the tribe of Ephraim:

28 But chose the tribe of Iudah, and mount Zion which hee loued.

29 And hee built his Sanctuarie as an high place like the earth, which hee established for ever.

30 Yee chose Dauid also his seruant, and tooke him from the shepeterdols, 31 Euen from behind the Eues with young brought hee him to feede his people in Iacob, and his inheritance in Israel.

32 So he led them according to the simplicitie of his heart, and guided them by the direction of his hands.

f Because that repentance onely cometh of God, they most instantli and oft times cal to God for it, as a meane whereby they shall be saued.

g Seeing that of thy mercy thou hast made vs a most deare possession to thee, & we through our finnes are made open for wilde beasts to deuoure vs, declare againe thy loue, & finish the worke that thou hast begun.

3 Turne vs againe, O God, and cast thy face to shine, that we may be saued.

4 O Lord God of hostes, how long wilt thou bee angry against the prayer of thy people?

5 Thou hast fed them with the bread of teares, and giuen them teares to drinke with great measure.

6 Thou hast made vs a strife vnto our neighbours, and our enemies laugh among themselves.

7 Turne vs againe, O God of hostes: cause thy face to shine, and we shall be saued.

8 Thou hast brought a vine out of Egypt: thou hast cast out the heathen, and planted it.

c Not only in withdrawing thy rod, but in forgiving our sinnes, and in touching our hearts to confesse them.

d As in times past they had felt Gods mercies: so now being oppressed by the long continuance of euils, they pray vnto God, that according to his nature he would be mercifull vnto them.

e He confesseth that our saluation cometh onely of Gods mercie.

f Hee will send all prosperitie to his Church, when he hath sufficiently corrected them. Also by his punishments the faithfull shall learne to beware that they returne not to like offences.

g Though for a time God thus exercise them with his rods, yet vnder the kingdome of Christ they should haue peace and ioy. h Iustice shall then flourish and haue free course and passage in every place.

1 David sore afflicted and for saken of all prayer, earnestly for deliuerance: sometime reioicing in his miseries.

2 Sometimes the mercies receiued.

3 Desiring also to be instructed of the Lord, that hee may feare him and glorify his Name.

4 He complaineth also of his aduersaries, and requesteth to be deliuered from them.

A Prayer of Dauid.

I Psalm: thine ear, O Lord, and heare me: I for I am poore and needy.

2 Preeuen from my soule, for I am mercifull: my God, saue thou thy seruant, that trusteth in thee.

3 Be mercifull vnto me, O Lord: for I cry vpon thee continually.

4 Reioyce thy soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, O Lord, doe I lift vp my soule.

5 For thou Lord, art good: & mercifull,

a David persecuted of Saul, thus prayed, leauing the same to the Church as a monument, how to seeke redresse against their miseries.

b I am not enemie to them, but pitie them, though they be cruel toward me. c Which was a signe token that he beleued that God would deliuer him. d Hee doth confesse that God is good to all, but onely mercifull to poore sinners.

8 Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there is none that can do like thy works.

9 All nations, whome thou hast made, shall come, and worship before thee, O Lord, and shall glorifie thy Name.

10 For thou art great, and doest wondrous things: thou art God alone.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and I will walke in thy truth: knit mine heart vnto thee, that I may feare thy Name.

12 I will praise thee, O Lord: my God, with all mine heart: yea, I will glorifie thy Name for ever.

13 For great is thy mercie toward me, and thou hast deliuered my soule from the lowest grave.

14 O God, the proude are risen against me, and the assemblies of violent men haue sought my soule, and haue not let thee before them.

15 But thou, O Lord, art a pitifull God and mercifull, slow to anger, and great in kindness and trueth.

A grievous complaint of the faithful sore afflicted by sickness, persecutions, and adversities, being as it were left of God without any consolation: 13 Yet he calleth on God by faith, and striketh against desperation, 18 complaining himself to be forsaken of all earthly helpe.

A Song or Psalm of * Hermon the Ezrahite, to give instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah for him that excelleth upon Harard * Leannoth.

O Lord God of my saluation, I crie day and night: before thee.

PSAL. LXXXIX.

1 With many wordes doeth the Prophet praise the goodnesse of God, 23 for his testamēt and covenant that he had made between him & his elect by Iesu Christ the sonne of David: 38 Then doeth he complaine of the great ruine, and desolation of the kingdome of David, so that to the outward appearance the promise was broken. 46 Finally hee prayeth to be deliuered from his afflictions, making mention of the shorines of mans life, & confirming himselfe by Gods promise.

A Psalm to give instruction, of Ethan the Ezrahite.

I will sing the mercies of the Lord for euer: with my mouth will I declare thy truth from generation to generation.

2 For I sayd, Mercy shall be set vp for euer: thy truth shall thou establish in the very heauens.

3 I haue made a covenant with my chosen: I haue sworne to David my seruant,

4 Thy seede will I stablish for euer, and set vp thy throne from generation to generation. Delah.

5 O Lord, euen the heauens shall praise thy wonderous worke: yea, thy truth in the Congregation of the Saints.

6 For who is equal to the Lord in the heauen: and who is like the Lord among the sonnes of the gods?

7 God is very terrible in the assembly of the Saints, and to be reuerenced about all that are about him.

8 O Lord God of hostes, who is like vnto thee, which art a mighty Lord, and thy truth is about thee?

9 Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the wanes thereof arise, thou stillest them.

10 Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy mighty arme.

11 The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast laid the foundation of the world, and all that therein is.

and the remembrance from generation to generation.

9 Thou wilt arise, and have mercy upon them that come to have mercy thereon, for the remembrance thus is come.

10 For the servants delight in the stones thereof, and have pity on the dust thereof.

11 When the heathen shall see the shame of the Lord, and all the kings of the earth shall see.

12 When the Lord shall build up Zion, and shall appear in his glory.

13 And shall come unto the prayer of the meane, and not despise their prayer.

14 His shall be written for the generation to come: the people which shall be created, shall praise the Lord.

15 For he hath looked down from the height of his sanctuary: out of the heaven and the Lord beheld the earth.

16 That he might hear the mourning of the prisoner, and deliver the children of death.

17 That they may declare the name of the Lord in Zion, and his praise in Jerusalem.

18 When the people shall be gathered together, the kingdoms to serve the Lord.

19 Hee abated my strength in the way, and hastened my dayes.

20 And I said, O my God, take mee not away in the midst of my dayes: thy peccates endure from generation to generation.

21 Thou hast ascertained unto the foundation of the earth, the heavens are the worke of thy hands.

22 They shall perish, but thou shalt endure: men they all shall waxe olde as doth a garment: as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shall be changed.

23 But thou art the same, and thy peccates shall not faile.

24 The children of the servants shall continue, their seed shall stand fast in the sight.

25 It never more passed then when religion flourisheth, which is chiefly accomplished vnder Christ.

26 The Church lamenteth that they see not which was promised, but have but few yeeres and when men and earth perish, much more man shall be consumed by reason of Gods promise endureth for ever. Let them the Church out of the world, and so need not continue for ever for thou art everlasting.

PSAL. CIII.

1 He proweeth all to praise the Lord, which hath pardoned his sinners, delivered him from destruction, and given him sufficient of all good things.

2 Then he addeth the tender mercies of God, which hee sheweth like a most tender father towards his children.

3 The frailtie of mans life. 4 An exhortation to men and Angels to praise the Lord.

A Psalm of David.

1 My soule, praise thou the Lord, and all that is within me, praise his holy Name.

2 My soule, praise thou the Lord, for he forget not all his benefites.

3 Which forgiveth all thine iniquities, and heareth all thine infirmities.

4 Forasmuch as all the order of nature, with the proprietie and placing, of the elements, are most lively mirrors to see his majestie in.

4 Which redeemeth the life from the grave, and croumeth thee with mercie and compassions.

5 Which filleth thy mouth with good things: and thy youth is renewed like the eagles.

6 The Lord executeth righteousness and judgement to all that are oppressed.

7 He maketh his way known unto the children of Israel, and his wayes unto the children of Israel.

8 The Lord is full of compassion and mercie, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse.

9 He will not alway chide, neither keepe his anger for ever.

10 He hath not dealt with vs, after our sinnes, nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities.

11 For as high as the heauen is above the earth, so great is his mercie toward them that feare him.

12 As farre as the East is from the West: so farre hath he remooved our sinnes from vs.

13 As a father hath compassion on his children, so hath the Lord compassion on them that feare him.

14 For he knoweth whereof we be made: he remembereth that we are but dust.

15 The dayes of man are as grass: as a flower of the field, so flourisheth he.

16 For the wind goeth over it, and it is gone, and the place thereof shall know it no more.

17 But the loving kindnesse of the Lord endureth for ever and ever upon them that feare him, and his righteousness upon childrens children.

18 Unto them that keepe his covenant, and thinke upon his commandments to do them.

19 The Lord hath prepared his throne in heauen, and his kingdome ruler over all.

20 Praise the Lord, ye his Angels, that excell in strength, that doe his commandment in obeying the voyce of his word.

21 Praise the Lord, all ye his hosts, ye his servants that doe his pleasure.

22 Praise the Lord, all ye his hostes, in all places of his dominion: my soule, praise thou the Lord.

PSAL. CIII.

1 An excellent Psalm to praise God for the creation of the world, and the governance of the same by his marvelous providence.

For before that we have remission of our finnes, we are as dead men in the grave.

d As the Eagle, when her beake overgroweth, sucketh blood, and so is renewed in strength, even so God miraculously giueth strength to his Church above all mans expectation.

e As to his chiefe minister, and next to his people.

f He sheweth first his severe iudgement, but so soon as the sinner is humbled, he receiveth him to mercie.

g We have produced by continual experience, that his mercie hath ever prevailed against our offences.

b As the Prophet here sheweth that all wise powers are ready to serve God: so the Apostle to the Heb. 1. 7. be- holdeth in this glass how the very Angels also are obedient to his commandment.

c Thou makest the sea to be an ornament unto the earth.

d If by thy power thou diddest not bridle the rage of the waters, it were not possible but the whole world should be destroyed.

e If God provide for y<sup>e</sup> verie beasts, much more will he extend his provident care to man.

f There is no part of the world so barren where most evident signes of Gods blessings appeare not.

g From y<sup>e</sup> clouds, he descibeth Gods provident care over man, who doeth not onely provide necessitie things for him, as herbs and ocher meate: but also things to rejoyce, and comfort him as wine and oyle, or gineement.

h Those whom hee had chosen to be my people.

16 Prophecy no harme.
17 Sometime he called a famine upon the land, whereby he made the staffe of bread.
18 But he sent a man before them: Joseph went into a slave.
19 They held his feet in the stocks, and brought him into prison.
20 But his appointed time came, and the counsell of the Lord had tried him.
21 The King sent and looked him: even the ruler of the people delivered him.
22 He made him lord of his house, and master of all his substance.
23 That he should binde his Princes unto his will, and teache his ancients wis-
dome.
24 When Israel came to Egypt, and Jacob was a stranger in the land of Ham.
25 And he increased his people exceedingly, and made them stronger then their adversaries.
26 Hee turned their heart to hate his people, and to deale craftily with his servants.
27 Then sent he Moses his servant, and Aaron whom he had chosen.
28 They shewed among them the message of his signes, and wonders in the land of Ham.
29 He sent darkness and made it darke:
and they were not disobedient unto his commission.
30 Hee turned their waters into blood,
and slew their fish.
31 Their land brought forth frogs, even
in their Kings chambers.
32 Hee brake, and there came swarms
of flies and lice in all their quarters.
33 Hee gave them a haille for raine, and flames of fire in their land.
34 He smote their vines also and their figge trees, & brake downe the trees in their champs.
35 Hee smote, and the grasshoppers came,
and caterpillers innumerable.
36 And hee ate up all the grasse in their lande, and devoured the fruite of their ground.
37 Hee smote also all the first borne in their lande, even the beginning of all their strength.
38 He brought them forth also with silver and golde, and there was none feeble among their tribes.
39 Egypt was glad at their departing:
for the feare of them had fallen upon them.
40 Hee spred a cloud to be a covering, and fire to give light in the night.
41 They asked, and he brought quails,
and he filled them with the bread of heaven.
42 He opened the rocke, and the waters flowed out, and ranne in the dry places like a river.
43 For he remembered his holy promise to Abraham his servant.
44 And he brought forth his people with

1 joy, and his chosen with gladnesse.
45 And gave them the land of the heathen, and they took the labours of the people in possession.

1 The people dispersed under Antiochus doe magnificently goodnesse of God among the iust unto the land by Gods mercifull visitation. 8 And after the manifold marvelles of God wrought in their deliverance forth of Egypt, and the great ingratitude of the people rebuffed, 47 they do pray

and desire to be gathered from among the heathens, to the intent they may praise the Name of the God
of Israel.

Praise ye the Lord.
Praise ye the Lord, because hee is good,

tion.

6 We have sinned with our fathers: we have committed iniquity, & done wickedly.

7 Our fathers understood not thy wonders in Egypt, neither remembered they the multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the Sea, even at the red Sea.

8 Nevertheless hee saved them for his Names sake, that he might make his power to be knowne.

9 And he rebuked the red sea, and it was dried up, and he led them in the deepe, as in the wilderness.

10 And hee saved them from the adversaries hand, and delivered them from the hand of the enemy.

11 And the waters covered their oppressors: not one of them was left.

12 Then hee rebuked thy his wordes, and sang praise unto him.

13 But incontinently they forgate his works: they waited not for his counsell.

14 But lusted with concupiscence in the wildernesse, and tempted God in the desert.

15 Then hee gave them their desire: but he sent leammite into their soule.

16 They envied Moses also in the tents,
and Aaron the holy one of the Lord.

17 Therefore the earth opened and swallowed by Dathan, and covered the company of Abiram.

Gods children to sinne. u Hee sheweth howe monstrous a thing idolatry is, which can winne vs to things abhorring to nature, whereas Gods word cannot obtaine most small things. x Then true charitie is to cleaue wholly and onely vnto God.

18 And the fire was kindled in their assemble: the flame burnt by the wicked.
19 They made a calfe in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image.
20 Thus they turned their glory into the similitude of a bullocke, that eated grasse.
21 They forgate God their Saviour,
which had done great things in Egypt, 22 Glorious works in the lande of Ham, and fearefull things by the red sea.
23 Therefore he minded to destroy them, had not Moses his chosen stood in the breach before him to turne away his wrath,
lest he should destroy them.
24 Also they contemned the pleasant land, and detested not his word, 25 But murmured in their tentes, and hearkened not unto the voyce of the Lord.
26 Therefore hee lifted by his hand against them, to destroy them in the wilder-
nesse.
27 And to destroy their seed among the nations, and to scatter them throughout the countreys.
28 They toynd themselves also vnto Baal-peor, and did eate the offerings of the dead.
29 Thus they prouoked him vnto anger with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.
30 But Balaam stood up, and eue-nited iudgement, and the plague was stayed.
31 And it was imputed vnto him for righteousnesse from generation to generation for euer.
32 They angered him also at the waters of Meribah, so that Moses was punished for their sakes.
33 Because they vexed his spirit, so that he spake vnadulterably with his lips.
34 Neither destroyed they the people, as the Lord had commanded them.
35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their works.
36 And serued their idoles, which were their ruine.
37 Yea, they offered their sonnes, and their daughters vnto deuils, 38 And shed innocent blood, euen the blood of their sonnes, & of their daughters, whom they offered vnto the idoles of Canaan, and the land was defiled with blood.
39 Thus were they stained with their owne works, and went a whooping with their owne inuentions.
40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and hee abhorred his owne inheritance.
41 And hee gaue them into the hande of the heathen: and they that hated them, were lords ouer them.
42 Their enemies also oppressed them,
and they were humbled vnder their hand.

43 Many a time did hee deliuer them,
but they prouoked him by their enemies:
therefore they were brought down by their iniquity.
44 Yet hee saw when they were in afflic-tion, and he heard their cry.
45 And hee remembered his covenants with them, & repented according to the multitude of his mercies.
46 And gaue them saviour in the sight of all them that led them captiues.
47 Save vs, O Lord our God, and gather vs from among the heathen, that we may praise thine holy Name, and glory in thy people.
48 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Praise ye the Lord.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all those that are re-

thanks: & for this mercifull providence of God governing all things at his good pleasure, so fa-

Praise the Lord, because he is good: for his mercy endureth for euer.

2 Let them, which haue bene redeemed of the Lord, shew how hee hath deliuered
them from the hand of the oppressour.

3 And gathered them out of the landes from the East and from the West, from the North and from the South.

4 When they wandered in the desert wildernesse out of the way, and found no citie
to dwell in.

5 Both hungry, and thirstie, their soules
fainted in them.

6 Then they cried vnto the Lord in their trouble, and hee deliuered them from their distresse.

7 And led them forth by the right way,
that they might goe to a citie of habita-
tion.

8 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonder-full works before the sonnes of men.

9 For hee satisfieth the thirstie soules, and filled the hungry soules with goodnesse.

10 They that dwell in darkenesse and in the shadow of death, being bound in misery and yron.

11 Because they rebelled against the words of the Lord, and despised the counsell
of the most high.

12 When hee humbled their heart with heauinesse, then they fell downe, and there was no helper.

13 Then they cried vnto the Lord in their trouble, and hee deliuered them from their distresse.

hereby all are exhorted to descend into their hearts, and are punished, but for their finnes. e Hee sheweth that God doeth punish vs extremely, is because wee can be deli-uered him by none other meanes.

14 He brought them out of darkness, and out of the shadow of death, and brake their bands.

15 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his loving kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

16 For he hath broken the gates of brass, and bound the bars of yron.

17 I Fools by reason of their crueltie, and because of their iniquities are afflicted.

18 Their soules abhorreth all meate, and they are brought to death's doore.

19 Then they cry vnto the Lord in their trouble, and hee deliuereth them from their distresse.

20 Hee sendeth his word and healeth them, and deliuereth them from their anguish.

21 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his loving kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

22 And let them offer sacrifices of praise, and declare his workes with reioycing.

23 They that goe downe to the sea in ships, and occupy by the great waters.

24 They see the workes of the Lord, and his wonders in the deepe.

25 For hee commaundeth and raiseth the storme winde, and it lieth by the waves thereof.

26 They mount by to the heauen, and descend to the deepe, so that their soule melteth for trouble.

27 They are toiled to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and all their cunning is gone.

28 Then they cry vnto the Lord in their trouble, and hee bringeth them out of their distresse.

29 Hee turneth the storme to calme, so that the waves thereof are still.

30 When they are quieted, they are glad, and hee bringeth them vnto the haven where they would be.

31 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his loving kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

32 And let them exalt him in the Congregation of the people, and praise him in the assembly of the Elders.

33 Hee turneth the floods into a wilderness, and the springes of waters into drynesse.

34 And a fruitfull land into barrennesse, for the wickednes of them that dwell therein.

35 Again hee turneth the wilderness into pools of water, and the drie land into water springes.

36 And there hee placeth the hungry, and they build a citie to dwell in.

37 And low the fields, & plant vineyards, which bringeth forth fruitfull increase.

38 For hee blesteth them, and they multiply exceedingly, and hee diminisheth not their cattell.

39 Again men are diminished, and cattell, but magnified in all places, and assemblies. Or, For the loue that he beareth to his Church, hee changeth of agur for their commoition. r Conciouall in prayer. f An God by his providence doth exalt men, so as hee humbleth by afflictions to know themselves.

PSAL. CVIII.

This Psalm is composed of two other Psalms before, the seven and fifteenth and the sixteenth. The matter here contained is, 1 That David giueth himselfe with heart and voyce to praise the Lord. 2 And assureth himselfe of the promise of God concerning his kingdomes near Irael, and his power against other nations: 3 Who though hee seeme to forsake us for a time, yet hee alone will in the end cast downe our enemies.

A Song of Psalm of Dauid.

O God, mine heart is prepared, so is my tongue: I will sing and giue praise.

2 Awake viol and harpe: I will awake early.

3 I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people, and I will sing vnto thee among the nations.

4 For thy mercy is great above the heauens, and thy truth vnto the clouds.

5 Exalt thy selfe, O God, above the heauens, and let thy glorie bee vpon all the earth.

6 That thy beloued may bee deliuered: 4 helpe with thy right hand and heare mee.

7 God hath spoken in his holinesse: therefore I will reioyce, I shall diuide Shechem, and measure the valley of Succoth.

8 Gilead shall be mine, & Manasse shall be mine: Ephraim also shall be the strength of mine head: Iuda is my law-giuer.

9 Iudah shall be my watchtower: ouer Edom will I cast out my shoe: vpon Palestina will I triumph.

10 Who will leade mee into the strong citie: who will bring me vnto Edom?

11 Wilt not thou, O God, which haddest forsaken vs, and wilt not goe forth, O God, with our armies?

12 Giue vs helpe against trouble: for haire is the helpe of man.

13 Through God we shall doe ballantly: for hee shall treade downe our enemies.

PSAL. CIX.

1 David being falsely accused by Sattuers vnto Saul, prayeth God to helpe him and to destroy his enemies. 8 And vnder them hee speaketh of Iudas the traitour vnto Iesu Christ, and of all the like enemies of the children of God: 27 And desireth so to be deliuered, that his enemies may knowe the worke to be of God. 30 Then doth hee promise to giue prayes vnto God.

For their wickednes & tyranny hee causeth 3 people & subiects to contemne them, u They, whose faith is lightened by Gods Spirit, shall reioyce to see Gods iudgements against the wicked & vngodly.

b To declare that I had none other refuge, but in thee in whom my conscience was at rest.
c Whether it were Doeg or Saul, or some familiar friend, that had betrayed him, he prayeth not of private affection, but moved by Gods spirit, that God would take vengeance vpon him.
d As to the clef all things turne to their profit: so to the reprobate, euen those things that are good, turne to their damnation.
e This was chiefly accomplished in Iudas, Actes 1. 20.
f He declareth that the curse of God lieth vpon the extortioners who thinking to enrich their children by their vnlawfull gotten goods, are by Gods iudgement deprived of all.
g Thus punisheth the Lord to the third and fourth generation the wickednesse of the parents in their wicked children.
h He sheweth that God accuseth to plague them after a strange sort, that shew themselves cruell toward other. i Thus giueth the Lord to every man the thing, wherein hee delighteth, that the reprobate cannot accuse God of wrong, when they are giuen vp to the lustes and reprobate mindes. k For being destitute of mans helpe, hee fully trusted in the Lord, that hee would deliuer him.
l As thou art named mercifull, gracious and long suffering, so shew thy kls in effect.

Hidest not thy tongue, O God of my praise.
2 For the month of the wicked, and the mouth full of deceit are opened vpon mee: they haue spoken to mee with a lying tongue.
3 They compassed mee about also with words of hatred, and sought against mee without a cause.
4 For my friendship they were mine aduersaries, but I gaue my selfe to prayer.
5 And they haue rewarded mee euill for good, and hatred for my friendship.
6 Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let the aduersarie stand at his right hand.
7 When he shall bee iudged, let him bee condemned, and let his prayer bee turned into finne.
8 Let his dayes bee few, and let another take his charge.
9 Let his children bee fatherlesse, and his wife a widow.
10 Let his children bee vagabonds and beg and seeke bread, coming out of their places destroyed.
11 Let the extortioner catch all that hee hath, and let the stranger spoyle his labour.
12 Let there bee none to extend mercy vnto him: neither let there bee any to shew mercie vpon his fatherlesse children.
13 Let his posteritie bee destroyed, and in the generation following let their name bee put out.
14 Let the iniquitie of his fathers bee had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the sinne of his mother bee done away.
15 But let them alway bee before the Lord, that he may cut off their memoriall from the earth.
16 Because hee remembered not to shew mercie, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorrowfull hearted, to slay him.
17 As hee loued cursing, so shall it come vnto him, and as hee loued not blessing, so shall it be farre from him.
18 As hee clothed himselfe with cursing like a raiment, so shall it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones.
19 Let it bee vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle, wherewith hee shall bee alway girded.
20 Let this bee the reward of mine aduersarie from the Lord, and of them, that speake euill against my soule.
21 But thou, O Lord my God, deale with me according vnto thy Name: Deliuner me, (for thy mercie is good) 22 Because I am poore and meane, and mine heart is wounded within me.

23 I depart like the shadow that denieth, and am shakē off as the grasshopper.
24 My knees are weake through fasting, and my flesh hath lost all fardene.
25 I became also a rebuke vnto them, they that looked vpon mee, hooks their heads.
26 Helpe me, O Lord my God: I came me according to thy mercie.
27 And they shall knowe, that this is thine hand, and that thou, Lord, hast done it.
28 Though they curse, yet thou wilt blesse: they shall arise and bee confounded, but thy seruants shall reioyce.
29 Let mine aduersaries bee clothed with shame, and let them couer themselves with their confusion, as with a cloke.
30 I will giue thanks vnto the Lord greatly with my mouth, and praise him among the multitude.
31 For hee will stand at the right hand of the poore, to saue him from them that would condemne his soule.

5 I shall walke before the Lord in the land of the living.

6 I beseeched, therefore did I speake: for I was sore troubled.

7 I said in my feare, All men are liars.

8 What shall I render vnto the Lord for all his benefites to me?

9 I will take the cup of saluation, and call vpon the Name of the Lord.

10 I will pay my vowes vnto the Lord, euen now in the presence of all his people.

11 Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his Saints.

12 Behold, Lord: for I am thy seruant. I am thy seruant, and the sonne of thine handmaid: thou hast broken my bonds.

13 I will offer to thee a sacrifice of praise, and will call vpon the Name of the Lord.

14 I will pay my vowes vnto the Lord, euen now in the presence of all his people.

the Lord heareth me, and set me at large.

6 The Lord is with me: therefore I will not feare what man can doe unto me.

7 The Lord is with me among them that hate mee: therefore shall I see my desire upon mine enemies.

8 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to have confidence in man.

9 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to have confidence in princes.

10 All nations have compassed mee: but in the name of the Lord shall I destroy them.

11 They have compassed mee, yea, they have compassed me: but in the name of the Lord I shall destroy them.

12 They came about mee like bees, but they were quenched as a fire of thornes: for in the name of the Lord I shall destroy them.

13 Thou hast thrust foze at mee, that I might fall: but the Lord hath holpen me.

14 The Lord is my strength and long: for he hath bene my deliverance.

15 The voice of joy and deliverance shall be in the Tabernacles of the righteous, saying, The right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly.

16 The right hand of the Lord is exalted: the right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly.

17 I shal not die, but live, and declare the works of the Lord.

18 The Lord hath chastened me sore, but he hath not delivered me to death.

19 Open yee unto me the gates of righteousness, that I may go into them, and praise the Lord.

20 This is the gate of the Lord: the righteous shall enter into it.

21 I will praise thee: for thou hast heard me, and hast bene my deliverance.

22 The stone, which the builders refused, is the head of the corner.

23 This was the Lords doing, and it is marvellous in our eyes.

24 This is the day, which the Lord hath made: let us rejoyce and be glad in it.

25 O Lord, I pray thee, shew now: O Lord I pray thee, now give prosperitie.

26 Blessed be he, that commeth in the name of the Lord: we have blessed you out of the house of the Lord.

27 The Lord is mighty, and hath given us light: binde the sacrifice with cordes unto the horns of the altar.

28 Thou art my God, and I will praise thee, even my God: therefore I will exalt thee.

29 Blesse ye the Lord, because he is good: his mercy endureth for ever.

30 God hath preferred me above them all. † When I was child, his mercy in appointing mee king, and in the Church. m The people pray for the prosperitie of the Church, who was the figure of Christ. n Which are the charge thereof, as Numh 6. 23. o Because he hath brought us from darkness to light, we will offer sacrifices and from their laues according to his holy word. 223 Also he sheweth wherein the true service of God standeth: that is, when we serve him according to his word, and not after our owne fantasies.

A L E P H.

Blessed are those that are upright in their way, and walke in the law of the Lord.

2 Blessed are they that keepe his testimonies, and seeke him with their whole heart.

3 Surely they took none iniquity, but walke in his wayes.

4 Thou hast commanded to keepe thy precepts diligently.

5 O that my wayes were directed to keepe thy statutes!

6 Then should I not bee confounded, when I have respect unto all thy commandements.

7 I will praye thee with an upright heart, when I shal learne the iudgements of thy righteousness.

8 I will keepe thy statutes: forsake mee not ouer long.

9 I acknowledge mine imperfection, desiring God to reforme it, that his life may be conformable to Gods word. d For true religion standeth in serving God without hypocrisie. e That is, thy precepts, which containe perfect righteousness. f He refuseth not to be tryed by tentations, but he seareth to faint, if God succour not his infirmity in time.

B E T H.

9 Catherewit shall a yong man reuerse his way: in taking heed thereto according to thy word.

10 With my whole heart have I sought thee: let me not wander from thy commandements.

11 I have hid thy promise in mine heart, that I might not sinne against thee.

12 Blessed art thou, O Lord: teach mee thy statutes.

13 With my lips have I declared all the iudgements of thy mouth.

14 I have had as great delight in the way of thy testimonies, as in all riches.

15 I will meditate in thy precepts, and consider thy wayes.

16 I will delight in thy statutes, and I will not forget thy word.

17 The Prophet doeth not boast of his vertues, but setteth forth an example for others to follow Gods word and leave worldly vanities.

G I M E L.

17 Be beneficiall unto thy servant, that I may live and keepe thy word.

18 Open mine eyes, that I may see the wonders of thy Law.

19 I am a stranger upon earth: hide not thy commandements from me.

20 Mine heart breaketh for the desire to thy iudgements and law.

21 Thou hast destroyed the proud: cursed are they that doe erre from thy commandements.

22 He is but a passage, what should become of him, if thy word were not his guide? c In all ages thou hast plagued all flesh, which maliciously and contemptuously depart from thy truth.

a Here they are not called blessed which thinke themselves wise in their owne iudgement, nor which imagine to themselves a certaine holines, but they whose conseruation is without hypocrisie. b For they are ruled by Gods spirit, & embrace no doctrine but his.

c David acknow- ledgeth his imperfection, desiring God to reforme it, that his life may be conformable to Gods word. d For true religion standeth in serving God without hypocrisie. e That is, thy precepts, which containe perfect righteousness. f He refuseth not to be tryed by tentations, but he seareth to faint, if God succour not his infirmity in time.

a Because youth is most given to licentiousnesse, he chiefly warneth them to frame their liues betime to Gods word.

b If Gods word be grauen in our hearts, we shall be more able to resist the assaults of Satan: and therefore the Prophet desireth him daily more and more there- in.

c The Prophet doeth not boast of his vertues, but setteth forth an example for others to follow Gods word and leave worldly vanities.

a He sheweth that we ought not to desire to live, but to serue God, and that we cannot serue him aright, except he open our eyes and minds. b Seeing mans life in this world is but a passage, what should become of him, if thy word were not his guide? c In all ages thou hast plagued all flesh, which maliciously and contemptuously depart from thy truth.

d When the powers of the world gaue false sen ence. gainst me, thy word was a guide and counsellor to teach me what to do, and to comfort me.

22 Remove from the shame & contempe: for I haue kept thy testimonies.
23 Princes also did lie, & speake against me: but thy seruant did meditate in thy statutes.
24 Also thy testimonies are my delight, and my counsellors.

DALETH.

a That is, it is almost brought to the graue, and without thy word I cannot liue.
b I haue confessed mine offences, and now depend wholly on thee.
c If God did not maintain vs by his word, our life would drop away like water.
d Instruct me in thy word, whereby my mind may be purged from vanitie, and taught to obey thy will. e By this he sheweth that wee can neither chuse good, cleaue to Gods word, nor runne forward in his way, except he make our hearts ready to receiue his grace, and willing to obey.

25 Thy soule cleaueth to the dust: quicke me according to thy word.
26 I haue declared my wayes, and thou hearest me: teach me thy statutes.
27 Make mee to vnderstand the way of thy precepts, and I will meditate in thy wondrous workes.
28 Thy soule melteth for heavynesse: raise me according vnto thy word.
29 Take from me the way of lying, and grant me graciously thy Law.
30 I haue chosen the way of truth, and thy iudgements haue I layd before me.
31 I haue cleaued to thy testimonies, O Lord: confound me not.
32 I will runne the way of thy commandments, when thou shalt enlarge mine heart.

H E.

a He sheweth that he cannot follow on to the end, except God teach him oft times, and lead him forward.
b Not onely in outward conversation, but also with inward affection.
c Hereby meaning all other vices, because that couetousnes is the roote of all euill.
d Meaning, all his senses. e Let mee not fall to thy dishonour, but let mine heart still delight in thy gracious word. f Giue me strength to continue in thy word euen to the end.

33 Teach me, O Lord, the way of thy statutes, and I will keepe it vnto the end.
34 Giue mee vnderstanding, and I will keepe thy Law: yea, I will keepe it with my whole heart.
35 Direct me in the path of thy commandments: for therein is my delight.
36 Incline mine heart vnto thy testimonies, and not to couetousnes.
37 Turne away mine eyes from regarding banishment, and quicken me in thy way.
38 Establish thy promise to thy seruant, because he feareth thee.
39 Take away my rebuke that I feare: for thy iudgements are good.
40 Beholde, I desire thy commandments: f quicken me in thy righteousness.

V A V.

a He sheweth that Gods mercie and loue is the first cause of our saluation.
b By trusting in Gods word, he assureth himselfe to be able to confute the slanderers of his aduersaries.
c They that simply walke after Gods word, haue no lets to entangle them, whereas they that doe contrary, are euer in nets and snares.

41 And let thy louing kindnesse come vnto me, O Lord, & thy saluation according to thy promise.
42 So shall I make answer vnto my blasphemers: for I trust in thy word.
43 And take not the word of truneth bitterly out of my mouth: for I wait for thy iudgements.
44 So shall I alway keepe thy lawes for euer and euer.
45 And I will walke at libertie: for I

seeke thy precepts.

46 I will speake also of thy testimonies before kings, and will not be ashamed.
47 And my delight shall bee in thy commandments, which I haue loued.
48 Mine hands also will I lift vp vnto thy commandments, which I haue loued, and I will meditate in thy statutes.

Z A I N.

49 Remember the promise made to thy seruant, wherein thou hast caused mee to trust.
50 It is my comfort in my trouble: for thy promise hath quickened me.
51 The proud haue had me exceeding in derision: yet haue I not declined from thy Law.
52 I remembered thy iudgements of old, O Lord, and haue bene comforted.
53 Feare is come vpon me for the wicked, that forsake thy Law.
54 Thy statutes haue bene my songs in the house of my pilgrimage.
55 I haue remembered thy Name, O Lord, in the night, and haue kept thy Law.
56 This I had because I kept thy precepts.

d That is, a vehement zeale to thy glory, and indignation against the wicked. e In the course of this life and for euill will when other sleepe. g That is, all these benefits.

C H E T H.

57 O Lord, that art my portion, I haue determined to keepe thy wordes.
58 I made my supplication in thy presence with my whole heart: be mercifull vnto me according to thy promise.
59 I haue considered my wayes, & turned my feet into thy testimonies.
60 I made haste, & delayed not to keepe thy commandments.
61 The bands of the wicked haue troubled me: but I haue not forgotten thy Law.
62 At midnight will I rise to giue thanks vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.
63 I am a companion of all them that feare thee, and keepe thy precepts.
64 The earth, O Lord, is full of thy mercy: teach me thy statutes.
65 The knowledge of Gods word is his treasure, and his labour.

T R T H.

65 O Lord, thou hast dealt graciously with thy seruant according vnto thy word.
66 Teach mee good iudgement & knowledge: for I haue beloved thy commandments.
67 Before I was afflicted, I went astray: but now I keepe thy word.
68 Thou art good and gracious: teach me thy statutes.
69 The proud haue imagined a lie against me: but I will keepe thy precepts with my whole heart.

was like a calf vntamed: so that the vic of God and home to God.

70 Their heart is as an eagle: but my thought is as a dove.
71 Is it a good for mee that I have become afflicted: that I may leave thy statutes?
72 The Law of thy mouth is better unto me then thousands of gold and silver.

73 Before that he was chastened, hee was rebellious:
but after that hee was chastened, hee was obedient.

74 Thine hands have made mee and fashioned me: give me understanding therefore, that I may learne thy commande-
ments.

75 So they that feare thee, seeing mee, shall reioyce, because I have trusted in thy word.

76 I know, O Lord, that thy iudgements are right, and that thou hast afflicted mee truly.

77 I pray thee that thy mercie may comfort mee according to thy promise unto thy servant.

78 Let thy tender mercies come vnto mee, that I may liue: for thy Lawe is my delight.

79 Let the proud be ashamed: for they have dealt wickedly, and falsly with mee: but I meditate in thy precepts.

80 Let such as feare thee turne vnto
me, and they that know thy testimonies.

81 Let mine heart be bright in thy statutes, that I be not ashamed.

82 Hee sheweth that there can bee no true feare of God, without the knowledge of his word.

C. A. P. H.

83 My soule fainteth for thy saluation:
yea: I waite for thy word.

84 Mine eyes faile for thy promise, saying, When wilt thou comfort mee?

85 For I am like a bottle in the smoke:
yea doe I not forget thy statutes.

86 How many are the dayes of thy seruant: when wilt thou execute iudgement
on them that persecute mee?

87 The proud haue digged pits for mee
which is not after thy lawe.

88 All thy commandments are true: they persecute mee falsly: helpe mee.

89 They had almost consumed mee vpon
the earth: but I forsooke not thy precepts.

90 Deliver mee according to thy louing kindnesse: so that I keepe the testimonies of thy mouth.

91 Hee misseeth himselfe, that God will deliuer him: when hee is persecuted. I finding no helpe will cry vnto my eyes to heauen.

L. A. M. E. D.

92 O Lord, thy word endureth for ever in heauen.

93 Thy truth is from generation to generation: thou hast laid the foundation of the earth, and it abideth.

94 Thy continuing even to this day, by thy ordinances for all are thy statutes.

95 Except thy lawe had bene my deliue-rance, I had bene in the pit of destruction:
but because I have heard of thy statutes, I will not be brought down.

I should not haue perished in mine afflic-
tion.

96 I will neuer forget thy precepts: for
by them thou hast quickened mee.

97 I am as chine, saue mee: for I haue sought thy precepts.

98 The wicked haue waited for mee to destroy mee: but I will consider thy testimonies.

99 I haue seen an end of al perfection:
but thy commandment is exceeding large in earth, but it hath an ende: onely Gods word lasteth for euer.

M. E. M.

100 O how lone I thy lawe! it is my meditation continually.

101 By thy commandments thou hast made mee wiser then mine enemies: for they are euer with mee.

102 I haue had more vnderstanding then all my teachers: for thy testimonies are my meditation.

103 I vnderstood more then the antient,
because I kept thy precepts.

104 I haue restrained my feet from euery
euill way, that I might keepe thy word.

105 I haue not declined from thy iudge-ments: for thou hast taught mee.

106 How sweete are thy promises vnto my mouth! yea, more then honie vnto my mouth.

107 By thy precepts I haue gotten vnder-standing: therefore I hate all the wayes of falshood.

108 We can doe nothing, but when God doth inwardly instruct vs with his spirit, we feele his graces sweeter then honie.

N. V. N.

109 Thy word is a lanterne vnto my feet, and a light vnto my path.

110 I haue sworn, and will performe
it, that I will keepe thy righteous iudge-
ments.

111 I am very sore afflicted: O Lord,
quickene mee according to thy word.

112 O Lord, I beseech thee, accept the free offerings of my mouth, and teach mee thy iudgements.

113 My soule is continually in mine hand: yet doe I not forget thy Lawe.

114 The wicked haue layde a snare for me: but I swarued not from thy precepts.

115 Thy testimonies haue I taken: an heritage for euer: for they are the joy of mine heart.

116 I haue applied mine heart to fulfill thy statutes alway, euen vnto the end.

117 I am in continual danger of my life. I feared no worldly things, but made thy word mine inheritance.

118 I hate vaine imaginations: but thy lawe is my refuge and strength, and I trust in thy word.

119 I haue sinned: but I am wicked: for I will keepe thy commandments of my God,
and of others.

120 And hinder me not to keepe the Law of the Lord.

c He proueth by effect, that he is Gods childe, because he seeketh
to vnderstand
his word.
d There is nothing so perfect
for euer.

a He sheweth
that we cannot
loue Gods word,
except we exerce
our selues
therein and
practise it.
b Whosoever
doeth submit himselfe onely
to Gods word,
shall not onely
be safe against
the practices of his enemies, but also learne more wisedomme, then
they that profess
it, and are men
of experience.
c So then of our selues we can doe nothing, but when God doth inwardly instruct vs
with his spirit, we feele his graces sweeter then honie.

a Of our selues
we are but dark-
nesse, and cannot see, except we bee
lightened with Gods word.
b So all the faithful ought to bind
themselues to God
by a solemne
oath and promise
to stirre vp their zeale to imbrace
Gods word.
c That is, my prayers & thanksgiving, which satisfies Hoses ca-leth the calues of the lips, Chap. 14.

a Whosoever will imbrace Gods
word aright,
must abhorre all fantasies and imaginations
both of himselfe
and of others.

155. They that love the Lord shall have his mercies, and they shall have none of his mercies. 156. Lord, I have troubled in thy house, and have none of thy commandments. 157. Thy loile hath kept thy testimonies:
for I have kept thy precepts. 158. I have kept thy precepts, as thy testimony:
for all my wayes are before thee.

159. I had no respect of men, but let mine eyes be to the Lord my God.

160. Let my complaint come before thee, O Lord, and give me understanding, according unto thy word.

170. Let my supplication come before thee, and deliver me according to thy promise.

171. My lips shall speak praise when thou shalt be praised.

172. My tongue shall utter of thy word: for all thy commandments are righteous.

173. Let thine hand helpe me: for I have chosen thy precepts.

174. I have longed for thy salvation, O
Lord, and thy law is my desire.

175. Let my loue live, and it shall praise thee, and thy judgements shall helpe
me.

176. I have gone astray like a lost sheep:
seek thy servant, for I do not forget thy commandments.

God, untill he have mercie upon vs.

3. that when all other helps faile, God is ever at hand, and like himselfe,

3 Have mercie vpon vs, O Lorde, haue mercie vpon vs: for we haue sinned too much contempt.
4 Our soule is filled too full of the mocking of the wealthy, and of the derision of the proud.
5 When the Lorde shall see the wicked, there is alway helpe at hand, if with hungry desires they call for it.

PSAL. CXXIIII.

1 The people of God escaping a great perill, do acknowledge themselves to be deliuered, not by their own force, but by the power of God. 2 They declare the graciously of the perill. 3 And praise the Name of God.

A Song of degrees, or Psalm of Dauid.

1 If the Lord had not bene on our side (may Israel now say)
2 If the Lord had not bene on our side, when men rose up against vs,
3 They had then swallowed vs vp quick, when their wrath was kindled against vs.
4 Then the waters had drowned vs, and the streame had gone ouer our soule:
5 Then had the swelling waters gone ouer our soule.
6 Blessed be the Lorde, which hath not giuen vs as a pray vnto their teeth.
7 Our soule is escaped, euen as a bird out of the snare of the fowlers: the snare is broken, and we are deliuered.
8 Our helpe is in the Name of the Lord, which hath made heauen and earth.
9 For the wicked did not onely furiously rage against the faithfull, but craftily destroy them.

PSAL. CXXV.

1 He describeth the assurance of the faithfull in their afflictions. 2 And desireth their wealth. 3 And the destruction of the wicked.

A Song of degrees.

They that trust in the Lorde, shall bee as mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but remaineth for euer.
2 As the mountaines are about Ierusalem: so is the Lorde about his people from henceforth, and for euer.
3 For the rod of the wicked shall not rest on the lot of the righteous, lest the righteous put forth their hand vnto wickednes.
4 Doe well, O Lord vnto those that bee good and true in their hearts.
5 But these that turne aside by their crooked wayes, them shall the Lord lead with the workers of iniquity: but peace shall be vpon Israel.
6 For the Lord shall not forsake them, that it should driue them from hope.
7 Hee desireth God to purge his Church from hypocrites and such as haue not zeale of the truth.

PSAL. CXXVI.

1 This Psalm was made after the returne of the people from Babylon, and sheweth that the meane of their deliuerance was wonderfull after the seuentie yeeres of captiuitie foretold by Ieremie Chap. 25. 12. and 29. 10.

A Song of degrees, or Psalm of Dauid.

When the Lord brought again the captiuitie of Zion, we were like them that dream.
 Their deliuerance was as a thing incredible, and therefore tooke away all excuse of ingratitude.

1 Then was our mouth full of laughter, and our tongue with joy: then lay they among the heathen, The Lorde hath done great things for them.
2 The Lord hath done great things for vs, whereof we reioyce.
3 O Lorde, bring againe our captiuitie, as the riuers in the South.
4 They that sowe in teares, shall reape in joy.
5 They went weeping and casted precious seede: but they shall reuerne bringing their sheaves.

1 It is no more impossible to God to deliuer his people, than it is to him to cause the riuers to runne in the wilderness and to barren land is seed which was scarce and deere: meaning, that in Gods promise to reuenge his own dishonour.

2 It is in vaine for you to rise early, and to lie downe late, and eat the bread of sorrow: but he will surely giue rest to his beloued.
3 Beholde, children are the inheritance of the Lord, and the fruit of the wombe his reward.
4 As are the arrowes in the hand of the strong man: so are the children of youth.
5 Blessed is the man, that hath his quiver full of them: for they shall not be ashamed, when they speake with their enemies in the gate.
6 Not exempting them from labour, but their labour comfortable, and as it were a rest. 7 That with strength and vertue from God: for these are the blessings, and not the number. 8 Such children shall their aduersaries moue, when their godly like maintain before Iudges.

21 Praise be the Lord out of Zion, which dwelleth in Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXXXVI.

1 A most earnest exhortation to giue thanks vnto God for the creation and continuance of all things, which sheweth in confounding them be giued vt all of his mere liberality.

Praise ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

2 Praise ye the God of gods: for his mercie endureth for euer.

3 Praise ye the Lord of lordes: for his mercie endureth for euer.

4 Which onely doth great wonders: for his mercie endureth for euer.

5 Which by his wisdom made the heauens: for his mercie endureth for euer.

6 Which hath stretched out the earth vpon the waters: for his mercie endureth for euer.

7 Which made great lights: for his mercie endureth for euer.

8 As the sunne to rule the day: for his mercie endureth for euer.

9 The moone and the starres to gouerne the night: for his mercie endureth for euer.

10 Which smote Egypt with their first borne: for his mercie endureth for euer.

11 And brought out Israel from among them: for his mercie endureth for euer.

12 Which a mighty hand and stretched out arme: for his mercie endureth for euer.

13 Which dinded the red Sea in two parts: for his mercie endureth for euer.

14 And made Israel to passe thowth the mids of it: for his mercie endureth for euer.

15 And ouerthrew Pharaoh and his hoste in the red Sea: for his mercie endureth for euer.

16 Which led his people thowth the wilderness: for his mercie endureth for euer.

17 Which smote great kings: for his mercie endureth for euer.

18 And slewe mightie kings: for his mercie endureth for euer.

PSAL. CXXXVII.

The people of God in their banishment seeing Gods true religion decay, lived in great anguish and sorrow of heart: the which grieft the Chaldeans did so little pittie, 3 that they rather increased the same daily with taunts, reproches and blasphemies against God. 7 Wherefore the Israelites desire God, first to punish the Edomites, who provoked the Babylonians against them, 8 and moued by the spirit of God, prophesie the destruction of Babylon, where they were handled so tyrannously.

1 The ruiners of Babel wee : late, and there we wepe, when we remembered Zion.

2 Wee hanged our harpes vpon the willowes in the mids thereof.

3 When they that led vs captiues, required vs of songs and mirth, when wee had hanged vp our harpes, saying, Sing vs one of the songs of Zion.

4 How shall wee sing, said wee, a song of the Lord in a strange land?

5 If I forget thee, O Ierusalem, let my right hand forget to play.

6 If I doe not remember thee, let my tongue cleaue to the rooffe of my mouth : yea, if I preferre not Ierusalem to my chiefest hope.

7 Remember the children of Edom, O Lord, in the day of Ierusalem, which said, Raze it to the foundation thereof.

8 O daughter of Babel, worthe to bee destroyed, blessed shall hee bee that rewardeth thee as thou hast serued vs.

9 Blessed shall hee bee that taketh and daubeth thy children against the stones.

The Church is most grievous vnto them, and in such as they remember and lament. e The decay of Gods religion is so grievous, that no ioy could make them glad, f According as Ezekiel 25 13, & Ier. 49 7 and Obadiah verse 10. sheweth that the Edomites, who were confederate with the Babylonians against their brethren, shall be punished.

g When thou didst visite Ierusalem. h Hee is prophesied of in this prophesie, chap. 13. and 16. verse, promising good to the Chaldeans, whom ambition moued to fight against Ierusalem. i God used them as his rods to punish his enemies.

PSAL. CXXXVIII.

David with great courage praifeth the goodness of God toward him, the which is so great, 4 that it is knowne to foraine princes, who shall praise the Lord together with him. 6 And bee assured to haue like comfort of God in the time following, as he hath had heretofore.

A Psalme of Dauid.

1 I will praise thee with my whole heart: euen before the gods will I praise thee.

2 I will worship thyne holy Temple, and praise thy name, because of thy louing kindness and for thy truth : for thou hast magnified thy name above all things by thy word.

3 When I called, then thou heardest me, and hast increased strength in my soule.

4 All the Kings of the earth shall praise thee, O Lord : for they haue heard the words of my mouth.

5 And they shall sing of the wayes of the Lord, because the glorie of the Lord is great.

6 For the Lord is his: yet hee beholdeth the lowly, but the proude hee knoweth : as farre off.

7 Though I walke in the middes of trouble, yet wilt thou reuue mee : thou wilt stretch forth thine hand vpon the watch of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall saue mee.

8 The Lord will performe his worke toward mee : O Lord, thy mercie endureth for euer: forsake not the workes of thine hands.

Distance of place cannot hinder God to shew mercie to his, and to iudge the wicked though they thinke that hee is farre off.

c Though mine enemies rage neuer so much, yet the Lord which hath begun this worke in me, will continue his grace to the end.

PSAL. CXXXIX.

1 David to cleanse his heart from all hypocrisie, sheweth that there is nothing so hid, which God seeth not. 13 Which he confirmeth by the creation of man. 14 After declaring the reule & feare of God, hee protesteth to be enemy to all them that contemne God.

1 To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

O Lord, thou hast tried me, & knowen me.

2 Thou knowest my sitting and my rising : thou understandest my thought as farre off.

3 Thou compassedst my pathes, and my lying downe, and art accustomed to all my wayes.

4 For there is not a word in my tongue, but loe, thou knowest it wholly, O Lord.

5 Thou holdest me strait behinde and before, and layest thine hand vpon me.

6 Thy knowledge is too wonderfull for me: it is to high that I cannot attaine vnto it.

7 Whither shall I goe from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence?

8 If I ascend into heauen, thou art there: if I lie downe in hell, thou art there.

9 Let me take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost part of the sea:

10 Yet thither shalt thine hand leade me, and thy right hand hold me.

11 If I say, Per the darknesse shall hide me, euen the night shall be a light about me.

12 Yea, the darknesse hideth not from thee: but the night shineth as the day: the darknesse and light are both alike.

mee, that I can escape by no means from thee. g Though darknesse be an hinderance to mans sight, yet it serueth to the light.

b Both in Temple and ceremoniall seruice at Christs coming were abolished: so that now God will be worshipped onely in spirit & truth, Iohn 4. 23.

c Thou hast strengthened mee against mine outward and inward enemies.

d All the world shall confesse that thou hast wonderfully preferred me, and performed thy promise.

e Distance of place cannot hinder God to shew mercie to his, and to iudge the wicked though they thinke that hee is farre off.

g Though darknesse be an hinderance to mans sight, yet it serueth to the light.

h Thou hast made me in all parts, and therefore must needs know me.
i Considering thy wonderful worke in forming me, I can not but praise thee, and feare thy mightie power.

k That is, in my mothers wombe: which he compareth to the inward parts of the earth.

l Seeing that thou diddest know me before I was composed of either flesh or bone, much more now must thou know me when thou hast fashioned me.
m How ought we to esteeme the excellent declaration of thy wisdom in the creation of man!

n I continually see new occasions to meditate thy wisdom and to praise thee. o He teacheth vs boldly to contemne all the hatred of the wicked, and friendship of the world, when they would let vs to serue God sincerely. p Or any heinous way or rebellious meaning, that though he were subiect to sinne, yet was hee not giuen to wickednesse, and to prouoke God by rebellion. q That is, continueth thy fauour towards me to the end.

13 For thou hast possessed my reins: thou hast covered mee in my mothers wombe.

14 I will praise thee, for I am fearefully and wonderfully made: marvellous are thy workes, and my soule knoweth it well.

15 Thy bones are not hidde from thee, though I was made in a secret place, and fashioned beneath in the earth.

16 Thine eyes did see mee, when I was without forme: for in thy booke were all things written, which in continuance were fashioned, when there was none of them before.

17 How should I beare therefore are thy thoughts unto me, O God! how great is the sinne of them!

18 If I should count them, they are more then the sand: when I awake, I am still with thee.

19 Oh that thou wouldest slay, O God, the wicked and bloodie men, to whom I say, Depart ye from me!

20 Which speake wickedly of thee, and being thine enemies are list vp in vaine.

21 Doe not I hate them, O Lord, that hate thee? and doe not I earnestly contend with those that rise vp against thee?

22 I hate them with an unfeigned hatred, as they were mine vicer enemies.

23 Crie mee, O God, and knowe mine heart: pious me and know my thoughts, 24 And consider if there bee any way of wickednesse in me, and leade me in the way for ever.

1 I continually see new occasions to meditate thy wisdom and to praise thee. o He teacheth vs boldly to contemne all the hatred of the wicked, and friendship of the world, when they would let vs to serue God sincerely. p Or any heinous way or rebellious meaning, that though he were subiect to sinne, yet was hee not giuen to wickednesse, and to prouoke God by rebellion. q That is, continueth thy fauour towards me to the end.

PSAL CXL.

1 David complaineth of the crueltie, falsehood and injuries of his enemies. 2 Against the which he prayeth unto the Lord, and assureth himselfe of his helpe and succour. 12 Wherefore he prouoketh the iust to praise the Lord, and to assure them selves of his tuition.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Dauid.

Deliver me, O Lord, from the euill man: preserve me from the cruell man:

2 Which imagine euill things in their heart, and make waere continually.

3 They haue sharpened their tongues like a serpent: adders poison is under their lips. Selah.

4 Keepe me, O Lord, from the hands of the wicked: preserve mee from the cruell man, which purposeth to cause my steps to slide.

5 The pious haue laide a snare for me, and spread a net with cords in my pathway, and set gremmes for me. Selah.

6 Therefore I said unto the Lord, Thou art my God: heare, O Lord, the voice of my prayers.

7 O Lord God the strength of my salvation, thou hast courred mine head in the day of battell.

8 Let not the wicked haue his desire, O Lord: perfume not his wicked thought, that they be proud. Selah.

9 As for the chiefe of them, that compass mee about, let the mischief of their owne lips come vpon them.

10 Let coales fall vpon them: let him cast them into the fire, and into the deeps, that they rise not.

11 For the backbiter shall not be established vpon the earth: euill shall hunt the cruell man to destruction.

12 I know that the Lord will avenge the afflicted, and iudge the pious.

13 Surely the righteous shall praise thy name, & the iust shall dwell in thy presence.

h To wit, Ood: for Dauid sawe that they were righteous, and there was no hope of repentance in them. i God plague and vengeance vpon him in such sort, that he shall not escape. k That is, defended and preserved by thy fatherly providence and care.

PSAL CXL.

1 David being grievously persecuted under Saui, only flieeth vnto God to haue succour, 3 desiring him to bridle his affections, that he may patiently abide till God take vengeance of his enemies.

¶ A Psalm of Dauid.

O Lord, I call vpon thee: heare thee vnto me: heare my voyce, when I crie vnto thee.

2 Let my prayer be directed in thy sight as incense, and the lifting vp of mine hands as an evening sacrifice.

3 Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, and keepe the doore of my lips.

4 Incline not mine heart to euill, that I should commit wicked works with men that worke iniquitie: and let me not care of their works.

5 Let the righteous unite mee: for there is a benefit: and let him reprove mee, and it shall be a precious oyle, that shall not make mine head: for within a while I shall crie: pray in their miseries.

6 When their iudges shall be cast downe in front places, they shall heare my words, for they are sweete.

7 Our bones lie scattered at the graues mouth, as he that beweth wood or diggeth in the earth.

8 But mine eyes looke vnto thee, O Lord God: in thee is my trust: leave not my soule destitute.

9 Keepe mee from the snare, which they haue laide for mee, and from the gremmes of the workers of iniquitie.

10 Let the wicked fall into his nets: together, whiles I escape.

i By patience I shall see the wicked so sharply handled, that forspite pray for them. g The people which followed the wicked rulers in persecuting the Prophet, shall repent and beweepe when they see their wicked rulers punished. h Hereby that Dauid was miraculously deliuered out of in my dayes. 9, 10. i Into Gods nets, whereby he catcheth the wicked owne malice. k So that none of them escape.

PSAL.

P S A L. CXLV.

This Psalm was composed, when the kingdome of Dauid flourisheth, 1 Wherin he describeth the wonderful providence of God, aswell in governing mā, as in preserving all the rest of his creatures. 17 He praiseth God for his iustice & mercie, 18 But specially for his loving kinde as toward those that call vpon him, that feare him, and loue him: 21 For the which he promitteth to praise him for euer.

A Psalm of Dauid of praise.

a He sheweth what sacrifices are pleasant and acceptable vnto God: euen praise and thanksgiving, and seeing that God still continueth his benefits towards vs, we ought neuer to be weary in praising him for the same. b Hereby he declareth that all power is subiect vnto God, and that no worldly promotion ought to obscure Gods glory. c Forasmuch as the end of mans creation, and of his preservation in this life, is to prayse God, therefore he requirerh that not onely wee our selues doe this, but cause all other to doe the same. d Of thy terrible iudgements against the wicked. Exod. 33. 6. e Hee describeth after what sort God sheweth himselfe to all his creatures, though our finnes haue prouoked his vengeance against all: to wit, mercifull, not only in pardoning the finnes of his elect, but in doing good euen to the reprobate, albeit they cannot feele the sweet comfort of the same.

O my God, and King, I will extoll thee, and will blesse thy Name for euer and euer.

2 I will blesse thee daily, and praise thy Name for euer and euer.

3 Great is the Lord, and most worthy to be praised, and his greatnesse is incomprehensible.

4 Generation shall prayse thy works vnto generation, and declare thy power.

5 I will meditate of the beauty of thy glorious maiesty, and thy wonderfull works.

6 And they shall speake of the power of thy fearefull actes, and I will declare thy greatnesse.

7 They shall breake out into the mention of thy great goodnesse, and shall sing aloude of thy righteousness.

8 The Lord is gracious and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great mercy.

9 The Lord is good to all, and his mercies are ouer all his works.

10 All thy workes praise thee, O Lord, and thy Saints blesse thee.

11 They shewe the glory of thy kingdome, and speake of thy power.

12 To cause his power to be knowne to the sonnes of men, and the glorious renowne of his kingdome.

13 Thy kingdome is an everlasting kingdome, and thy dominion endureth throughout all ages.

14 The Lord upholdeth all that fall, and lifteth vp all that are ready to fall.

15 The eyes of all waite vpon thee, and thou givest them their meate in due season.

16 Thou openest thine hand and fillest all things liuing of thy good pleasure.

17 The Lord is righteous in all his wayes, and holy in all his works.

18 The Lord is neere vnto all that call vpon him: yea, to all that call vpon him in truth.

19 He will fulfill the desire of them that feare him: he also will heare their cry, and will saue them.

20 The Lord preferreth all them that loue him: but he will destroy all the wicked.

21 My mouth shall speake the praise of the Lord, and all flesh shall blesse his holy Name for euer and euer.

Prayse ye the Lord.

PRAYSE thou the Lord, O my soule. 2 I will prayse the Lord during my life: as long as I haue any being, I will sing vnto my God.

3 But not your trust in princes, nor in the sonne of man, for there is none helpe in him.

4 His breath departeth, and he returneth to his earth: then his thoughts perish.

5 Blessed is he, that hath the God of Jacob for his helpe, whose hope is in the Lord his God.

6 Which made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that therein is: which keepeth his fidelitie for euer.

7 Which executeth iustice, for the oppressed: which giueth bread to the hungry: the Lord looseth the prisoners.

b In that that they were preferred before all other nations, it was as a new creation, and therefore Psal. 95. 7. they were called the sheepe of Gods hands. c For God as he is the Creator of the soule and body, so will he that both two serue him, and that his people be continually subiect vnto him as to their most lawfull King.

d He alleduth

so that continuall rest and quietnesse, which they should haue, if they would suffer God to rule them. e This is chiefly accomplished in the kingdome of Christ, when Gods people for iust causes execute Gods iudgements against his enemies: and it giueth no libertie to any to reuenge their priuate injuries. f Not onely the people, but the kings that were their enemies, should be destroyed. g Hereby God bindeth the hands and minds of al his to enterprise no further then he appointeth.

2 Let Israel reioyce in him that made him, and let the children of Zion reioyce in their King.

3 Let them prayse his Name with the flute: let them sing prayles vnto him with the timbrell and harpe.

4 For the Lord hath pleasure in his people: hee will make the meeke glorious by deliverance.

5 Let the Saints bee ioyfull with glorie: let them sing townde vpon their beds.

6 Let the high Actes of God bee in their mouth, and a two edged sword in their hands,

7 To execute vengeance vpon the heathen, and corrections among the people:

8 To binde their kings in chaines, and their nobles with fetters of yron,

9 That they may execute vpon them the iudgement that is written: this honour shall be to all his Saints. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CL.

1 An exhortation to prayse the Lord without ceasse by all manner of wayes, for all his mightie and wonderfull workes.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

Praise ye God in his Sanctuarie: praise ye him in the firmament of his power.

2 Praise ye him in his mightie Actes: praise ye him according to his excellent greatnesse.

3 Praise ye him in the sounde of the trumpet: praise ye him vpon the viol and the harpe.

4 Praise ye him with timbrell and flute: praise ye him with virginales and organs.

5 Praise ye him with sounding cymbals: praise ye him with high sounding cymbals.

6 Let every thing that hath breath praise the Lord. Praise ye the Lord.

of those instruments, which by Gods commandment were ordered in the olde Law, but vnder Christ the vse thereof sheweth the Church. d Hee sheweth that all the order of nature is to this duetie, and much more Gods children, who ought to cease to prayse him, till they bee gathered into the heauens, which hee hath prepared for his, where they shall sing and praise.

*This word Prouerbe, or parable, significth a graue and notable sentence, worthy to be kept in memorie: and is sometime taken in the euill part for a mocke, or scoffe.

The * Prouerbes of Salomon.

THE ARGVMENT.

The wonderfull loue of God toward his Church is declared in this booke: forasmuch as the summe and effect of the whole Scriptures is here set forth in these briefe sentences, which partly containe doctrine, and partly manners, and also exhortations to both. Whereof the nine first Chapters are as a preface full of graue sentences, and deepe mysteries, to allure the heartes of men to the diligent reading of the parables that follow: which are left as a most precious iewel to the Church of those three thousand parables mentioned, 1. King. 4. 32. and were gathered and committed to writing by Salomons seruants, and indited by him.

CHAP. I.

1 The power and vse of the word of God. 7 Of the feare of God & knowledge of his word. 10 If a man may not consent to the iniurings of sinners. 20 Wisdom complaineth that shee is contemned. 24 The punishment of them that contemne her.

¶ The Parables of Salomon the sonne of David king of Israel.

2 To know withisme, and instruction, to vnderstand the words of knowledge,

3 To receiue instruction to doe wisely, by iustice and iudgement and equitie,

4 To giue vnto the simple hartnesse of wit, and to the child knowledge and discretion.

5 A wise man shall heare and increase in learning, and a man of vnderstanding shall attaine vnto wise counsels, a That is, what wee ought to know & follow, and what we ought to refuse. b Meaning, the word of God, wherein is only true knowledge. c To learne to submit our selues to the correction of those that are wise. d By liuing iustly, and rendering to every man that which appertaineth vnto him. e To such as haue not discretion to rule themselves. f As hee sheweth that these parables, containing the effect of religion as touching manners and doctrine, do appertaine to the simple people: so doth he declare, that the same are also necessarie for them that are wise and learned.

6 To vnderstand a parable, and the interpretation, the words of the wise, and their darke sayings.

7 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles despise wisdom and instruction.

8 My sonne, heare thy fathers instruction, and forlake not thy mothers teaching.

9 For they shall be to thee a comely ornament vnto thine head, and as chaines for thy necke.

10 My sonne, if sinners doe intile thee, consent thou not.

11 If they say, Come with vs, wee will lay waite for blood, and hee will kill for the innocent without a cause:

12 Wee will swallow them vp aliuie like a Church, graue euen whole, as those that goe downe into the pit:

13 Wee shall finde all precious riches, and fill our houses with spoile:

¶ Ebr. Increase of grace. i To wit, the wicked, the feare of God. k Hee speaketh not onely of the blood with hand, but of all crastie practices which tend to the ment of our neighbour. l As the graue is neuer full, so the rice of the wicked and their crueltye hath none end.

e By this part he comprehendeth the whole body, as by health he meaneth all the benefits promised in the Law both corporall and spirituall.

f As was commanded in the Law, Exod. 23. 19. Deut. 26. 2. and by this they acknowledged that God was the giuer of all things, and that they were ready to bestow all at his commandement.

g For to the faithfull distributor, God giueth in great abundance.

Hebr. 12. 5. reus. 3. 19.

h Meaning, that he that seeketh wisdom, that is, suffereth himselfe to be gouerned by the word of God, shall haue all prosperitie both corporall and spirituall.

i Which bringeth forth such fruit that they that eate thereof, haue life: and he alludeth to the tree of life in Paradise.

k Hereby he sheweth that this wisdom, whereof he speaketh is eueralasting, because it was before all creatures, & that all things, euen the whole world were made by it.

l Or, throat, read Chap. 1. 9.

m For when God deliueyth the wicked, he will saue his, as he did Lot in Sodome.

n Not onely from them to whom the possession belongeth, but also thou shalt not keepe it from them, which haue need of the wisdome thereof. o That is, putteth his trust in thee,

4 So shalt thou find fauour & good vnderstanding in the sight of God and man.

5 ¶ Trust in the Lord to all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wisdom.

6 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy wayes.

7 ¶ Be not wise in thine owne eyes: but feare the Lord and depart from euill.

8 So health shall be vnto thy nauell, and marrow vnto thy bones.

9 ¶ Honour the Lord with thy riches, and with the first fruits of thine increase.

10 So shall thy barnes bee filled with abundance, and thy presses shall be burst with new wine.

11 ¶ Why sonne, refuse not the chastening of the Lord, neither be grieved with his correction.

12 ¶ For the Lord correcteth him, whom he loueth, euen as the father dooth the childe in whom he delighteth.

13 Blessed is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth vnderstanding.

14 For the merchandise thereof is better then the merchandise of siluer, and the gaine thereof is better then gold.

15 It is more precious then pearles: and all things that thou canst desire, are not to be compared vnto her.

16 Length of daies is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and glory.

17 Her wayes are wayes of pleasure, and all her paths prosperitie.

18 She is a tree of life to them that lay hold on her, and blessed is hee that retaineth her.

19 The Lord by wisdom hath laid the foundation of the earth, & hath established the heauens through vnderstanding.

20 By his knowledge the depths are broken vp, & the clouds drop downe the heauens.

21 Whi sonne, let not these things depart from thine eyes, but obserue wisdom and counsell.

22 So they shall bee life to thy soule, and grace vnto thy necke.

23 When shalt thou walke safely by thy way: and thy foot shall not stumble.

24 If thou sleepest, thou shalt not bee afraid, and when thou sleepest, thy sleepe shall be sweete.

25 Thou shalt not feare for any sudden feare, neither for the destruction of the wicked, when it cometh.

26 For the Lord shall be for thine assurance, and shall preserve thy foot from taking.

27 ¶ Withhold not the good from the owners thereof, though there bee power in thine hand to doe it.

28 Say not vnto thy neighbour, Go and come againe, and to morrow will I giue thee, if thou now haue it.

29 ¶ Cure not none hurt against thy neighbour, seeing hee doeth dwelt without feare by thee.

30 ¶ Striue not with a man causelesse,

m Not onely from them to whom the possession belongeth, but also thou shalt not keepe it from them, which haue need of the wisdome thereof. n That is, putteth his trust in thee,

when he hath done thee no harme.

31 ¶ Bee not enuious for the wicked man, neither chuse any of his wayes.

32 For the reward is abomination vnto the Lord: but his secret is with the righteous.

33 The curse of the Lord is in the house of the wicked: but hee blesteth the habitation of the righteous.

34 With the scornfull hee staymeth, but he giueth grace vnto the humble.

35 The wise shall inherit glory: but fooles dishonour, though they be exalted.

CHAP. III.

1 Wisdom and her fruits ought to be searched, 14 The way of the wicked must be refused. 20 By the word of God, the heart is opened, and course of life, must be guided.

1 ¶ Eare, O ye children, the instruction of a father, and giue eare to learne vnderstanding.

2 For I doe giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake ye not my Law.

3 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and deare in the sight of my mother.

4 ¶ When he taught me, & said vnto me, Let thine heart hold fast my wordes: keepe my commandments, and thou shalt liue.

5 Get wisdom, get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from the wordes of my mouth.

6 Forsake her not, & she shall keepe thee: loue her, and she shall preserve thee.

7 ¶ Wisdom is the beginning: get wisdom therefore: and about all thy possession get vnderstanding.

8 Exalt her, & she shall exalt thee: she shall bring thee to honour, if thou embrace her.

9 Shee shall giue a comely ornament vnto thine head, yea, shee shall giue thee a crowne of glory.

10 ¶ Deare, my sonne, and receiue my wordes, & the yeeres of thy life shall be many.

11 I haue taught thee in the way of wisdom, and led thee in the paths of righteousness.

12 ¶ When thou goest, thy gate shall not be strait, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fall.

13 Take hold of instruction, & leaue not: keepe her, for she is thy life.

14 ¶ Enter not into the way of the wicked, and walke not in the way of euill men.

15 Quot it, and go not by it: turne from it, and passe by.

16 For they cannot sleepe, except they haue done euill, and their sleepe departeth, except they cause some to fall.

17 For they eat the bread of wickednesse, and drinke the wine of violence.

18 But the way of the righteous shinieth as the light, that shinieth more and more vnto the perfect day.

tie without offence. g Meaning, that to doe euill is unprofitable, and natural to the wicked, then to sleepe, eate or drinke. i Signifying that by wicked meanes and cruel oppression, they increase daily in knowledge and perfection, till they come to perfection, which is, when they shall be ioyned to the heauens.

19 The way of the wicked is as the darkness: they knowe not wherein they shall fall.

20 O Sonne, hearken vnto my words, incline thine eare to my sayings.

21 Let them not depart from thine eyes, but keep them in the midst of thine heart.

22 For they are life vnto those that finde them, and health vnto all their flesh.

23 Keepethine heart with all diligence: for thereof cometh life.

24 But away fro thee a froward mouth, and put wicked lips farre from thee.

25 Let thine eyes behold the right, and let thine eye lids direct thy way before thee.

26 Ponder the path of thy feet, and let all thy wayes be ordered aright.

27 Turne not to the right hand, nor to the left, but remove thy foot from euill.

CHAP. V.

3 Whoredome forbidden, 9 And prodigality. 15 Hee willesh a man to live on his labours, and to help others. 18 To love his wife. 22 The wicked takes in their owne wickednesse.

Monne, hearken vnto my wisdom, and incline thine eare vnto my knowledge.

2 That thou mayest regard counsel, and thy lips observe knowledge.

3 For the lips of a strange woman drop as anhydric comd, and her mouth is more loth then a oyle.

4 But the end of her is bitter as worme-wood, and sharpe as a two edged sword.

5 Her feete go downe to death, and her steps take hold on hell.

6 She weigheth not the way of life: her paths are as a moneable: thou canst not know them.

7 Deare yee mee now therefore, O children, and depart not from the words of my mouth.

8 Keepe thy way farre from her, & come not neere the dooye of her house.

9 Lest thou giue thine honour vnto others, and thy riches to the cruell:

10 Lest the stranger should be filled with thy strength, & thy labours bee in the house of a stranger.

11 And thou mouest at thine end, (when thou hast consumed thy flesh and thy body)

12 And say, how haue I hated instruction, and mine heart despised correction!

13 And haue not obeyed the voice of them that taught mee, nor inclined mine eare to them that instructed me!

14 I was almost brought into all euill in the midst of the Congregation & assemblie.

15 O Drinke the water of thy cistern, and of the riuers out of the midst of thine owne well.

16 Let thy fountaine flow forth, and the riuers of waters in thy streets.

17 But let them be thine, euen thine own, and not the strangers with thee.

18 Let thy fountaine flow forth, and the riuers of waters in thy streets.

19 But let them be thine, euen thine own, and not the strangers with thee.

20 Let thy fountaine flow forth, and the riuers of waters in thy streets.

38 For why shouldst thou delight, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger?

39 For the wayes of man are before the eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his paths.

40 His owne iniquities shall take the wicked himselfe, and he shall be holden with the cords of his owne sinne.

41 Woe shall be for family of instruction, and shall go astray through his great folly.

42 Let thy fountaine bee blessed, and reioyce with the wife of thy youth:

43 Let her be as the louing hind and pleasant eye: let her breasts satisfie thee at all times, and delight in her loue continually.

44 For why shouldst thou delight, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger?

45 For the wayes of man are before the eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his paths.

46 His owne iniquities shall take the wicked himselfe, and he shall be holden with the cords of his owne sinne.

47 Woe shall be for family of instruction, and shall go astray through his great folly.

48 Let thy fountaine bee blessed, and reioyce with the wife of thy youth:

Or, neighbours. i Reale Chap. 3. 3.

k By the commandment he meaneth the word of God: and by the inſtruction, the preaching and declaration of the ſame, which is committed to the Church.

l And reprehensions when the word is preached bring vs to liſe, in Wiſh her wanton looks and geſture, n Meaning, that he will neuer ceaſe till ſhee haue brought thee to beggary, and then ſeeke thy deſtruction.

o He approacheth not thee, but ſheweth that it is not ſo abominable as whore-dome, for ſo much as they might be redeemed: but adulterie was a perpetuall infamie, and death by the Law of God.

p Meaning, for very neceſſarie.

q Ebr. ſaleth in heart. q That is, death appointed by the Law. r He ſheweth that man by nature ſeeketh his death that hath abuſed his wife, and ſo concludeth, that neither Gods Law nor the law of nature admitteth any ranſome for the adultery.

CHAP. VII.

1 An exhortation to wiſedome and to the word of God. 5 Which will preſerue vs from the harlot. 6 Whoeſe maners are deſcribed.

M P ſonne, keepe my wordes, and hide my commandments with thee.

2 Keepe my commandments, and thou ſhalt live, and minie inſtruction as the apple of thine eyes.

3 Bind them alway upon thine heart, and write them upon the table of thine heart.

4 Say vnto wiſedome, Thou art my ſiſter: call vnderſtanding thy kinfwoman.

5 That they may keepe thee from the ſtrange woman, euen from the ſtranger that is ſworne in her words.

18 An heart that imagineth wicked enterpriſes, ſeeth that ſhee walketh in running to mulctiſe.

19 A falſe witneſſe that ſpeaketh lies, and him that railteth vp contentions amongſt brethren.

20 O my ſonne, keepe thy fathers commandment, and ſoſake not thy mothers inſtruction.

21 Bind them alway upon thine heart, and ſit them about thy necke.

22 It ſhall leade thee, when thou wakeſt: it ſhall watch for thee when thou ſleepeſt, & when thou wakeſt it ſhall talke with thee.

23 For the commandment is a lantern, and inſtruction a light: and corrections for inſtruction are the way of liſe.

24 To keepe thee from the wicked woman, and from the flatterie of the tongue of a ſtrange woman.

25 Deſire not her beautie in thine heart, neither let her take thee with her eyes.

26 For becauſe of the whooriſh woman, a man is brought to a moiſtell of bread, and a woman will burne for the precious liſe of a man.

27 Can a man take fire in his boſome, and his clothes not be burnt?

28 Can a man goe vpon coales, and his feete not be burnt?

29 So he that goeth in to his neighbours wife, ſhall not be innocent, wholoener toucheth her.

30 When doeſt thou deſpiſe a thiefe, when he ſtealeth, to ſanctifie his ſoule, becauſe hee is hungry.

31 But if he be found, he ſhall reſtore ſeven fold, or he ſhall giue all the ſubſtance of his houſe.

32 But he that committeth adultery with a woman, he is deſtitute of vnderſtanding: he that doeth it, deſtroyeth his owne ſoule.

33 He ſhall finde a wound and diſhonour, and his reproch ſhall neuer be put away.

34 For iealouſie is the rage of a man: therefore hee will not ſpare in the day of vengeance.

35 Wee cannot beare the ſight of any ranſome: neither will hee conſent, though thou augment the gifts.

6 As I was in the window of mine houſe, I looked through my window.

7 And I ſaw among the foolies, and conſidered among the children a yong man of ſtature of vnderſtanding.

8 Who paſſed through the ſtreets by her corner, and went toward her houſe.

9 In the twilight in the evening, when the night began to be blacke and darke.

10 And behold, there met him a woman, with an harlots behauiour, and ſhe ſaid to him.

11 Shee is babbling and loud: whoſe feete cannot abide in her houſe.

12 Now ſhe is without, now in the ſtreets, and lieth in waite at every corner.

13 So ſhe caught him and kiſſed him, and with an impudent face ſayd vnto him.

14 I haue peace offerings: this day haue I payed my vowes.

15 Therefore came I forth to meet thee, that I might ſeeke thy face: and I haue found thee.

16 I haue deckt thy bed with oymants, ſcarpers and laces of Egypt.

17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cynamon.

18 Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntill the morning: let vs take our pleaſure in diliance.

19 For mine husband is not at home: he is gone a iourney farre off.

20 We hath taken with him a bag of ſiluer, & will come home at the day appointed.

21 Thus with her great craft ſhee cauſed him to yeelde, and with her flatterer lips ſhe entred him.

22 And hee followed her ſtraightwayes, as an oxe that goeth to the ſlaughter, and as a ſoule to the ſnares for correction.

23 Till a hart ſtrike the ſnow in his ſides, as a bird baſteth to the ſnare, not knowing that he is in danger.

24 O heare me now therefore, O children, and hearken to the words of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her wayes: wander thou not in her paths.

26 For ſhe hath cauſed many to fall down wounded, and the ſtrong men are all ſlaine by her.

27 Her houſe is the way vnto the grave, which goeth downe vnto the chambers of death.

ſeruing of ceremonies and offerings to make facrifices. Or, carued worke Ebr. in his hand. g Which hee goeth to the paſture, goeth willingly to his owne deſtruction. h Which goeth cheerefully, not knowing that he ſhall be ſlaine. Ebr. it is for his liſe. i Neither will nor ſtrength can ſtand fall into the hands of the harlot. Chap. a. 18.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Wiſedome declarer her excellencie. 11 Riches, 15 Power, 23 Eternitie, 32 Shee exhorteth all to loue and follow her.

D *e*th not wiſedome cry? and vnderſtanding utter her voyce?

2 Shee ſtanderh in the top of the high places by the way in the place of the paths.

hee can pretend no ignorance, for ſo much as God calleth him by his word, and by his works, to follow vertue and to flee ſinne.

When cryeth belides the gates before the time at the entrie of the doores,

O men, I call vnto you, and vnto my children of men.

O ye foolish men, vnderstand wisdom, and ye foolish, be wise in heart.

Give eare, for I will speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lips shall reach things that be right.

For my mouth shall speake the truth, and my lips abhorre wickednesse.

All the words of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdnesse, nor frowardnesse in them.

They are all: plaine to him that will vnderstand, and streight to them that would find knowledge.

I Receiue mine instruction, and not flattery, and knowledge rather then fine gold.

For wisdom is better then precious stones: and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her.

I wisdom dwell with a prudence, and I finde forth knowledge and counsels.

The feare of the Lord is to hate a euill, as pride, and arrogancie, and the euill way: and a mouth that speaketh lewde things, I hate.

I haue counsell and wisdom: I am vnderstanding, and I haue strength.

By me kings reigne, and princes decrease iustice.

By me princes rule, and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth.

I loue them that loue mee: and they that seke me early shall find me.

Riches and honours are with me: euen durable riches and righteousness.

My fruite is better then golde, euen then fine golde, and my reuenues better then fine silver.

I cause to walke in the way of righteousness, and in the middest of the pathes of iudgement.

That I may cause them that loue me, to inherite substance, and I will fill their treasures.

The Lord hath possessed me in the beginning of his way: I was before his works of olde.

I was set by from euerlasting, from the beginning, and before the earth.

When there were no depthes, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water.

Before the mountaines were settled: and before the hills, was I begotten.

He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the world.

When hee prepared the heauens, I was there, when hee set the compasse vpon the deepe.

When hee established the cloudes above, when hee confirmed the fountaines of the deepe.

When hee gaue his decree to the sea, that the waters should not passe his commandement, when he appointed the foundations of the earth.

When was I with him as a nourisher, and I was daily his delight, reioycing alway before him.

And tooke my solace in the compasse of his earth: and my delight is with the children of men.

Therefore now hearken, O children, vnto mee: for blessed are they that keepe my wayes.

Heare instruction, and be ye wise, and refuse it not: blessed is the man that heareth me, watching dayly at my gates, and giuing attendance at the postes of my doores.

For hee that findeth me, findeth life, and shall obtaine fauour of the Lord.

But he that sinneth against me, hurteth his owne soule: & al that hate me, loue death.

By earth he meaneth man, which is the worke of God in whome Wisdom rooke pleasure: in so much as for mans sake the Diuine Wisdom tooke mans nature, and dwelt among vs, and filled vs with vnspokeable treasures: and this is that solace and pastime whereof is here spoken.

CHAP. IX.

Wisdom shall call all to her feast. 7 The scorner will not be corrected. 10 The feare of God

13 The conditions of the hart.

Wisdom hath built her a house, and hath dwelt vpon her: seven pillars.

Shee hath killed her vitalles, drawn her wine, and prepared her table.

Shee hath sent forth her maydens, and cryeth vpon the highest places of the citie, saying,

Who so is simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisdom, hee saith,

Come, and eate of my meate, & drinke of the wine that I haue draynen.

For sake your way, ye foolish, & ye shall liue: & walke in the way of vnderstanding.

Hee that reproveth a scorner, purchaseth to himselfe shame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, getteth himselfe a blot.

Rebuke not a scorner, lest he hate thee: but rebuke a wise man, and hee will loue thee.

Give admonition to the wise, and he will be the wiser: teach a righteous man, and he will increase in learning.

The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord, and the knowledge of holy things, is vnderstanding.

For thy dayes shall bee multiplied by mee, and the yeres of thy life shall bee augmented.

If thou bee wise, thou shalt be wise for thy selfe, and if thou bee a scorner, thou shalt be a scorner.

For the wicked will contemne him and labour to defame him.

Meaning, that hee that is incorrigible which Christ calleth doges or swine: or hee speaketh in this comparison, not that the wicked should not be rebuked, but he sheweth their malice, and the small hope of profic.

I see sheweth what true vnderstanding is, to knowe the will of God in his word, which is meant by holy things.

Thou shalt haue the chiefe profite and commoditie thereof.

Some reade a chiefe worke, signifying that this wisdom, euen Christ Iesus was equall with God his Father, and created, preserued, and still worketh with him, as Ioh. 5. 17.

Whereby is declared that the worke of the creation was no paine, but a solace vnto the wisdom of God.

Christ hath prepared him a Church.

That is, many chiefe flayes and principall parts of his Church, as were the Patriarkes, Prophets, Apostles, Pastors and Doctors.

Hee compareth wisdom with great princes that keepe open house for all that come.

Meaning, true preachers, which are not infected with mans wisdom.

Hee that knoweth his owne ignorance, and is voyde of malice.

By the meate and drinke, is meant the word of God and the ministrallion of the Sacrament, whereby God nourisheth his seruants in his house.

For the wicked will contemne him and labour to defame him.

Meaning, that hee that is incorrigible which Christ calleth doges or swine: or hee speaketh in this comparison, not that the wicked should not be rebuked, but he sheweth their malice, and the small hope of profic.

I see sheweth what true vnderstanding is, to knowe the will of God in his word, which is meant by holy things.

Thou shalt haue the chiefe profite and commoditie thereof.

and when the wicked per-

15 The blessing of the righteous, the Lord is riches: but it is subverted by the mouth of the wicked.

16 He that despiseth his neighbour, is destroyed of wisdom: but a man of understanding will hope silence.

17 He that goeth about as a slanderer, dis-cusseth a fencer: but he that doth a faithful heart, concealeth a matter.

18 Where no counsellor is, the people fall:
but where many counsellors are, there is health.

19 Hee shall be loye bereft, that is fierce like a stranger, and hee that hateth surri-sals is sure.

20 A gracious woman attaineth honor, and the strong men attain riches.

21 He that is mercifull, rewardeth his owne soule: but he that troubleth his owne flesh, is cruel.

22 The wicked worketh a deceitful worke:
but he that loveth righteousness, shall receive a free reward.

23 His righteousnesse leadeth to life, so hee
that followeth euill, seeketh his owne death.

24 They that are of a froward heart, are abomination to the Lorde: but they that are upright in their way, are his delight.

25 Though hand ioyne in hand, the wicked shall not be unpunished: but the seede of the righteous shall escape.

26 As a Jewell of gold in a swines snout:
so is a faire woman, which lacketh discretion.

27 The desire of the righteous is onely
good: but the hope of the wicked is in ignoration.

28 There is that scattereth, & is more increased: but he that gathereth more, & then is right, surely cometh to pouertie.

29 The liberal person shall haue plenty:
and he that watereth, shall also haue raine.

30 Hee that with draweth the corne, the people will curse him: but blessing shall be upon the head of him that selleth corne.

31 He that seeketh good things, getteth favour: but he that seeketh euill, it shall come to him.

32 He that trusteth in his riches, shall fal:
but the righteous shall flourish as a leafe.

33 Hee that troubleth his owne house, shall inherit the winde, and the fool shall be desert to the wife in heart.

34 The fruit of the righteous is as a tree
of life, and he that winneth soules, is wise.

35 Beholde, the righteous shall be recompensed in the earth: how much more the wicked and the sinner?

36 The righteous shall be rewarded for the workes of their families, shall be deprived thereof miserably.
though the wicked be rich, yet are they but slaves to the godless: and the true professors of the gifts of God. f That is, bring-

CHAP. XII.

1 The lowly instruction, lowly knowledge: but hee that hateth correction, is a fool.

2 A good man getteth faith of the Lorde:
but the man of wicked imaginations will be condemned.

3 A man cannot be established by wickedness: but the root of the righteous shall not be moued.

4 A virtuous woman is the crowne of her husband: but shee that maketh him a shuamed, is a corruption in his bones.

5 The thoughts of the iust are right: but the counsels of the wicked are deceitfull.

6 The talking of the wicked is no lesse
in white for blood: but the mouth of the righteous will deliver them.

7 God overthroweth the wicked, and they are not: but the house of the righteous shall stand.

8 A man shall be commended for his wis-dome: but the froward heart shall be despised.

9 Hee that is despised, and in his owne seruant, is better then he that boasteth himselfe and lacketh bread.

10 A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast: but the mercies of the wicked are cruel.

11 He that tilleth his land shall be satisfied with bread: but hee that followeth the idle, shall meditate on his want.

12 The wicked desireth the net of euils: but the root of the righteous groweth fruit.

13 The euill man is snared by the wickednes of his lips, but the iust shall come out of aduersitie.

14 A man shall be satiate with good things by the fruit of his mouth, and the recompence of a man hands that God giue unto
him.

15 The way of a fool is right in his owne eyes: but hee that heareth counsell, is wise.

16 A fool in a day shall bee known by his anger: but hee that is couereth shame is wise.

17 Hee that speaketh truth, will shew righteousnesse: but a false witness shall deceite.

18 There is that speaketh words like the prickings of a sword: but the tongue of wise men is health.

19 The lip of truth shall bee stable forever: but a lying tongue varieth inconsistently.

20 Deceite is in the heart of them that imagine euill: but to the counsellors of peace shall be lay.

21 There shall none iniquitie come to the iust: but the wicked are full of euill.

22 The lying lips are an abomination to the Lorde: but they that deale truly are his delight.

23 A wise man concealeth knowledge: but the heart of the fooler publisheth foolishnes.

24 The hand of the diligent shall beare rule: but the idle shall be under tribute.

25 Wantredness in the heart of man doeth bring it downe: but a good word rejoyceth it.

26 The righteous is more excellent then his neighbour: but the way of the wicked

27. The diligent man roastereth not that he is taken in hunting: but the riches of the diligent man are meritorious.

28. Life is in the way of righteousness, and in that path way there is no death.

CHAP. XIII.
A foolish sonne will obey the instruction of his father: but a scooner will heare no advice.

2. A man shall eat good things by the fruit of his mouth: but the fruit of the treppasser shall be violence.

3. Hee that keepeth his mouth, keepeth his life: but hee that openeth his lippes, destruction shall be to him.

4. The sluggard is filthy, but his soule hath hunger: but the soule of the diligent shall be plente.

5. A righteous man hateth lying words:
but the wicked canst stander and shame.

6. Righteousness preferreth the vpright of a life: but wickednesse overthroweth the sinner.

7. There is that maketh himselfe rich, and hath nothing, and that maketh himselfe
poore, hauing great riches.

8. A man will giue his eies for the ransom of his life: but the poore will not heare
the reproof.

9. The light of the righteous reioyeth:
but the candle of the wicked shall be put out.

10. Only by piety a rich man make contention: but with the well aduised is wise-
dome.

11. The riches of vanitie shall diminish:
but he that gathereth with the labour, shall increase them.

12. The hope that is deferred, is the tan-ting of the heart: but when the desire commeth, it is as a tree of life.

13. He that despiseth the word, he shall be destroyed: but he that feareth the commandement, he shall be rewarded.

14. The instruction of a wise man is as the whispering of life, to turne away from the inaces of death.

15. Good vnderstanding maketh acceptable: but the way of the disobedient is hated.

16. Every wise man will worke by knowledge: but a foole will spread abroad folly.

17. A wicked messenger scattereth into evill: but a faithfull ambassadour is preseruation.

18. Power and shame is to him that refuseth instruction: but hee that regardeth correction, shall be honoured.

19. A desire accomplished delighteth the soul: but it is an abomination to foolles to depart from euill.

20. Hee that walketh with the wise, shall be wise: but a companion of foolles shall be afflicted.

21. Affliction followeth sinners: but vnto
the righteous God will recompense good.
22. The good man shall giue inheritance vnto his childrens children: and the riches of the unner is layd up for the uill.

23. Much food is in the field of the poore:
but the field is destroyed without discretion.
24. Hee that spareth his rodde, hateth his sonne: but he that loveth him, chasteneth him betime.

25. The righteous eareth to the commandment of his mouth: but the belly of the wicked shall want.

CHAP. XIII.
A foolish woman buildeth her house
on the foolish deliuereth it with her own hands.

2. Hee that walketh in his right-nesse, feareth the Lord: but he that is loose
in his wayes, despiseth him.

3. In the mouth of the foolish is the out of piety: but the lippes of the wise preserue them.

4. Where there is no open eye, there is emptie: but much increase cometh by the strength of the eye.

5. A faithfull witness will not lie: but a false witness will speake lies.

6. A scooner seeketh wisdom, and desch it not: but knowledge is eade to him that will vnderstand.

7. Depart from the foolish man, lest thou percerest not in him the lips of knowledge.

8. The wisdom of the prudent is vnder-stand his wayes: but the foolishnes of the fooles is detrit.

9. The foole maketh a mocke of sinne:
but among the righteous there is fauour.

10. The heart knoweth the bitterness of his soule, and the stranger shal not medle
with his toy.

11. The house of the wicked shall be destroyed: but the tabernacle of the righteous shall last.

12. There is a way that seemeth right to a man: but the issues thereof are the wayes
of death.

13. Euen in laughing the heart is shonfull, and the ende of that mirth is heauy melt.

14. The heart that declineth, shall be instiate with his owne wayes: but a good man shall depart from him.

15. The foolish will beleene euery thing:
but the prudent will consider his steps.

16. A wise man feareth, & departeth from evill: but a foole rageth, and is careless.

17. Hee that is hastic to anger, commit-teth folly, and a bulle bodie is hated.

18. The foolish doe inherite folly: but the prudent are crowned with knowledge.

19. The euill shall bow before the good,
the wicked at the gates of the righteous.

20. The poore is hated euen of his owne neighbour: but the friendes of the rich are many.

21. The sinner despiseth his neighbour:
but hee that hath mercie vpon the poore, is blessed.

22. Doe not they erre that imagine euill:
but to them that thinke on good things, shall be mercie and truth.

23. In all labour there is abundance: but

24. The crowne of the wise is their riches, not dayly to passe, we must consider that it is heaped

the fall of foales is foolishnesse.

15 A foolish mans foolishnesse deliverech soules: but wisdom keepeth them alive.

16 In the feare of the Lord is an assured strength, and his children shall have hope.

17 The feare of the Lord is as a wellspring of life, to increase the thaire of death.

18 In the multitude of the people is the honour of a king, and for the want of people is the destruction of the prince.

19 Wisdom is slowe to wrath, is of great patience: but he that is of an haughty minde, exalteth himself.

20 A sound heart is the life of the flesh: but the enuie is the rotting of the bones.

21 He that appealeth the poore, reprooveth him that made him: but he honoureth himselfe that hath mercy on the poore.

22 The wicked shall he call away for his malice: but the righteous hath hope in his death.

23 Knowledge refecth in the heart of him that hath understanding, and is knowne in the mids of foolcs.

24 Justice exalteth a nation, but sinne is a shame to the people.

25 The pleasure of a king is in a wise servant: but his wrath shalbe toward him that is lewde.

CHAP. XV.

A soft answer is putted away wrath: but grievous words stirre up anger.

2 The tongue of the wise hath knowledge aright: but the mouth of foolcs<sup>a</sup> bringeth out foolishnesse.

3 The eyes of the Lord in every place: he beheld the euill and the good.

4 A foolish mans tongue is as a free of life: but the firmament thereof is the breaking of the minde.

5 A fool despiseth his fathers instruction: but he that regardeth correction, is prudent.

6 The house of the righteous hath much treasure: but in the treasuries of the wicked is trouble.

7 The lips of the wise doe spread abroad knowledge: but the heart of the foolish doeth not so.

8 The sacrifice of the wicked is abomination to the Lord: but the prayer of the righteous is acceptable unto him.

9 The way of the wicked is an abomination unto the Lord: but he loveth him that followeth righteausnesse.

10 Instruction is euill to him that forsaketh the way, and he that hateth correction, shall die.

11 Hell and destruction are before the Lord: how much more the heartes of the sinners of men.

12 A fooler loveth not him that rebuketh him: neither will he goe vnto the wise.

13 A lowly heart maketh a cheerefull countenance: but by the sorrow of the heart the minde is heauie.

14 The heart of him that hath understanding, seeketh knowledge: but the mouth of the foolcs is full with foolishnesse.

15 All the dayes of the afflicted are euill: but a good conscience is a continual feast.

16 Better is a little in the feare of the Lord,

then great treasure and trouble therewith.

17 Better is a dinner of greens, where thou art, then a stalled ox, and barred therewith.

18 An angry man stirred by strife: but he that is slow to wrath, appeaseth strife.

19 The way of a foolish man is as an hedge of thornes: but the way of the righteous is plaine.

20 A wife leueth reioyceth the father: but a foolish man hateth his mother.

21 Foolishnesse is toy to him that is destitute of understanding: but a man of understanding walketh uprightly.

22 Without counsell thoughts come to naught: but in the multitude of counsellers there is soundnesse.

23 A lip cometh to a man by the answer of his mouth: and his mouth is a word in due season.

24 The way of life is an high to the prudent, to auoid him from hell denard.

25 The Lord will destroy the house of the proude men: but he will establish the borders of the widows.

26 The thoughts of the wicked are abomination to the Lord: but the pure have pleasant words.

27 He that is greedy of gaine, troubleth his owne house: but he that hateth gifts shall live.

28 The heart of the righteous studieth to answer: but the wicked mans mouth babbleth euill things.

29 The Lord is farre off from the wicked: but he heareth the prayer of the righteous.

30 The light of the eyes reioyceth the heart, as a good name maketh the bones fat.

31 The eare that hearkeneth to the correction of life, shall lodge among the wise.

32 He that refuseth instruction, despiseth his owne soule: but he that obeyeth correction, getteth understanding.

33 The feare of the Lord is the instruction of wisdom: and before honour goeth humilitie.

CHAP. XVI.

The preparations of the heart are in man: but the answer of the tongue is of the Lord.

2 As the waves of a man are cleane in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondreth spirits.

3 Commit thy waikes vnto the Lord, and thy thoughtes shalbe directed.

4 The Lord hath made al things for his owne sake: yea, euen the wicked for the day of euill.

5 All that are proude in heart, are an abomination to the Lord: though a hand ioyned in hand, he shall not be unpunished.

6 By a mercie and truth iniquitie shall be forgien, and by the feare of the Lord they depart from euill.

7 When the waves of a man please the Lord, he will make allo his enemies at peace with him.

then great reuenges without equitie.
9 The heart of man purpoiseth his way: but the Lord vnderstandeth his steps.

10 A iust sentence shall be in the lips of the king: his mouth shall not transgresse in iudgement.

11 A true weight and balance are of the Lord: all the weights of the bagges are his worke.

12 It is an abomination to kings to commit wickednesse: for the throne is established by iustice.

13 Righteous lippes are the delight of kings, and the king longeth him that speaketh right things.

14 The wrath of a king is as messengers of death: but a wise man will pacifie it.

15 In the sight of the kings countenance is life: and his fauour is as a cloud of the latter raine.

16 How much better is it to get wisdom, then gold? and to get vnderstanding, is more to be desired, then silver.

17 The path of the righteous is to decline from euill, and hee keepeth his soule that keepeth his way.

18 Pride goeth before destruction, and an high minde before the fall.

19 Better it is to be of humble mind with the lowly, then to diuide the spoiles with the proud.

20 Hee that is wise in his businesse, shall finde good: and hee that trafficketh in the Lord, he is blessed.

21 The wise in heart shall bee called prudent: and the sweetnesse of the lips shall increase doctrine.

22 vnderstanding is a wellspring of life vnto them that haue it: and the instruction of foolles is folly.

23 The heart of the wise guideth his mouth wisely, & addeth doctrine to his lips.

24 Faire wordes are as an hony combe, sweetnesse to the soule, & health to the bones.

25 There is a way that seemeth right vnto man: but the issue thereof are the wayes of death.

26 The person that trauaileth, trauaileth for himselfe: for his mouth: & craueth it of him.

27 A wicked man diggeth vp euill, and in his lips is like a burning fire.

28 A froward person soweth strife: and a talebearer maketh diuision among princes.

29 A wicked man deceiveth his neighbour, and leadeth him into the way that is not good.

30 Hee shutteth his eyes to deuile wickednesse: hee moueth his lips, and bringeth euill to passe.

31 Age is a crowne of glorie, when it is found in the way of righteousness.

32 Hee that is slow vnto anger, is better then the mightie man: and hee that ruleth his owne minde, is better then hee that winneth a citie.

33 The lot is cast into the lappe: but the whole disposition thereof is of the Lord.

Better for a vile morsell, if peace be kept, then an house full of riches, if peace be not kept.

2 A discreet seruant shall haue one more a leaue home, and hee shall diuide the heritage among the brethren.

3 As is the fitting pot for silver, and the furnace for gold, so the Lord trieth the heart.

4 The wicked giueth heed to false lips, and a lyar hearkeneth to the halaghe tongue.

5 He that mocketh the poore, reproacheth him that made him: and he that reioiceth in destruction, shall not be unpunished.

6 Childrens children are the crowne of the Elders: and the glorie of the children is their fathers.

7 A vaine talke becommeth not a thing much lesse a lying talke a prince.

8 A reward is as a stone pleasant in the eyes of them that haue it: it prospereth, whither hee will it: earnestly.

9 Hee that couereth a transgression, seeketh loue: but he that repeateth a matter, separateth the prince.

10 A reproche entred more into him that hath vnderstanding, then an hundred strokes into a foole.

11 A scitious person seeketh onely euill, and a cruell messenger: shall be sent against him.

12 It is better for a man to inuete a beare robbed of her whelpes, then a foole to be folly.

13 Hee that rewardeth euill for good, euill shall not depart from his house.

14 The beginning of strife is one that openeth the waters: therefore yet the contention be medled with, leaue off.

15 He that iustifieth the wicked, and he that condemneth the iust, euen they both are abomination to the Lord.

16 Therefore is there as price in the hand of the foole to get wisdom, and hee hath none heart.

17 A friend longeth at all times: and a brother is borne for aduersitie.

18 A man destitute of vnderstanding: toucheth the hands, and becommeth curst for his neighbour.

19 Hee longeth transgression that loueth strife: and he that exalteth his gate, shall be destroyed.

20 Hee that keepeth his heart, shall finde no good: and he that hath a naughtie tongue shall fall into euill.

21 Hee that begetteth a foole, getteth himselfe sorrow, and the father of a foole can haue no joy.

22 A ioyfull heart causeth good beauty: but a sorrowfull mind dierth the bones.

23 A wicked man taketh a gift out of the bolome to weert the wayes of iudgement.

24 vnderstanding is in the face of him that hath vnderstanding: but the eyes of a foole are in the corners of the world.

25 A foolish soune is a grieue vnto his father, and a heauinesse to her that bare him.

26 Surely it is not good to condemne the iust, nor that the princes should smite for equitie.

17 He that hath knowledge, spareth his tongue, and a man of understanding is of an excellent spirit.
18 Every a fooler (when hee holdeth his peace) is counted wise, and he that stoppeth his lips, is prudent.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The desire thereof he will separate himselfe to seeke it, and occupie himselfe in all his soules.

2 A fooler hath no delight in understanding, but that his heart may be discovered. When the wicked commeth, then cometh contempt, and with the vile man reproch.

3 The wordes of a mans mouth are like deepe waters, and the wellspring of wisdom is like a flowing riuier.

4 It is not good to accept the person of the wicked, to cause the righteous to fall in iudgement.

5 A foolers lips come with strife, and his mouth called for stripes.

6 A foolers mouth is his owne destruction, and his lips are a snare for his soule.

7 The wordes of a talebearer are as flattering, and they goe downe into the bowels of the belly.

8 Wee also that is slothfull in his worke, is euen the brother of him that is a great wailer.

9 The Name of the Lord is a strong tower: the righteous runneth vnto it, and is exalted.

10 The rich mans riches are his strong citie: and as an high wall in his imagination.

11 Before destruction the heart of a man is haughty, and before gloie goeth lowly.

12 Hee that answereth a matter before hee heare it, is folly and shame vnto him.

13 The spirit of a man will sustaine his induritie: but a wounded spirit, who can heare it?

14 A wise heart getteth knowledge, and the rare of the wise seeketh learning.

15 A mans gift enlargeth him, and lea- deth him before great men.

16 Hee that is first in his owne cause, is lost: then commeth his neighbour, and maketh iniquitie of him.

17 The lord causeth contentions to cease, and maketh a partition among the mighty.

18 A brother offended is harder to winne, then a strong citie, and their contentions are like the barre of a palace.

19 With the fruit of a mans mouth shall his belly be satisfied, and with the increase of his lips shall he be filled.

20 Death and life are in the power of the tongue, and they that loue it, shall eate the fruit thereof.

21 He that findeth a wife, findeth a good thing, and receiveth fauour of the Lord.

22 The poore speaketh with prayers: but the rich and wealthy scorneth.

23 A man that hath friends, ought to shew himselfe friendly: for a friend is neede to a brother.

24 A man of much anger shall suffer punishment: and though thou deliver him, yet will his anger come againe.

25 Heare counsel, and receiue instruction, that thou mayest be wise in thy latter end.

26 Many troubles are in a mans heart, but the counsell of the Lord shall stand.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The poore that walketh in his righteousness, then he that adultereth his lips, and is a fooler.

2 For without knowledge the minde is not good, and he that talketh with his teere, sinneth.

3 The foolishness of a man peruertereth his way, and his heart secretly against the Lord.

4 Riches gather many friends: but the poore is separated from his neighbour.

5 A false witnesse shall not bee unpunished: and he that speaketh lies, shall not escape.

6 Many reuerence the face of the prince, and every man is friend to him that giveth gifts.

7 All the brethren of the poore doe hate him: how much more will his friends depart farre from him: though hee be instant with wordes, yet they will not.

8 He that possesseth understanding, shall loue his owne soule, and keepeth his doo- ring to find goodnesse.

9 A false witnesse shall not bee unpunished: and he that speaketh lies, shall perish.

10 Pleasure is not comely for a fooler, much lesse for a seruant to haue rule ouer princes.

11 The discretion of a man deferreth his anger: and his gloie is to passe by an offence.

12 The kings wrath is like the roaring of a lion: but his fauour is like the dew vpon the graske.

13 A foolish sonne is the calamitie of his father, and the contentions of a wife are like a continuall mopping.

14 House and riches are the inheritance of the fathers: but a prudent wife cometh of the Lord.

15 Slothfulnessse causeth to fall asleepe, and a deceitfull person shall be assuimed.

16 He that keepeth the commandment, keepeth his owne soule: but he that despiseth his wayes, shall die.

17 Hee that hath mercy vpon the poore, lendeth vnto the Lord: and the Lord will recompense him that which he hath giuen.

18 Chasten thy sonne while there is hope, and let not thy soule spare for his murmuring.

19 A man of much anger shall suffer punishment: and though thou deliver him, yet will his anger come againe.

20 Heare counsel, and receiue instruction, that thou mayest be wise in thy latter end.

 12. Hee that loveth pureness of heart for the grace of his lips, a king shall be his friend.
 13. The eyes of the Lord preferre knowledge: but he overthreweth the words of the transgressor.
 14. The slothfull man sayeth, I am lion without, I shall be slaine in the streete.
 15. The mouth of strange women is as a deepe pit: he with whom the Lord is angry shall fall therein.
 16. Foolishnes is bound in the heart of a child: but the rod of correction shall drive it away from him.
 17. Hee that oppresseth the poore to increase himselfe, and giveth unto the rich, shall surely come to povercie.
 18. Incline thine heart, and heare the wisdom of the wise, and applie thine heart unto my knowledge.
 19. For it shall be pleasant, if thou keepe them in thy belly, and if they be directed together in thy lips.
 20. That the conscience may be in the Lord, I have shewed thee this day: thou therefore take heede.
 21. Have not I writen unto thee three times in counsels and knowledge.
 22. That I might shew thee the assurance of the words of trueth to answer the words of trueth to them that send to thee.
 23. Robbe not the poore, because hee is poore: neither oppress the afflicted in judgement.
 24. For the Lord will defend their cause, and spoile the soule of those that spoile them.
 25. Make no friendship with an angry man, neither goe with the furious man.
 26. Least thou learne his wayes, and receive destruction to thy soule.
 27. Bee not thou of them that touch the hand, nor among them that are suretie for debts.
 28. If thou hast nothing to pay, why earnest thou that he should take thy bed from under thee?
 29. Thou shalt not remove the ancient bounde which thy fathers have made.
 30. Thou seest that a diligent man in his businesse standeth before kings, and standeth not before the baile fort.

d Bring him up veruouly, and he shall continue.
 e His authority whereby he did oppress others, shall be taken from him.
 f He that is mercifull and liberal.
 g He sheweth that prices should use their familiarity, whose conscience is good, and their talke wife and godly.
 h Favour them that love knowledge.
 i Hee decideth them that invent vaine causes, because they would not doe their dutie.
 k So God punisheth one sinner by another, when he suffereth the wicked to fall into the acquaintance of an harlot.
 l He is naturally given unto it.
 m He ite weeth what the ende of wisdom is: to wit, to direct vs to the Lord.

for it is a deceitfull meate.
3 A man shall not be rich by the cease from thy labour.
4 Still thou canst thine eyes upon it, which is nothing? Riches taken her so hee wings
as an eagle, and flyeth into the heauen.
5 Eate thou not the bread of him that hath an euill eye, neither desire his dainty meates.
6 For as though hee thought it in his heart, so will he say vnto thee, Eate, and drinke; but his heart is not with thee.
7 When shalt thou epe? moles that thou hast eaten, and thou shalt lose thy sweet
words.
8 Speake not in the eares of a foole; for
he will despise the wisdom of thy words.
9 Knowour not the ancient boundes, and enter not into the fildes of the fatherlesse.
10 For hee that rebueth them, is mighty; hee will defend their cause against
thee.
11 Apply thine heart to instruction, and thine eares to the words of knowledge.
12 * Withhold not correction from the childe; if thou smite him with the rod, hee shall not die.
13 Thou shalt smite him with the rod,
and shalt deliuer his soule from hell.
14 If thou epe, if thine heart be wise, mine heart shall reioyce, and I also.
15 And my reines shall reioyce, when thy lips speake righteous things.
16 Let not thine heart be enuious against sinners; but let it be in the feare of the Lord
continually.
17 For liuely there is an ende, and thy hope shall not be cut off.
18 Thou my sonne, heare and be wise,
and guide thine heart in the way.
19 Keepe not company with drunkards,
nor with gluttons.
20 For the drunkard and the glutton shall be poore, and the sleeper shall be clothed with ragges.
21 Obey thy father that hath begotten thee, and desist not thy mother when shee
is olde.
22 Buy the truth but sell it not; like-

standing.
23 The father of the righteous shall greatly reioyce, and hee that begetteth a wiſe child, shall haue top of him.
24 Obey thy father and thy mother shall bee glad, and hee that disoey the, shall reioyce.
25 If thou epe, mine eye shall reioyce, and let thine eyes delight in my wayes.
26 For a whore is as a deepe ditch, and a strange woman is as a narrow pit.
27 Also she lieth in wait as for a pray, and she increaseth the transgressors among
men.

28 To whom is inuoe? to whom is swee? to whom is strife? to whom is mourning? to whom are woundes without cause? and to whom is the subtiltie of the eyes?
29 When to them that taste long at the wine to them that go, and leake out wine.
30 Look not thou upon the wine, when it is red; and when it sheweth his colour in the cup, or goeth downe pleasantly.
31 In the ende thereof it will bite like a serpent, and hurt like a cockatrice.
32 Thine eyes shall looke vpon strange women, and thine heart shall speake
things.
33 And thou shalt be as one that sleeper in the midst of the sea, and as hee that sleepeth in the top of the mast.
34 They haue stricken mee, shalt thou say,
but I was not sick; they haue beaten mee, but I knew not, when I strooke; therefore will I seeke it yet still.

CHAP. XXIII.

Be not thou enuious against euill men,
Neither desire to be with them.
2 For their heart imagineth destruction,
and their lips speake mischief.
3 Though wisdom be an house builded,
and with understanding it is established.
4 And by knowledge shall the chambers bee filled with all precious and pleasant riches.
5 A wise man is strong; for a man of understanding increaseth his strength.
6 For with counsell thou shalt enterpise thy warre, and in the multitude of men that can giue counsell, is strength.
7 Wisdom is bie to a foole; therefore hee cannot open his mouth in the gate.
8 He that imagineth to be euill, men shall call him an author of wickednesse.
9 The wicked thought of a foole is sinne,
and the seuerer is an adomation vpon
men.
10 If thou bee saint in the day of aduersities, thy strength is small.
11 Deliuer them that are drawen to death; and with thou not preferre them that are led to be slaine?
12 If thou say, Behold, we knowe not of it; he that pondereth the heaues, doeth hee understand it; and hee that keepeth the soules, knoweth hee it not; will not hee also recompense euery man according to his works?
13 If thou eate honey, for it is good,
and the honye combe, for it is sweete vnto
the mouth:
14 So shall the knowledge of wisdom
be vnto thy soule, if thou finde it; and there shall be an ende, and thine hope shall not be cut off.
15 Lay no waite, O wicked man, against the house of the righteous, and spoile not his resting place.
16 For a iust man falleth seuer times,
and riseth againe; but the wicked fall into mischief.
17 Be thou not glad when thine enemy
fallith,

and let not thine heart reioyce when thou shalt see it, and it displease thee, and hearme his words from him.

10 For not thy selfe because of the malicious, neither be envious at the wicked.

11 For there shall be none ende of plagues to the enill man: the light of the wicked shall be put out.

12 The same feare the Lord, & the king,
is meane not with them that are tedious.

13 For their destruction shall rise suddenly, and who knoweth the ruine of them shall see it.

14 ALSO THESE THINGS
PERTAINE TO THE WISE.

15 It is not good: to haue respect of any person in iudgement.

16 Hee that layeth to the wicked, & thou art righteous, him shall the people curse, and the multitude shall abhorre him.

17 But to them that rebuke him, shall bee pleasure, and upon them shall come the blessing of gracefull.

18 They shall kisse the lips of him that speaketh righte words.

19 Prepare thy worke without, & make ready the things in the field, & after,
build thine house.

20 Be not a witness against thy neighbour without cause: for wile thou deceiue with thy lips.

21 Say not, I will doe to him, as hee hath done to me, I will recompense every man according to his worke.

22 I passed by the field of the slouthfull, and by the vineyard of the man destitute of vnderstanding.

23 And loe, it was all growen ouer with thornes, and nettles had covered the face thereof, and the stone wall thereof was become downe.

24 When I behelde, and I considered it well: I looked vpon it, and I receiued instruction.

25 Ye a little sleepe, a little slumber, a little folding of the handes to sleepe:

26 So thy pouertie cometh as one that canneth by the way, and thy needfull like an armed man.

27 CHAP. XXV.
THESE ARE ALSO PARABLES
of Solomon, which the men of Ierusalem
king of Iudah copied out.

28 The gloire of God is to conceale a thing secret: but the Kings honour
is to search out a thing.

29 The heauens in height, and the earth
in breadth, and the Kings heart can no man search out.

30 Take the byssle from the fluer, and there shall proceede a vessell for the finer.

31 Take away the wicked from the king, and his throne shall be established in righte-ousnesse.

32 Boast not thy selfe before the king, and stand not in the place of great men.

33 For it is better that thou be said vnto thee, Come vp hither, then thou to bee put lower in the presence of the prince, whome thine eyes haue seene.

34 Doe not mouth hastily to the king, least thou knowe not what to doe in the ende therof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to shame.

35 Debate thy matter with thy neighbour, and discouer not the secret to another.

36 Least hee that heareth it, put thee to shame, and thine infamie doe not cease.

37 A word spoken in his place, is like apples of gold with pictures of silver.

38 Hee that reponeth the wile, and the obedient eare, is as a golden earring and an ornament of fine gold.

39 As the cold of the snow in the time of haruest, so is a faithfull messenger to them that send him: for hee refresheth the soule of his masters.

40 A man that boasteth of false liberali-
tie, is like clouds and wind without raine.

41 A prince is pacified by staying of anger, and a soft tongue breaketh the bones.

42 If thou hast found homie, eate that: it is sufficient for thee, least thou bee ouer full,
and vomite it.

43 Withdraw thy foote from thy neighbours house, least hee be wearie of thee, and hate thee.

44 A man that heareth false witness against his neighbour, is like an hammer and a sword, and a sharpe arrow.

45 Confidence in an vnfaithfull man in time of trouble, is like a broken tooth and a sliding foote.

46 Hee that taketh away the garment in the colde season, is like hunger pained vpon
a man, or like him that singeth songs to an heauie heart.

47 If hee that hateth thee bee hungrie,
giue him bread to eate, and if he be thirsty,
giue him water to drinke.

48 For thou shalt lay coales vpon his head, and the Lord shall recompense thee.

49 As the southwinde diueth away the raine, so doeth an angrie countenance the slandering tongue.

50 It is better to dwell in a corner of the house top, then with a contentious woman in a wide house.

51 As we the colde waters to a wearie
soule, so is good newes from a farre countrie.

52 A righteous man falling downe before the wicked, is like a troubled well, and a corrupt spring.

53 It is not good to eate much homie: lo
Eccles. 3. 22.

54 To search their owne gloire is not gloire.

55 A man that refraineth not his appetite, is like a citie which is broken downe, and without walles.

56 CHAP. XXVI.
As the snow in the summer, and as the raie in the haruest, so is he that is honoured vnfairly for a foole.

57 As the sparrow by flying, and the swallow by flying escape, so the curse that is cast-

3 Unto the house belongeth a whip, to the life a bridle, and a rodde to the fooles
backe.

4 Answer not a foole: according to his foolishnesse, lest thou also be like him.

5 Answer a foole: according to his foo-lishnesse, lest hee be wile in his owne & con-
ceite.

6 He that sendeth a message by the hand of a foole, is as he that cutteth off the feete,
and drinketh iniquitie.

7 As they that lift up the legs of the lame,
so is a parable in a fooles mouth.

8 As the closing up of a precious stone in an heape of stones, so is he that giveth glorie to a foole.

9 As a thorne standing: up in the hand of a drunkard, so is a parable in the mouth of fooles.

10 The excellent that formed al things, both rewardeth the foole and rewardeth the crafty.

11 As a dog turneth againe to his owne
vomite, so a foole turneth to his foolish-
nesse.

12 Seekest thou a man wile in his owne conceite: more hope is of a foole then of
him.

13 The slouthfull man saith, A lyon is in the way: a lyon is in the streetes.

14 As the dooie turneth upon his hinges,
so doeth the slouthfull man upon his bed.

15 The slouthfull hideth his hand in his bosome, and it grieveth him to put it againe to his mouth.

16 The sluggard is wiser in his owne conceite, then seven men that can render a reason.

17 Hee that passeth by and medleth with the strife that belongeth not unto him, is as one that taketh a dog by the eares.

18 As hee that smiteth himselfe man, casteth
firebrands, arrowes, & mortall things.

19 So dealeth the deceitfull man with his friend, and saith, Am not I in sport?

20 Without wood the fire is quenched,
and without a talebearer strife ceaseth.

21 As the cole maketh burning coles, and wood a fire, so the contentious man is apt to kindle strife.

22 The words of a talebearer are as flat-terings, and they goe downe into the bowels of the belly.

23 As silver drossie overlaid upon a porsheard, so are burning lips, and an euill
heart.

24 Hee that hateth, will counterfaite with his lips, but in his heart hee layeth up deceite.

25 Though hee speake fauourably, beleeue him not: for there are seven abominations
in his heart.

26 hatred may be covered by deceit: but the malice thereof shall bee discovered in the congregation.

27 He that diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, and he that rolleth a stone, it shall returne vnto him.

28 A false tongue hateth the afflicted, and a flattering mouth causeth ruin.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Dost not thy life of co? morrow: for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth.

2 Let another man praise thee, and not thine owne mouth: a stranger, and not thine owne lips.

3 A stone is heauie, and the sand weigh-tie: but a fooles wrath is heauier then them both.

4 Anger is cruel, and wrath is raging:
but who can stand before it? enuie?

5 Open rebuke is better then secret rebuke: and the kisses of an enemy are pleasant.

6 The person that is full, despiseth his home combe: but vnto the hungrye soule
euery bitter thing is sweete.

7 As a birdie that wandereth from her nest, so is a man that wandereth from his owne place.

8 As oymntment and perfumes reioyce the heart, so doeth the sweetness of a mans friend
by heartie counsell.

9 Thine owne friend and thy fathers friend forsake thee not: neither enter into thy brothers house in the day of thy calamitie: for better is a neighbour that is nigh, then a brother farre off.

10 Be wise, bee wile, and reioyce mine heart, that I may answer him that respecteth me.

11 A prudent man seeth the plague, and hideth himselfe: but the foolish goe on till they are punished.

12 Take his garment that is suretie for a stranger, and a pledge of him for his stranger.

13 Hee that prayeth his friend with a lowde voyce, rising early in the morning, is shall be counted to him as a curse.

14 A continuall weeping in the day of raime, and a contentious woman are alike.

15 Hee that hideth her, hideth the wind, and see is as the oyle in his right hand, that uttereth it selfe.

16 Iron sharpeneth yron, so doeth a man
sharpen the face of his friend.

17 He that keepeth the figge tree, shall eat
the fruite thereof: so hee that waitech upon his makes, shall come to honour.

18 As in water face answereth to face, so
the heart of man to man.

19 The graue and destruction can neuer be full, so the eyes of man can neuer be satiated.

20 As is the lining pot for silver, and the furnace for gold, so is every man according to his dignitie.

21 Though thou shouldst buy a foole in a market among wheate buyed with a pe-stell: yet will not his foolishnesse depart from
him.

22 Be diligent to knowe the state of thy flocks, and take heed to the heards.

23 For riches remaine not alway, nor the crown from generation to generation.

24 The day discovereth it selfe, and the grasse appeareth, and the herbes of the mountaines are gathered.

CHAP. XXVIII.

The wicked * Hee when none pursueth : but the righteous are bold as a lion.

2 For the transgression of the land * there are many princes thereof : but by a man of understanding and knowledge, are all like-wise endured long.

3 A poore man, if he oppresse the poore, is like a raging raine, that leaueh no food.

4 They that forsake the Lawe, praise the wicked : but they that keep the Lawe, set themselves against them.

5 Wicked men understand not iudgement : but they that feare the Lord, understand all things.

6 Better is the poore that walketh in his uprightness, then he that peruerterh his wayes, though he be rich.

7 He that keepeth the Lawe, is a childe of understanding : but he that feedeth the gluttons, sheweth his father.

8 He that increaseth his riches by blishe and interest, gathereth them for him that will be mercifull unto the poore.

9 Hee that turneth away his eare from hearing the Lawe, euen his prayer shall bee * abominable.

10 Hee that causeth the righteous to goe astray by an euill way, shall fall into his own pit, and the byrighe shall inherite good things.

11 The rich man is wise in his owne conceit : but the poore that hath understanding, can try him.

12 * When righteous men reioyce, there is great glory : but when the wicked come vp, the man * is tried.

13 He that hideth his sinnes, shal not prosper : but hee that confesseth, and forsaketh them, shall haue mercy.

14 Blessed is the man that feareth alway : but hee that hardeneth his heart, shall fall into euill.

15 As a roaring lion, and an hungrie beare, so is * a wicked ruler ouer the poore people.

16 A prince destitute of vnderstanding, is also a great oppressor : but hee that hath courteousnesse, shall prolong his dayes.

Ecclesiastes, or the Preacher.

THE ARGUMENT.

Salomon, as a Preacher and one that desired to instruct all in the way of salvation, describeth the detestable vanities of this world, that man should not be addicted to any thing under the Sunne, but rather inflamed with the desire of the heavenly life: therefore hee confuteth their opinions, which they doe hold either in knowledge, or in pleasures, or in dignity and riches, shewing that means their felicity consisteth in that that hee is united with God, and shall enjoy his presence: so that all other things are but berried fucus, as much as they further vs to attaine to this heavenly treasure, which is sure and unchangeable, and cannot be found in any fane in God alone.

CHAP. I.

h He prooveth that if any could have attained to felicitie in this world by labours and fluvie, hee chiefly should have obtained it, because he had gifts and aydes of God thereunto above all other.

i Man of nature hath a desire to know, and yet is notable to come to the perfection of knowledge, which is the punishment of sin, to humble man, and to teach him to depend onely upon God.

k Man is not able by all his diligence to cause things to goe otherwise then they doe: neither can hee number the fautes that are committed, much lesse remedy them. I That is, vaine things, which served unto pleasure, wherein was no commoditie, but griefe and trouble of conscience. m Widsome and knowledge cannot be come by without great paine of body & minde: for when a man hath attained to the highest, yet is his mind never fully content: therefore in this world is no true felicitie.

say, Behold this, it is now: It hath bene already in the old time, that was before us.

11 There is no newtie of the former: neither shall there bee a continuance of the latter that shall, with them that shall come after.

12 ¶ I the Paracher have bene king over Israel in Jerusalem:

13 And I have given mine heart to search and find out widsome by all things that are done under the heaven: (this saye I have had God given to the sonnes of men, & to humble them thereby)

14 I have considered all the works that are done under the sunne: and behold, all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

15 That which is crooked, can none make straight: and that which faileth can not be mended.

16 I thought in mine heart, and said, Behold, I am become great, and excell in widsome all them that have bene before mee in Jerusalem: and mine heart hath seene much widsome and knowledge.

17 And I gave mine heart to know widsome and knowledge, madnesse and foolishnesse: I knew also that this is a vexation of the spirit.

18 For in the multitude of widsome is much griefe: and he that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorow.

a Salomon maketh this discourse with himselfe, as though he would trie whether there were contentation in ease and pleasures.

¶ Ebr. draw my flesh to mine.

b Albeit I gave, my selfe to pleasures, yet I thought to keepe widsome and the feare of God in mine heart, and governe mine affairs by the same.

¶ Ebr. paradises.

c Meaning, of the servants or slaves, which he had bought: so the children borne in their servitude, were the masters.

CHAP. II.
Pleasures, sumptuous buildings, riches and possessions are but vanity. 14 The wife & the foole have both one end, touching the bodily death.

I said in mine heart, Doe to now, I will prove: they with joy: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and behold, this also is vanitie.

2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of joy, What is this that thou doest?

3 I sought in mine heart & to give my selfe to wine, and to leade mine heart in widsome, and to take hold of follie, till I might see where is that goodnesse of the children of men, which they enjoy under the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of their life.

4 I have made my great works: I have built mee boules: I have planted mee vineyards.

5 I have made me gardens & orchards, and planted in them trees of all fruit.

6 I have made me cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that grow with trees.

7 I have gotten servants and maidens, and had children borne in the house: also I had great possession of beeces and sheepe above all that were before mee in Jerusalem.

8 I have gathered unto me also silver and golde, and the chief treasures of kings and kingdoms: I have purchased me maidens and women servants, and the light of the lanterns of men: so I have taken captives, and women, taken captives.

9 And I was great, and increased above all that were before mee in Jerusalem: also my widsome remained with me.

10 And what benefit mine eyes desired, I withheld it from them: I withheld mine heart from any joy: for mine heart was loryed in all my labour: and this was my portion of all my travail.

11 Then I looked on all my works that mine hands had wrought, and on the travail that I had laboured to doe: and behold, all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit: and there is no profit under the sunne.

12 ¶ And I turned to behold widsome, and madnesse and folly: (for who is the man that will come after the King in things, which men now have done?)

13 When I sawe that there is nothing widsome, more then in follie: as the hee is more excellent then madnesse.

14 For in the wise mans eyes are in the head, but the foole walketh in darkness: yet I knowe also that the same is common faultery to them all.

15 When I thought in mine heart, It shall unto mee, as it befaller to the foole: why therefore doe I then labour to become wise? And I said in mine heart, that this also is vanitie.

16 For there shall be no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole: for ever: for that that now is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten. And how dieth the wise man, as doeth the foole?

17 Therefore I hated life: for the wages that is wrought under the sunne is grievous unto me: for all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

18 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had travailed under the sunne, which I shall leave to the man that shall bee after me.

19 And who knoweth whether hee shall bee wise or foolish? yet shall he have rule over all my labour, wherein I have travailed, and wherein I have sweved my selfe under the sunne. This is also vanitie.

20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart above all the labour, wherein I had travailed under the sunne.

21 For there is a man whose travail is in widsome, and in knowledge, and in insight: yet to a man that hath not travailed therein, shall he give his portion: this also is vanitie and a great griefe.

22 For what hath man of all his travail and griefe of his heart, wherein he hath travailed under the sunne?

23 For all his dayes are sorowes, and he ken no paine therein, and whom he knoweth wife man, or a foole.

10. And he that is a man, that is good, that is
 11. right, God utterly reioynde, and knowlege
 12. maketh; but to the sinner hee giueth paine
 13. and sorrow, and to heape to giue to him that is
 14. good before God: this is also vannie, and
 15. wasteth of the thirt.

18. I considered in mine heart the Gatt of the children of men that God had purged them yet to see to, they are in their times as beasts.

19. For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beasts are even in one condition unto them. As the one dies, so die the other: for they have all one breath, and there is no difference of man above the beast: for all are vanity.

20. All go to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shall return to the dust.

21 Who knoweth whether the spirit of man ascends upward; and the spirit of the beast descend downward to the earth?

22 Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man should reioyce in his affaires, because that is his portion.

faith was easily known the difference, as verse 27. Reason cannot comprehend that which faith believes, the often repetition of this sentence, in Chap. 3. 24. 5. 17. and 35. here declareth that man by reason nothing better in this life, then to use the gifts of comfortably: for to know further is a special gift of his Scripture.

c. He speaketh of voves, which are approved by Gods word, and serue to his glory.

d. Cautle not thy selfe to sinne by vowing rashly: as they doe which make a vowe to liue unmarried, and such like. e. That is, before Gods messenger, when hee shall examine thy doing: as though thy ig- norance should be a iust excuse.

the works of thine hands.
6. For in the multitude of counsailes, there are also many toouers: but the counsell of God, shall prevaile.
7. If in a country thou feede the oxen of the poore, and the beekeeping of judgement and iustice, bee not afraid of the matter: for hee that is higher than they, regardeth, and there bee higher then they.
8. And the abundance of the earth is ouer all the king: also considered by the king that is filled.

9. He that longeth siluer, shall not be sat- isfied with siluer, and hee that longeth riches, shall be without the fruite thereof: this also is vanity.

10. When goods increase, they are in- creased that eat them: and what good cometh to the owners thereof, but the beloning thereof with their eyes.

11. The sleepe of him that travaileth, is sweete, whether hee eate little or much: but the facietie of the rich will not suffer him to sleepe.

12. There is an euill sicknesse that I haue seene vnder the sunne: to wit, riches, which leadeth to the stomes thereof, for they will.

13. And these riches perish by euill reuol- uing, and hee begetteth a sonne, and his hand is nothing.

14. As hee came forth of his mothers belly, hee shall retorne naked to goe as hee came, and shall beare away nothing of his labour, which hee hath laboured to gaine by his hands.

15. And this also is an euill sicknesse, that in all points as hee came, to shall hee goe, and what profit hath hee that hee hath travailed for the wind?

16. And all the dayes hee travaileth in dark- nesse with much griefe, and as hee hath laboured, and shall see nothing.

17. Before thou eate, I haue found griefe, that it is toine: to eate, and to drinke, and to take pleasure in all his laboure, wherein he travaileth vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

18. And hee eate, and hee drinke, and hee giueth riches and wealth, and giveth him power to eate thereof, and to eate his paine, and to eate his laboure: this is the gift of God.

19. Surely hee will not much remember the dayes of his life, because God an- swereth to the top of his heart.

20. Hee that eate, and hee drinke, and hee giueth riches and wealth, and giveth him power to eate thereof, and to eate his paine, and to eate his laboure: this is the gift of God.

21. The miserable state of him that is rich, and giueth riches, and not the grace to use them.

There is an euill, which I saw vnder the sunne, and it is much among men.

22. A man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures and honour, and hee wanteth nothing in his house of all that he desireth: but God giueth him power to eate thereof, but a hungry man shall eate it up: this is vanity, and this is an evil sickness.

10 A man beget an hundred children, and hath many yeeres, and the dayes of his yeres be multiplied, and his soule be not burred, but hath good things, and he be not buried, yet that an infinitely fruite is better than he.

11 For his cometh to vanitie, and cometh into darkenes: and his name shall be covered with darkenes.

12 Also he hath not seene the Sunne, nor knowen it: therefore this hath more rest then the other.

13 And if he had liued a thousand yeeres full of ioye, and had seene no good, shall not all goe to one place?

14 All the labour of man is for his mouth: yet the soule is not filled.

15 For what hath the wise man more then the fool? what hath the poore that knoweth how to walke before the liuing?

16 The light of the eye is better then to walke in the darknes: this also is vanitie, and berauon of spirit.

17 What is that that hath bene: the name thereof is now named: & it is knownen that it is man: and he cannot strue with him that is stronger then he.

18 All in the iudgement of men. To be content with God hath giuen, is better then to follow the desires of the flesh, he Meaning God, who will make him a mortall.

CHAP. VII.

Diuer precepts to follow that which is good, and to auoid the contrary.

1 Surely there be many things that increase vanitie: and what auailer it man?

2 For who knoweth what is good for man in the life and in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seeing he maketh them as a shadow? For who can shew unto man, what shall be after him under the Sunne?

3 A good name is better then a good ointment, and the day of death, then the day that one is doine.

4 It is better to go to the house of mourning, then to goe to the house of feasting, because this is the ende of all men: and the liuing shall lay it to his heart.

5 Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of foolles is in the house of mirth.

7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wise man, then that a man should heare the song of foolles.

8 For like the noyle of the thornes vnder the pet, so is the laughter of the foolle: this also is vanitie.

9 Surely oppression maketh a wise man madde: and the reward destroyeth the heart.

10 The end of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, and the patient in spirit cometh like a beast. He noreth their lightnes of heart, and suddenly leaue off againe.

is better then the proud in spirit.

11 Be not thou of an hottie spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bottom of foolles.

12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former dayes were better then these: for thou doest not enquire wisely of this thing.

13 Wise-dome is good with an inheritance, and excellent to them that see the Sunne.

14 For man shall rest in the shadow of wise-dome, and in the shadow of siluer: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wise-dome giveth life to the possessor thereof.

15 Beholde the worke of God: for who can make straight that which he hath made crooked?

16 In the day of wealth bee of good comfort, and in the day of affliction consider: God also hath made this contrary to that, to the intent that man should find nothing after him.

17 I haue seene all things in the dayes of my vanitie: there is a tust man that perisheth in his iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

18 Bee not thou tust ouermuch, neither make thy selfe ouer wise: wherefore shouldest thou be desolate?

19 Be not thou wicked ouermuch, neither bee thou foolish: wherefore shouldest thou perish not in thy time?

20 It is good that thou lay holde on this: but yet withdriue not thine hande from that: for hee that feareth God, shall come forth of them all.

21 Wise-dome shall strengthen the wise man more then ten mightie princes that are in the citie.

22 Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doeth good and smeth not.

23 Giue not thine heart also to all the wordes that men speake, lest thou doe heare thy seruant cursing thee.

24 For often times also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast cursed others.

25 All this haue I proued by wise-dome: I thought, I will be wise, but it went farre from me.

26 It is farre off, what may it be: and it is a profound deepenesse, who can finde it?

27 I haue compassed about, both I and mine heart to knowe and to enquire and to search wise-dome, and reason, and to knowe the wickednes of follie, and the foolishnes of madnesse.

28 And I finde more bitter then death, the woman whose heart is as nett & snares, and her hands, as bands: he that is good before God, shall be deliuered from her, but the sinner shall be taken by her.

29 Beholde, saith the preacher, this haue I found, seeking one by one to finde the count:

30 And yet my soule seeketh, but I find it not: I haue found one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not found.

g Murmure not against God when he sendeth aduersities for mans finnes.

h Heauenwerth to them that esteeme not wise-dome, except riches be ioyned therewith, shewing that both are the gifts of God, but that wise-dome is farre more excellent, and may be without riches.

Chap. i. 15. i Consider whether God doeth send it, and what may comfort thee.

k That man should be able to controll nothing in his workes.

l Meaning, that cruell tyrants put the godly to death, and let the wicked go free.

m Boast not too much of thine owne iustice and wise-dome.

n Tary not long when thou art admonished to come out of the way of wickednesse.

o To wit, on these admonitions that goe before.

p Consider what deuotion shall come, if thou doe not obey them.

1. King. 3. 46. 2. Chron. 6. 36. 3. John 2. 8.

q Credite them not, neither care for them.

r Or, spoken euill of others.

s Meaning, wise-dome.

t That is, to come to a conclusion.

e And so are cause of their
own destruction.

21 Only loe, this haue I found, that God hath made man righteous: but they haue sought many inventions.

CHAP. VIII.

1 To obey Princes and Magistrates. 17 The works of God passe mans knowledge.

Who is as the wise man? & who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? the wisdom of a man worthy make his face to shine: and the strength of his face shall be changed.

2 I advertise thee to take heede to the mouth of the king, and to the word of the orbe of God.

3 Waste not to goe forth of his sight:
stande not in an euill thing: for he will doe
whatsoeuer pleaseth him.

4 Where the worde of the king is, there is power, and who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?

5 Hee that keepeth the commandment,
shall knowe none euill thing, and the heart of the wise shall knowe the time and iudge-
ment.

6 For to euery purpose there is a time and iudgement, because the misery of man is great vpon him.

7 For hee knoweth not that which shall be: for who can tell him when it shall be?

8 Man is not lord & owner the spirit to retaine the spirit: neither hath he power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither shall wickednesse deliuer the possessours thereof.

9 All this haue I seene, and haue giuen mine heart to euery worke which is wrought vnder the Sunne, and I saw a time that man
ruleth ouer man to his owne hurt.

10 And likewise I sawe the wicked buried, and they returned, and they that came from the holy place, were yet forgotten in the citie where they had done right: this also is vanitie.

11 Because sentence against an euill work is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in them to doe euill.

12 Though a sinner doe euill an hundred times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I know that it shall be well with them that feare
the Lord, and doe reuerence before him.

13 But it shall not be well to the wicked, neither shall hee prolong his dayes: he shall be like a shadow, because hee feareth not before God.

14 There is a banitie which is done vpon
the earth, that there bee righteous men to whom it cometh according to the workes of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whom it cometh according to the workes of the iust: I thought also that this is banitie.

15 And I prayd for: for there is no
goodnesse to man vnder the Sunne, saue to eate and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is aduoynd to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the Sunne.

16 When I applied mine heart to know wisdom, and to beholde the business that is done on earth, that neither day nor night

the eyes of man take sleepe.

17 Then I behelde the whole kinde of God, that man cannot finde out the counsell that is wrought vnder the Sunne, for which man laboureth to seeke it, and cannot finde it: yea, and though the wise man think to knowe it, he cannot finde it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By an outward thing can man knowe his heart
loueth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his end.
16 Wisdom excelleth strength.

I haue surely giuen mine heart to all this,
and to declare at this, that the iust, and the wise, and their workes are in the hand of God: and no man knoweth either how long
he shall be, or what shall be after him.

2 All things come alike to all: and the same condition is to the iust and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the sinner, he that sweareth, as he that sweareth
an othe.

3 This is euill among all that is done
vnder the Sunne, that there is one condition to all, and also the heart of the sonnes of men is full of euill, and madnesse is in their hearts while they liue, and after that, they goe to the dead.

4 Surely whosoever is toynd to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a liuing dogge, then to a dead lion.

5 For the liuing know that they shall die,
but the dead knowe nothing at all: neither haue they any more a reward: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Also their love, and their hatred, and their enuie is now perished, and they haue
no more portion for euer, in all that is done
vnder the Sunne.

7 So, eate thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a cheerefull heart: for God
now accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garments be white,
and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head.

9 Reioyce with the wise whom thou hast bound all the dayes of the life of thy banitie, which God hath giuen thee vnder the Sunne all the dayes of thy banitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy travell wherewith thou labourst vnder the Sunne.

10 All that thine hand shall finde to doe, doe it with all thy power: for there is neither work nor iudgement, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the grave whither thou goest.

11 I returned, and I saw vnder the Sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battell to the strong, nor yet heeard to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding, neither yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and chance cometh to them all.

e Reioyce, be merry, and spare for no cost, thou himselfe into danger.

n Reade Chap.
3. 23.

12 For neither doth man know his time, nor as the fishes which are taken in an euill net, nor as the birds that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men taken in the euill time when it falleth vpon them suddenly.

13 I haue also seene this wisdomme vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto me:

14 A little citie and fewe men in it, and a great King came against it, and compassed it about, and builded forts against it.

15 And there was found therein a poore and wise man, and hee deliuered the citie by his wisdomme: but none remembered this poore man.

16 Then said I, Better is wisdomme then strength: yet the wisdomme of the poore is despised, and his wordes are not heard.

17 The wordes of the wise are more heard in quietnesse, then the crie of him that ruleth among foolles.

18 Better is wisdomme then weapons of warre: but one sinners destroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

1 The difference of foolishnesse and wisdomme.

2 A slanderer is like a serpent that cannot bee charmed. 3 Of foolish kings, and drunken princes.

4 God will cause to stinke, and putrifie the downpout of the Apothecarie: so doth a little folly him that is in estimation for wisdomme, and for glorie.

5 The heart of a wise man is at his right hand: but the heart of a foole is at his left hand.

6 And also when the foole goeth by the way, his heart faileth, and hee telleth vnto all that he is a foole.

7 If the spirit of him that ruleth, rise vpon against thee, leaue not the place: for gentleness pacifieth great sinnes.

8 There is an euill char I haue seene vnder the sunne, as an error that proceedeth from the face of him that ruleth.

9 Folly is set in great excellencie, and the rich sit in the low place.

10 I haue seene seruants on horses, & princes walking as seruants on the ground.

11 Like that diggeth a pit, shall fall into it, and hee that breaketh the hedge, a serpent shall bite him.

12 Hee that remoueth stones, shall hurt himselfe thereby, and hee that cutteth wood, shall bee in danger thereby.

13 If the yon be blunt, and one hath not whet the edge, hee must then put to more strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing is wisdomme.

14 If the serpent bite, when hee is not charmed: no better is a babler.

15 The wordes of the mouth of a wise man haue grace: but the lips of a foole deuoure himselfe.

16 The beginning of the wordes of his mouth is foolishnesse, and the latter ende of his mouth is wicked madnesse.

17 For the foole multiplieth wordes, say- ing, I knoweth not what shall bee: and who can tell him what shall bee after him?

18 The labour of the foolish doth weare him, for he knoweth not to go into the citie.

16 Goe to thee, O land, when thy king is a child, and thy princes eate in the mourning.

17 Blessed art thou, O land, when thy king is the sonne of nobles, and thy princes eate in time, for strength and not for drunkennesse.

18 By slothfulnes the roofe of the house goeth to decay: and by the toloues of the hands, the house droopeth thorow.

19 They prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the lining: but silver answereth to all.

20 Curse not the King, no not in thy thought, neither curse the rich in thy bed chamber: for the soule of the heauen shall carie the voice, and that which hath wings, shall declare the matter.

CHAP. XI.

1 To bee liberrall to the poore. 2 Not to doubt of Gods providence. 3 All worldly prosperitie is but vanitie. 4 God will iudge all.

5 Cast thy bread vpon the waters: for after many dayes thou shalt find it.

6 Giue a portion to seuen, and also to eight: for thou knowest not what euill shall be vpon the earth.

7 If the clouds be full, they will poure forth raine vpon the earth: and if the tree doe fall toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tree falleth, there it shall be.

8 He that obserueth the wind, shall not sow, and he that regardeth the clouds, shall not reape.

9 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones doe growe in the wombe of her that is with child: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

10 In the morning thou shalt see the seede, and in the evening let not thine hand rest: for thou knowest not whether thou shalt prosper, this or that, or whether both shall be alike good.

11 Surely the sight is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne.

12 Though a man liue many yeeres, and in them all he reioyce, yet he shall remember the dayes of a darkenesse, because they are many, all that cometh is vanitie.

13 Reioyce, O young man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth: and walke in the wayes of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but know that for all these things, God will bring thee to iudgement.

14 Therefore take away griefe out of thine heart, and cause euill to depart from thy flesh: for childhood and youth are vanitie.

God would not call them to an account. i To wit, anger, and carnallic meaning, carnall lutes, whereunto youth is giuen.

CHAP. XII.

1 To shew on God in youth, and not to deferre till age. 2 The soule returneth to God. 3 Wisdomme is the gift of God, and consisteth in fearing him and keeping his commandments.

b As the clouds that are full, poure out raine, so the rich that haue abundance must distribute it liberrally.

c He exhorteth to be liberrall, while hee liueth for after, there is no power.

d He that feareth incontinencie, when necessitie requireth, shall neuer doe his dutie.

e Be not wearie of well doing.

3. When the keepers of the house shall tremble, and the strong men shall bow themselves, and the grinders shall cease, because they are faine, and they were darke that look out by the windows:

4. And the doores shall be shut without by the baine sound of the grinding, and hee shall rise up at the hope of the bird: and all the daughters of singing shall be abated.

5. Also they shall bee afraide of the high thing, and feare shall be in the way, and the almond tree shall flourish, and the grasshopper shall be a burden, and concupiscence shall be driven away: for man goeth to the house of his age, and the mourners go about in the streets.

An excellent song which was Salomons.

THE ARGUMENT.

In this song Salomon by most sweete and comfortable allegories and parables describeth the perfect loue of Iesus Christ, the true Salomon and King of peace, and the faithfull soule, or his Church, which he hath sanctified and appointed to be his spouse, holy, chaste, and without reprehension. So that here is declared the singular loue of the bridegrome toward the bride, and his great and excellent blessing wherewith hee doth enrich her of his pure bountie and grace without any of her desertings. Also the earnest affection of the Church which is inflamed with the loue of Christ, desiring to bee more and more ioyned to him in loue, and not to be forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

1 If thou know not, O thou the fairest among women: get thee forth by the steps of the palace, and tread the kid by the tents of the shepherds.

2 I have compared thee, O my love, to the tower of bulwarks in the charcers of Babylon.

3 Thy cheeks are comely with rows of jewels, and thy necke with chaines.

4 Silver will make thee borders of golde with bands of silver.

5 Besides the king was at his repast, my spikenard gave the sweet thereof.

6 My welbelovd is as a bundle of myrrhe unto me: he shall lie betwixt my breasts.

7 My welbelovd is as a cluster of Camphire unto me in the vines of Engedi.

8 My love, behold, thou art faire: behold, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doves.

9 My welbelovd, behold, thou art faire and pleasant: as our bed is green:

10 The beams of our house are cedars, our rafters are of firre.

11 The faithful wherein Christ dwelleth by his spirit.

CHAP. II.

1 The Church desireth to rest under the shadow of Christ. 2 Shee beareth his voyce. 3 Shee is compared to the doves. 4 And the enemies to the flocke.

5 Am the rose of the field, and the lillie of the valley.

6 Like a lillie among the thornes, so is my love among the daughters.

7 Like the apple tree among the trees of the forest, so is my welbelovd among the hundred of men: under his shadow had I desire and sat downe: and his fruit was sweete unto my mouth.

8 Hee brought mee into the wine seller, and love was his banner over me.

9 Stay me with thy flagons, and comfort me with apples: for I am like of love.

10 His left hand is under mine head, and his right hand doth embrace me.

11 I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem, by the roses and by the bindes of the field, that yee stirre not up, nor waken my love, until hee please.

12 It is the voyce of my welbelovd: behold, hee cometh leaping by the mountains, and skipping by the hills.

13 My welbelovd is like a roe, or a young hart: loe, hee standeth behind our wall, looking forth of the windowes, shewing himselfe through the grates.

14 My welbelovd sake and said unto me, Arise, my love, my faire one, and come away.

15 For behold, winter is past: the raine is changed, and is gone away.

16 The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voice of the turtles is heard in our land.

17 The figge tree hath brought forth her young figgert and the vines with their small grapes have cast a savour: as for my love, hee is in his garden.

18 And hee is hidden backe by the coming of Christ, by spring time, when all things flourish.

my faire one, and come away.

14 My love, thou art in the holes of the rocke, in the secret places of the staires, shewing me thy sight, let me hear the voyce: for thy voyce is sweete, and thy sight comely.

15 Take us the forces, the little forces, which destroy the vines: for our vines have small grapes.

16 My welbelovd is mine, and I am his: he feedeth among the lillies.

17 Untill the day breake, and the shadows flee away: I will returne my welbelovd, and bee like a roe, or a young hart upon the mountaines of Bether.

18 The Church desireth Christ to bee most readie to helpe in all dangers.

CHAP. III.

1 The Church desireth to be signed inseparably to Christ her husband. 2 Her desire, whence out of the wilderness.

3 As my bed by night I sought him that my soule loved: I sought him, but I found him not.

4 I will rise therefore now, and goe about in the cistie, by the streetes and by the open places, and will seeke him that my soule loveth: I sought him, but I found him not.

5 The watchmen that went about the cistie, found mee: to whom I sayde, Wane you see him whom my soule loveth?

6 When I had past a lillie from them, then I found him whom my soule loved: Iooke holde on him and left him not, till I had brought him unto my mothers house, into the chamber of her that conceived me.

7 I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem, by the roses and by the bindes of the field, that yee stirre not up, nor waken my love, until hee please.

8 Who is there that cometh by out of the wilderness like pillars of smoke perfumed with myrrhe and incense, and with all the spices of the merchant?

9 Behold his bed which is Salomons: threescorke strong men are round about it, of the valiant men of Israel.

10 They all handle the sword, and are expert in warre, every one hath his sword upon his thigh for the feares by night.

11 King Salomon made himselfe a palace of the trees of Lebanon.

12 Hee made the pillars thereof of silver, and the pavement thereof of golde, the hangings thereof of purple, whose middes was paved with the love of the daughters of Jerusalem.

13 Come forth, yet daughters of Zion, and beholde the King Salomon with the crowne, wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his marriage, and in the day of the gladnesse of his heart.

14 The Church desireth to be signed inseparably to Christ her husband.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The praise of the Church. 2 Shee is with out blemish in his sight. 3 The love of Christ to ward her.

4 Behold, thou art faire, my love: behold, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doves: among thy locks thine faire is like the

2 Thy teeth are like a flocke of ſheepe in good order, which goe up from the waſhing: which every one bring one twiſſes, and none is barren among them.

3 Thy lips are like a theed of ſcarlet, and thy talke is conſeily: thy temples are within thy lockes, as a piece of a pomegranate.

4 Thy necke is as the towre of Dauid built for defence: a thousand ſhieldes hang therein, and all the targets of the ſtrong men.

5 Thy two e breastes are as two yong roes that are twiſſes, feeding among the lilies.

6 Untill the day breake, & the ſhadowes flee away, I will goe into the mountaine of myrhe and to the mountaine of incenſe.

7 Thou art all faire, my love, and there is no ſpot in thee.

8 Come with mee from Lebanon, my ſpoule, even with mee from Lebanon, and looke from the toppes of Amanah, from the top of Shenir and Hermon, from the denues of the lions and from the mountaines of the leopards.

9 My ſiſter, my ſpoule, thou haſt wounded mine heart: thou haſt wounded mine heart with one of thine eyes, and with a chaine of thy necke.

10 Thy ſiſter, my ſpoule, how faire is thy loue: how much better is thy loue then wine: and the ſauour of thine ointments then all ſpices?

11 Thy ſippes, my ſpoule, drop as honie combes: honie and milke are under thy tongue, and the ſauour of thy garment is as the ſauour of Lebanon.

12 My ſiſter my ſpoule is as a garden incloſed, as a ſpring ſhut up, and a fountain ſealed up.

13 Thy plants are as an orchard of pomegranates with ſweete fruites, as camphire, ſpikenard, 14 Euen ſpikenard, and ſaffron, calamus, and cinamom, with all the trees of incenſe, myrhe and aloes, with all the chiefe ſpices.

15 O fountain of the gardens, O wel of living waters, and the ſprings of Lebanon.

16 Arise, O South, and come O South, and blow on my garden that the ſpices thereof may flow out: let my welbeloued come to his garden, and eat his pleaſant fruit.

CHAP. V.

1 Christ calleth his Church to the participation of all his treasures. 2 Shee heareth his voyce. 3 Shee confeſſeth her nakedneſſe. 10 Shee praiſeth Christ her husband.

1 Am come into my garden, my ſiſter, my ſpoule: I gathered my myrhe with my ſpice: I ate mine honie combe with mine honie: I drank my wine with my milke: eat, O friends, drinke, and make you merie, O welbeloued.

2 I ſleepe, but mine heart waketh, it is the voyce of my welbeloued that knocketh, ſaying, Open unto mee, my ſiſter, my love, my dove, my undefiled: for mine head is full of dewe, and my lockes with the drops of the night.

3 I haue put off my coate, holme: I put it on: I haue waſhed my feete, which I ſhall I deſile them?

4 My welbeloued put in his hand by the hole of the doore, and mine heart was attracted toward him.

5 I roſe up to open to my welbeloued, and mine hands did drop downe myrhe, and my fingers pure myrhe upon the handles of the barre.

6 I opened to my welbeloued: but my welbeloued was gone and paſt: mine heart was gone when hee did ſpeake: I ſought him, but I could not find him: I called him, but he answered me not.

7 The watchmen that went about the cite, found me: they ſmote me and wounded me: the watchmen of the walles took away my baſte from me.

8 I charge you, O daughters of Jeruſalem, if ye find my welbeloued, that you tell him that I am ſicke of loue.

9 O the faireſt among women, what is thy welbeloued more then other welbeloued: what is thy welbeloued more then another lover, that thou doeſt ſo charge us?

10 My welbeloued is white and ruddie, the chiefeſt of ten thousand.

11 His head is as ſine gold, his lockes curled, and blacke as a rauen.

12 His eyes are like doves upon the riuers of waters, which are waſhed with milke, and remaine by the full veſſels.

13 His cheekes are as a bed of ſpices, and as ſweete flowers, and his ſippes like liſtes dropping downe pure myrhe.

14 His hands as rings of golde ſet with the ſtaryſolite, his belly like white yagres covered with ſapphires.

15 His legges are as pillars of marble ſet upon lockers of ſine golde: his countenance as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars.

16 His mouth is as ſweete things, and he is wholly delectable: this is my welbeloued, and this is my lover, O daughters of Jeruſalem.

17 O the faireſt among women, whether is thy welbeloued gone: whether is thy welbeloued turned aſide, that we may ſeeke him with thee?

CHAP. VI.

1 The Church aſſureth her ſelfe of the loue of Christ. 3 The prayſes of the Church. 8 Shee ſheweth how one is deſired.

M<sup>y</sup> welbeloued is gone downe into the garden to the beds of ſpices, to feede in the gardens, and to gather lilies.

2 I am my welbeloued, and my welbeloued is mine, who feedeth among the lilies.

3 Thou art beautiful, my love, as Jeruſalem, comely as Jeruſalem, terrible as an armed with banners.

4 Turne away thine eyes from me: for they overcome mee: thine heart is like a flocke of goats, which looke downe from Sion.

5 Thy teeth are like a flocke of ſheepe, which goe up from the waſhing, which every one bring one twiſſes, and none is barren among them.

The temple are within thy locks as a garden of pomegranates.

There are thyseke Quenees and concubines, and of the damels without number.

But my love is alone, and my bedfellow, for she the only daughter of her mother, and she to deare to her that bare her: the daughters have seene her and counted her blessed:
and the Quenees and the concubines, and they have prayen her.

As she is she that looketh forth as the moone, faire as the moone, pure as the sunne, terrible as an armie with banners?

I went downe to the garden of nuts,
to see the fruits of the valley, to see if the vine
had bud, and if the pomegranates flourish'd.

I knew nothing, my soule set me <sup>a</sup> as the charites of my noble people.

Returne, returne, O Schulanite, returne: returne that wee may behold thee.
What shall you see in the Schulanite, but as the champion of an armie?

My people in their charites. i O yee people of Ieru-salem, for Ierusalem was called SCLON, which signifieth peace.

CHAP. VII.

The beauty of the Church in all her members.
She is assured of Christs love toward her.

O my beautifull, are thy goings with horses, O princes daughter! the toyns of thy thighs are like ivories: the works of the hand of a cunning workman.

The navel is as a round cup that want-eth not liquour: thy belly is as an heape of wheat compassed about with tillies.

Thy two breasts are as two young
roes that are twinnes.

Thy necke is like a tower of Iuorie:
thy eyes are like the fish pooles in Ierophon
by the gate of Babyrbabun: thy nose is as the tower of Lebanon, that looketh toward Damascus.

Thine head upon thee is as scarlet, and the bush of thine head like purple: the king is sed in the rasters.

How faire art thou, and how pleasant
art thou, O my love, in pleasures!

Thy thy stature is like a palme tree,
and thy breasts like clusters.

I said, I will go up into the palme tree,
I will take hold of her boughes: thy breasts shall now be like the clusters of the vine: and the labour of thy nose like apples.

And the roofe of thy mouth like good wine, which goeth straight to my welbelo-ued, and causeth the lips of the ancient to speake.

I am my welbeloureds, and his desires toward me.

Come, my welbeloured, let vs go forth
into the field: let vs remaine in the villages.

Let vs get up early to the vines, let vs

see if the vine flourish, whether it hath budded the final grapes: or whether the pomegranates flourish: there will I give thee my love.

The mannaikes have given a drink, and in our gates are all sweete things, unto and else: my welbeloured, I have kept them for thee.

CHAP. VIII.

The Church will be taught by Christ. Shee is upholden by him. The Church loveth love wherewith Christ loveth her. Shee is the vine that bringeth forth fruite to the spirituall Salomon, which is Iesus Christ.

O that thou werest as my brother that sucketh y breasts of my mother: I would find thee without, I would kiss thee, then they should not despise y thee.

I will leade thee, & bityng thee into my mothers house: where thou shalt teach me, and I will cause thee to drinke spiced wine, and new wine of the pomegranate.

His left hand shall under mine head,
and his right hand shall embrace me.

I charge you, O daughters of Ieru-salem, that you liere not up, nor washen my loue, untill he please.

What is this that cometh up out of the wilderness, leaning upon her welbelo-ued? I raised thee up under an apple tree:
there thy mother conceited thee: there shee
conceited that bare thee.

Set me as a seale on thine heart, & as a signet upon thine arme: for love is strong as death: jealousy is cruel as the grane: the coles thereof are fire coles, and a vehement flame.

Much water cannot quench love, neither can the floodes drowne it: If a man should give all the substance of his house for love, they would greatly contemne it.

We have a little sister, and she hath no breasts: what shall we do for our sister when she shall spoken for?

If she be a wall, wee will build upon her a silver palace: and if she be a doore, we will keepe her in with boords of Cedar.

I am a wall, and my breasts are as towers: then was I in his eyes as one that findeth peace.

Salomon had a vine in Baal hamon:
hee gave the vineyard unto keepers: euerie
one bringeth for the fruite thereof a thousand pieces of silver.

Many vineyard which is mine, is before me: to thee, O Salomon, appermenth a thousand pieces of silver, and two hundred to them that keepe the fruite thereof.

Thou that dwellest in the gardenes,
the companions hearken unto thy voyce: because me to heare it.

O my welbeloured, see away, and be like unto the Roe, as to the young hart upon the mountaines of spices.

THE ARGVMENT.

GOD, according to his promise, Deut. 18 y. that hee would neuer leave his Church destitute of a Prophet, hath from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not onely to declare unto the people the things to come, whereof they had a speciall revelation, but also to interpret and declare the Law, and to apply particularly the doctrine contained briefly therein, to the viliike and profess of those, in whom they thought it chiefly to appertaine, and as the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Law they had respect to three things, which were the ground of their doctrine: first to the doctrine contained briefly in the two tables: secondly, in the promises and threatnings of the Law: and thirdly, to the covenant of grace and reconciliation, promised vpon our Saviour Iesus Christ, who is the end of the Law. Whereunto they neither adde nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the sense and meaning thereof. And according as God gave them understanding of things, they applied the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same: not for any regard to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their safeguard by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation, they haue more cleerely intreated it then Moses, and set fourth more lively Iesus Christ, in whom this covenant of reconciliation was made. In all their things Isaiah did excell all the Prophets, and was most diligent to set out the same, with most vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations: euer applying the doctrine, as hee saw that the dislike of the people required. Hee declareth also many notable propheties which hee had reeuiued of God, as touching the promise of the Messiah, his office and his kingdome. Also of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, and their vniou with the Iewes. Which are as most principall points contained in this booke, and a gathering of his Sermons that he preached. Which after certaine dayes they had stood vpon the Temple doore (for the manner of the Prophets was to set vp the limnes of their doctrine for certaine dayes, that the people might the better marke it, as Isa. 8. 1. and Habakk. 2. 2.) the Priestes tooke it downe and referred it among their registers: and so by Gods providence these booke were preferred as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his person and time, he was of the Kings stocke (for Amos his father was brother to Azariah King of Iudah, as the best writers agree) and prophesied more then 64. yeeres, from the time of Vaziah vnto the reigne of Manasse, whose father in law he was (as the Hebrewes write) and of whom he was put to death. And in reading of the Prophets, this one thing among other is to be obserued, that they speake of things to come, although they were now past, because of the certaintie thereof, and that they could not but come to passe, because God had ordained them in his secret counsell, and so reucaled them to his Prophets.

CHAP. I.

1. Isaiah reproveth the Iewes of their ingratitude and stubbornnes, that neither for benefits nor punishment would amend. 2. He sheweth why their sacrifices are rejected. 3. He beris Gods true seruice Randeth. 4. He prophesieth of the destruction of Ierusalem. 5. and of the restitution thereof.

Alison of Alatab, the sonne of Amos, which he saue concerning Iudah and Ierusalem in the dayes of Azariah, Iorhan, Abaz, and Ozekiah Kings of Iudah.

2. Hearre, O heauens, and hearken, O earth: for the Lord hath said, I haue nourished and brought vp children, but they haue rebelled against me.

3. The Lord knoweth his owne, and the alle his masters crib, but Israel hath not knownen: my people hath not understood.

4. Al, insull nation, a people laden with iniquitie: a seede of the wicked, corrupt children: they haue forsaken the Lord: they haue provoked the Lord, they are gone backward.

5. Wherefore should ye be smitten any more? for ye fall away more and more: the whole head is sicke, and the whole heart is heauie.

6. From the sole of the foot vnto y head, there is nothing whole therein, but wounds and swellings, and sores full of corruption: they haue not bene wrapped, nor bound by no mollified with oyle.

7. Your land is waste: your cities are burnt with fire: strangers denoune your land in your presence, and it is desolate like the puerthow of strangers.

8. And the daughter of Zion shall remaine like a cottage in a vineyard, like a lodge in a garden of cucumers, and like a besieged citie.

9. Except the Lord of hostes had reuered vnto vs, euen a small remnant, we should haue bene as Sodome, and should haue bene like vnto Gomorrah.

10. Hearre the word of the Lord, O kinges of Sodome: hearken vnto the Lawe of our God, O people of Gomorrah.

11. What haue I to doe with the multitude of your sacrifices, saith the Lord: I am full of the burnt offerings of rams, and of the fat of fed beastes: and I desire not the blood of bullocks, nor of lambs, nor of goats.

12. When ye come to appeare before me, who required this of your hands to tread in my courts?

13. Bring no more oblations in vaine: incense is an abomination vnto me: I cannot suffer your new moones, nor Sabbaths, nor solemn dayes (it is iniquitie) nor solemn assemblies.

14. *Ye that for your riches deferred all to bee destroyed as they of Sodom, saith God of his mercie referred a little number of you. Although God commanded these sacrifices long time, as exercises of their faith: yet because the people had not had repentance, God detesteth them. Psalm. 50. 13. Iete 6. an. Mich. 6. 7. t. 37 The yeere of the death of king Manasse.
38 I saw in the Lord during upon my thought, and lifted up, and the Lord shewed them vnto the people.

39 The Lord shewed vnto me in vision one had like wings: with twaine he covered his face, and with twaine he covered his feet, and with twaine he covered his face.

40 And one cryed to another, and sayd, Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hostes: the whole world is full of his glory.

41 And the linckes of the doore were moued at the voyce of him that cryed, and the doore was filled with smoke.

42 Then I said, O cloe to me: for I am done, because I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwell in the midst of a people of polluted lips: for mine eyes haue seen the King and Lord of hostes.

43 Then heu one of the Cherubims to come with an hote cole in his hand, which hee had taken from the altar with the tongs.

44 And hee touched my mouth, and sayd, Lo, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquitie shall be taken away, and thy sinne shall be purged.

45 Also I heard the voyce of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send? and who shall goe for us? Then I sayd, Here am I, send mee.

46 And he said, Go, and say vnto this people, O ye shall heare in heede, but ye shall not vnderstand: ye shall plainly see, and not perceiue.

47 Make the heart of this people fat, make their eares heauie, and shut their eyes: lest they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, vnderstand with their hearts, and convert, and hee shall see them.

48 Then said I, Lord, how long? And hee answered, Vntill the cities be without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be utterly desolate.

49 And the Lord haue remoued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the midst of the land.

Gods commendement. h This oft repetition of the holy Angels cannot satisfie themselves in praying for us, that in all our liues wee should giue our glory to the praise of God. i His glory doeth not onely appeare vnto us, but through all the world, and therefore all are bound to praye him. k Which things were to be considered, that it was not the voyce of man: and by the faith we should be blindnesse that should come vpon the Iewes. l I kept this for two causes: the one, because he thus manifested his nature, and therefore had more neede to glorie in his nature, and did it not: and the other, because the more neede that we haue to God, the more doeth hee know his owne nature. m Of the burnt offerings, where the nature of man hath purged vs. n Wherby is declared that the Lord God will not immediately take away his word, but he is preched to their condemnation, when they thereby to obey his will, and be saved: hereby hee suffers to doe their dutie, and answereth to the nature that through their owne malice their heart is hardened. Acts 28. 26. Rom. 11. 8. p As hee was moued to Gods glory, so was hee touched with a charitie to the people.

CHAP. VI.

1 I saw through the vision by the vision of the Lord, I saw the Lord sitting upon a throne, high and exalted, and the skirts of his robe filled the temple.
2 The foundations of the thresholds of the house were shaken, and the Lord said, I will be sanctified in this day, and I will be sanctified in this day, and I will be sanctified in this day.

12 But yet in it shall be a tenth, and shall come out of it shall be eaten up as an olive: or as a tree, which have a substance in them, which they call their leaves: so the holy seed shall have substance thereof.

13 Should you be before their captivity, as were from before? For the fewness they shall seeme to be eaten out of the south as a tree, which in winter loofeth his leaves, to be dead, yet in summer in fresh and greene.

CHAP. VII.

1 Jerusalem besieged. 4 I saiah comforteth the King. 14 Christ is promised.

1 And in the dayes of Ahas, the sonne of Iotham, the sonne of Azziah King of Iudah. Rezin the King of Aram came up, and Pekah the sonne of Remaliah king of Israel, to Jerusalem to fight against it, but he could not overcome it.

2 And it was told the house of David, saying, Aram is layned with Ephraim: therefore his heart was moved, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are moved by the wind.

3 Then said the Lord unto Isaiah, Go forth now to meet Ahas (thou and Shebna the sonne) at the end of the conduit of the upper pool, in the parke of the fullers bath.

4 And say unto him, Take heede, and be silent: thou shalt neither see saint bearded for the time saies of these smoking firebrands, no the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliah sonne.

5 Because Aram hath taken wicked counsel against thee, and Ephraim, and Remaliah sonne, saying,

6 Let us goe up against Iudah, and let us taken them up, and make a breach there in for us, and let a king in the midst thereof, even the sonne of David.

7 Thus saith the Lord God, It shall not stand, neither shall it be.

8 For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: & within five and threescore yeere Ephraim shall be destroyed from being a people.

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliah sonne. If ye beleue not, surely ye shall not be established.

10 And the Lord spake againe unto Ahas, saying,

11 Ahas: a signe for thee of the Lord thy God: after it, either in the depth beneath, or in the height above.

12 But Ahas sayd, I will not aske, neither will I tempt the Lord.

13 Then hee sayd, Weare you now, O house of David, Is it a small thing for you to grieve I men, that yet will also grieve my God?

14 For the confirmation of this thing, that thine almightie God hath preferred: k Now to beleue in a signe, is to tempt God: to refuse a signe for the ayde and helpe of our infirmities: & to the praye.

15 You thinke you haue to doe with men, when God is against you: but it is God, against whom you

14 Therefore the Lord himselfe will give you a signe. Behold, the virgins shall conceive and beare a sonne, and shee shall call his name Immanuel.

15 Butter and hony shall be eate, till he have knowledg to refuse the enill, & to chuse the good.

16 For afore the child shall have knowledg to eschew the enill, & to chuse the good, the land that thou abhorrest, shall be forsaken of both her kings.

17 The Lord shall bring upon thee, and upon my people, and upon thy fathers house (the dayes that have not come from the day that Ephraim departed from Iudah) even the king of Asshur.

18 And in that day shall the Lord blis for the stile that is at the uttermost part of the floods of Egypt, and for the See which is in the land of Asshur,

19 And they shall come and shall light all in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rocks, and upon all thorny places, and upon all bushie places.

20 In that day shall the Lord spare with a ruler that is hired, even by them beyond the river, by the king of Asshur, the head and the haire of the scete, and it shall consume the beard.

21 And in the same day shall a man nourish a yong houn, and two sheepe.

22 And for the abundance of milke that they shall give, he shall eate butter: for butter and hony shall every one eate, which is left within the land.

23 And at the same day every place, wherein shall be a thousand vines, shall be at a thousand pieces of silver: so it shall be for the buyers and for the thornes.

24 Cutteth arrowes and with bowes shall one come thither: because all the land shall be buyers and thornes.

25 But on all mountaines, which shall be digged with the mattocke, there shall not come thither the leave of buyers and thornes: but they shall bee for the feeding out of bullocks, and for the treading of sheepe.

26 The country is hore and moyst, it is full of flies, as Assyria is full of Deca, 27 Signifying, that no place shall be free from them, which is from the belly downward: meaning that he would destroy both great and small. He that before had a great number of cattel, shall be content with one kow and two sheepe. The number of men shall be so small, that a few beasts shall be able to nourish all abundantly. As they that goe to seeke wild beasts among the bushes. The mountaines contrary to their woode, shall be filled by such as shall flee to them for succour.

h That is the Assyrians, which dwell beyond the Euphrates.

i It shall be ready to throw them.

k He speaketh this to Messiah or Christ, in whom the faithful were comforted, and who would not suffer his Church to be destroyed utterly.

l To wit, ye that are enemies to the Church, as the Assyrians, Egyptians, Syrians, &c.

m To encourage me that I should not shrink for the infidelities of this people, and so neglect mine office.

n Consent not ye that are godly, to the league and friendship that this people seek with strangers & idolaters.

o Meaning, that they should not fear the thing that they feared, which have no hope in God. p In putting your trust only in him, in calling upon him in desperate, patiently looking for his help, and fearing to do any thing contrary to his will. q He will defend you whithersoever he pleaseth, and reject all the rest, which is meant of Christ, against whom the Jews should stumble and fall, Luke 2. 34. Rom. 9. 33.

r That is, 7. 8. Though all forsake me, yet ye that are mine, keep my word sure sealed in your hearts.

2 Then I took up into me: faithful witness to record, Isaiah the Priest, and Jeremiah the sonne of Jeberchiah.

3 After, I came unto the Prophets, which concerned, and bore a name. Then said the Lord to me, Call his name, Isabher Galadhai bay.

4 For before the child shall have knowledge to cry, My father and my mother, he shall take away the riches of Damascus, and the spoyle of Samaria, before the king of Assyria.

5 And the Lord spake yet againe unto me, saying,

6 Because this people hath refused the waters of Shiloah that runn softly, and rejoyce with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah,

7 Therefore behold, the Lord bringeth up upon them the waters of the River mightie and great, even the King of Assyria with all his glory, and he shall come up upon all their rivers, and goe over all their banks,

8 And shall breake into Judah, and shall overflow and passe through, and shall come up to the neck, and the Arching out of his wings shall fill the breadth of thy land, O Immanuel.

9 Gather together on heapes, O ye people, and ye shall be broken in pieces, and hearken all ye of farre countreys: gird your selves, and you shall be broken in pieces: gird your selves, and you shall be broken in pieces.

10 Take counsell together, yet it shall be brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shall it not stand: for God is with us.

11 For the Lord spake thus to mee in teaching, of mine hand, and taught mee, that I should not walke in the way of this people, saying,

12 Say ye not, A confederacie to all them, to whom this people taketh a confederacie, neither feare you their feare, nor bee afraid of them.

13 Sanctifie the Lord of hostes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread,

14 And he shall be as a Sanctuary: but as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall upon, to both the houses of Israel, and as a snare, and as a net to the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

15 And many among them shall stumble, and shall fall, and shall be broken, and shall be shamed, and shall be taken.

16 Bind up the testimonie: scale by the

Eds among us disciples.

17 Therefore I will wait upon the Lord, that hath hid his face from the house of Jacob, and I will look for him.

18 Behold, I and the children of my mother, the Lord hath given me, as an signes & as wonders in Israel, by the Lord of hostes, which dwelleth in mount Zion.

19 And when they shall say unto you, Why quiet art thou that have a spirit of ministration, & at the slaughter, which whither and murmure, should not a people murmur at their God? from the living to the dead.

20 To the Law, and to the testimonie, if they speake not according to this word, because there is no light in them.

21 Then hee that is afflicted and humbled, shall go to and fro in it: and when he shall be hungry, hee shall even feed himself, and curse his king, and his gods, and shall looke upon him.

22 And when he shall look to the earth, behold trouble, and darkness, vexation, anguish, and he is driven to darkness.

x That is, Will they refuse to be taught of the mouth of God, & seek help at the dead, which are dead? y Seek remedy in the word of God, which is living.

a That is, in such, where they should have been, which grievously offended God. b In which case they shall think that the devils and evil spirits are against them to trouble them.

CHAPTER IX.

The vocation of the Gentiles, 6. A prophesy of Christ, 14. The destruction of the law, 16. for their pride and contempt of God.

YET the darkness shall not be increasing: for to the Gentiles, which it had when the first he covered lightly the land of Sebulim, and the land of Hamath, nor afterwards, when hee was more glorious by the way of the sea beyond Jordan in Galle of the Gentiles.

2 The people that walked in darkness, have seen a great light: they that dwelt in the land of the shadow of death, upon the earth, hath the light shined.

3 Thou hast multiplied the nation, and not increased their joy: they have rioted by force, they have according to the way in harlot, as men riot, when they divide a spoil.

4 For the yoke of their burden, and the staffe of their shoulder, and the rod of their oppressor, hath thou broken as in the day of Midian.

5 Surely every battell of the warriors is broken, and every strong hold is taken.

c Whereas the Jewes and Gentiles dwell together, those twenty cities, which Salomon gave to Hiram, as he dwelt in Babylon: and the Prophet spake, that they should dwell together for ever, as he dwelt in the land of the shadow of death.

d Meaning, the comfort of their deliverance, and deliverance were figures of our captivity by Christ through the preaching of the Gospel, 1. Cor. 1. 14. e Their number was greater than the Gentiles, then when they returned, but they were their returne, Hag. 2. 15. f Thou hast broken the yoke of their burden, and the staffe of their shoulder, and the rod of their oppressor, as in the day of Midian.

g Surely every battell of the warriors is broken, and every strong hold is taken, as in the day of Midian, Judg. 7. 22.

and, and with tumbling of garments in the street: but this shall be with burning and burning of fire.

For unto his a child is borne, and unto a woman is given: and the government is upon his shoulder, and hee shall call his name wonderfull, Counsellor, The strong God, The everlasting Father,
The prince of peace.

The increase of his government and peace shall have none end: he shall sit upon the throne of David, & upon his kingdom, to order it, & to stablish it with iudgement and with iustice from henceforth, even forever: the seale of the Lawe of holies will performe this.

The Lord hath sent a word into Jacob, and it hath lighted upon Israel.

And all the people shall know, even Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart.

The bullocks are fallen, but we will build it with better stones: the wilde figge trees are cut downe, but we will change them into cypresses.

Nevertheless, the Lord will reape up the adversaries of: He is against him, and will bring his enemies together.

Arise, therefore, and the Whittins be-hinde, and they shall denoure Israel with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hande is stretched out
still.

For the people knoweth not unto him that smiteth them, neither doe they seeke the face of holies.

Therefore will the Lord cut off fro Israel
head & raine, branch and rub in one day.

The ancient and the honourable man,
he is the head: and the prophet that seetheth
his be in the raine.

For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them are deceived.

Therefore shall the Lord have no pleasure in their young men, neither will hee have compassion of their fatherlesse and of their widowes: for every one is an hypocrite and wicked, and every mouth speaketh folly: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out
still.

For wickednesse is burneth as a fire: it consumeth the hiers and the thornes, and will kinde in the thicke places of the forest:
and they shall mount up like the lifting up of smoke.

By the wrath of the Lord of holies shall the land be darkened, and the people shall be as the meate of the fire: no man shall spare his brother.

And he shall snatch at the right hand,
and be hungry: and he shall eate on the left hand, and shall not be satisfied: every one shall eate the flesh of his owne arme.

Samaria shall be destroyed, and Ephraim shall be destroyed, and they both shall be against Judah.

It shall be miserable, so that one brother shall eate
the flesh of his owne flesh.

For all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

Of wicked law makers. God will punish his people by the Assyrians, and after destroy them.

The remnant of Israel shall stand.

What will ye doe now in the day of visitation, and of destruction, which shall come from the Lord, to whom shall ye flee for helpe:
and where shall ye leave your glory?

Without mee every one shall fall among them that are bound, and they shall fall downe among the slaine: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

As for the rod of my wrath, and the staffe in their hands is mine indignatio.

I will send him to a dissembling action, and I will give him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoyle
and to take the praye, and to tread them under feete like the mire in the streete.

But he thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but hee imagineth to destroy and to cut offe a few nations.

For he saith, Are not my princes altogether Kings?

Is not Calno as I Carhemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

Like as mine hand hath found the kingdomes of the idoles, seeing their idoles were about Jerusalem, and about Samaria:

Shall not I, as I have done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Jerusalem, and to the idoles thereof?

But when the Lord hath accomplished all his worke upon mount Zion and Jerusalem, I will visite the sinne of the proude heart: of the king of Assyrie, and his glorious and proude lookes.

Because hee saith, By the power of mine owne hand have I done it, and by my wisdomme, because I am wise: therefore I have remoued the borders of the people, and have spoiled their treasures, and have pulled downe the inhabitance: the valiant
man.

And mine hand hath found as a nest
the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egges that are left, so have I gathered all the earth: and there was none to raise the wing, or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

Shall the are don't it selfe against owne malice, it is the worke of the deuil.

Seeing that hee
ouercome as well one citie as another, so that none could resist.

Jerusalem be able to escape mine hand: b When he hath fastionly chastised his people for hee beginneth at his owne house: then will he burne the rodde. i Meaning, of Sancherib, k Here we see that no creature is able to doe any thing: but as God appointeth him, and that they are all but his instruments to do his worke, though the intentions be diuers as verse 6.

him that beweth therewith : as shall the false exalt it selfe against him that moueth for as if the roddes should lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe should exalt it selfe, as it were to wood.

16 Therefore shall the Lord God of hostes send among his far men, leanneesse, and by der his glory he shall kindle a burning, like the burning of fire.

17 And the light of Israel shall bee as a fire, and the holy one thereof, as a flame,
and it shall burne and deuoure = his thornes
and his briers in one day :

18 And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitfull fieldes both wilde and flesh : and he shall be as the fainting
of a fainted bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest
shall be few, that a child may tell them.

20 And at that day shall the remnant of Israel, & such as are escaped of the house of Iakob, stay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall stay vpon the Lord,
the holy one of Israel in truerh.

21 The remnant shall returne, even the remnant of Iakob vnto the mighty God.

22 For though thy people, O Israel, be as the sands of the sea, yet shall the remnant of them returne. The consumption decreed shall ouerflow with righteousnesse.

23 For the Lord God of hostes shall make the consumption, euen = determined, in the mids of all the land.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God
of hostes, O my people, that dwellest in Zion, be not afraid of Albur : hee shall smite
thee with a rodde, and shall lift vp his staffe against thee after the manner of Egypt :

25 But yet a very little time, & the wrath shall be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction.

26 And the Lord of hostes shall rayle vp as a scourge for him, according to the plague of Midian in the rocke of Oreb : and as his staffe was vpon the = sea, so he will lift it vp after the manner of Egypt.

27 And at that day shall his burden bee taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke : and the yoke shall be destroyed because of the = anoynting.

28 He is come = to Aiath, he is passed in to Bethgizon : at Bethmach shall he lay by his armour.

29 They haue gone ouer the flood : they lodged in the lodging of Geba : Ramah is a strail : Gibeah of Saul is fled away.

30 Lift vp thy voice, O daughter Gallim, saule I ashy to heare, O poore Anaboth.

31 Madmenah is remooued : the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselves together.

32 Yet there is a time that he will stay at Iob : hee shall lift by his hand toward the mount of the daughter of Zion, the hill of Jerusalem.

33 Behold, the Lord God of hostes shall cut off the = bough with feare, and they shall

of his stature shall be cut off, and the high
be humbled.

34 And hee shall cut away the chiefe
of the forest with yron, and Lebanon
haue a mighty fall.

against them: Babylon shall not spare: Judah
shall be burnt: Babylon shall be burnt.

10. But they shall flee upon the shoulders of the Philistines towards the coast: they shall hold them of the East together: Edom and Moab shall be the stretching out of their hands, and the children of Ammon in their power.

11. The Lord also shall utterly destroy the stronghold of the Egyptians sea, and with his mighty winds shall lift up his hand: over the river, and shall smite him in his seven strongholds, and cause men to walk therein with safety.

12. And there shall be a path to the remnant of his people, which are left of Asshur, the way it was unto Israel in the day that he came up out of the land of Egypt.

1. The beginning of the faithful for the wera-tion of God.

2. Thou shalt say in that day, O Lord,
I will praise thee: though thou wast angry with me, thy wrath is turned away, and thou hast comforted me.

3. Behold, God is my salvation: I will trust, and will not fear: for the Lord God is my strength and long: he also is become my salvation.

4. Therefore with joy shall ye draw waters out of the wells of salvation.

5. And ye shall say in that day, Praise the Lord, call upon his name: declare his works among the people: make mention of them, for his name is exalted.

6. Sing unto the Lord, for he hath done excellent things: this is known in all the

the Almighty.

9. Therefore shall all hands be weakened, and all mens hearts shall melt.

10. And they shall be afraid: anguish and sorrow shall take them, & they shall have paine, as a woman that travaileth: every one shall be amazed at his neighbour, and their faces
shall be like a flames of fire.

11. Behold, the day of the Lord cometh, be spoiled, and their wives ravished.

19. Beholde, I will stirre up the Medes against them, which shall not regard silver,
nor be desirous of gold.

20. Their bowes also shall they destroy the children, and shall have no compassion upon the fruit of the wombe, and their eyes shall not spare the children.

21. And Babel the glory of kingdoms, the beauty and pride of the Chaldeans shall be as the destruction of Sodom in Sodom and Gomorrah.

22. It shall not be inhabited for ever, neither shall it be dwelled in from generation to generation: neither shall the Arabian pitch his tents there, neither shall the shep-

CHAP. XIII.

1 The returne of the people from captivity. 2 The death of the King of Babylon. 3 The death of the King of the Philistines.

1 The Lord will have compassion of Jacob, and will yet chastise Jacob, and cause them to rest in their owne land: and the stranger shall loyue himselfe vnto them, and they shall cleaue to the house of Jacob.

2 And the people shall receive them, and bring them to their owne place, and the house of Israel shall possesse them in the land of the Lord, for seruantes and handmaidens: and they shall take them prisoners, whose captiues they were, and haue rule ouer their oppressors.

3 And in that day when the Lord shall giue thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy feare, and from the yoke bondage; wherein thou didst serue.

4 Then shalt thou take by this power against the king of Babel, and say, How hath the oppressor ceased? and the gold thyrte Babel raised.

5 The Lord hath broken the rod of the wicked, and the scepter of the rulers:

6 Which smote the people in anger with a continual plague, and ruled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, hee did not let.

7 The whole worlde is at rest and is quiet: they sing for ioy.

8 And the trees reioyce of thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou art layde downe, no dewer came by against vs.

9 Well beneath is mooued for thee to meete thee at thy coming, raising vp the dead for thee, euen al the princes of the earth, and hath raised from their thrones all the kings of the nations.

10 All they shall cry, and say vnto thee, Art thou become weaker alio as we? art thou become like vnto vs?

11 Thy pompe is brought downe to the graine, & the sound of thy viols: the woman is spread vnder thee, and the women coner thee.

12 How art thou fallen from heauen, O Lucifer, sonne of the morning: and cut downe to the ground, which didst cast loes vpon the nations?

13 Yet thou saydst in thine heart, I will ascend into heauen, and exalt my throne aboue the starres of God: I will sit also vpon the mount of the Congregation in the sides of the North.

14 I will ascend above the height of the clouds, and will be like the most high.

15 But thou shalt bee brought downe to the grave to the sides of the pit.

16 They that see thee, shall see thee, & consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, and that shall shake the kingdome?

17 Hee made the world as a wilderness, and destroyed the cities thereof, and opened not the house of his prisoners.

18 All the Kings of the Nations, shall see thee, & they all shal be in glory, every one in his owne house.

19 But thou art cast out of the grave like an abominable branch: like the remment of those that are flaine, and thou shalt be as a chub: which groweth in the stonyes of the pit, as a carkell redden in the fecte.

20 Thou shalt not be loyued with them in the grave, because thou shalt destroy thine owne land, and flaine thy people: the seed of the wicked shall not be remembered for ever.

21 Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquitie of their fathers: let them not rise up, nor possesse the land, nor take the face of the world with their enemies.

22 For I will visit vs against them (saith the Lord of hosts): I will cut off Babel the name and the remnant, and the sonne, and the neyghbour, saith the Lord.

23 And I will make it a possession for the hedgehog, and pooles of water, and I will sweep it with the besome of destruction, saith the Lord of hosts.

24 The Lord of hosts hath purposed, saying, Surely like as I haue purposed, so shall it come to passe, and as I haue considered, so shall stand.

25 That I will breake to pieces Armo in my land, and vpon my mountains will I tread him vnder foote: so that his yoke shall depart from vpon them, and his burden shall be taken from off their shoulder.

26 This is the counsell that is considered vpon the whole worlde, and this is the hand stretched out ouer all nations.

27 Because the Lord of hosts hath determined it, and who shall disanull it? and his hand is stretched out, and who shall turne it away?

28 As the yere that King Abas died, was this y burden.

29 Retore not, (thou whole Palestina) because the rod of him that did beate thee, is broken: for out of the serpent root shall come forth a cockatrice, and the fruit thereof shall be a terrible flying serpent.

30 For the first borne of the poore shall be fed, and the needy shall lie downe in safety: and I will kill thy coote with famine, and I shall slay the remnant.

31 Woyle, O gate, cry, O city: thou whole land of Palestina art distressed, for thou shalt come from the North a smoke, & thou shalt be alone at his time appointed.

u That is, from the Jewes or Assyrians: for they had come from Palestina. x But they shall be ready and expectant.

f Meaning, of the ten tribes, which boyled themselves of their nobilitie, prosperitie, strength and multitude, g As the abundance of corn do not feare the harvest men that should cut it downe: no more shall the multitude of Israel make the enemies to shrink, whom God shall appoint to destroy them, h Which valley was plentiful and fertile.

i Because God would have his covenant stable, he promisceth to relieve some of this people, & to bring them to repentance, k He sheweth that Gods corrections ever bring forth some fruit, and cause him to turne from their finnes, and to humble themselves to him.

l As the Canaanites left their cities, when God did place the Israelites there, so the cities of Israel shall no more be able to defend their inhabitants, when God shall send the enemy to plague them.

saith the Lord of hostes,

4 And in that day the glorie of Iacob shall be impoverished, and the fatness of his flesh shall be made lean.

5 And it shall be when as the harvest man gathereth the eares, and reaper the eares with his arme, and bee shall bee as bee that gathereth the eares in the valley of Ephraim.

6 Yet a gathering of grapes shall be left in it, as the shaking of an olive tree, two or three berries are in the toppe of the upmost boughes, and foure or five in the high branches of the fruit thereof, saith the Lord God of Israel.

7 At that day shall a man looke to his maker, and his eyes shall looke to the holy one of Israel.

8 And he shall not looke to the altars, the workes of his owne hands, neither shall hee looke to thole things, which his own fingers haue made, as grones and images.

9 In that day shall the cities of their strength bee as the forsaking of boughes and branches, which they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, and there shall bee desolation.

CHAP. XXVII.

A prophesie against the kingdoms of Satan, & of the rey of the Church for their deluſurance.

a At the time appointed.

b That is, by his mightie power, and by his word. He prophesieth here of the destruction of Satan and his kingdom vnder the name of Leuiathan, Ashtur and Egypt.

c Meaning, of the best wine which this vineyard, that is, the Church should bring forth as most agreeable to the Lord.

d Therefore he will destroy the kingdom of Satan, because he loath his Church for his owne merces sake, and cannot be angrie with it, but witheth that he may poure his anger vpon the wicked indels, whom he meaneth by beiers and thornes.

e He murthereth that Israel will not come by gentleness, except God make them to feele his rods, & to hving them vnto him.

f Though I afflict and chide my people for a time, yet shall the roote spring againe and bring forth in great abundance.

g He sheweth that God punisheth his in merice, and his enemies in iustice.

h That is, thou wilt not destroy the roote of thy Church, though the branches thereof seeme to perishe by the sharpe wind of affliction. i Hee sheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, till the heart be purged from all idolatrie, and the monuments thereof destroyed. k Notwithstanding his fauour that he will shew them after: yet Ierusalem shall bee destroyed, and graſſe for cattell shall grow in it. l God shall not haue neede of mightie enemies for the very women shall doe it, to their great shame. m Hee shall destroy all from Bosphorus to Nilus for some fled toward Egypt, thinking to haue cleaped.

In that day the Lord with his sore and great and mightie sword shall visite Leuiathan, that pearcing serpent, euen Leuiathan that crooked serpent, and hee shall slay the dragon that is in the sea.

2 In that day sing of the vineyard: of red wine.

3 I the Lord doe keepe it: I will water it every moment: lest any assaile it, I will keepe it night and day.

4 Anger is not in mee: who would set the briers and the thornes against mee in battell? I would goe thowto them, I would burne them together.

5 O will be: feele my strength, that he may make peace with mee, and bee as one with mee.

6 Hereafter, Iacob shall take roote: Israel shall flourish and grow, and the world shall be filled with fruit.

7 Vnto thee I will send a blinde man, as hee smote those that smote him: or is hee blame according to the slaughter of them that were blame by him?

8 In measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contend with it, when hee bloweth with his rough wind in the day of the East wind.

9 By this therefore shall the iniquities of Iacob be purged, and this is all the fruit, the taking away of his sinne: when he shall make all the stones of the altars, as chalse stones broken in pieces, that the groves and images may not stand up.

10 Yet the defenced citie shall bee desolate, and the habitation shall be forsaken, and left like a wilderness. There shall the calfe feede, and there shall hee lie, and consume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughes of it are drye, they shall bee broken: the women come and set them on fire: for it is a people of none understanding: therefore hee that made them, shall not haue compassion of them, and hee that formed them, shall haue no mercie on them.

12 And in that day shall the Lord theſſe from the channell of the River, vnto the rauer of Egypt, and yet shall bee gathered one by one. O chſtoven of Israel.

13 In that day also shall the great trumpet be blowne, and they shall come, which are rſiſhed in the land of Ashtur: and they shall be chafed into the land of Egypt, and they shall worship the Lord in the holy mount at Ierusalem.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Against the pride and drunkenneſſe of Ierusalem. 9 The vnderſtandneſſe of them that ſhould heare the word of God. 24 God doth all things in ſeene and place.

WDe to the crowne of pride, the dumbrards of Ephraim: for his glorious beautie shall be a fading flower, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and are overcome with wine.

2 Behold, the Lord hath a mightie and strong booke, like a tempest of haile, and a whirlwinde that overthoweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that overflow, which throw to the ground mightily.

3 They shall be troden vnder foote, euen the crowne and the pride of the dumbrards of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beautie shall bee a fading flower, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and as the haile fruit afore summer, which when be that looketh vpon it, ſeeeth it, while it is in his hand, he eateth it.

5 In that day shall the Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glorie, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the residue of his people.

6 And for a ſpirit of iudgement to him that ſiteth in iudgement, and for strength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate.

7 But s they haue erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the Priest and the prophet haue erred by strong drinke: they are swallowed up with wine: they haue gone aſtray through strong drinke: they faile in viſion: they stumble in iudgement.

8 For all their tables are full of filth vomiting: no place is cleane.

9 Although shall hee teach knowledge: and whom shall hee make to vnderſtand the things that hee heareth? them that are drunken from the milke, and drunken from the breasts.

10 For precept muſt be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little.

11 For with a ſtammering tongue, and with a ſtrange language ſhall hee ſpeake vnto this people.

12 Vnto whom hee ſaith, This is the

owne gates. g Meaning the hypocrites, which were and were altogether corrupt in life and doctrine, which by drunkenneſſe and vomiting. h For there was no way to vnderſtand any good doctrine: but were tooke as young babes. i They muſt haue one thing to ſay, k Let one teach what he can, yet they ſhall not vnderſtand then if he ſpeake in a ſtrange language. l That is, God ſhould ſend, m This is the doctrine, to ſlay and ſell.

25 Give rest to him that is weary: and to the refreshing, but they would not.

26 Therefore shall the word of the Lord be unto them: precept upon precept, precept upon precept, line upon line, line upon line, here a little, and there a little, that they may go and fall backward, and be broken and be taken.

27 Likewise, heare the word of the Lord, ye Jerusalem: men that rule this people, which is at Jerusalem.

28 Because ye haue said, We haue made a covenant with death, and with hell are we at agreement: though a scourge runne ouer, and passe through, it shall not come vs: for we haue made a falsehoode our refuge, and vnder banitie are we.

29 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, because I will lay on Zion a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation. He that desireth, shall not make him.

30 Iudgement also will I lay to the rule, and righteousness to the balance, and the scale shall sweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall overflowe: the scorp place.

31 And your covenant with death shall be dissolved, and your agreement with hell shall not stand: when a scourge shall runne ouer and passe through, then shall ye be trode downe by it.

32 When it passeth ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe through euery morning in the day, and in the night, and there shall be onely feare to make you to vnderstand the hearing.

33 For the den is to feare: that it cannot suffice, and the conuering narrowes that one cannot inuay himselfe.

34 For the Lord shall stand as in mount Perazim: he shall be iudged as in the balley of Gethon, that hee may doe his worke, his strange worke, and bring to passe his act, his strange act.

35 Howe therefore bee no mockers, least your bonds increase: for I haue heard of the Loue of hostes a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth.

36 Hearken ye, and heare my voyce, hearken ye, and heare my speech.

37 Doe the plowman plow all the day, to loue? doth hee open and breake the clots of his ground?

38 When hee hath made it plaine, will hee not then loue the furrows, and loue cummin, and cast in wheate by measure, and the appointed barley and rie in their place?

26 For his God: path instruct him to haue discretion, and doth teach him.

27 For furrows shall not be furrows with a churning instrument, neither shall a cart wheele bee turned about vpon the cummin: but the furrows are breasted out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod.

28 Head come when it is threshed, be doeth not alway thresh it, neither doeth the wheele of his cart still make a noyse, neither will he breake it with the teeth thereof.

29 This also cometh from the Lord of hostes, which is wonderfull in counsaile, and excellent in works.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 A prophesie against Ierusalem. 13 The vengeance of God on them that follow the traditions of men.

A 1st altar, altar of the circle that Dauid dwelt in: adde yeere vnto yeere: let them kill lambes.

2 But I will bring the altar into distress, and there shall be beautie, and sorrow, and it shall be vnto me like an altar.

3 And I will besiege thee as a circle, and fight against thee on a mount, and will cast up ramparts against thee.

4 So shalt thou bee humbled, and shalt speake out of the ground, and thy speech shall bee out of the dust: thy voyce also shall be out of the ground like him that hath a spirit of diuination, and thy talking shall whisper out of the dust.

5 Moreover, the multitude of thy strangers shall be like small dust: and the multitude of strong men shall bee as chaffe that passeth away, and it shall bee in a moment, euen suddenly.

6 Thou shalt bee visited of the Lord of hostes with thunder and shaking and a great noyse, a whirlwinde, and a tempest, and a flame of denouring fire.

7 And the multitude of all the nations that fight against the altar, shall bee as a dreame or vision by night: euen all they that make the warre against it, and strong holds against it, and lay siege vnto it.

8 And it shall bee like as an hungry man dreameth, and behold, he eateth: and when he awaketh, his soule is empty: or like as a thirsty man dreameth, and loe, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, behold, he is faint, and his soule longeth: so shall the multitude of all nations bee that fight against mount Zion.

9 Stay your selves and wonder: they are blinde, & make you blinde: they are drunken, but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke.

10 For the Lord hath coured you with a a The shewebread Ariel signifieth the lyon of God, and signifieth the Altar, because the Altar seemed to denounce the sacrifice that was offered to God, as Ezek. 43.

b Your vaine confidence in your sacrifices shall not last long.

c Your circle shall be full of blood as an altar whereon they sacrifice.

d Thy speech shall be no more so lustie, but abased, and low, as the very charmers, which are in low places, and whisper, so that their voyce can scarce be heard.

e Thine hired soldiers in whom thou trustest, shall be destroyed as dust or chaffe in a whirlwinde.

f The enemies that I will bring to destroy thee,

g That is, hee thinketh that heeareth. h Mute hereon as long as you list, yet shall ye finde nothing but occasion to be aflied: for your Prophets are blinde, and therefore cannot direct you.

and that which thou makest thy vaine trust, shall come as vanities, euen as a dreame in the night. Some reade, as if this were a comfort to the Church for the destruction of their enemies. g That is, hee thinketh that heeareth. h Mute hereon as long as you list, yet shall ye finde nothing but occasion to be aflied: for your Prophets are blinde, and therefore cannot direct you.

ſpirit of ſlumber, and hath ſhut up your eyes: the Prophets, and your chiefe Seers hath he covered.

12 And the viſion of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a booke that is ſealed vs, which they deliuer to one that can reade, ſaying, Reade this, I pray thee. Then ſhall he ſay, I can not: for it is ſealed.

13 And the booke is giuen vnto him that cannot reade, ſaying, Reade this, I pray thee. And hee ſhall ſay, I can not reade.

14 Therefore ſaith the Lord ſayd, Becauſe this people come neere vnto mee with their mouth, and honour mee with their lippes, but haue remoued their heart farre from me, and their feare toward me was taught by the precept of men.

15 Therefore behold, I will againe doe a maruelous worke in this people, euen a maruelous worke, and a wonder: for the wiſedome of their wiſe men ſhall periſh, and the vnderſtanding of their prudent men ſhall be hid.

16 And ſaith vnto them that ſeek deepe to hide their counſell from the Lord: for their workes are in darkeneſſe, and they ſay, Who ſeeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

17 Pour turning of deuils ſhall it not bee eſteemed as the potters clay? for ſhall the worke ſay of him that made it, Hee made mee not? or the thing formed, ſay of him that faſhioned it, Hee had none vnderſtanding?

18 Is it not yet but a little while, and Lebanon ſhall bee turned into Carmel? and Carmel ſhall be counted as a foreſt?

19 And in that day ſhall the deafe heare the wordes of the booke, and the eyes of the blinde ſhall ſee out of obſcurity, and out of darkeneſſe.

20 The meeke in the Lord ſhall receiue ioy againe, and the poore men ſhall reioyce in the holy one of Iſrael.

21 For the cruel man ſhall ceaſe, and the ſcornfull ſhall be conſumed: and all that haſted to iniquity ſhall be cut off.

22 Which made a man to ſinne in the Lord, and rooke him in a ſnare: which reſpoued them in the gate, and made the iuſt to fall without cauſe.

23 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord vnto the houſe of Iſaiah, euen hee that redeemed Abraham, Iſaiah ſhall not now bee confounded, neither now ſhall his face bee pale.

24 But when hee ſeeth his children, the worke of mine handes, in the mids of him they ſhall ſanctifie my Name, and ſanctifie the holy one of Iſaiah, and ſhall feare the God of Iſrael.

25 Then they that erred in ſpirit, ſhall haue vnderſtanding, and they that murmured ſhall learne doctrine.

26 Then ſhall they that ſinde fault with the Prophets wordes, and would not abide admonitions, but would inangle them and bring them into danger. Signifying, that except God giue vnderſtanding and knowledge, man cannot but ſill erre and murmure againſt him.

1 He reprooueth the Iewes which in their curioſitie ſeek their owne counſells, 2 And ſheweth help of the Egyptians, 3 Deſcribing the Prophet, 4 Therefore he ſheweth what deſtruction ſhall come vpon them, 5 But offereth mercie vnto the repentant.

WDe to the rebellious children, ſaith the Lord, that take counſell, but not counſell of mee, and couer with a couering, but not by my Spirit, that they may lay ſinne vpon ſinne:

2 Which walke forth to goe downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to ſtrengthen themſelues with the ſtrength of Pharaoh, and truſt in the ſhadowe of Egypt.

3 But the ſtrength of Pharaoh ſhall be your ſhame, and the truſt in the ſhadowe of Egypt, your conſumption.

4 For his Princes were at Iſan, and his Ambaſſadours came vnto Iſaiah.

5 They ſhall be all aſhamed of the people that cannot proſper them, nor bring any doe their good, but ſhall be a ſhame and alſo a reproch.

6 The burden of the beaſtes of the South, in a land of trouble and anguiſh, from whence ſhall come the yong and the lyon, the viper, and ſerpyng ſerpent againſt them that ſhall beare their riches vpon the ſhoulders of the coltres, and their trauels vpon the bunches of the camels, to a people that cannot proſper.

7 For the Egyptians are vaniſh, and they ſhall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cryed vnto her, Their ſtrength is to ſeek ſtill.

8 Now goe, and write ſ it beſore them in a table, and note it in a booke that it may be for the ſake of the laſt day for cuer and euer:

9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that would not heare the Law of the Lord.

10 Which ſay vnto the Seers, See not: and to the Prophets, Propheſie not vnto vs right things: but ſpeake flattering things vnto vs: propheſie ſeruous.

11 Depart out of the way: goe aſide out of the path: cauſe the holy One of Iſrael to reſe from vs.

12 Therefore thus ſaith the holy One of Iſrael, Becauſe ye haue caſt off this worke, and truſt in violence and wickedneſſe, and ſay thereupon,

13 Therefore this iniquity ſhall be vnto you as a breach that falleth, or a ſwelling in an hie wall, whoſe breaking cometh ſuddenly in a moment.

14 And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a Potters pott, which is broken without pittie, and in the breaking thereof is not ſounde: as a ſhearde take fire out of the hearth, or to take out of the pit.

14 For thus saith the Lord God, the holy one of Israel. In rest and quietness, shall ye dwell: in quietness and in confidence shall be your strength, but ye would not.

15 For ye have said, No, but we will flee away upon horses. Therefore shall ye flee: and shall rise upon the swift. Therefore shall your persecuters be swifter.

16 Therefore shall one that see at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of him shall ye be, till ye be left as a shippe mast upon the top of a mountaine, and as an beaken upon an hill.

17 Therefore will the Lord waite, that he may have mercy upon you, and therefore will he be exalted, that he may have compassion upon you: for the Lord is the God of judgment. Blessed are all they that waite for him.

18 Surely a people shall dwell in Zion, and in Jerusalem: thou shalt weepe no more: for thou shalt certainly have mercy upon thee at the voyce of thy cry: when hee heareth thee, he will answer thee.

19 And when the Lord hath given you the head of adversity, and the water of affliction, thy raine shall be no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see thyl raine.

20 And thine eares shall heare a voyde whisper thee, saying: This is the way, walke ye in it, when thou turnest to the right hande, and when thou turnest to the left.

21 And ye shall pollute the covering of the images of silver, and the rich ornament of thine images of gold, and cast them away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt say unto it: Get thee hence.

22 Then shall hee give raine unto thy seed, when thou shalt sowe the ground, and head of the increase of the earth, and it shall be fat, and as oyle: in that day shall thy cattell be fed in large pastures.

23 The open also and the pong asses, that till the ground, shall eate cleane provender, which is sowne with the shone, and with the same.

24 And upon every hill = mountaine, and upon every hill shall there be rivers and fennes of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers shall fall.

25 Moreover, the light of the moone shall be as the light of the sunne, and the light of the sunne shall be seven fold, and the light of seven dayes in the day that the Lord shall binde up the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound.

26 Behold, the name of the Lord cometh from farre, his face is burning, and the heaven thereof is deare: his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue as a devouring fire.

27 Sometimes the brightness of the Sonne: for by which are two excellent creatures, he sheweth the children of God in the kingdom of glory against the Assyrians, the chiefe enemy of the people of God.

28 And his spirit is as a river that overfloweth up to the necke: it bindeth a slender, to lame the nations with the fenne of vanity, and there shall be a bulke to cause them to erre in the lawes of the people.

29 But there shall be a song unto you as in the night, when a solemn feast is kept: and gladness of heart, as he that cometh with a pipe to goe unto the mount of the Lord, to the strength of one of Israel.

30 And the Lord shall cause his glorious voyce to be heard, and shall declare the lighting downe of his arme, with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a devouring fire, with scattering and tempest, and hailstones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lord shall Asur be destroyed, which smote with the rodde.

32 And in every place that the fenne shall passe, it shall = cleave fast, which the Lord shall lay upon him with = sabres and harps, and with battels, and lifting up of hands shall he fight against it.

1 Hee will forsake them that forsake God, and seeke for the helpe of men.

VW De unto them that goe downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay upon horses, and trust in chariots, because they are many, and in horsemen, because they be very strong: but they looke not unto the holy one of Israel, nor = seeke unto the Lord.

2 But he yet is = wisest: therefore he will bring euill, and not turne backe his ward, but he will arise against the house of the wicked, and against the helpe of them that make vanity.

3 For the Egyptians are men, and not God, and their horses flesh, and not strength: and when the Lord shall stretch out his hand, the helper shall fall, and hee that is holpen shall fall, and they shall altogether fall.

4 For thus hath the Lord spoken unto mee, As the lyon or lyon whelp roareth upon his prey, against whom is a multitude of shepherds, hee is called, hee will not be afraid at their voyce, neither will the Egyptians, humble himselfe at their voyce: so shall and so forsake

2. At the noise of the tumult, the people flee: at thine exalting, the nations were scattered.

3. And your people shall bee gathered like the gathering of caterpillars: and he shall goe against him like the leaping of grasshoppers.

4. The Lord is exalted: for hee dwelleth on high: he hath filled Zion with iudgement and justice.

5. And there shall bee stabilitie of thy times, strength, saluation, wisdom and knowledge: for the feare of the Lord shall bee his realitie.

6. Behold, their messengers shall cry without, and the ambassadours of peace shall receiue bitterly.

7. The paths are waste: the wayfarer cannot enter: hee hath broken the couenant: he hath contemned the cities: hee regarded not man.

8. The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is ashamed, and between downe: Sharon is like a wilderness, and Bashan is broken and Carmel.

9. How will I arise, saith the Lord: now will I bee exalted, now will I sit up on my seats.

10. A pee shall conceale chaits, and bring forth trouble: the fire of your breath shall consume you.

11. And the people shall bee as the burning of thornes: and as the thornes cut by, shall they be burnt in the fire.

12. Heare, ye that are farre off, what I haue said, and ye that are neere, know my power.

13. The sinners in Zion are afraid: a lease is found vpon the hypocrites: who among vs shall dwell with the deuouring fire? who among vs shall dwell with the cruel burning?

14. For that thou wast in iustice, and speakest righteous things, refusing game of appetite, shaking his hands from taking of gifts, stopping his eares from hearing of blood, and shutting his eyes from seeing evil.

15. Hee shall dwell on high: his defence shall bee the munitions of rocks: bread shall bee giuen him, and his waters shall bee sure.

16. Whome they of Ierusalem sent to inquire of, These are the wordes of the Ambassadours, which came from Saneherib. Which was a plentiful Church. This is spoken against the enemies, who are our owne: but hee sheweth that their enterprise is vaine, and that the fire, which they had kindled for our destruction, shall be their owne. His vengeance shall bee so great, that he will not talke thereof. Which doe not beleue in the Prophet, and the assurance of their deliuerance, that God will be a sure defence to all them that line in iustice.

17. Thine eyes shall see the King in his glory: they shall beholde the land: farre off.

18. Thine heart shall meditate feare, where is the Scribe: where is the recorder? where is hee that counteth the towers?

19. Thou shalt not see a fiercer people, a people of darke speech, that thou canst not perceiue, and of a stammering tongue, that thou canst not understand.

20. Lookes vpon Zion the cite of our strong holdes: thine eyes shall see Ierusalem a quiet habitation, a Tabernacle that cannot bee remooued, and the stakes thereof can neuer bee taken away, neither shall any of the cordes thereof bee broken.

21. For surely there the mighty Lord will bee vnto vs, as a place of floodes and broad riuers, whereby shall passe no shippe with oares, neither shall a great shippe passe threby.

22. For the Lord is our Iudge, the Lord is our King: he will saue vs.

23. Thy coardes are loosed: they could not well strengthen their mass, neither could they spread the saille: then shall the prayer bee deuoted for a great people: yea, the lame shall take away the praye.

24. And none inhabitant shall say, I am sick: the people that dwell therein, shall haue their iniquitie forgiven.

25. Let vs be content with this small river of Shiloah, and not desire the great streames and riuers, whereby the enemies may bring in shippes, and destroy vs. A Hee delieth the Assyrians and enemies of the Church, declaring their destruction, as they that perish by shipwracke. Hee comforteth the Church, and sheweth that they shall be enriched with all benefits both of body and soule.

1. Hee sheweth that God punisheth the wicked for the loue that he beareth toward his Church.

2. Come neere, ye nations and heare, and bearken, ye people: let the earth heare, and all that is therein, the world and all that dwelleth therein.

3. For the indignation of the Lord is vpon all nations, and his wrath vpon all their armies: he hath destroyed them and heimured them to the slaughter.

4. And their name shall bee cast out, and their stinke shall come out of their bodies, and the mountaines shall bee melted with their blood.

5. And all the host of heauen shall be dissolved, and the heauens shall be folded like a booke: and all their hostes shall fall as the leafe falleth from the vine, and as it falleth from the figge tree.

1. Hee propheseth of the destruction of the Edomites and other nations which were enemies to the Church.

2. God hath determined in his counsell, and hath giuen sentence of their destruction.

3. Hee speaketh this in respect of mans iudgement, who in great feare and horrible trouble thinketh that heauen and earth perisheth, and I haue determined in my secret counsell, and in the heauen to destroy them, til my sword be weary with shedding blood.

Hezekiah is sick. 5 He is restored to health by the Lord, and liueth fifteene yeeres after. 30 He gouerneth for his benefite.

Nowe that a time was Hezekiah sick unto the death, and the Prophet Isaiah came vnto him, and said
vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lord, But thine life shall be in an other, for thou shalt die, and not

Then Hezekiah turned his face to the wall, and prayed to the Lord.

And said, I beseech thee, Lord, remember me how I haue walked before thee in truth, and with a perfect heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight : and thy prayer was for me.

Then came the word of the Lord to Isaiah, saying,

Go, and say vnto Hezekiah, Thus saith the Lord God of David thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and seene thy teares:
Behold, I will adde vnto thy dayes fifteene
yeeres.

And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the king of Ashur, and this citie: for
I will defend this citie.

And this signe shalt thou haue of the Lord, that the Lord will doe this thing that he hath spoken,

11 So that a man cannot make an idole, but hee must doe that, which God detesteth and abhorreth: for he chuseth his owne deuises, and forsaketh the Lords.

12 Meaning, the Chaldeans.

13 That is, Cyrus, who shall doe all things in my Name, and by my direction: whereby he meaneth, that both their captiuitie, and deliuerance shall be ordered by Gods providence and appointment. x Both of the Chaldeans and others. y Meaning, that none of the Gentiles gods can worke any of these things. z That is, the Israelites, which returne from the captiuitie. a To wit, a continual succession of Prophets and ministers. b When I looked whether the idols could doe these things, I found that they had neither wisdom nor power to doe any thing: therefore be concludeth that all are wicked, which trust in such vanities.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The obedience and humilitie of Christ. 6 Why he was sent into the world. 11 The vocation of the Gentiles.

a That is, Christ, who in respect of his manhood is called here servant. The Prophets vs to make mention of Christ after that they have declared any great promise, because hee is the foundation whereupon all the promises are made and ratified. b For I haue committed all my power to him, as to a most faithfull steward. Some reade, I will establish him, to wit, in his office, by giuing him the fulnesse of my Spirit. c He onely is acceptable vnto me, and they that come vnto me by him: for there is no other meane of reconciliation, Mat. 23. 12. Eph. 1. 4. d He shall declare himselfe gouernour ouer the Gentiles, and call them by his word, and rule them by his Spirit. e His coming shall not be with pompe and noise, as earthly princes, Beholde, my seruant: I will say vpon him: mine elect, in whom my soule delighted: I haue put my Spirit vpon him: he shall bring forth iudgement to the Gentiles.

2 He shall not cry, nor lift vp, nor cause

his voice to be heard in the street. 3 I will not be like the roaring of a lion, nor like the bellowing of an ox: for he shall be like a meeke and lowly sheepe.

4 He shall not strife, nor shall he cry, neither shall he lift up his voice, neither shall he be heard in the street.

5 He shall not strive, neither shall he cry, neither shall he lift up his voice, neither shall he be heard in the street.

6 He shall be like a meeke and lowly sheepe, which is led to the slaughter, and as a lambe which is led to the slaughter, he shall not open his mouth.

7 He shall be led as a lambe to the slaughter, and as a meeke and lowly sheepe, which is led to the slaughter, he shall not open his mouth.

8 He shall be led as a lambe to the slaughter, and as a meeke and lowly sheepe, which is led to the slaughter, he shall not open his mouth.

such as my messenger, that I sent: who was of the posterie, & blind as the Lorde was: he was opening the eyes, but he heared not.

10 The Lorde is willing for his righte-ousnes sake that he may magnifie the Law, and exalt it.

11 Thus this people is robbed and spoyled, and shall be all shamed in dungeons, and shall be in prison houses: they shall be as a snare, and none shall deliver; a snare,
and none shall say, Release.

12 After mourning you shall hearken to me, and shall heere, and heere for after:
heere?

13 Also have I asked for a spoile, and delivered to the robbers: I did not the Lorde, because we have sinned against him: for they could not make in his wrath, neither be obedient to his Law.

14 Therefore he hath punished upon him
for their wrath, and the strength of battell:
and he set him on fire round about, and hee burnt him, and it burned him up, yet he confessed not.

15 Hee hath spoiled. Meaning, Gods wrath.

CHAP. XLIIII.

1 The Lorde comforteth his people. He promisseth deliverance to the Iewes. 11 There is no God but our God.

1 Thus saith the Lorde, that createth the earth, O Iacob: and he that saith, I will be to Israel: I fear not: for I have resolved that I have called thee by my Name, thou art mine.

2 When thou hast thought the water was, I will be with thee, and thou shalt know, that they doe not overflow thee.
When thou shalt tread the very fire, thou shalt not be burnt, neither shall the heat kindle upon thee.

3 For I am the Lorde thy God, the holy one of Israel, thy Saviour: I gave Egypt
for ransome, Ethiopia, & Saba for thee.

4 Because thou wast precious in my eye, and thou wast honourable, and I loved thee, therefore will I give a man for thee, and people for thy sake.

5 Feare not for I am with thee: I will bring thee from the East, and gather thee from the West.

6 I will say to the North, Give: and to the South, Keepe not backt: bring my servants from farre, and my daughters from the ends of the earth.

7 Every one that he called by my Name:
for I created him for my glory, formed him
and made him.

8 I will bring forth the blind people, and they shall have eyes, and the deafe, and they shall have eares,

9 Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this, or fortie: or times things: let them bring forth their wit-nesse, that they may be satisfied: but let them
heare, and say, It is true.

10 You are my witnesses, saith the Lorde, and my servant, whom I have chosen: therefore ye shall know and believe me,
and ye shall understand that I am: I before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.

11 I, even I am the Lorde, and beside me
there is no Saviour.

12 I have declared, and I have saved,
and I have shewed, when there was no strange God among you: therefore you are my witnesses, saith the Lorde, that I am
God.

13 Yea, before the day was, I am, and there is none that can deliver out of mine hand: I will doe it, and who shall let it?

14 Thus saith the Lorde your redeemer,
the holy one of Israel, For your sake I have sent to Babel, and brought it down: they are all fugitives, and the Caldeans cry in the ships.

15 I, I am the Lorde your holy one, the redeemer of Israel, your king.

16 Thus saith the Lorde which maketh
a way in the sea, and a path in the mighty waters,

17 When hee bringeth out the chariot
and hoile, the armie, and the power is together, and shall not rise: they are extinct, and quashed as towne.

18 Remember ye not the former things,
neither regard the things of old.

19 Behold, I doe a new thing: now shall it come forth: shall you not know it? I will even make a way in the desert, and floods in
the wilderness.

20 The wilde beasts shall honour mee,
the dragons, and the oshiches, because I gave water in the desert, and floods in the wildernes to give drinke to my people, even to mine elect.

21 This people have I formed for my selfe: they shall shew forth my glorie.

22 And thou hast not called upon mee,
O Iacob, but thou hast wearied mee, O
Israel.

23 Thou hast not brought me the sheep of the burnt offerings, neither hast thou honoured mee with thy sacrifices. I have not caused thee to serve with an offering, nor wearied thee with incense.

24 Thou shalt not bring forth the deliverance out of Babylon, should be more famous than that from Egypt was, Iere. 23. 7. hag. 2. 10. 3. corinth. 5. 17. reuelat. 21. 2.
u They shal have such abundance of all things as they returne home, even in the drie and barren places, that the very beasts shal feede my benefits, and shall acknowledge them: much more man oughte bee thankfull for the same. y Because thou hast not willingly received that which I did command thee, thou diddest greue mee. Whereby he sheweth that his mercies were the only cause of their deliverance, so much as they had deserved the contrarie. z Meaning, in this faith and obedience.

h Signifying that no power
can resist him in doing this miraculous worke,
nor all their idols
are able to doe
the like, as chap.
41. 22.

b Thou hast made me to bear an heavy burden by thy sinnes.

c If I forget any thing that may make for thy justification, put me in remembrance and speake for thy selfe. d Thine ancessors. e Thy priests and thy prophets. f That is, rejected, abhorred, and destroyed them in the wilderness, and at other times.

24 Thou boughtest me no silver. e Thou with money, neither hast thou made me to dwell with the face of the sacrificers, but thou hast made me to dwell with thy sinnes, and wastest me with thine iniquities.

25 y, cum I am here that utterly hate their iniquities for mine own sake, and will not remember thy sinnes.

26 But in remembrance: let be bee judged together count thou that thou maiest be justified.

27 Thy first father hath sinned, and thy teachers have transgressed against me.

28 Therefore I have purged the rulers of the sanctuary, and have made Iacob a curse, and Israel a reproch.

CHAP. XLIII.

g The Lord purgeth comfort, and that he will assemble his Church of divers nations. h The vanity of idols. i The foolishness of idolaters.

Y Et now heare, O Iacob my servant, and Israel, whom I have chosen.

2 Thus saith the Lord that made thee, and formed thee from the wombe: hee will helpe thee. I am not, O Iacob, my servant, and thou righterous: whom I have chosen.

3 For I will powre water upon the thirstie, and floods upon the dry ground: I will poure my Spirit upon the deserts, and my blessing upon the buds.

4 And they shall growe as among the graffe, and as the willowes by the rimmes of waters.

5 One shall say, I am the Lord: another shall be called by the name of Iacob: and another shall subscribe with his hand unto the Lord, and name himselfe by the name of Israel.

6 Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel, and his redeemer the Lord of hostes, I am the first, and I am the last, and without me there is no God.

7 And who is like mee, that shall call, and shall declare it, and set it in order before mee, since I appointed the ancient people: and what is at hand, and what things are to come? let them shew unto them.

8 Feare ye not, neither be afraid: have not I tolde thee of old, and have declared it: ye are even my witnesses, whether there be a God beside mee, and that there is no God that I know not.

9 All they that make an image, are vanity, and their delectable things shall no.

By this diversity of speech, he meaneth one thing, that is, that the people shall bee holy and receive the true religion of God, as Psalme 87. 5.

f I am always like my selfe, that is, mercifull toward my Church, and most able to maineine it, as chap. 41. 4, and 48. 12. reuelat. 1. 7, and 22. 13.

g And appoint them that shall deliuer the Church. h That is, declare vnto mee, howe I ought to proceede herein. i God calleth the Israelites ancient, because hee preferred them to all other, in his eternal election.

thing: and they are their own selves: that they be not made for thee: that they shall be confounded.

10 And what made a god, an image, that is, a sensible for nothing.

11 Behold, all that are at the table thereof shall bee consumed: for the workers themselves are meet: let all them be gathered together, and stand up, yet they shall feare, and be confounded together.

12 The smith called an instrument, and worketh in the coles, and fashioneth hammer, and worketh it with the anvil of his armes: yea, he is an hungered, and strength faileth: hee thinketh no more, he is faint.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line, fashioneth it with a red thread, he planeth it, and hee purtyeth it with the compass, and maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beauty of a man that shall remaine in an house.

14 He will hew him downe cedars, and take the pine tree, and the oke, and shall courage among the trees of the forest: hee planteth a fere tree, and the same becometh rich it.

15 And man burneth thereof: for he will take thereof and warm himselfe: hee also kindleth it and baketh bread, yet hee maketh a god and worshipping it: hee maketh it an idol, and boweth vnto it.

16 Hee burneth the halfe thereof in the fire, and vpon the halfe thereof hee sacrificeth: hee eateth the rolle and is fullen: hee is wasteth himselfe and sayeth, Ah, I am warme, I have bene at the fire.

17 Has the residue thereof beene made a god, even his colles: he burneth vnto it, and worshippeth and boweth vnto it, and sayeth, Deliuer me: for thou art my God.

18 They haue not knownen, nor understood: for God hath shewen their eyes that they cannot see, and their hearts, that they cannot understand.

19 And none considered in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor understanding to say, I haue burne halfe of it, such in the fire, and haue baketh bread vpon the coales thereof: I haue roasted flesh, and eaten it, and shall I make the residue thereof an abomination: shall I bow to the stocks of a tree?

20 Hee feedeth of ashes: a sated hee hath deceived him, that hee cannot deliuer his soule, no say, Is there not a lie in my right hand?

idolaters, which forget their owne necessities to be devoted towards their idoles. t To place it in the way.

u See hereth forth the obstinacie and malice of idolaters, which though they see by dayly experience that they be better then the rest of the matter whereof they are made, yet they refuse the one part, and make a god of the other, and make their owne god, and the rest of their idoles.

x They either maketh a table or trencher. y The people are an answer to all them that wonder how it is possible that bee so blinde to commit such abomination, saying, hee blinded their eyes, and hardened their hearts.

z Hee is abused as one that would eat when hee is hungry.

22 Remember thee, O Iacob and Israel: for thou art my servant: I have forgiven thee: thou art my servant: O Israel forget me not.

23 I have put away thy transgressions like a cloud, and thy iniquities as a mist: turne unto me, for I have redeemed thee.

24 Rejoyce yee heavens: for the Lord hath done it: he hath, yee lower partes of the earth: he hath smitten into playes, yee mountains, O forest, and every tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Iacob, and will be glorified in Israel.

25 Thus saith the Lord thy redeemer, and he that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lord that made all things, that spread out the heavens alone, and stretched out the earth by my selfe.

26 I destroy the tokens of the soothsayers, and make them that coniecture, fooles, and turne the wise men backward, & make their knowledge foolishnesse.

27 We confirmed the word of his servants, and performed the counsel of his messengers, saying to Jerusalem, Thou shalt be inhabited: and to the cities of Judah, Ye shall be built up, and I will repaire the decayed places thereof.

29 He saith to Cyrus, Thou art my shepherd: and hee shall performe all my desire: saying also to Jerusalem, Thou shalt be built: and to the Temple, Thy foundation shall be surely laide.

30 And the rest of his Prophets, which did assure the Church of his favour and deliverance. e Hee sheweth that Gods worke had no lesse notable in this their deliverance, then when hee brought out of Egypt through the Sea. f To assure them of his favour, he nameth the person, by whom it should be, more than any other before he was borne.

C H A P. XLV.

1 The deliverance of the people by Cyrus. 9 God is sufficient in all his workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

Thus saith the Lord unto Cyrus his anointed, whose right hand I have holden: to subdue nations before him: there he will I weaken the loynes of kings, and open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut.

2 I will goe before thee and make the crooked straight: I will breake the brazen doores, and burle the yron barres.

3 And I will giue thee the treasures of darkness, and the things hid in secret places, that thou mayest know that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, even the God of Israel.

4 For Iacob my servants I sake, and Israel mine elect, I will euen call thee by thy name, and name thee, though thou hast not known me.

5 I will take away all impediments of my people. d I will take away all impediments.

6 Not that Cyrus did know God to worship him: hee had a certaine particular knowledge, as prophag men have power, and so was compelled to deliver Gods people: but in any thing that is in thee, or for thy worstness.

7 I am the Lord and there is none other: there is no God beside me: I have given thee thought: thou hast not known me.

8 That they may know from the rising of the sunne and from the West, that there is none besides me: I am the Lord, and there is none other.

9 I forme the light and create darkness: I make peace and create evil: I the Lord doe all these things.

10 See heavens send the dew from above, and let the cloudes droppe downe righteousness: let the earth open, and let saluation and iudice grow forth: let it bring them forth together: I the Lord have created him.

11 Alloe bee vnto him that striveth with his maker, the porter with the porter of the earth: shall the clay say to him that fashioneth it, What makest thou? or thy worke? It hath none handes.

12 Alloe vnto him that saith to his father, What hast thou begotten? or to his mother, What hast thou brought forth?

13 Thus saith the Lord, the Holy one of Israel, and his maker, Aske me of things to come concerning my sonnes, and concerning the workes of mine handes: command you me.

14 I have made the earth, and created man upon it: I, whose hands have spread out the heavens, I have euen commanded all their armies.

15 I have rayled him by in righteousness, and I will direct all his wayes: he shall build my citie, and hee shall let goe my captiues, not for a quice nor reward, saith the Lord of hosts.

16 Thus saith the Lord, The labour of Egypt, and the marchandise of Ethiopia, and of the Sabaeans, men of stature shall come vnto thee, and they shall be thine: they shall follow thee, and shall goe in chains: they shall fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee, saying, Surely, God is in thee, and there is none other God besides thee.

17 Verily thou, O God, hidest thy selfe, O God, the lausour of Israel.

18 All they shall be ashamed and also confounded: they shall goe to confusion together, that are the makers of images.

19 But Israel shall be saved in the Lord, with an everlasting saluation: yee shall not be ashamed nor confounded, world without ende.

20 For thus saith the Lord (that created heaven, God himselfe, that formed the earth, at our commandement. Some reade it with an interrogation, and make it the application of the similitude. o That is, the starres, p To wit, Cyrus, that I may shew by him the faithfulness of my promise in delivering my people. p Meaning, freely, and without ransom, or any grievous condition. r These people were tributaries to the Persians, and so King Artabastax gave this money toward the building of the Temple, Ezra 7.21. f Whereas before they were thine enemies, they shall now honour thee, and thou shalt rule the multitude which was accomplished in the time of Christ. e Hereby he exhorteth the Jewes to patience, though their deliverance be deferred for a time: shewing that they should not repent their long patience, but the wicked and idolaters shall be destroyed.

g I have given thee strength, power and authority, h I find peace and warre, prosperity, and adversity, as Amos 3.6.

i He comforteth the Jewes, as if he would say, Though when yee looke to the heavens, & earth for succour, yee see nothing now but signes of Gods wrath, yet I will cause them to bring forth most certaine tokens of your deliverance, and of the performance of my promise, which is made by righteousness, k I have appointed Cyrus to this use and purpose. l Hereby he brideth their impatience, which in a disorderly and trouble murmure against God, and will not take his pleasure: willing that man should match with his like, and not contend against God. m That is, it is not pettily made.

n In stead of murmuring, humble your selves, and aske what ye will see the consolation of my children, and you shall be sure of it, as ye are of these things which are

19 I haue not spoken in secret, neither in a place of darkness in the earth: I said not in vaine vnto the seed of Iacob, Heere you mee: I the Lord doe speake righteousness, and declare righteous things.

20 Assemble your selues, and come: I haue neere together, & yee abject of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that cannot saue them.

22 Looke vnto me, and ye shall be saued: all the ends of the earth shall bee saued: for I am God, and there is none other.

23 I haue sworne by my selfe: the word is gone out of my mouth in righteousness, and shall not returne, That every knee shall bowe vnto mee, and every tongue shall sweare by me.

24 Surely, he shall say, In the Lord haue I righteousness and strength: he shall come vnto him, and all that worship him, shall be ashamed.

25 The whole seede of Israel shall be iustified, and glorie in the Lord.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The destruction of Babylon and of their idoles.
3 He calleth the Jewes to the consideration of his works.

1 He is bowed downe: hee is fallen: their idoles were vpon the beastes, and vpon the cattell: they which did beare you, were laden with a wearie burden.

2 They are bowed downe, and fallen together: for they could not ridde them of the burden, and their soules is gone into captivity.

3 Heare ye me, O house of Iacob, and all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are borne of mee from the wombe, and brought vp of me from the birth.

4 Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen I will beare you vntill the hoare haire: I haue made you: I will also beare you, and I will carie you, and I will deliuer you.

5 To whom will ye make mee like, or make mee equal, or compare mee, that I should be like him?

a These were the chief idoles of Babylon.
b Because they were of gold and silver, the Medes and Persians caried them away.
c The Beastes that caried the idoles, fel downe vnder their burden.
d He derideth the idoles, which had neither soule nor sense.
e He sheweth the difference betweene the idoles and the true God: for they must be caried of other, but God himselfe carrieth his, as Deut. 32. 11. f Seeing I haue begotten you, I will nourish and preferre you for euer. g The people of God, seeing their owne calamitie, and the flourishing state of the Babylonians, should be tempted to thinke that their God was not so mightie as the idoles of their enemies: therefore hee describeth the originall of all the idoles, to make them to bee abhorred of all men: shewing that the most that can bee spoken in their commendation, is but to proue them vile, Baruch 6. 23.

6 They haue gold out of the bagges, and weigh silver in the balance, and hire a goldsmith to make a god of it, and they bow downe and worship it.

7 They beare it vpon the shoulders: they carie him and set him in his place: so doth hee stand, and cannot remouee from his place. Though one cry vnto him, yet can hee not answer, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.

8 Remember this, and be ashamed during it againe: to mind, O ye transgressors.

9 Remember the former things of olde: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me.

10 Which declare the last thing from the beginning: and from of olde, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stand, and I will doe whatsoeuer I will.

11 I call a bird from the East, and the man of my counsell from farre: as I haue spoken, so will I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I will doe it.

12 Heare me, yee stubborne hearted, that are farre from iustice.

13 I bring neere my iustice: it shall not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tarie: for I will giue saluation in Zion, and my glorie vnto Israel.

CHAP. XLVII.

The destruction of Babylon, and the causes wherefore.

1 Come downe and sitte in the dust, O Virgine, daughter Babel, first on the ground: there is no thyne, O daughters of the Chaldeas: for thou shalt no more be called, Tender and delicate.

2 Take the millstones, and grind meele: loose thy locks: make bare the feete: vncover the legges, and passe through the floods.

3 Thy steeple shall bee discouered, and thy shame shall bee seene: I will take vengeance, and I will not merce thee as a man.

4 Our redeemer, the Lord of hostes is his Name, the Holy one of Israel.

5 Sit still, and get thee into darkness: O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, The Labie of kingdoms.

6 I was wroth with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hand: thou diddest them no mercy, but thou diddest say thy very heate was yoke vpon the ancient.

7 And thou saydest, I shall be a Lady for euer, so that thou diddest not let thy minde to these things, neither didst thou remember the latter end thereof.

8 Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, and dwellest carelesly. Shee saith in her heart, I am and none else: I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall know the losse of children.

9 But these two things shall come to thee suddenly in one day, the losse of children, and widowhood, they shall come vpon thee.

b They abused Gods iudgements, thinking that he would vnto raelites, because he would vnto cast them off, and therefore of plying their miserie, thou diddest increase it.

in their perfection; for the multitude of iniquities, & for the great abundance of these inchanters.

10 For thou hast trusted in the wickedness: thou hast said, None shall see me. Thy wickedness & thy knowledge, they have called thee to rebell, and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none else.

11 Therefore shall evil come upon thee,
and thou shalt not know the meaning thereof: destruction shall fall upon thee, which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shall come upon thee suddenly, yet thou bearest.

12 Stand now among thine enchanters, and in the multitude of thy soothsayers (with whom thou hast) wearied thyself from thy mouth: if it be thou mayest have profit, or if it be thou mayest have strength.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the Astrologers, the diviners, and the soothsayers stand up, and save thee from these things, that shall come upon thee.

14 Behold, they shall be as stubble: the fire shall burne them: they shall not deliver thine own lives from the power of y flame:
there shall bee no coales = to warme at, nor light to thy fire.

15 Thus shall they see thee, with whom thou hast trusted thee, even the merchants from thy porch: every one that wander to his own quarter: none shall save thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The hyperbole of the Jewes reprooved. 21
The Lord alone will be worshipped. 20 Of their deliverance out of Babylon.

Hear ye this, O house of Isakob, which have = called by the name of Israhel, & are come out of the waters of Iudah: which floure by the flame of the Loyde, and make mention of the God of Israhel, but not in truth nor righteousness.

2 For they are called of the holy city, and say themselves = upon the God of Israhel, whose name is the Lord of hosts.

3 I have declared the former things of old, and they went out of my mouth, and I beheld = them: I did them suddenly, and they cannot passe.

4 Because I knew, that = thou art obstinate, and thy necke is as a yron siner, and thy browe haire.

5 Therefore I have declared it to thee
of old: before it came to passe, I shewed = it thee, lest thou shouldest say, Mine owne hath done them, and my cunning imag, & my molten image hath commanded them.

6 Thou hast heard, behold all this, and will not ye = declare it: I have shewed thee new things, even now, & hid things, which thou knewest not.

7 They are created now, and not of old,
and even before this thou heardest them not,

How thou shouldest bee delivered out of wilye: not acknowledge this my benefice and declare least thou shouldest say, Behold, I = know

them.

8 Per thou hearest them not, neither dost thou knowe them, neither yet was thine ear opened of old: for I knowe that thou wouldest grievously transgresse: therefore have I called thee a transgressor from the wombe.

9 For my flames sake will I defende my wirth, and for my praise will I refrain it from thee, = that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I have smitten thee, = but not as sluer: I have = chosen thee in the furnace of affliction.

11 For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake will I doe it: for how should my Name be polluted? = Surely I will not give my glory unto another.

12 Hear me, O Isakob, and Israhel my called, = I am, I am the first, and I am the last.

13 Surely mine hand hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heavens: when I call them,
they stand up together.

14 All ye, ascribe your selves, & heare:
which among them hath declared these things? = The Lord hath loved = him: he will doe his will in Babel, and his arm shall bee against the Chaldeans.

15 I, even I have spoken it, and I have called him, = I have brought him, and his way shall prosper.

16 Come neere unto me: heare ye this:
I have not spoken in secret from the beginning: from the time that the thing was,
I was there, = and now the Loyde God and his spirit hath = sent me.

17 Thus saith the Loyde thy Redeemer,
the holy one of Israhel, I am the Loyde thy God, which teach thee = to profite, and lead thee by the way, that thou shouldest goe.

18 Oh that thou haddest hearkened to my commandment: then had thy prosperitie bene as the flood, and thy righteousness as the waters of the dee.

19 Thy seede also had bene as the sand,
& the fruit of thy body like the grasse: thereof = his = name should not have bene cut off
nor destroyed before me.

20 = Go ye out of Babel: flee ye from the Chaldeans, with a voice of ioy: tell & declare this: = then it shall to the end of the earth:
say ye, = The Loyde hath redeemed his servant Isakob.

21 And they were not shirke: hee led them through the wilderness: he caused the waters to flowe out of the rocke for them:
for hee clave the rocke, and the water gushed
out.

22 There is no = peace, saith the Loyde, unto the wicked.

thee good. x That is, the prosperous estate of Israhel. y After that he had forwarned them of their captivitie, and the cause thereof, he sheweth the great ioy that shal come of their deliverance. z He sheweth that it shall be as easie to deliver them, as he did their fathers out of Egypt. a Thus he speaketh, that the wicked hypocrites should not abuse Gods promise, in whom was neither faith nor repentance, as Chap. 57. 31.

CHAP. XLIX.

a This is spoken in the person of Christ, to assure the faithful that these promises should come to passe: for they were all made in him, and in him should be performed.

b This is meant of the time that Christ should be manifested to the world, as Psa. 3. 7.

c By the sword and shaft, he signifies the vertue and efficacy of Christs doGrine.

d God hath taken me to his protection and defence: this chiefly is meant of Christ, and may also be applied to the ministers of his word.

e By Christ is meant Christ, and all the body of the faithful, as the members and their head.

f Thus Christ in his members complaineth that his labour and preaching take none effect, yet he is contented that his doings are approved of God.

g Though the Jews refuse my doGrine, yet God will approve my ministerie.

h To declare my Gospel to the Gentiles, Chap. 41. 6. 23. 3. 47. luk. 2. 31. i Meaning the Jewes whom tyrants kept in bondage. k The benefite of their deliverance shall be so great, that great and final shal acknowledge it, and reuerence God for it. l Thus he speaketh of his Church, when hee would shewe his mercy toward it. m Meaning, Christ alone. n Signifying, that before Christ renew the earth by his word, there is nothing but confusion and disorder. o To them that are in the prison of sinne and death. p Being in Christs protection, they shall bee safe against all dangers, and free from the care of the enemies. q Meaning that there should be nothing in their way from Babylon, that should hinder or hurt them; but this is accomplished spirituallly.

Hear ye me, O Isles, and hearken, ye people from farre. The Lord hath called me from the wombe, and made mention of my name from my mothers belly.

<sup>2</sup> And hee hath made my mouth like a sharpe sword: under the shadowe of his hand hath he hid me, and made me a chosen shaft, and hid me in his quiver.

<sup>3</sup> And sayd unto mee, Thou art my servant: Israel, for I will be glorious in thee.

<sup>4</sup> And I said, I have laboured in vaine: I have spent my strength in vaine: & for nothing: but my judgement is with the Lord, and my worke with my God.

<sup>5</sup> And now saueh the Lord that formed mee from the wombe to be his servant, that I may bring Jacob againe to him (though Israel be not gathered, yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shall be my strength.)

<sup>6</sup> And hee sayd, It is a small thing that thou shouldest be my servant, to raise up the tribes of Jacob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I will also giue thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou mayest be my salvation unto the ends of the world.

<sup>7</sup> Thus saith the Lord the redeemer of Israel, and his holy one, to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a servant of rulers, kings shall see, and ailes, and princes shall twouph, because of the Lord, that is faithful: and the holy one of Israel, which hath chosen thee.

<sup>8</sup> Thus saith the Lord, In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluation haue I helped thee: and I will preserve thee, and will giue thee for a covenant of the people, that thou mayest raise up the earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

<sup>9</sup> That thou mayest say to the prisoners, Go forth: and to them that are in darknes, Shew your selues: they shall see in the mayes, and their pastures shall be in all the tops of the hills.

<sup>10</sup> They shall not be hungry, neither shall they be thristie, neither shall the heate smite them, nor the sunne: for he that hath compassion on them, shall leade them: euen to the Springs of waters shall he giue them.

<sup>11</sup> And I will make all my mountaines, as a way, and my paths shalbe exalted.

<sup>12</sup> Beholde, they shall come from farre: and loe, these from the North, and from the West, and these from the land of Sinim.

<sup>13</sup> Reioyce, O heavens: and be ioyful, O earth: burst forth into praise, O mountaines: for God hath comforted his people, and will make mercie upon his afflicted.

<sup>14</sup> But Zion say, The Lord hath forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

<sup>15</sup> Can a woman forget her child, and not have compassion on the borne of her wombe, though they should forget, yet will I not forget thee.

<sup>16</sup> Behold, I have grauen thee upon the palme of mine handes: thy walls are ever in my sight.

<sup>17</sup> Thy builders make 7 hatts: thy destroyers and they that made thee waste, are departed from thee.

<sup>18</sup> Lift up thine eyes round about, and behold: all these gather themselves together, and come to thee: as I live, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely see them all upon thee as a garment, and gird thee with them as a girdle.

<sup>19</sup> For thy desolations, and thy waste places, and thy land destroyed, shall surely be now narrow for them that shall dwell in it, and they that devour thee, shall be sacrificed.

<sup>20</sup> The children of thy barrennes shall say againe in thine eares, The place is strait for me: giue place to me that I may dwell.

<sup>21</sup> Then shalt thou say in thine heart, Celbo hath begotten me these, seeing I am barren and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro: and who hath nourished them: behold, I was left alone: whence are these?

<sup>22</sup> Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will lift up mine hand to the Gentiles, and set up my standard in the people, and they shall bring the sonnes in their armes, and the daughters shall bee carried upon their shoulders.

<sup>23</sup> And kings shall bee thy nursing fathers, and Queenes shall bee thy nurses: they shall twouph thee with their faces toward the earth, and lick up the dust of thy feet: and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord: for they shall not be ashamed that waite for me.

<sup>25</sup> But thus saith the Lord, When the captiue of the mighty shall be taken away, and the prize of the tyrant shall be delivered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will save thy children.

<sup>26</sup> And will feede them that spoyle thee, with their owne flesh, and they shall bee drunken with their owne blood, as with head, and giue him all honour. d Hee maketh this an oblation, as though the Caldeans were strong, and had them in all possession. e This is the answer of this oblation, that none shall then the Lord, neither hath a more just title than thou. f I will cause them to destroy one another, as Iudges 7. 32. a Chap. 19. 2.

Forgetting: and all flesh shall know that I am the Lord thy Saviour & thy Redeemer, thy mighty Doer of Iahob.

CHAP. L.

1 The times forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 3 Christs obedience and victory.

Thus saith the Lord, Where is that bill of your mothers divorcement, wherein I have cast off: or who is the creditor: to who I owe you? Beholde, for your iniquities are in hid, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 Wherefore came I, and there was no man: I called, and none answered: is mine hand is shortened, that it cannot helpe: or have I no power to deliver? Behold, at my rebuke I will dry the sea: I will make the floods
drye: their fish rosted for want of water, and breeth for thirst.

3 I clothe the heavens with darkenesse,
and make a sacke their covering.

4 The Lord God hath given mee a tongue of the learned, that I should know to answer a word in time to him that is: I wa-rite: he will raise mee up in the morning: in the morning he will waken mine eare to heare: as the learned.

5 The Lord God hath opened mine eare, and I was not rebellious: neither turned I
backe.

6 I gave my backe unto the smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hid not my face from shame and spetting.

7 For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore have I said like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed.

8 He is neere that iustifieth me: who will contend with mee? Let vs stand together:
who is mine aduersarie? let him come neere
to mee.

9 Behold, the Lord God will helpe me:
who is he that can condemne mee? loe, they shall waxe old as a garment: the moth shall eate them up.

10 Alho is among you that feareth the Lorde, let him heare the voyce of his seruant: he that walketh in darkenes, and hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, and stay upon his God.

11 Behold, all you kinde of a fire, and are kindled about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fire, and in the sparkes that pee have kindled. This shall yee haue of mine hand: yee shall lie downe in sorrow.

12 I have kindled affliction and misery. I
As they that are taught, and I did not shrinke from God for any persecution. Whereby he sheweth that the true ministers of God are not to be moved by the persecutions of the wicked but after the measure of their comfort. I Shewing that it is a rare thing when they should obey aight Gods true ministers, though they be persecuted from hel to heauen. m You have sought confession of your sinnes, and have refused the light and consolation which God hath offered: therefore yee shall remaine in sorrow, and in darkness.

CHAP. LI.

1 To trust in God alone by Abrahams example.

7 Not to feare men. 27 The great affliction of Jerusalem, 22 and her deliverance.

Hear me, ye that follow after righteousnes, & ye that seek the Lord: look unto the rocks, whence ye are hewn, and to the hole of the pit whence ye are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone,
and blessed him, and increased him.

3 Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion:
he shall comfort all her desolations, & he shall make her desert like Eden, and her wildernes like the garden of the Lord: joy & glad-nesse shall be found therein: prayse, and the voyce of singing.

4 I speake unto mee, my people, and give eare unto mee, O my people: for a Lawe shall proceede from mee, and I will bring forth my iudgement for the light of the people.

5 My righteousness is neere: my saluation goeth forth, and mine armes shall iudge
the people: the yles shall wait for me, and shall trust unto mine arme.

6 Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and looke vpon the earth beneath: for the hea-uens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall waxe olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like manner: but my saluation shall bee for ever,
and my righteousness shall not bee abandoned.

7 I speake unto me, ye that know righteousnesse, the people in whose heart is my Law. Feare ye not the reproch of men, neither be ye afraid of their rebukes.

8 For the moth shall eate them up like a garment, and the worme shall eate them like wooll: but my righteousness shall be for ever, and my saluation from generation to generation.

9 Rise up, rise up, and put on strength,
O arme of the Lord: rise up, as in the old time in the generations of the world. Arise not thou the same, that hath cut Rahab, and wounded the dragon?

10 Art not thou the same which hast dui-
ed the sea, even the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the sea a way for the redeemed to passe over?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne, and come with ioy vnto Zion,
and euertlasting ioy shall be vpon their head:
they shall obtaine ioy and gladnes: and sorrow
and mourning shall flee away.

12 I, even I am he, that comfort you. Alho art thou, that thou shouldst feare a mortall man, and the sonne of man, which shall bee made as grasse?

13 And forgettest the Lorde thy maker,
that hath spread out the heavens, and layed
the foundations of the earth: and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is ready to destroy: where is now the rage of the oppres-sour?

14 The captiue is halseth to bee loosed, and that he should not die in the pit, nor that his bread should faile.

15 And I am the Lorde thy God that dis-

all the sonnes, whome thee hath brought forth: there is none that taketh her by the hand of all the sonnes that thee hath brought up.

19 These two things are come vnto thee: who wilt lament thee? desolation and destruction, and famine, and the sword: by whom shall I comfort thee?

20 Thy sonnes haue fainted, & lie at the head of all the streets as a wild bull in a net, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, and rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare now this, thou miserable and drunken, but not with wine.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Behold, I haue taken out of thine hand the cup of trembling, even the dregs of the cup of my wrath: thou shalt drinke it no more.

23 But I will put it into their hand that people thee: which haue sayd to thy soule,
Behold, we haue sayd to thy soule, and thou shalt sayd thy body as the ground, and as the
streets, to them that went ouer.

24 But I will put it into their hand that
people thee: which haue sayd to thy soule,
Behold, we haue sayd to thy soule, and thou
shalt sayd thy body as the ground, and as the
streets, to them that went ouer.

1 A consolation to the people of God. 7 Of the messengers thereof.

A Rise, arise: put on thy strength, O Zion:
A put on the garments of thy beautie, O
Jerusalem, the holy citie: for henceforth there shall no more come into thee the uncircumcised and the vncircumcised.

2 Shake thy selfe from the dust: arise and sit downe, O Jerusalem: loose the bands of thy necke, O thou captive hang-ter, Zion.

3 For thus saith the Lord, De were sold for nought: therefore shall yet be redeemed without money.

4 For thus saith the Lord God, My people went downe aforetime into Egypt to sojourn there, & Assur oppressed them without cause.

5 Nowe therefore what haue I here, saith the Lord, that my people is taken away for nought, and they that rule ouer
them, make them to howle, saith the Lord:

1 He is despised and reierced of men: he is a man full of sorowes, and hath experienced of infirmities: wee hld as it were our faces from him: hee was despised, and wee shewd him not.

2 Surely he hath borne our infirmities, and carried our sorowes: yet we did notudge him as a plague, and smit of God, and smit him.

3 But hee was wounded for our transgressions, hee was broken for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him, and with his stripes we are healed.

4 All we like sheepe haue gone astray, we haue turned euery one to his owne way, and the Lord hath laide vpon him the iniquities of vs all.

5 He was oppressed, and hee was afflicted, yet did he not open his mouth: hee is bought as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before her shearer is dumme, so hee opened not his mouth.

6 Hee was taken out from prison, and from iudgement: and who shal declare his age? for hee was cut out of the land of the liuing for the transgression of my people was he punished.

7 And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the rich in his death, though he had done no wickednesse, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

8 Yet I would heaue him, & make him subject to infirmities: when hee shall see his seed, & shall prolong his dayes, & the will of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

9 He shall see of the trouble of his soule, and hee shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous seruant iustifie many: for hee shall beare their iniquities.

10 Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and hee shall diuide the spoyle with the strong, because hee hath powred out his soule vnto death, and hee was counted among the transgressors, and he beare the sinne of many, and prayed for the trespassers.

11 He delivered him into the hands of the wicked, and hee was counted among them that curse: who would doe him world to doe with him what they would. o Christ thou shalt beleeue that hee shall giue life to his Church, & so cause them to be in euer. p That is, the fruite and effect of his laboure, which is the saluation of his Church. q Christ shal iustifie by his word, whereas Moses could not iustifie by the Law. r Hee was counted himselfe, therefore hee shal be exalted to glory. s That is, of all that beleeue in him.

4 Feare not: for thou shalt not be ashamed, neither shalt thou bee confounded: for thou shalt not be put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy youth, and shalt not remember the reproch of thy widowhood any more.

5 For hee that made thee, is thine husband (whose name is the Lord of hostes) and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel, shall be called the God of the whole world.

6 For the Lord hath called thee, being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirit, and as a young wife when thou wast refused, saith the Lord.

7 For a little while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee.

8 For a moment in mine anger I hid my face from thee for a little season, but with euermourning mercy haue I had compassion on thee, saith the Lord thy redeemer.

9 For this is vnto mee as the waters of Shoa: for as I haue thome that the waters of Shoa should narme goe ouer the earth, so haue I thome that I would not be angry with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountains shall remove, and the hills shall fall downe: but my mercie shall not depart from thee, neither shall the covenant of thy peace fall away, saith the Lord, that hath compassion on thee.

11 O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, behold, I will lay thy stones with the carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with sapphires.

12 And I will make thy windowes of Emeraude, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 And all thy children shall bee taught of the Lord, and much peace shall bee to thy children.

14 In righteousness shalt thou bee established, and be farre from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shall not come neere thee.

15 Behold, the enimie shall gather himselfe, but without meet: whosoever shall gather himselfe in thee, against thee, shall fall.

16 Behold, I haue created the smith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and him that bringeth forth an instrument for his works, and I haue created the destroyer to destroy.

17 But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and thy tongue, that shall rise against thee in iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lordes seruants,

CHAP. LV.

1 An exhortation to come to Christ. 8 Gods mercies are not as manns. 12 The joy of the faithful.

a Christ by proposing his graces and gifts to his Church, exempteth the hypocrites which are full with their imagined works, and the Epicures, which are full with their worldly lusts, and so thirst not after these waters. b Signifying, that Gods benefits cannot be bought for money. c By waters, wine, milke and bread, he meaneth all things necessarie to the spiritual life, as these are necessarie to this corporall life. d He reprooveth their ingratitude, which refuse those things that God offereth willingly, and in the meane time spare neither cost nor labour to obteine those which are nothing profitable. e You shall be fed abundantly. f The same covenant, which through my mercie I ratified and confirmed to David that it should be eternall, 3. Sam. 7. 23. Act. 13. 34. g Meaning, Christ, of whom David was a figure. h To wit, the Gentiles, which before thou diddest not receive to be thy people. i When he offereth himselfe by the preaching of his word, k Hereby he sheweth that repentance must be joyed with faith, and now we cannot call vpon God aright, except the fruites of our faith appeare. l Although you are not soone reconciled one to another, and iudge mee by your felues, yet I am most easie to be reconciled, yea, I offer my mercies to you. m If these small things have their effect, as dayly experience sheweth, much more shall my promise which I have made and confirmed, bring to passe the things which I have spoken for your deliuerance, n See Chap. 44. 23. and 49. 13.

W, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that have no silver, come, buy, and eate: come, I say, buy wine and milke without silver and without money.

2 Therefore doe ye lay out silver and not for bread: and your labour without being satisfied: hearken diligently unto mee, and eate that which is good, and let your soule delight in fatnesse.

3 Encline your eares, and come unto mee: heare, and your soule shall live, and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, even the sure mercies of David.

4 Behold, I gave a him for a witnesse to the people, for a Prince and a master unto the people.

5 Behold, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and a nation that knoweth not thee, shall runne unto thee, because of the Lord thy God, and the holy one of Israel: for he hath glorified thee.

6 Seek ye the Lord while he may: be found, call ye vpon him while he is neere.

7 Let the wicked forsake his wayes, and the unrighteous his owne imaginations, and returne unto the Lord, and he will have mercy vpon him: and to our God, for he is very ready to forgive.

8 For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your wayes my wayes, saith the Lord.

9 For as the heauens are higher then the earth, so are my wayes higher then your wayes, and my thoughtes above your thoughtes.

10 Surely as the raine commeth downe and the snowe from heauen, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may giue seede to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth:

11 So shall my word be, that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not returne vnto mee voyde, but it shall accomplish that which I will, & it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

12 Therefore yee shall goe out with ioy, and bee led forth with peace: the mountaines and the hills shall breake forth before you into ioy, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.

13 For thornes, there shall growe firre trees: for nettles shall growe the myrtle tree, and it shall bee to the Lord: for a name, and for an everlasting signe that shall not bee taken away.

CHAP. LVI.

1 An exhortation to iudgement and iustice. 10 Against Shepherds that despoile their flocke. Thus saith the Lord, Keepe iudgement, and doe iustice: for my saluation is at hand to come, and my righteousness is to be reuealed.

2 Blessed is the man that doth this, and the sonne of man which layeth hold on his bee that keepeth the Sabbath, and pollutereth it not, and keepeth his hand from doing any euill.

3 And let not the sonne of the stranger, which is ioynd vnto the Lord, sweare and say, The Lord hath surely separated me from his people: neither let the Eunuch say, Behold, I am a dry tree.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the Eunuchs, that keepe my Sabbaths, and doe the thing that pleaseth mee, and take heed of my covenant,

5 Then vnto them will I give in mine house and within my walles, a place and a name better then of the houses and of the daughters: I will give them an everlasting name, and that shall not be put out.

6 Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, and to loue the Name of the Lord, and to bee his seruants: every one that keepeth the Sabbath, and pollutereth it not, and embaseth my covenant,

7 Them will I bring also to mine holy mountaine, and make them ioyfull in mine house of prayer: their burnt offerings and their sacrifices shall bee accepted vpon mine altar: for mine house shall be called an house of prayer for all people.

8 The Lord God saith, which gathereth the scattered of Israel, Yet will I gather to them those that are to be gathered to them.

9 All ye beasts of the field, come to deuoure, even all ye beasts of the forest.

10 Their watchmen are all blind: they haue no knowledge: they are all sleepe and delight in sleeping.

11 And these greedy dogs can neuer be ymough: and these shepherds cannot understand: for they all looke to their owne way, every one for his aduantage, and for his owne purpose.

12 Come, I will bring wine, and we will fill our felues with strong drinke, and to morrow shall bee as this day, and much more abundant.

and all that they haue as a liuely and acceptable sacrifice for the Iewes, but for all others, Mat. 23. 13. I Marries of the Church, as the Babylonians, Assyrians, &c. They keeth to feare the hypocrites, and to assure the faithful, that they may know that it was told them before, that this affliction shall come through the fault of the prophets, and pious, whose ignorance, negligence, and sinne prouoked Gods wrath against them. I Wee will to morrow shall be better: therefore let us not feare the things that they cometh to the wicked condemned the abominations, which were made them in the Name of God.

thee the yoke, the putting forth of the singer, and wicked speaking:

10 If thou poutest out thy soule to the hungry, and refresh the troubled soule: then shall thy light spring out in the darkenesse,
and thy darkenesse shall be as the noone day.

ually, and satisfie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters faile not.

12 And thou shalt bee of thee, that shall build the olde waste places: thou shalt raile vp the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt bee called the repa-rer of the breach, and the restorer of the paths to dwell in.

13 If thou turne away thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine holly day, and call the Sabbath a delight, to consecrate it, as glorious to the Lorde, & shalt honour him, not doing thine owne wayes, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine word.

14 Then shalt thou delight in the Lorde, and I will cause thee to mount vpon the high places of the earth, and feede thee with the heritage of Iacob thy father: for the mouth of the Lorde hath spoken it.

CHAP. LIX.

1 The wicked perish through their owne in-iquities. 12 The confession of finnes. 16 God alone will preserve his Church, though all men faile.

Behold, the Lords hand is not shortened, that it cannot saue: neither is his earre beautified, that it cannot heare.

2 But your iniquities haue separated between you and your God, and your finnes haue hid his face from you, that hee will not heare.

3 For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lips
haue spoken lies, and your tongue hath murmured iniquitie.

4 No man calleth for iustice: no man
contendeth for truerh: they trust in vani-
tie, and speake vaine things: they conceiue
murther, and bring forth iniquitie.

5 They hatch cockatrice eggs, and weave spiders webbe: he that eateth of their eggs, dieth, and that which is trod
vpon, breaketh out into a serpent.

6 Their webbes shall bee no garment,

neither shall they couer themselves with their labours: for their workes are iniquitie, and the worke of crueltie in their hands.

7 Their feete run to euil, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughtes are wicked thoughts: desolation and destruction is in their paths.

8 The way of peace they knowe not, and there is none equitie in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: they goeth therein, shall not knowe peace.

9 Therefore is iudgement fauour from vs, neither doeth iustice come neere vnto vs: we wait for light, but loe, it is darkenesse:
we sought for brightnesse, but wee walke in darkenesse.

10 Wee grape for the wall like the vine, and wee grape as one without cry: we stumble in the noone day as in the night,
we are in solitary places, as dead men.

11 Wee roare all like lions, and mourne like dones: wee looke for equitie, but there is none: for truth, but it is farre
from vs.

12 For our trespasses are many before thee, and our finnes testifie against vs: for our trespasses are with vs, and we knowe our iniquities.

13 In trespassing and lying against the Lorde, and we haue departed away from God, and haue spoken of crueltie and rebu-sion, concealing and uttering out of the heart false matters.

14 Therefore is iudgement turned backeward, and iustice hath bene alike: for truerh is fallen in the street, and equitie cannot enter.

15 Peace is truth fallen, and he that returneth from euill, maketh himselfe a way:
and when the Lorde saw it, it displeased him,
that there was no iudgement.

16 And when hee saw that there was no man, hee wondered that none would himselfe. Therefore his arme did hee lay out, and his righteousness hee hid himselfe in.

17 For hee put on righteousness, as an helmet, and an helmet of Caluision hee put his head, and hee put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with peace as a cloke.

18 As to make recompense, as to requite
the furie of the aduersaries with a recompense to his enemies: hee will fully repay
the Islands.

19 So shall they feare the Name of the Lorde from the West, and his glory from the rising of the Sunne: for the enemy shall come like a flood: but the spirit of the Lorde shall chaile him away.

20 And the Redeemer shall come into Sion, and vnto them that turne from in-iquitie in Iacob, saith the Lorde.

21 And I will make this my Couenent with them, saith the Lorde: My spirit shall be as thou, and my wordes, which I haue put in thy mouth, shall not be broken.

22 For from sinne and Satan belongeth to man
to fall, and from the Lorde to rise againe.
God, whom hee iustifieth. u Because the doctrine promised to giue them both to his Church.

1 The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospel. 2 They shall come to the Church in abundance. 3 They shall have abundance through the Spirit for a time.

1 Jerusalem: see bright, for thy Anointed is come, and the glory of the Lord is upon thee.

2 For heathen, darkness shall cover the earth, and gross darkness the people: but thy Sun shall arise upon thee, and his glory shall be upon thee.

3 And the Gentiles shall walke in thy light, and kings at the brightness of thy rising up.

4 Lift up thine eyes round about, and behold: all things are gathered, and come to thee: thy Sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shall be nourished at thy breasts.

5 When shall thou see & shine: thine heart shall be enlarged, and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shall be converted unto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come into thee.

6 The multitude of camels shall cover thee, and the dromedaries of Arabia and of Arabia: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring golde and incense, and shew forth the praises of the Lord.

7 All the shepe of a Redar shall gather unto thee: the rannims of Jacob that dwell there: they shall come up to be accepted in mine altar: and I will beautifie the house of my glory.

8 Also are there: that see like a cloude, and are as the doves to their windows?

CHAP. LXV.

1 I haue bene sought of them that asked mee not: I was founde of them that sought mee not: I sayde, Beholde mee, beholde mee, vnto a nation that called not vpon my Name.

2 I haue spread out mine hands all the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, euen after their owne imaginations:

3 A people that prouoked mee euer vnto my face: that sacrificeth in gardens, and burneth incense vpon briches.

4 Which remaine among the graves, and lodge in the deserts, which eate swines flesh, and the bothe of things polluted are in their vessels.

5 Which say, Stand apart, come not nere to me: for I am holier then thou, these are a smoke in my wrath, & a fire that burneth all the day.

6 Behold, it is written before me: I will not heare silence, but will render it and recompense it into their bosome.

7 Your iniquities and the iniquities of your fathers haue brought together (saith the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, and blasphemed me vpon the hilles: therefore will I measure their olde woike into their bosome.

8 Thus saith the Lord, As the wine is found in the cluster, and one saith, Destroy it nor, for a blessing is in it, so will I do for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.

9 But I will bring a seede out of Iacob, and out of Iudah, that shall inherite my mountaine: and mine elect shall inherite it, and my seruants shall dwell there.

10 And Sharon shall be a shepeshode, and the valley of Achis shall be a resting place for the cattell of my people, that haue sought me.

g Which was contrary to Gods commandement, Levit. 17.7. deat. 14.8. h He sheweth that hypocrite is euer ioyning with pride and contempt of others. i Their punishment shall neuer hane ende. k So that the remembrance thereof cannot be forgotten. l Shall be both punished together: and this declareth how the children are punished for their fathers faults: to wit, when the same faults or like are found in them. m That is, it is profitable: meaning, that God will not destroy the faithfull branches of his vineyard, when hee destroyeth the rotten stockes, that is, the hypocrites. n Which was a plentiful place in Iudea to feede sheepe, as Achor was for cattell.

11 But yet are they that haue forsaken the Lord, and forgotten mine doings: and haue prepared a table for the multitude, and furnished the drinke offerings vnto the number.

12 Therefore will I number you to the sword, and all you shall bowe downe to the slaughter, because I called, and ye did not answer: I spake, and ye heard not: ye did euill in my sight, and did chuse that thing which I would not.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, my seruants shall eate, and ye shall be hungry: beholde, my seruants shall drinke, and ye shall be thirstie: beholde, my seruants shall reioyce, and ye shall be ashamed.

14 Beholde, my seruants shall sing for ioy of heart, and ye shall crye for sorrowe of heart, and shall howle for vexation of minde.

15 And yet shall leave your name as a curse vnto my chosen: for the Lord God shall say you, and call his seruants by another name.

16 He that shall blesse in the earth, shall blesse himselfe in the true God, and he that sweareth in the earth, shall sweare by the true God: for the former troubles are forgotten, & shall surely hide themselves from mine eyes.

17 For loe, I will create new heauens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered nor come into minde.

18 But bee you glad and reioyce for euer in the things that I shall create: for behold, I will create Jerusalem as a reioyng, and her people as a top.

19 And I will reioyce in Jerusalem, and for my people, and the voyce of weeping shall be no more heard in her, nor the voyce of crying.

20 There shall be no more there a child of yeeres, nor an olde man that hath not filled his dayes: for he that shall be an hundred yeeres olde, shall die as a yong man: but the sinners being an hundred yeeres old shall be accursed.

21 And they shall build houles and inhabit them, and they shall plant vineyardes, and eate the fruite of them.

22 They shall not build, and another shall inhabit: they shall not plant, and another shall eate: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect shall enioy in old age the woike of their bandes.

23 They shall not labour in vaine, nor bring forth in feare: for they are the seed of the blessed of the Lord, and their bandes shall be strong.

x I will no more suffer my Church to bee debaile as it seeme to dwell in a newe worlde. y Meaning, in the restoration of the Church, there should be no weakness nor infirmities of age, but all should bee fresh and strong: this is accomplished in the heauenly Jerusalem, when all carnall encke, and the teares shall be wiped away. z Whence it is that the infidels and vnrepentant sinners haue no part of the blessing contained in the Law, and so vnder temporal things comprehend spiritual promises.

a Meaning, the Gentiles, which knew not God, should seeke after him when he had moued their hearts with his holy Spirit, Rom. 10.20. b He sheweth the cause of the reuersion of the Iewes, because they would not obey him for any admonition of his Prophets by whom he called them continually, and stretched out his hand to draw them. c He sheweth that to delite in our owne fantasies, is the declining from God, and the beginning of all superfection and idolatry. d Which were dedicated to idoles. e Meaning, their akors, which he thus nameth by contempt. f To consule with spirits and to curre de- vils which was forbidden, Deut. 18.11. g Which was contrary to Gods commandement, Levit. 17.7. deat. 14.8. h He sheweth that hypocrite is euer ioyning with pride and contempt of others. i Their punishment shall neuer hane ende. k So that the remembrance thereof cannot be forgotten. l Shall be both punished together: and this declareth how the children are punished for their fathers faults: to wit, when the same faults or like are found in them. m That is, it is profitable: meaning, that God will not destroy the faithfull branches of his vineyard, when hee destroyeth the rotten stockes, that is, the hypocrites. n Which was a plentiful place in Iudea to feede sheepe, as Achor was for cattell.

Jeremiah.

THE ARGUMENT.

THE Prophet Jeremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Benjamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whome some thinke to be he that found out the booke of the Law, and gaue it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent gifts of God, and most evident revelations of prophesie, so that by the commandment of the Lord he began very yong to prophesie, that is, in the thirteenth yeare of Iosiah, and continued eightene yeeres vnder the said King, and three moneths vnder Iehoaiaz, and vnder Iehoiakim eleuen yeeres, and three moneths vnder Iehoiachin, & vnder Zedekiah elcuen yeeres: vnto the time that they were caried away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboue fortie yeeres, beside the time that he prophesied after the captiuitie. In this booke he declareth with teares and lamentation the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captiuitie of the people for their idolatry, conuities, subtiltie, crueltie, excessse, rebellion and contempt of Gods word: and for the consolation of the Church, revealeth the iust time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubburne and obdurate, when the Prophets doe admonish them most plainly of their destruction. Next how the Prophets and ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted & rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly though God shew his iust iudgement against the wicked, yet will hee ever shew himselfe a preseruer of the Church, and when all means seeme to mans iudgement to bee abolished, then will hee declare himselfe victorious in preserving his.

CHAP. I.

1 In what time Jeremiah prophesied. 6 Hee acknowledgeth his imperfection, and a strengthening of the Lord. 11 The Lorde sheweth him the destruction of Ierusalem. 17 He commaunders him to preach his word without feare.

a That is, the sermons and prophesies.
b Which is thought to be he that found the booke of the Law vnder king Iosiah, 2 King. 22.8.
c This was a city about 3. miles distant from Ierusalem, and belonged to the priests the sonnes of Aaron, Iosh. 11. 8.
d This is spoken to confirme his vocation and office: forasmuch as he did not presume of himselfe to preach and prophesie, but was called therunto by God. e Meaning the nephew of Iosiah: for Iehoaiaz was his father, who reigned but three moneths, and therefore is not mentioned, no more is Iosiah that reigned no longer,

THE words of Jeremiah the sonne of Hilkiah one of the Priestes that were at Anathoth in the lande of Benjamin.

2 To whome the wordes of the Lorde came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Amon king of Iudah in the thirteenth yeere of his reigne:

3 And also in the dayes of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, vnto the ende of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, euen vnto

the carrying away of Ierusalem captiue in the first<sup>a</sup> moneth.

4 Then the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

5 Before I formed thee in the wombe, I knewe thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordeined thee to bee a Prophet vnto the<sup>b</sup> nations.

6 Then said I, Oh, Lord God, behold, I cannot speake, for I am a child.

7 But the Lorde sayd vnto me, Say not, I am a child: for thou shalt goe to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoever I command thee, shalt thou speake.

8 Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lorde.

9 Then the Lorde stretched out his hand

Isaiah 49. 1. Galatians 1. 15. h For Jeremiah did not only prophesie against the Iewes, but also against the Egyptians, the Ionians, Moabites and other nations. i Considering the iudgements of GOD, which according to his threatening come vpon the world, hee was moued with a certaine compassion on the one side to pittie them that should thus perill, and on the other side by the infinitie of mans nature, knowing how hard thing it was to enterprise such a charge, as Iosiah 6. 11. Iosiah 6. 11.

10. I touched my mouth, and the Lord said unto mee, Behold, I haue put my words in thy mouth.

11. Behold, this day haue I set thee ouer my vineyard: & ouer the kingdomes to plucke vp, and to route out, and to destroy & to throw downe to build, and to plant.

12. After this the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying, Ieremiah, what seest thou? And I sayde, I see a rodde of an almonde.

13. Then said the Lord vnto mee, Thou hast bene right: for I will hasten my word to performe it.

14. Againe the word of the Lord came vnto mee the second tyme, saying, What seest thou? And I said, I see a seething: not loosing out of the fire.

15. Then said the Lord vnto mee, Out of the North shall a plague bee spied vpon all the inhabitants of the land.

16. For I see, I will call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, sayeth the Lord, and they shall come, and euery one shall let his chaine in the entering of the gates of Ierusalem, and on all the walles thereof round about, and in all the cities of Ierusalem.

17. And I will declare vnto them my iudgements touching all the wickednesse of them that haue forsaken mee, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods: and worshipped the woorkes of their stony handes.

18. Then therefore trusse thy thyropnes, and arise, and speake vnto them all that I command thee: be not afraid of their faces, for I will destroye them before thee.

19. For I, behold, I this day haue made thee a fenced cite, and an yron pillar, and walles of brasse against the whole land, against the kings of Iudah, and against the princes thereof, against the Priestes thereof, and against the people of the land.

20. For they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, sayeth the Lord.

21. And Assyria should bee a pot to seeth the Iewes, in their pleasures and lustes. o Syria and Assyria in respect of Ierusalem, which were the Caldeans.

22. I will giue them charge and power to execute my iudgements, which haue forsaken mee for their idols.

23. Which desireth that Gods vengeance is prepared against them, which doe not execute their dueitie faithfully, either for any other cause, 1. Cor. 9. 16. c. Signifying on the more that Sazan and the world rage against the more present will be to helpe them, Ioh. 1. 9. and on the other part, that they are viterly vaine to the Church which are afraid, and doe not resist wickednesse, Ioh. 1. 9. c. 3. 8.

24. For they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, sayeth the Lord.

25. And Assyria should bee a pot to seeth the Iewes, in their pleasures and lustes. o Syria and Assyria in respect of Ierusalem, which were the Caldeans.

26. I will giue them charge and power to execute my iudgements, which haue forsaken mee for their idols.

27. Which desireth that Gods vengeance is prepared against them, which doe not execute their dueitie faithfully, either for any other cause, 1. Cor. 9. 16. c. Signifying on the more that Sazan and the world rage against the more present will be to helpe them, Ioh. 1. 9. and on the other part, that they are viterly vaine to the Church which are afraid, and doe not resist wickednesse, Ioh. 1. 9. c. 3. 8.

28. For they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, sayeth the Lord.

29. And Assyria should bee a pot to seeth the Iewes, in their pleasures and lustes. o Syria and Assyria in respect of Ierusalem, which were the Caldeans.

30. I will giue them charge and power to execute my iudgements, which haue forsaken mee for their idols.

31. Which desireth that Gods vengeance is prepared against them, which doe not execute their dueitie faithfully, either for any other cause, 1. Cor. 9. 16. c. Signifying on the more that Sazan and the world rage against the more present will be to helpe them, Ioh. 1. 9. and on the other part, that they are viterly vaine to the Church which are afraid, and doe not resist wickednesse, Ioh. 1. 9. c. 3. 8.

32. For they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, sayeth the Lord.

33. And Assyria should bee a pot to seeth the Iewes, in their pleasures and lustes. o Syria and Assyria in respect of Ierusalem, which were the Caldeans.

34. I will giue them charge and power to execute my iudgements, which haue forsaken mee for their idols.

35. Which desireth that Gods vengeance is prepared against them, which doe not execute their dueitie faithfully, either for any other cause, 1. Cor. 9. 16. c. Signifying on the more that Sazan and the world rage against the more present will be to helpe them, Ioh. 1. 9. and on the other part, that they are viterly vaine to the Church which are afraid, and doe not resist wickednesse, Ioh. 1. 9. c. 3. 8.

2. See, and erie in the eares of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I remember thee, with the kindness of thy youth, and the loue of thy marriage, when thou wentest after mee in the wilderness: in a land that was not sowne.

3. Israel was so a thing: ballowed vnto the Lord, and his first fruites: all they that eate it, shall offend: euill shall come vpon them, saith the Lord.

4. Heare ye the word of the Lord, O house of Iacob, and all the families of the house of Israel.

5. Thus saith the Lord, What iniquitie haue your fathers found in me, that they are gone: farre from me, and haue walked after vanities, and are become bained?

6. For they said not, Where is the Lord that brought vs vp out of the land of Egypt: that ledde vs thowow the wilderness, thowow a desert and waste land, thowow a drye land, and by the shadow of death, by a land that no man passed thowow, and where no man dwelt.

7. And I brought you into a plentifull country, to eate the fruite thereof, and the commodities of the same: but when ye entered, ye defiled my land, and made mine heritage an abomination.

8. The Priests said not, Where is the Lord? and they that should minister the law, knew me not: the pastors also offended against mee, and the Prophets prophesied in Baal, and went after things that did not profit.

9. Wherefore I will yet plead with you, saith the Lord, and I will pleade with your children children.

10. For goe ye to the ples of Chittim, and behold, and send vnto Kedar, and take diligent heed, and see whether there be such things.

11. Hath any nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue changed their glorie, for that which doeth not profit.

12. O ye heavens be astonied at this: be afrayde, and vterly confounded, saith the Lord.

Lord.

30 I haue smitten your children in battell,
they received no correction: your strong sword hath denoued your Prophets like destroying iron.

31 O generation, take heede to the word of the Lord: haue I bene as a fatherlesse vnto Israel: or a land of darkness?
Wherefore sayest my people then, that are laydes, we will come no more vnto
thee?

32 Can a maide forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgoten me, dayes without number.

33 Why dost thou prepare thy way, to seeke amitie: enen therefore wilt thou thee, that thy wayes are wickednesse.

34 Also in thy wings is found the house of the lonies of the poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all these places.

35 Yet thou sayest, Because I am gaillesse, surely his wrath shall turne from me:
beholde. I will enter with thee into iudgment, because thou sayest, I haue not sinned.

36 Why runnest thou about so much to change thy wayes: for thou hast bene founded of Egypt, as thou art comforted of Asshur.

37 For thou shalt goe south from thence,
and thine hands vpon thine head, because the Lord hath reuoced thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper thereby.

God calleth his people to repentance. 14. He promiseth the restitution of his Church. 20. He re-prometh Iudah and Israel, comparing them to a woman disobedient to her husband.

They say, If a man put away his wife, and thee goe from him, and be come another mans wife, shall hee reuocate gaine

come into her: shall not this land her portion be? but thou hast played the harlot with many images: therefore I curse againe to thee, saith the Lord.

12 Lift up thine eyes unto the hill places, and behold: where thou hast not placed thy habitation: thou hast lie waiting for them in the wayes, as the Arabian in the wilderness: and thou hast polluted the land with thy whoredomes, and with thy images.

13 Therefore the stormes have bene reuered, and the latter raine came not, and thou hast a i whoredome forehead: thou wouldst not be ashamed.

14 Dost thou not still cry vnto me, Thou art my father, and the guide of my youth?

15 I will be keep thee as a father: for ever: I will be merciful to thee in the end: thou hast spoken, but thou dost not, even more and more.

16 The Lord saide also vnto mee, in the dayes of Iosiah the King, Dost thou leere what thou rebell? Israel hath done: for they went ynto upon euery high mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, & there played the harlot.

17 And I sayd, when they had done all this, turne thou vnto mee: but they returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah did.

18 When I saide, how that by all occasions rebellious Israel had played the harlot, I cast her away, and gave her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not affraid, but she went also, and played the harlot.

19 So that for the lightnes of her whoredomes her hath euery desired the land: for she hath committed fornication with stones and bushes.

20 Rememberst thou for all this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto me with her whole heart, but fainedly, saith the Lord.

21 And the Lord saide vnto mee, The rebellious Israel hath iustified her selfe more then the rebellious Iudah.

22 See and cry these words towarde the South, and say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, saith the Lord: and I will not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am mercifull, saith the Lord, and I will not alway keepe mine anger.

23 But knowe thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, and hast scattered thy wayes to the strange god vnder euery greene tree, but yet wouldst not obey my voyce, saith the Lord.

24 O ye disobedient children, returne againe, saith the Lord: for I am your Father, and I will take you one of a city, and two of a city, and will bring you to Ierusalem.

25 And I will giue you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feede you with knowledge and understanding.

26 Beholde, when ye be increased and multiplied in the land, in those dayes, saith the Lord, they shall say no more, The i curse of the covenant of the Lord: for it shall come no more to minde, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visit it, for that shall be no more done.

27 At that time they shall call Ierusalem, The throne of the Lord, and all the nations shall be gathered vnto it, euen to the name of the Lord in Ierusalem: and thenceforth they shall followe no more the hardnesse of their wicked heart.

28 In those dayes the house of Iudah shall walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the lande of the North, into the land, that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

29 But I saide, where did I take thee for children, and giue thee a pleasant land, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and said, Thou shalt call mee, saying, My father, and shalt not turne from me.

30 But as a woman rebelled against her husband: so haue ye rebelled against me, O house of Israel, saith the Lord.

31 A voyce was heard vpon the high places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue peruered their way, and forgotten the Lord their God.

32 O ye disobedient children, returne and I will heale your rebellions. Beholde, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

33 Truly the hope of the hills is but vaine, nor the multitude of the mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Israel.

34 For confusion hath deuoured our fathers labour, from our youth, their sheeps and their bullockes, their sonnes and their daughters.

35 We lie downe in our confusion, and our shame couereth vs: for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, we and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God.

not themselves, to say that they would follow their fathers, but contempe their wicked doings, and desire forgiveness of the same, as Exo. 9. 7. Psal. 106. 6. Isa. 64.

CHAP. IIII.

1 True repentance. 2 He exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. 3 The destruction of Iudah is prophesied for the malice of their hearts. 4 The Prophet Ieremieah.

O Israel, if thou returne, I will returne vnto thee, saith the Lord: and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not rempoue.

2 And thou shalt swear, The Lord is truth, in truth, in iudgement, and in righte-seue him by his faith, as Hosea 7. 16. b. Thou shalt desire the name of Iosias, Psalme 16. 4. and shalt with reuerence swear by the liuing God, when thine othe may aduance Gods glory, and profite others: and here by swearing he meaneth the true religion of God, q This is to be understood of the coming of Christ: for then they shall not forsake the Lord by ceremonies, and all figures shall cease.

r Meaning the Church, where the Lord will be present to the worlds end, Mat. 28. 20.

f Where they are now in captiuitie, the Hebrew word signifieth a friend or companion, and here may be taken for a husband, as it is vied also, Hosea.

j. i. Signifying that God whom they had forsaken, would bring their enemies vpon them who should leade them captiue and make them to cry and lament.

x This is spoken in the person of Israel to the shame of Iudah, which stayed so long to turne vnto God.

y For their idolatry, Gods vengeance hath light vpon them and theirs.

z They iustifie fathers, but contempe their wicked doings, and desire forgiveness of the same, as Exo.

a That is, wholly and without hypocrisy, Joel 2. 12. not dissimulating to turne and seue God as they doe which serue him by halfe, as Hosea 7. 16. b. Thou shalt desire the name of Iosias, Psalme 16. 4. and shalt with reuerence swear by the liuing God, when thine othe may aduance Gods glory, and profite others: and here by swearing he meaneth the true religion of God, trouffesse, and the nations shall be blisfed in him, and shall glory in him.

3 For thus saith the Lord to the men of Iudah, and Jerusalem,

4 Breake vp : your fallow ground, and sow not among the thornes : be circumcised to the Lord, and take away the foreskinnes of your hearts, ye men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Jerusalem, lest my wrath come forth like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your inventions.

5 Declare in Iudah, and shew forth in Jerusalem, and say, Blowe the trumpet in the land : cry, and gather together, and say, Assemble your selues, and let vs goe into strong cities.

6 Set vp the standard in Zion : prepare to flee, and say not : for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction.

7 The Lion is come vp from his denne, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, and gone forth of his place to lay thy land waste, and thy cities shall bee destroyed without an inhabitant.

8 Wherefore gide you with sackcloth : lament and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs.

9 And in that day, sayth the Lord, the heart of the king shall perih, and the heart of the Princes, and the Elders shall be astonished, and the prophets shall wonder.

10 Then sayth I, Ah, Lord God, surely thou hast deceived this people, and Jerusalem, saying, Ye shall haue peace, and the sword shall not come vnto thee.

11 At that time shall it be said to this people, and to Jerusalem, A day of winde in the high places of the wilderness cometh toward the daughter of my people, but neither to famne, nor to cleane.

12 A mightie winde shall come vnto mee from those places, and notue will I also giue sentence vpon them.

13 Beholde, hee shall come vp as the cloudes, and his charrets shall bee as a tempest : his horses are lighter then eagles, and hee shall come vnto vs, for we are destroyed.

14 O Jerusalem, waite thine heart from wickednesse, that thou mayest be saved : how long shall thy wicked thoughtes remaine within thee?

15 For a voyce declarerh from Dan, and publisheth affliction from mount Ephraim.

16 Wake ye men of the heathen, and publish in Jerusalem, Beholde, the houses come from a farre country, and cry out against the cities of Iudah.

17 They haue compassed her about as the watchmen of the towne, because she hath prouoked me to wrath, saith the Lord.

18 Thy waies & thine inventions haue procured thee these things, such is the wickednesse : therefore it shall be better, that it shall pearce vnto thine heart.

19 O my belly, my belly, I am pained, enen at the very heart : my heart is troubled within mee : I cannot be still : for my heart hath heard the sound of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battell.

20 Destruction vpon destruction is added, for the whole lande is wasted : Iudahs are my tents destroyed, and my curtains in a moment.

21 How long shall I see the standard, and heare the sound of the trumpet?

22 For my people is foolish, they haue not knowne mee : they are foolish children, and haue none vnderstanding : they are wise to doe euill, but to doe well they haue no knowledge.

23 I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme, and void : and to the heauens, and they had no light.

24 I behelde the mountaines, and loe, they trembled, and all the hilles shooke.

25 I beheld, and loe, there was no man, and all the birdes of the heauen were departed.

26 I behelde, and loe, the fruitful place was a wilderness, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the presence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath.

27 For thus saith the Lord sayth, The whole land shall be desolate : yet will I not make a full end.

28 Therefore shall the earth mourne, and the heauens aboue shall be darkened, because I haue pronounced it : I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it.

29 The whole city shall flee, for the multitude of the bowemen and bowmen : they shall goe into thickets, and cline vp vpon the rocks : every cite shall be forsaken, and not a man dwell therein.

30 And when thou shalt bee destroyed, what wilt thou doe? Though thou be clothed thy selfe with chariet, though thou decke thee with ornaments of golde, though thou painte the face with colours, yet thou shalt crinne thy selfe in vaine : for thy louers haue abhorred thee, and secke thy life.

31 For I haue heard a voyce as of a man travailling, or as one labouring of her first child, euen the voyce of the daughter of Zion that sigheth, and stretcheth out her handes : I haue heard her, for my loue hath beene heard of the Lord.

32 I haue heard her, for my loue hath beene heard of the Lord, and he hath said, I will be mercifull vnto her, and will not destroy her, for she hath beene heard of the Lord.

33 I haue heard her, for my loue hath beene heard of the Lord, and he hath said, I will be mercifull vnto her, and will not destroy her, for she hath beene heard of the Lord.

34 I haue heard her, for my loue hath beene heard of the Lord, and he hath said, I will be mercifull vnto her, and will not destroy her, for she hath beene heard of the Lord.

35 I haue heard her, for my loue hath beene heard of the Lord, and he hath said, I will be mercifull vnto her, and will not destroy her, for she hath beene heard of the Lord.

36 I haue heard her, for my loue hath beene heard of the Lord, and he hath said, I will be mercifull vnto her, and will not destroy her, for she hath beene heard of the Lord.

37 I haue heard her, for my loue hath beene heard of the Lord, and he hath said, I will be mercifull vnto her, and will not destroy her, for she hath beene heard of the Lord.

38 I haue heard her, for my loue hath beene heard of the Lord, and he hath said, I will be mercifull vnto her, and will not destroy her, for she hath beene heard of the Lord.

39 I haue heard her, for my loue hath beene heard of the Lord, and he hath said, I will be mercifull vnto her, and will not destroy her, for she hath beene heard of the Lord.

40 I haue heard her, for my loue hath beene heard of the Lord, and he hath said, I will be mercifull vnto her, and will not destroy her, for she hath beene heard of the Lord.

41 I haue heard her, for my loue hath beene heard of the Lord, and he hath said, I will be mercifull vnto her, and will not destroy her, for she hath beene heard of the Lord.

42 I haue heard her, for my loue hath beene heard of the Lord, and he hath said, I will be mercifull vnto her, and will not destroy her, for she hath beene heard of the Lord.

1 In Iudah no righteous man found neither among the people nor the rulers, 15 Wherefore Iudah is destroyed of the Caldeans.

2 Anne to add for by the threatnes of Jerusalem, and beholde now, and know, and inquire in the open places thereof, d I have intreated her gently, and given her abundance of all things.

e She shall be destroyed, that the sheepe may be fed in her.

f He speaketh this in the person of the Babylonians, which complain that the time faileth them before they have brought their enterprises to passe.

g He sheweth the cause why it should be destroyed, and how it commeth of themselves.

h He warneth them to amend by his corrections, and to turne to him by repentance.

i He exhorteth the Babylonians to be diligent to search out all and to leave none.

so he kindereth it now when hee seeth that all remedies are past.

m None shall be spared.

n When the people began to feare Gods iudgements, the false prophets comforted them by flatterings, shewing that God would send warre.

Tebr them that fall. o Wherein the Patriarches and Prophets walked, directed by the word of God: signifying, that there is no true way, but that which God preferreth. p Prophets which should warne you of the dangers that were at hand.

12 I have compared the daughter of Sion to a beautiful and dainty woman.

13 The nations with their shepherds shall come unto her, then shall pitch their tents round about her, and every one shall feed in his place.

14 They were against her, arise, arise, and let us go upwarde the mount: wee will not see the day declineth, and the shadowes of the evening are stretched out.

15 Arise, and let us goe up by night, and destroy her palaces.

16 For thus hath the Lord of hostes said, Beholde, this cite must be visited: all oppression is in the midst of it.

17 As the founder hath cut out her waters, so he hath cut out her maine: a cruell and horrible is continually heard in her before me with howls and strokes.

18 Be thou instructed, O Jerusalem, lest my soule depart from thee, lest I make thee desolate as a land that none inhabiteth.

19 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel: turne backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the basket.

20 Unto whom shall I speake, and announce, that they may heare? Beholde, their eares are vncircumcised, and they cannot hearken: beholde, the word of the Lord is vnto them as a reproch: they haue no desire in it.

21 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am weary with holding it: I will poure it out vpon the children in the streete, and likewise vpon the assembly of the yong men: for the husbands shall euen be taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of dayes.

22 And their houses with their landes, and wines also shall bee turned vnto strangers: for I will stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the lande, sayeth the Lord.

23 For from the least of them, euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen vnto couensinelle, and from the prophet euen vnto the priest, they all deale falsly.

24 They haue dealed also the burt of the daughter of my people with sweete moones, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

25 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no neither could they haue any shame: therefore they shall fall among the slain: when I shall visit them, they shall be cast downe, saith the Lord.

26 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the wayes and behold, and aske for the old way which is the good way, and walke therein, and ye shall finde rest for your soules: but they said, We will not walke therein.

27 Also I set watchmen ouer you, which said, Take heed to the sound of the trumpet:

but they said, We will not heare him: for we are despised, and thou O congregation knowest, howe despised they are.

28 Hear, O sardianes, I will send plagues to come vpon this people, as the fruit of their owne imaginations: because they haue not taken heed, vnto my voice, nor to my lawe, but cast it off.

29 To what purpose, bringeth they incense from Saba, and incense of Saba from a farre country? From those places are not pleasant, nor your sweet odours vnto me.

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will lay stumbling blocks before this people, and the fathers and the mothers together shall fall vpon them: the neighbours and his friends shall perishe.

31 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, a people cometh from the South country, and a great nation shall arise from the thim of the earth.

32 With bowe and with the shall they be weaponed: they are cruell, and will haue compassion: their bowes reacheth like the sin, and they ride vpon horses, well appointed like men of warre against thee, O daughter Sion.

33 They haue heard their fame, and our hands are weary: for lo, lo, is come vpon us, as the loom of a woman in travail.

34 Goe not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemy and feare is on euery side.

35 O daughter of my people, gird thee with sackcloth, and make thee woe in the ashes: make lamentation, and bitter mourning: for thine only sonnes, for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon us.

36 I haue set thee free, and thou wast free among my people, that thou might know and try their wayes.

37 They are all rebellious traitors, making craftily: they are blasphemous, and yet they all are destroyers.

38 The bellies are burned: the lead is consumed in the fire: the founder melteth in balme: for the wicked are not taken away.

39 They shall call them reprobate slurs, because the Lord hath rejected them.

CHAP. VII.

1 Jeremiah is commanded to shew vnto the people the word of God, which trusteth in the outward service of the Temple. 2 The eunuchs shall come to the Jews despising of their prophets. 3 Sacrifices dooke not the Lord, therefore require of the Jews, but that they should obey his word.

4 The word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

5 Stand in the gate of the Lords house, and cry this word there, and say, Hear the word of the Lord, all ye of Judah, that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Amend your wayes, and your works, and I will let you dwell in the place.

10 And not in lying words, saying, I will give of the Lord, the temple of the Lord, the temple of the Lord.

11 For ye, merchants, and retailers, you say, we will give of the Lord, if you execute judgement between a man and his neighbour.

12 And oppress the stranger, the fatherless, and the widow, and then no trouble is in this place, neither walke after you to your destruction.

13 Then I will let you dwell in this land, the land that I gave unto your fathers, for ever and ever.

14 Behold, you trust in lying words, that shall not profit.

15 Kill you steale, murder, and commit adultery, and swear falsely, and burne in incense to Baal, and walke after other gods, ye shall not.

16 And come and stand before me in this house, whereupon my Name is called, and say, we are heere, though we have done all these abominations.

17 Is this house become a denne of thieves, whereupon my Name is called? he that saith so, shall be cursed, saith the Lord.

18 But ye, ye, howe have my place called man in, he shall, where I let my Name at the beginning, and behold what I did to you for the wickedness of my people Israel.

19 Therefore now because ye have done all these works, saith the Lord, (and I have sole you, and I shall speak unto you: but when I shall, ye would not heare me, neither when I called, would ye answer.)

20 Therefore will I doe unto this house, whereupon my Name is called, wherein alacrity, such unto the place that I gave to you and to your fathers, as I have done unto Shilo.

21 And I will cast you out of my sight, as I have cast out all your brethren, even the whole seed of Ephraim.

22 Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift up crye of prayer for them, neither intreat me, for I will not heare thee.

23 Seest thou not what they doe in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem?

24 The children gather wood, and the fathers kinde the fire, and the women knead the dough to make cakes to the Queen of heaven, and to powize out drinke offerings unto other gods, that they may provoke mee to anger.

25 Doe they provoke mee to anger, saith

the Lord, and not themselves to the confusion of their owne faces?

26 Therefore thus, sayeth the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my wrath shall be powied upon this place, upon man and upon beast, and upon the tree of the field, and upon the fruit of the ground, & it shall burne and not be quenched.

27 Thus sayeth the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, But your burnt offerings unto your sacrifices, and eat the flesh.

28 For I spake not unto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices.

29 But this thing commanded I them, saying, When my voice, and I will be your God, and ye shall be my people: and walke ye in all the wayes which I have commanded you, that it may be well unto you.

30 But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels and the stubbornnesse of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward.

31 Since the day that your fathers came by out of the land of Egypt, unto this day, I have even sent unto you all my servants the Prophets, rising by early every day, and sending them.

32 Yet would they not heare me, nor incline their eare, but hardened their necks, and did worse then their fathers.

33 Therefore shalt thou speake all these words unto them, but they will not heare thee: thou shalt also cry unto them, but they will not answer thee.

34 But thou shalt say unto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voice of the Lord their God, nor receiveth discipline: truth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

35 Cut off thine haire, O Jerusalem, and cast it away, and take up a complaint on the high places: for the Lord hath rejected and forsaken the generation of his wrath.

36 For the children of Judah have done euill in my sight, saith the Lord: they have set their abominations in the house, whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it.

37 And they have built the high place of Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben hinnum to burne their sonnes and their daughters in the fire, which I commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

38 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that it shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben hinnum, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall burie in Topheth, till there be no place.

39 And the carkeless of this people shall be meate for the foules of the heauen and for the beasts of the earth, and none shall fray them away.

40 Then I will cause to cease from the cities of Judah and from the streets of Jerusalem, the voyce of mirth and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bride-

k Shewing that it was not his chief purpose and intent that they should offer sacrifices: but that they should regard, wherefore they were ordained: to wit, to be ioyned to the word, as seals & confirmations of remission of sinnes in Christ: for without the word they were vaine and vnpromisable.

ing, because they are burnt up: so that none can pass through them: neither can men hear the voice of the flocke: both the fowle of the ayre, and the beast are sick away, and fall.

And I will make Jerusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, and I will make the cities of Judah waste, without an inhabitant.

Who is with me? and stand thou; and in whom the mouth of the Lord hath spoken, then he shall declare it. Alas! doeth the land weep, and is burnt up like a wilderness,
where none passeth through?

And the Lord saith, Because they have broken my law, which I set before them,
and have not obeyed my voice, neither waited their peace.

But have walked after the stubbornness of their owne heart, and after Baalims, which their fathers taught them.

Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts
the God of Israel, Behold, I will feede this people with wormewood, and give them water of gall to drinke.

I will scatter them also among the heathen, whome neither they nor their fathers have knownen, and I will send a word
after them, till I have consumed them.

Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Take heede, and call for the mourning women, that they may come, and send for halfull women,
that they may come.

And let them make haile, and let them
take up a lamentation for vs, that our eyes
may call out teares, and our eyelids gush out of water.

For a lamentable noyse is heard out of Zion: how are we destroyed, and utterly consumed: for we have forsaken the land, and we dwellings have called vs out.

Therefore heare the word of the Lord,
O ye women, and let your eares regard the words of his mouth, and teach your daughters to mourne, and every one her neighbour to lament.

For death is come up into our windowes, and is entered into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the yong men in the secretes.

Speak, Thus saith the Lord, The

carkasses of men shall lie even as the dung upon the fields, and as the handfull after the mower, and none shall gather them.

Thus saith the Lord, Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, nor the strong man glory in his strength: neither the rich man glory in his riches.

But let him that gloryeth, glory in this, that hee understandeth, and knoweth
me: for I am the Lord which shew mercie, iudgement, and righteousness in the earth:
for in these things I delight, saith the Lord.

Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord,
that I will visite all them, which are circumcised, with the uncircumcised:

Egypt, and Judah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all the worst corners of them that dwell in the wildernesse: for all these nations are unci-cumcised, and all the house of Israel are vi-circumcised in the heart.

wherein consisteth our saluation: his iudgement, which hee executeth continually against the wicked: and his iustice, whereby he defendeth and maintaineth the faithfull. Meaning both Iewes and Gentiles, as in the next verse he sheweth the cause, read Chap. 4. 4.

CHAP. X.

1 The consultations of the fowles are not to be feared. 5 The weakenes of doles. 6 Of the power of God. 21 Their pastors are become brut beasts.

Heare ye the worde of the Lord that hee
hath spoken unto you, O house of Israel.

Thus saith the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraid for the signes of heaven, though the heathen be afraid of such.

For the customes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tree out of the forrest (which is the worke of the hands of the carpenter) with the axe,

And another beckereth it with silver, and with golde: they fasten it with nails and hammers, that it fall not.

The idoles stand up as the palme tree,
but speake not: they are holme because they cannot goe: feare them not, for they cannot doe euill, neither can they doe good.

There is none like vnto thee, O Lord:
thou art great, and thy name is great in
power.

Who would not feare thee, O King of nations? for to thee appertaineth the dominion: for among all the wise men of the Gentiles, and in all their kingdomes there is none
like thee.

But altogether they hate, and are solith: for the stocke is a doctrine of banitie.

c The Prophets vse thus plainly and simply to set forth the vile ab-surditie of the idolaters, that men might learne to be ashamed of that, wherunto their corrupt nature is most subiect, read Iſa. 44. 12. d He teacheth the people to lift vp their eyes to God, who hath all power, and therefore ought onely to be feared: and herein he sheweth them not only the euil that they ought to eschew, but the good which they ought to follow, Reuel. 1. 9. e Because the people thought that to haue images, was a meane to serue God, & to bring them to the knowledge of him, hee sheweth that nothing more displeaseth God, nor bringeth man into greater errors and ignorance of God: and therefore he calleth them the doctrine of vanitie, the worke of errors, verse 15.
and Hab. 2. 18. calleth them the teachers of lyes: contrary to that wicked opinion that they are the bookes of the lay people.

Forasmuch as none can saue
himselfe by his owne labour or any worldly
meanes, hee shew-
eth that it is in vaine to put our trust therein, but that we trust in the Lord, and re-ioice in him, who onely can deliuer
vs, 1. Cor. 1. 31.
2. Cor. 10. 17.
f These three points are necessary to know aright: his mercie,
his iudgement, and
his iustice.

a God forbiddeh
his people to giue
credit or feare the consultations & conjunctions of
stars and planets,
which haue no
power of them-
selues, but are gourned by him, &
their secret motions and influences are not known to man, & therefore there can be no certain iudgement there-
of, Deut. 18. 9.
b Meaning, not
onely in the observation of the stars, but their Laws and ceremonies, whereby they confirme
their idolatrie,
which is forbidden, Deut. 12. 30.

Whereas they found the old gold, shewing that they thought nothing too dear for their idols: some read Ophir, as 1. King. 9. 28.

g This declarerh that all that hath bene in this Chapter spoken of idoles, was to arme the Jewes when they should be in Caldea among the idolaters, and now with one sentence he instructeth them both

how to protect their owne religion

against the idolaters, & how to answer them to it. In shame which should exhort them to idolatry, and therefore he writeth this sentence in the Caldeans tongue for a memorial, whereas all the rest of his writing is Ebrew.

h The more that men thinketh to doe any thing

well by his owne wisdom, and not as God instructeth him, the more doeth he procure himselfe to be a vile beast.

i By these words, portion and rod, he signifieth: their inheritance: meaning that God should be all sufficient for them, and that their felicity consisted in him alone, and therefore they ought to renounce all other helpe and succours, as of idoles, &c. Deut. 32. 9. Psal. 115. k The Prophet willett the Jewes to prepare themselves to this captivitee, shewing that is was now at hand, that they should seele the things whereof hee had tolde them.

l It is my iust plague, and therefore I will take it patiently: whereby hee teacheth the people howe to behave themselves toward God.

m He sheweth how Ierusalem shall lament. n The governours and ministers. o Reade Chap. 4. 15. p Hee speaketh this, because that Nebuchad-nazzar purposed to have made warre against the Moabites and Ammonites, but hearing of Zedekiahs rebellion, hee turned his power to goe against Ierusalem, Ezek. 21. 31. therefore the Prophet saith, that this was the Lords direction,

9 Silver plates are brought from Tarsish, and gold from Uphaz, for the worke of the workman, and the hands of the founder: the blue like, and the purple is their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men.

10 But the Lord is the God of truth: he is the living God, and an everlasting King: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath.

11 (Thus shall you say unto them, The gods that have not made the heavens and the earth shall perish from the earth, & from under these heavens)

12 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heaven by his discretion.

13 Hee giveth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heaven, and hee causeth the clouds to ascend from the ends of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures.

14 Every man is a beast by his owne knowledge: every founder is confounded by the golden image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein.

15 They are vanitie, and the worke of erroris: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

16 The portion of Iacob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hosts is his Name.

17 Gather up thy wares out of the land, & thou that dwellest in the strong place.

18 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, at this time I will shewe as with a fling the inhabitants of the land, and will trouble them, and they shall finde it so.

19 Who is me for my destruction, and my grievous plague: but I thought, Yet it is my sorrow, and I will beare it.

20 Why tabernacle is destroyed, and all my coards are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set up my curtains.

21 For the Pastors are become beasts, and have not sought the Lord: therefore have they none vnderstanding: and all the flocks of their pastures are scattered.

22 Behold, the noise of the whirle is come, and a great commotion out of the North country to make the cities of Iudah desolate, and a den of dragons.

23 O Lord, I knowe, that the way of man is not in himselfe, neither is it in him to walke: and to direct his steps.

24 O Lord correct me, but with thy mercie: not in thine anger, least thou bring me to nothing.

25 Bowe out thy wrath upon the enemies that know thee not, and upon the sinners that call not on thy Name: for they have eaten up Iacob, and devoured him as a man, and slummed him, and have made his habitation desolate.

CHAP. XI.

3 A curse of them that obey not the word of Gods covenant. 10 The people of Iudah following the steps of their fathers, worship strange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth Jeremiah to pray for them.

The word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Heare ye the wordes of this covenant, a the Lord, and speake unto the men of Iudah, & to the Ierusalem, inhabitants of Ierusalem,

3 And say thou unto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the wordes of this covenant,

4 Which I commanded unto your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the iron furnace, saying, Obey my voyce, and so according to all these wordes, which I command you: in shall ye be my people, and I will be your God.

5 That I may confirme the othe that I haue sworne unto your fathers, to give them a land which floweth with milke and honey, as appeareth this day. Then answered I, and sayd, So be it, O Lord.

6 Then the Lord sayd unto me, Cry all these wordes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, saying, Heare ye the word of this covenant and doe them.

7 For I have protested unto your fathers, when I brought them up out of the land of Egypt, saying, Obey my voyce, and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce.

8 Nevertheless they would not obey, my voice inclined their eare: but every one walked in the stubbornnes of his wicked heart: therefore I will bring upon them all the wordes of this covenant, which I commanded them to doe, but they did it not.

9 And the Lord sayd unto me, A curse is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

10 They are turned backe to the images of their forefathers, which refused to heare my wordes: and they went after their gods to serve them: thus the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah have broken my covenant which I made with their fathers.

Therefore shall the Lord, Because I will bring a plague upon them, that shall not be able to escape, and shall cry unto me, I will not hear
them.

11 Then shall the cities of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem goe, and cry unto the gods unto whom they offer incense, but they shall not be able to help them in time of their trouble.

12 For according to the number of thy cities were the gods, O Judah, and according to the number of the streets of Jerusalem have we set up altars of confusion, even altars to burn incense unto Baal.

13 Therefore thou shalt not pray: for the people, neither lift up a cry, or prayer for them: for when they cry unto me in their trouble, I will not hear them.

14 What should my beloved say in mine house, seeing they have committed abomination with many: and the holy flesh I goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest evil, thou sayest.

15 The Lord called thy name, A green olive tree, faire, and of goodly fruite: but with words and great tumult hee hath set upon thee, and the branches of it are broken.

16 For the Lord of hostes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee for the wickedness of the house of Jerusalem, and of the house of Judah, which they have done against themselves to provoke me to anger in offering incense unto Baal.

17 And the Lord hath taught me, and I know it, even when thou spakest to me: their habitation.

18 But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knew not that they had devised this against me, say, Let us destroy the tree with the fruit thereof, and cut him out of the land of the living: that his name may be no more in memory.

19 But O Lord of hostes, that judgest righteously, and triest the reins and the heart: let me see thy vengeance on them: for unto thee have I opened my cause.

20 The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of Anathoth, (that seek to take my life, and say, I prophesie not in the name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands)

21 Thus therefore saith the Lord of hostes, God of Israel, I will visit them: the young men shall die by the sword: their women and their daughters shall die by famine.

22 And none of them shall remaine: for I will bring a plague upon the men of Anathoth, even the peece of their visitation.

23 I would shew themselves most holy, but because they were uncleanly reprooved, and therefore desired to be maintained in their pleasure, Mi-series and condemnation, Amos 7. 13.

E H A P. XII.

The Prophet Jeremiah in the wilderness of the wilderness, although he confesse God to be righteous, yet the Lord is forsaken of the Lord, so he speake against pastors and preachers, that seduce the people. 14 The Lord rebuketh destruction unto the nations that troubled Judah.

O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art righteous: yet let mee talke with thee
of thy judgements: wherefore doth the way of the wicked prosper: why are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgresse?

2 Thou hast planted them, and they have taken roote: they growe, and bring forth fruite: thou art near in their mouth,
and farre from their crimes.

3 But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast seene me, and triest mine heart toward thee:
pull them out like sheepe for the slaughter: and prepare them for the day of slaughter.

4 How long shall the land mourne, and the herdes of every flocke wither, for the wickedness of them that dwell therein: the beastes are consumed and the birds, because they say, We will not see our last end.

5 If thou hast run with the footemen,
and they have wearied thee, then how canst thou match thy selfe with horses? and if thou thoughtest thy selfe safe in a peaceable land, what wilt thou doe in the swelling of Jordan?

6 For even thy brethren, and the house of thy father, even they have dealt unfaithfully with thee, and they have cryed out against thee: but beleene them not, though they speake faire to thee.

7 I have forsaken mine house: I have left mine heritage: I have given the deare-ly beloved of my soule into the hands of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is unto mee, as a lyon
in the forest: it cryeth out against me, therefore have I hated it.

9 Shall mine heritage be unto mee as a bird of divers colours? are not the birds about her, saying, Come, assemble all the beasts of the field, come to eate her?

10 Many pastours have destroyed my vineyard, and troden my position under foote: of my pleasant portion they have made a desolate wilderness.

11 They have laid it waste, and it being waste, mourneth unto mee: and the whole land (yea) waste, because no man secretly scattered themselves as though God would ever be merciful, and not vicerly destroy them: therefore they hardened themselves in sinne, till at length the beasts and inferiour creatures felt the punishment of their stubburne rebellion against God. f Some thinke that God reprooveth Jeremiah, in that that he would reason with him, saying, that if he were not able to match with men, that he were farr vnable to dispute with God. Others, by the footmen, meane them of Anathoth, and by the beasts them of Jerusalem, which should trouble the prophet worse then his owne countrymen did. g God willeth

the Prophet to denounce his judgments against Jerusalem, notwithstanding that they shall both by threatening and flatteries labour to put him to silence. h Ever ramping and raging against me, and my Prophets. i In stead of bearing my livery and wearing onely my colours, they have change and diversitie of colours of their idols and superstitions: therefore their enemies, as thick as the foules of the ayre, shall come about them to destroy them. k He propheseth of Nebuchad-nazzar whom he calleth pastors.

a The Prophet
confesseth God
to be iust in all his doings, although man be not able to give a reason of all his actes.

b This question
hath bene alway
a great temptation
to the godly, to see the wicked
enemies of God
in prosperitie, and his deare children
in adversitie, as Iob, 1. 7. psal.
37. 1. and 73. 3.
Haba. 1. 3.

c They professe
God in mouth,
burden him in heart, which is here meant by the reimes, Isa. 29.
13. march. 15. 8.

d The Ebrewe
word is, Sanctifie
them, meaning,
that God would be sanctified in
the destruction
of the wicked, to whom God for a while giueth prosperitie, that afterward they should the more feeble his heaue
judgement when they lacke their riches, which were a signe of his mercie.

lenitie and his promises, they

CHAPTER XIII.

1 The destruction of the Jews is prophesied.
11 Why Israel was received to be the people of God, and why they were forsaken, 15 Her exhorteth them to repentance.

THus saith the Lorde vnto mee, Goe, and buy thee a linnen girdle, and put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water.

2 So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lorde, and put it vpon my loynes.

3 And the word of the Lorde came vnto
me the second time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast bought which is upon thy loynes, and arise, goe toward Berath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

5 So I went, and hid it by Berach, as the Lord had commanded me.

6 And after many dayes, the Lord sayde vnto me, Arise, goe toward Berath and take the girdle from thence, which I commaunded thee to hide there.

7 Then went I to Berath, and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and behold the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

9 Thus saith the Lord, After this manner will I destroy the pride of Judah, and the great pride of Jerusalem.

IO This wicked people haue refused to heare my worde, and walke after the stub-borne will of their owne heart, and walke
after other gods to serue them, and to worship them: therefore they shall be as this gir-
le, which is profitable to nothing.

43 II For as the gible cleimeth to the
of a man, so haile I sped to the house of Israel, and the whole house of Israel; I sayeth the Lord; that they might my people: that they might have a name and praise, and glory, but they would not heare.

¶ 12 Therefore thou shalt say vnto this people, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Every bottel shall be filled with wine and they shall say vnto thee, Doe we not know that every bottel shall be filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou say unto them, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, even the Kings that sit upon the throne of David, & the Priests, and the Prophets, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem with dauntlessness.

14 And I will dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sons together, sayth the Lord: I will not spare, I will not pities nor haue compassion, but will destroy them.

15 Heare and gine eare, be not proud; for the Lord hath spoken it.

16 Beare glasse to the Lord your God before he bring <sup>4</sup> darknesse, and as yet you feare stumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles ye looke for light, hee turne it into the shadow of death, and make it as darke-
nesse.

17 But if ye will not heare this, my flock shall weepe in secret for your sake, & mine eye shall weepe and droppe downe tears because the Lordes flocke is caried away captinue.

18 Say vnto the King & to the Queene, Humble your selues, sit down: for the crowne of your glory shall come downe from your heads.

19. The cities of<sup>a</sup> the South shall be buhy, and no man shall open them: all shall shall be caried away captiue: it shall be wo-ly caried away captiue.

20 Lift up your eyes, and behold them that come from the North ; where is the flocke that was given thee, even the beautiful flocke ?

21 What wilt thou say, when he shall visit thee? (for thou hast caught them as bee captaines and as chiefe over thee) shall not sorowe take thee as a woman in warre?

22 And if thou say in thine heart, Wherefore come these things upon me? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy sins discovered and thine heels made bare.

23 Can the blacke Doe change his skin?
or the leopard his spots? then may yet all those good that are accustomed to doe ill.

24. Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken away with the south wind.

25 This is thy portion, and the part of thy measures from mee, sayeth the Lord, because thou hast forgotten mee, and trusted in vessels.

26 Therefore I haue also discovered thy kirtles vpon thy face, = that thy shame may unpeare.

27 I have seen thine adulteries, and thy • neivings,

the multitude of thy whoredoms
in the midst of the field, and thine abomi-nations. Alas unto thee, O Jerusalem! wilt thou not be made cleaner when shall it once multitude of people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, famine, & of false prophets that seduce the people.

10 The word of the Lord that came unto Jeremiah, concerning the dearth.

1 Judah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they have bin brought to beaming into the ground, and the cities of Jerusalem goeth by.

2 And their nobles have sent their inter-cessors to the water, who came to the wells, and found no water: they returned with their bellies empty: they were ashamed and confounded, and covered their heads.

3 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and covered their heads.

4 For, the fowles also called in the field,
and the beasts, because there was no graffe.

5 And the wilde asses did stand in the high places, and heave in their wounds like wounded: their eyes did fail, because there was no graffe.

6 O Lord, though our iniquities testify against vs, deale with vs according to thy mercy: for our rebellions are many, wee have sinned against thee.

7 O the hope of Israel, the saviour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the land, as one that passeth by
to take for a night?

8 Why art thou as a man astonished, and as a strong man that can not helpe? yet thou, O Lord, art in the midst of vs, and thy name is called upon vs: forsake vs not.

9 Thus saith the Lord unto this people, Thus have they delighted to wander: they have not refrained their feet, therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: but hee will remember their iniquity, and visit their innes.

10 Then said the Lord unto me, Thou shalt not say to this people good.

11 When they say, I will not hear thee cry, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

12 Then answered I, O Lord God, behold, the Prophets say unto them, We shall not see the sword, neither shall famine come upon you, but I will give you assured peace
in this place.

13 Then the Lord said unto me, The prophets prophesie lies in my name: I have not sent them, neither did I commande them, neither spake I unto them, but they prophesied unto you a false vision, and divination and vanity, and deceitfulness of their owne heart.

14 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophesie in my name, whom I have not sent, yet they say, Sword and famine shall not be in this land,
by sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed.

15 And the people to whom these prophets doe prophesie shall bee cast out in the streets of Jerusalem because of the famine, and the sword, and there shall be none to burie them, both they and their wives, and their sonnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednesse upon them.

16 Therefore thou shalt say this word unto them, I charge eyes upon you, ye shall not see night and day without weeping: for the big-gine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grievous plague.

17 For if I goe into the field, behold the plaine with the sword: and if I enter into the cittie, behold them that are sicke for hunger:
also moreover, the prophet also of the desert goe a wandering into a lande that they know not.

18 Wilt thou bitterly relect? Judah, as hath thy soule abhorred Zion? why hast thou withstood vs, that we cannot bee healed? Alas looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and behold trouble.

19 Wee acknowledge, O Lord, our mi-kenesse, and the iniquities of our fathers: for we have sinned against thee.

20 Doe not abhorre vs: for thy name sake cast not downe the throne of thy glorie: remember and breake not thy covenant with vs.

21 Are there any among the vanities of the Gentiles, that can give raine? or can the heavens give thunders? is it not thou, O Lord
our God? therefore we will waite upon thee:
for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lord would heare no prayer for the Iewes,
but threatneth to destroy the with foure plagues.

Then said the Lord unto mee, Though Hophai and Samuel stood before me, yet mine affection could not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

2 And if they say unto thee, Willst thou shall we depart? then tell them, Thus saith
the Lord, Such as are appointed to death, unto death: and such as are for the sword, to the sword: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captivitie, to the captivitie.

3 And I will appoint over them foure kinds, saith the Lord, the sword to slay, and the dogs to teare in pieces, and the fowles of the heauen, and the beasts of the earth to devoure, and to destroy.

4 I will scatter them also in all kingdoms

k These are the Prophets words, complaining of the obduracy of the people, and that he was refused to so wicked a time wherein also he sheweth what is the condition of Gods ministers: to wit, to haue all the world against them, though they giue none occasion.

l Which is an occasion of contention and hatred.

m In this perplexitie the Lord comforted me, and said that my last dayes should be quiet: and by the enimie hee meant here,

Nebuzar-adan the captaine of Nebuchad-nezzar, who gaue Ieremiah the choyce either to remaine in his country, or to goe whither hee would: or by the enimie hee meant the Iewes, which should afterward know Ieremiahs fidelitie, and therefore fauour him.

n As for the people, though they seemed frowne as yron, yet should they not be able to resist the hard yron of Babylon, but should be led captiue.

of the earth, because of Manasse the sonne of Iehoziah king of Iudah. for that which hee did in Jerusalem.

q Who shall then haue pittie vpon thee, O Jerusalem: or who shall bee souer for thee: or who shall goe to pray for thy peace?

r Thou hast forsaken me, saith the Lord, and gone backward: therefore will I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroy thee: for I am wearie with repenting.

s And I will scatter them with the fan in the gates of the earth: I haue waited, and destroyed my people, yet they would not returne from their wayes.

t Their widowes are increased by me about the land of the sea: I haue brought vpon them, and against the assembly of the yong men: a destroyer at noone day: I haue caused him to fall vpon them, and the citie suddenly, and speedily.

u Shee that hath borne seven, hath bene made weak: her heart hath failed: the summe hath failed: her wiles it was day: the hath bene confounded, and ashamed, and the residue of them will I deliuer vnto the sword before their enemies, saith the Lord.

v For as I am, my mother, that thou hast borne me, a contentious man, and a man that strueth with the whole earth: I haue neither lent on blurr, nor men haue lent vnto me on blurr: yet euery one doth cuttledge.

w The Lord said, Surely thy remnant shall haue wealth: surely I will cause thine enemy to entreate thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction.

x Shall the yron breake the yron, and the grasse that cometh from the flathy?

y Thy substance, and thy treasures will I giue to bee spoiled without gain, and that for all thy times, euery in all thy borders.

z And I will make thee to goe with thine enemies into a land that thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which shall burne you.

a O Lord, thou knowest, remember me, and visite me, and reuenge mee of my persecuters: take mee not away in the continuance of thine anger: know that for thy sake I haue suffered rebuke.

b Thy wordes are found by mee, and I did eate them, and thy word was vnto me the ioy and reioycing of mine heart: for thy name is called vpon mee, O Lord God of hostes.

c I sate not in the assembly of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but sate alone: because of thy plague: for thou hast filled me with indignation.

d Why is mine heart thus continually, and my plague desperate and cannot be healed: why art thou vnto me as a tear, and as waters that faile?

e Therefore thus saith the Lord, If thou returne, then will I bring thee againe, and thou shalt stand before mee: and if thou take away the precious from the tiller, thou shalt be according to my word: let them returne vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.

f And I will make thee vnto this people a strong brazen wall, and they shall fight against thee, but they shall not overcome thee: for I am with thee to save thee, and to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

g And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

h From the bad. i To wit, in my mouth hath prospered, and as here followeth verse a. x. Contemners of their wickednesse, but let them follow thy good example, arme thee with an inuincible strength and confidence, for the powers of the world shall not overcome thee.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The Lord forbidding Ieremiah to marry, sheweth him what should bee the afflictions vpon Iudah. 13 The captiuitie of Babylon. 15 The deliurance. 19 The calling of the Gentiles.

The word of the Lord came also vnto me saying,

2 Thou shalt not take a thee a wife, nor haue sonnes nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus saith the Lord concerning the sojourners, and concerning the daughters that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that deare them, and concerning their fathers that beget them in this land.

4 They shall die of diseases, and diseases: they shall not be lamented, neither shall they be buried, but they shall be as dung vpon the earth, and they shall bee consumed by the sword and by famine, and their carcases shall bee made for the fowles of the heauen, and for the beastes of the earth.

5 For thus saith the Lord, Enter not into the house of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor be moued for them: for I haue taken my peace from this people, saith the Lord, euery mercy and compassion.

6 Both the great and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them, nor cut themselves, nor make themselves bald for them.

7 They shall not stretch out the hand for them in the mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither shall they giue them the cry of consolation to drinke for their father, or for their mother.

8 Thou shalt not also goe into the house of feasting to sit with them to eat and to drinke.

9 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, euery in your dayes the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride.

10 And when thou shalt shew this people

all their mouths, and they shall say unto thee, Wherefore hath the Lord pronounced all this great plague against us? or what is our iniquity? and what is our sinne that we have committed against the Lord our God?

11 Then shall thou say unto them, Because your fathers have forsaken mee, (saith the Lord,) and have walked after other gods, and have served them, and worshipped them, and have forsaken me, and have not kept my Law.

12 And yet have done worst then your fathers: for behold, you walke every one after the stubbornnesse of his wicked heart, and will not heare me.)

13 Therefore will I draine you out of this land into a land that yet knoweth not, neither you, nor your fathers, and there shall ye serve other gods day and night: for I will shewe you no grace.

14 Behold therefore, saith the Lord, the dayes come that it shall no more bee hid, & the Lord liveth, which brought by the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

15 But, the Lord liveth, that brought by the children of Israel out of the land of the Chaldees, and from all the lands where he had scattered them, & I will bring them again into their land that I gave unto their fathers.

16 Behold, saith the Lord, I will send out many a fisher, & they shall fish them, & after will I send out many hunters, and they shall hunt them from every mountaine, and from every hill, and out of the caines of the rocks.

17 For mine eyes are upon all their waies: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.

18 And first I will recompense their iniquitie and their sinne double, because they have defiled my land, & have filled mine inheritance with their filth: & carions and their abominations.

19 O Lord, thou art my force, and my strength and my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles that come unto thee from the ends of the world, and shall say, Surely our fathers have sinned: & lies, and wantonnes, wherein there was no profit.

20 Shall a man make gods unto himselfe, and they are no gods?

21 Behold, therefore I will this once / reach them: I will shewe them mine hand and my power, and they shall know that my name is the Lord.

and grauen upon the table of their heart, and upon the bases of your altars.

2 They remember their altars as their children, with their groves by the greene trees upon the hills.

3 O my mountaine in the field, I will give thy substance, and all thy treasures to be spoiled, for the sin of thy hire places throughout all thy borders.

4 And thou shalt rest, and in thee shall be a rest from thine heritage that I gave thee, and I will cause thee to see mine enemies in the land, which thou knowest not: for ye have kindled a fire in mine anger, which shall burne for ever.

5 Thus saith the Lord, Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arme, and withswareth his heart from the Lord.

6 For he shall be like the heath in a wilderness, & shall not see when any good cometh, but shall inhabit the parched places in the wilderness, in a salt land, and not inhabited.

7 Blessed be the man, that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is.

8 For he shall be as a tree that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her roots by the river, & shall not faile when the heate cometh, but her leaf shall be greene, and shall not care for the yeere of drought, neither shall cease from yielding fruit.

9 The heart is deceitfull and wicked above all things, who can know it?

10 The Lord search the heart, and trie the reins, even to give every man according to his wayes, and according to the fruite of his mouthes.

11 As the partrich gathereth the yong, which she hath brought forth: so hee that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the middes of his dayes, and at his end shall be a foole.

12 As a glorious throne exalted from the beginning, so is the place of our Sanctuary.

13 O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee, shall bee confounded: they that depart from thee, shall bee written in the earth, because they have forsaken the Lord the fountaine of living waters.

14 Waste mee, O Lord, and I shall bee whole: & save mee, and I shall be saved: for thou art my prayer.

15 Behold, they say unto me, Where is the word of the Lord: let it come now.

b In stead of the law of God, they have written idolatry and all abominations in their heart.

c Your sinnes appeare in all the altars that you have erected to idols.

d Some reade, So that their children remember their altars, that is, follow their fathers wickednesse.

e Zion that was my mountaine, shall now be left as a waste field.

16 But I have not found in my selfe for a pastour after thee, neither have I desired the day of misery, thou knowest: that which came out of my lips, was right before thee.

17 Bee not a terrible vnto mee: thou art mine hope in the day of aduersity.

18 Let them be confounded that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraid, but let not me be afraid: bring vpon them the day of aduersity, and destroy them with double destruction.

19 Thus saith the Lord, I will stand in the gate of the children of the people, whereby the kings of Iudah come in, and by the which they go out, and in all the gates of Ierusalem.

20 And say vnto them, Heare the worde of the Lord, ye kings of Iudah, and all Iudah, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, that enter in by their gates.

21 Thus saith the Lord, Take heede to your soules, and beare no burden in the Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierusalem.

22 Neither carry forth burthens out of your houses in the Sabbath day: neither doe ye any worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their necks stiffe, and would not heare, nor receive correction.

24 Wherefore, I will beare me, saith the Lord, and beare no burthen through the gates of the city in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that ye doe no worke therein.

25 Then shall the kings and the princes enter in at the gates of this citie, and shall sit vpon the thrones of Daud, and shall ride vpon chaires, and vpon horses, both they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and this citie shall remaine for euer.

26 And they shall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which shall bring burnt offerings and sacrifices, and meate offerings, and incense, and shall bring sacrifice of prayse into the house of the Lord.

27 But if ye will not beare me to sanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burthen, say to go through the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

4 His prayer against his aduersaries.

5 The word which came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

6 Arise and goe downe into the potters house, and there shall I shew thee my words.

7 Then went I downe to the potters house, and behold, he wrought a worke on the wheelles.

4 And the vessel that he made of clay was broken in the hand of the potter: so he returned and made it another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

6 O house of Israel, cannot I doe with you as this potter, saith the Lord? behold, as the clay is in the potters hand, so are you in mine hand, O ye house of Israel.

7 I will speake suddenly against a nation, or against a kingdome to plucke it vp, and to root it out, and to destroy it.

8 But if this nation, against whom I haue pronounced, turne from their wickedness, I will repent of the plague that I thought to bring vpon them.

9 And I will speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to build it, and to plant it.

10 But if it do euill in my sight, and beare not my voice, I will repent of the good that I thought to do for them.

11 Speake thou now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I prepare a plague for you, & purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore every one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your works good.

12 But they saye desperately, Surely we will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man after the stubboynesse of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, The now among the heathen, who hath heard such things? the virgin of Israel hath done very foolishly.

14 Will a man forsake the shadow of Lebanon, which cometh from the rocke of the field? or shall the cold flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?

10 Therefore shall we be reconciled for good to them that have digged a pit for my soul: remember that I stood before thee, to speak for them, and to turn away thy wrath from them.

11 Therefore deliver by their children in sin, and let them drop away by the sword of the sword, and let their wives be ravished from their children, and be widowers: and let their husbands be put to death, and let their young men be slain by the sword in the street.

12 Let the cry be heard from their houses,
when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly upon them: they have digged a pit to take me, and lay snares for my feet.

13 For Lord thou knowest all their counsels against me: render to death: forgive not their iniquity, neither put out their flame from thy sight, but let them be overthrown before thee: deal death with them in the time of thine anger.

CHAP. XIX.

He prophesies the destruction of Jerusalem for the contempt and despising of the word of God.

1 Thus saith the Lord, God, and buy an earthen bottle of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the priests,

2 And go forth into the valley of Ben-hinnon, which is by the entrance of the gate:
and thou shalt preach there the words,
that I shall tell thee.

3 And thou shalt say, Hear ye the word of the Lord, O kings of Judah, inhabitants of Jerusalem. Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring a plague upon this place, the which whosoever shall see shall be filled.

4 Because they have forsaken me, and said, We will not see thee: and have burnt incense in it unto other gods, whose neither they, nor their fathers have known: nor the kings of Judah (they have filled this place with the blood of innocents).

5 And they have built the high places of Baal, to burn incense: and have set up altars unto Baal, which I commanded not, nor shake it, neither came it in my mind.

6 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that this place shall no more be called, Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hin-non, but the valley of slaughter.

7 And I will bring the counsel of Judah and Jerusalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, and by the hand of men that shall slay their lives: and their carcasses will I give to be meat for the fowles of the heaven,
and to the beasts of the field.

8 And I will make this cite desolate and in habitation, so that every one that passeth thence shall be astonished and hiss, because of all the plagues thereof.

9 And I will feed them with the flesh of their sonnes, and with the flesh of their daughters, and every one shall eat the flesh of his brother in the street: and I will make them eat their own flesh, and they shall eat their own flesh, and they shall eat their own flesh, and they shall eat their own flesh.

10 Then shalt thou break the bottles in the sight of the men that are with thee.

11 And thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, I have said to this people, and to this cite, as one breaketh a potter's vessel, they cannot be made whole again: and they shall break them in Topheth,
the fire shall burn them, and they shall be burnt.

12 And thou shalt say unto this place, saith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and I will make this cite like Topheth.

13 For the houses of Jerusalem, and the houses of the kings of Judah shall be built as the place of Topheth, because of all the houses upon whose roofs they have burnt incense unto all the hosts of heaven, and have poured out drink offerings unto other gods.

14 Then came Jeremiah from Topheth,
where the Lord had sent him to prophesy,
and he stood in the court of the Lords house,
and said to all the people,

15 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring upon this cite,
and upon all her townes, all the plagues that I have pronounced against it, because they have hardened their necks, and would not heare my words.

CHAP. XX.

1 Jeremiah is smitten and cast into prison for preaching the word of God. 2 He prophesies the captivity of Babylon. 3 He complaineth that he is a mocking stock for the word of God. 4 He is compelled by the spirit to preach the word.

When Nabuzarban, the sonne of Immer, the chief, which was appointed gover-nour in the house of the Lord, heard that Je-reiah prophesied these things,

2 Then Nabuzarban took Jeremiah the prophet, and put him in the stocks that were in the high gate of Benjamin which was by the house of the Lord.

3 And on the morning, Nabuzarban brought Jeremiah out of the stocks. Then said Je-reiah unto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Nabuzarban, but Nabuzarban-nabab.

4 For thus saith the Lord, Behold,
I will make thee to be a terror to thy selfe, and to all thy friends, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and thine eyes shall behold it, and I will give all Judah into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall carrie them captive into Babel, and shall slay them with the sword.

5 Moreover, I will deliver all the substance of this cite, and all the labours thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the kings of Judah will I give into the hand of their enemies, which shall spoyl them, and take them away and carrie them to Babel.

6 And thou Nabuzarban, and all that dwell in thine house, shall goe into captivity, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt die, and shall be buried there, thou and all thy friends, to whom thou hast

3. For I had heard the rattling of many, and fear on every side. Declare, said they, and we will declare it: all my familiars laughed for my halting, saying, It may be that hee is deceived, so we will persuade against him, and we will extirpe our vengeance upon him.

4. But the Lord is with me like a mighty giant: therefore my persecutors shall be overthrown, and shall not prevail, and shall bee greatly confounded: for they have done unholily, and their everlasting shame shall never be forgotten.

See prophesie that Zedekiah shall be taken, and the cite burned.

The word which came unto Jeremias from the Lord, when king Zedekiah sent unto him Balthaz, the sonne of Baaliah, and Zephaniah, the sonne of Maathiah the Bithlis, saying,

2. Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for us.

1. For Jeremiahs impatience against the king, and the people, which hee had seen according to all his decesses, and that hee had seen according to his own heart.

2. Then said Jeremias, Thus shall say to Zedekiah,

3. Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, and will deliver you against the king of Babel, and against the Syrians, which desire you because of the sword, and I will assemble you into the land of this time.

4. And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, with a mighty arme, even in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation.

5. And I will smite the inhabitants of this cite, both man and beast: they shall bee of a great pestilence.

6. And after this, sayeth the Lord, I will deliver Zedekiah the King of Judah, and his servants, and the people, and they shall be left in this cite, from the pestilence, from the sword, and from the famine, into the hand of Sedubad, nezzar King of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seke their lives, and he shall smite them with the edge of the sword: he shall not spare them, neither have pitey nor compassion.

7. And unto this people thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I set before you the way of life, and the way of death.

8. He that abideth in this cite, shall die by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Chaldeans, that besiege you, he shall live, and his life shall be unto him for a prey.

9. For I have set my face against this cite, for evil, and not for good, saith the Lord: it shall be given into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

10. And say unto the house of the King of Judah, Heare ye the word of the Lord.

11. O house of David, thus saith the Lord, Obey me, and I will be to you as a father, and I will deliver you from the hand of the Chaldeans, and I will bring you into the land of this time.

12. Behold, I come against thee, O inhabitant of the halles, and rocke of the plaine, saith the Lord, which say, Who shall come downe against us? or who shall enter into our habitations?

13. But I will visite you according to the fruit of your works, saith the Lord, and I will kindle a fire in the forest thereof, and it shall devoure round about it.

II For both the prophet and the priest had wickedly: & their wickedness have I found in mine house, saith the Lord.

12. & therefore their way shall be into thornes as slippery: &ale in the darkness: they shall hunger & thirst and fall therein: for I will bring a plague upon them, even the year of their visitation, saith the Lord.

13 And I haue seene foolishnes in the prophets of Samaria, that prophesied in Baal and caused my people Israel to erre.

14. They have been also in the Prophets of Jerusalem: filthiness: they commit adultery and walk in lies: they strengthen also the hands of the wicked that none can return from his wickedness: they are all unclean as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorrah.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts concerning the prophets, Beholde, I will feed them with wormwood, and make them drinke the water of gall: so: from the prophets of Jerusalem is wickedness gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Hear not the words of the prophets that say best unto you and teach you vanity: they speak the vision of their own heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 They lay still vnto them that despise me, The Lord hath said, Ye shall haue peace.

and they lay into every one that had been set the stubbornness of his stout heart,
until death came upon you.

18. For: who hath stood in the counsel of the Lord that hee hath perceiued and heard his word? (Altho hath marked his words and heard it?)

19 Behold, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, and a violent whirlwind shall fall down upon the head of the wicked.

20 The anger of the Lord shall not remain untill he haue executed, and till he haue formed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter dayes ye shall vnderstand it plainly.

21. I have not lent their prophecies, said the Lord, yet they ran: I have not spoken to them, and yet they prophesied.

22. But if they had stood in my counsel and had declared my words to my people, then they should have turned them in their evil way, and from the wickedness of their inventions.

23 Am I a God at hand, Catch the Lords,
and not a God farre off?

24 Can any man blind mine eyes, saith the Lord: nor shall I see him, saith the Lord: nor shall I fill heaven and earth, saith the Lord:
25 I have heard what the prophets say

25. I have heard from the prophets that prophetic lies in my name, saying, I have dreamed, I have dreamed.

26. Do the prophets claim to prophetic lies, even prophesying the decree of their own heart?

forget my Name by their dreams, which they tell every man to his neighbour, as their forefathers have forgotten my Name for Babel?

28 The Prophet that hath a dream, let him tell a dream, & he that hath my word, let him speak my word faithfully: what is the charge to the wheat? saith the Lord.

20 Is not my word even like a fire, said the Lord, and like a hammer, that breaks for stone?

30 Therefore behold, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, that I will rend every one from his neighbour.

31 Behold, I will come again, & possess saith the Lord, which have turned away and say, He saith.

32. Behold, I will come against them, saith the Lord, and prophesie shall be as a dream, saith the Lord, and they shall not tell them, and cause my people to trust by their lies, and by their flattering, and I will not hear them, nor commanded them: therefore shall they bring no profite vnto this people, saith the Lord.

Therefore the wicked in deriding the words, prophets, What was the burden? As though there was nothing else but to lay burdens on our shoulders. I lifted the word of God, as a grievous burden.

What burden? I will even take them, saith the Lord.

Then the prophet, on the people, as the Lord said, The burden of the land, I will even visit every such one, and
the land.

Then shall ye say every one to his neighbour, as every one to his brother, What saith the Lord? and what hath the Lord said?

And the burden of the Land shall ye visit, no more for every man, nor more for his burden: for ye have persecuted
the words of the living God, the Lord of Israel.

Then shall thou say to the prophet,
What hath the Lord answered thee?
and what hath the Lord spoken?

And if you say, The burden of the land, when they said the Lord, Because ye have said, The burden of the Land, and ye have said unto you, saying, Ye shall not say,
The burden of the Land.

Therefore beholde, I, even I will believe you, and I will visit you, and the cities that I gave you and your fathers, and will cut you off my presence.

And will bring an everlasting reproach upon you, and a perpetual shame which shall never be forgotten.

CHAP. XXIII.

The vision of the baskets of figs, 5 signifieth that part of the people should be brought againe from captivity. 6 And thus Zedekiah and the rest of the people should be carried away.

The Lord shewed mee, and beholde, two baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel had carried away captive Jeremiah, the sonne of Jehoiakim king of Judah, and cunning men of Jerusalem, and had brought them to Babel.

One basket had very good figges, even the figs that are first ripe; and the other basket had very naughty figges, which could not be eaten, they were so euill.

Then sayd the Lord unto mee, What saith thou, Jeremiah? And I said, Figs: the good figges are good, and the naughty figges are naughty, which cannot be eaten, they are so euill.

Again the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so will I know them, that are carried away captiue of Babel, whom I have sent out of the land into the land of the Chaldeans.

For I will let mines eyes upon them
saith the Lord, and I will bring them againe to the land, and I will build them, and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not pluck them out.

And I will give them an heart to know me, that I am the Lord, and they shall be my people, and I will be their God: for they shall returne into me with their whole
heart.

And as the naughty figges which cannot be eaten, they are so euill (surely thus saith the Lord) so will I give Zedekiah, the king of Judah, and his princes, and the residue of Jerusalem, that remaine in this land, and them that dwell in the land of Egypt:

I will even give them for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of the earth, and for a reproch, and for a proverbe, for a common talke, and for a curse, in all places, where I shall cut them.

And I will send the sword, the famine,
and the pestilence among them, till they be consumed out of the land, that I gave unto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

He prophesieth that they shall be in captiuitie
seuenne yeeres. 12 And that after the seuenne yeeres the Babylonians should be destroyed. 15 The destruction of all nations is prophesied.

The word that came to Jeremiah, concerning all the people of Judah in the fourth yeere of Jehoiakim the sonne of Joshiah king of Judah, that was in the first yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel:

The which Jeremiah the Prophet spake unto all the people of Judah, and to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying,

From the thirteenth yeere of Josiah
the sonne of Amon king of Judah, even unto this day (that is the three and twentieth yeere) the word of the Lord hath come unto me, & I have spoken unto you, rising early and speaking, but ye would not heare.

And the Lord hath sent unto you all his seruants the Prophets, rising early and sending them, but ye would not heare, nor incline your eares to obey.

They sayd, Turne againe now euery one from his euill way, and from the inventions of your invention, & ye shall dwell in the land that the Lord hath giuen vnto you,
and to your fathers for ever and ever.

And goe not after other gods to serue
them, and to worship them, and prouoke mee
not to anger with the moethes of your hands,
and I will not punish you.

Nevertheless ye would not heare me,
saith the Lord, but have prouoked me to anger with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt.

Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts,
Because ye have not heard my words,

I will send and take to me all the families of the North, saith the Lord, and Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel my seruant, and will bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof,
and against all these nations round about,
and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continual desolation.

Whereouer I will take from them
the voice of mirth, and the voyce of gladness, and all their power.

So the wicked and Satan himselfe are Gods seruants, because he maketh them by constraint, and turneth that which they doe of malice, to his honour and glory.

deedes, and according to the workes of their owne hands.

15 For thus saith the Lord God of Israel spoken vnto me, Take the cup of wine of this mine indignation at mine hand, and cause all these nations to drinke it, and they shall drinke it.

16 And they shall drinke, and be moued, and be mad, because of the sword, that I will send among them.

17 Thenooke I the cup at the Lordes hand, and made all people to drinke, vnto
whom the Lord had sent me:

18 Euen Jerusalem, and the cities of Judah, and the kings thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them desolate, an astonishment, an hissing and a curse, as appeareth
this day:

19 Pharaoh also king of Egypt, and his seruants, and his princes, and all his people:

20 And all sort of people, & all the kings of the land of Egypt: and all the kings of the land of the Philistines, and Ashkelon, and Gaza, and Ekron, and the remnant of Judah:

21 Edom, and Moab, and the Ammo-
nites,

22 And all the kings of Tyrus, & all the kings of Sidon, and the kings of the Ples,
that are beyond the Sea,

23 And Dedan, and Tema, and Bax,
and all that dwell in the uttermost corners,

24 And all the kings of Arabia, and all the kings of Arabia that dwell in the desert,

25 And all the kings of Tinnit, and all the kings of Elam, and all the kings of the Medes,

26 And all the kings of the South, saue
and sette one to another, and all the kingdoms of the world, which are vpon earth,
and the king of Shebath shall drinke after them.

27 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel,

These were people of Arabia, which came of Dedan the sonne of Abraham and Keturah. For there were two countreys so named, the one called plentiful, and the other barren, or desert. Or, Persia.

That is, of Babylon, as Chap. 51. 41.

Drinke and be drunken, and shall not and rise no more, because of the wine which I will send among you.

28 But if they refuse to take the cup
from mine hand to drinke, then will I say saith the Lord of hostes, they shall certainly drinke.

29 For loe, I beginne plague the remnant of this people, as thou sayest, and you go free: ye shall not goe quier for I will call for a sword vpon all the inhabitants of the earth, saith the Lord of hostes.

30 Therefore prophesie thou against them all these wordes, and say vnto them, The Lord shall roare from aboue, and shall his voyce from his holy habitation: he will roare vpon his habitation, and cry out, as they that presse the grapes against all the inhabitants of the earth.

31 The sound shall come to the ends of the earth: for the Lord hath a controversy with the nations, and will enter into battell with all flesh, and hee will giue them that are wicked to the sword, saith the Lord.

32 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the Gods, a plague shall goe forth from me nation, and a great affliction shall be sent vpon the heads of the earth.

33 And the flaine of the Lord shall be that day from one end of the earth, vnto to the other end of the earth: they shall not be mourned, neither gathered nor buried, because hee hath hung vpon the ground.

34 Howle, yee shepherds, and cry in morrow your flocks in the other part of the flocke: for your dayes of mourning are accomplished, and of your bitterness, and ye shall fall like a plectuous vessel.

35 And the flight shall fall from the shepherds, and the escaping from the principall of the flocke.

36 A voyce of the cry of the shepherds,
and an howling of the principall of the flocke shall be heard: for the Lord hath broken their pasture.

37 And the best pastures are destroyed because of the wrath and indignation of the Lord.

38 He hath spoiled his court, as the son: for their land is waste, because of the wrath of the oppressors, and because of the wrath of his indignation.

CHAP. XXV

1 Jeremiah mourneth the people to repentance. 7 Hee is taken of the false prophets and priests, and brought to indignation. 25 From the Prophet is said of Ieremias in a contrary way to the word of God.

1 The beginning of the reigne of Jeho-kiam the sonne of Josiah king of Iuda, came this word from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, God in the court of the Lords house, and heate vnto all the cities of Iudah, which come to the ship in the Lords house, all the manner that I command thee to speake vnto them, hee
nor a word backe,

3 If it bee they will hearken, and turne
cunty

men from his evil way, that I may behold the plague, which I have decreed to bring upon them, because of the iniquities of their works.

Then shall I say unto them, Thus saith the Lord, of ye will not heare me, to leave my lawes, which I have set before ye, and to heare the words of my servants

the Prophets, whom I sent unto you, both by word, and sending them, and will not hearken,

Then will I make this house like Sodom, and will make this citie a carle
in all the nations of the earth.

So the Priests and the Prophets, and all the people heard Jeremiah speaking their words in the house of the Lord.

Now when Jeremiah had made an accuse of breaking all that the Lord had commended him to speake unto all the people,
then the Priests and the Prophets, and all the peopleooke him, and said, Thou shalt be the death.

So they had then prophesied in the same
the Lord saying, This house shall be like Sodom, and this citie shall be desolate without an inhabitant: and all the people were gathered against Jeremiah in the house of the Lord.

And when the Princes of Iudah heard of these things, they came up from the lowe house into the house of the Lord, and sat downe in the entrie of the new gate of the Lords House.

Then spake the Priests and the Prophets unto the princes, and to all the people, saying, This man is worthe to die: for he hath prophesied against this citie, as ye have heard with your eares.

Then spake Jeremiah unto all the princes, and to all the people, saying, The Lord hath sent me to prophesie against this house, and against this citie all the things that ye have heard.

Therefore nowe amend your wayes and your works, and heare the voyce of the Lord your God, that the Lord may repent him of the plague, that hee hath pronounced against you.

So say ye, behold I am in your hands;
as ye thinke good and right.

But knowe ye for certaine, that if ye will not heare, ye shall surely bring inhumanity upon your selves, and upon this citie, and upon the inhabitants thereof: for I have sent the Lord hath sent me unto you to speak all these words in your eares.

Then said the princes and all the people, and the Priests, and to the Prophets,
This man is worthe to die: for he hath spoken in the name of the Lord our

God. Then arose by certain of the Priests of the land, and spake to all the assembled people, saying,

When the Boasshire * prophesied
in the dayes of Ieremias King of Iudah, and spake to all the people of Iudah, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I shall be plowed like a field, and Jerusalem shall be a heape, and the mountaine of the house shall be as the high places of the fount.

19. Oth Jeremias king of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death: and hee not heare
the Lord, and obeyed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the plague, that hee had pronounced against them: this might wee procure great evil against our soules.

20. And there was also a man that prophesied in the name of the Lord, one A-chaz the sonne of Ebednab, of Kirjathiarmuth, who prophesied against this citie, and against this land, according to all the words of Jeremiah.

21. Now when Iehoiakim the king with all his men of power, and all the Princes heard his words, the king sought to slay him. But when Achaz heard it, hee was astremed, and fled, and went into Egypt.

22. Then Iehoiakim the king sent men into Egypt, even Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt.

23. And they set Achaz out of Egypt, and brought him unto Iehoiakim the king, who slew him with the sword, and cast his dead body into the graves of the children of the people.

24. But the hand of Ashkam * the sonne of Shaphan was with Jeremiah that they should not giue him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

ments so much the more. m As in the first, Hezekiahs example is to be followed, so in this other, Iehoiakims act is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his household. n Which decla-reth that nothing could haue appeased their sinne, if God had not moued this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

CHAP. XXVII.

1. Jeremiah at the commandment of the Lord sendeth bonds to the king of Iudah, and to the other kings that were near, whereby they are manifested to be subiects to Nebuchad nergar. 2. Hee warneth the people and the kings and rulers that they beleue not false prophets.

1. At the beginning of the reigne of Iehoi-akim the sonne of Josiah king of Iudah came this word vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2. Thus saith the Lord to me, Make thee yokes, and yokes, and put them upon thy necke.

3. And send them to the king of Edom, and to the king of Moab, and to the king of the Ammonites, and to the king of Tyre, and to the king of Sion by the hand of the messenger, which come to Jerusalem vnto Sedekiah the king of Iudah.

4. And command them to say vnto their masters, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Thus shall see say vnto your masters,

5. I haue made the earth, the man, and the beast that are vpon the ground, by my visd sometime to confirme their prophesies, which notwithstanding they could not doe of themselves, but in as much as they had a reue-lation for the same. 16. 20. 2. and therefore the false Prophets to get more credite, did vse also such visible signes, but they had no reuelatigreat power, and by my outstretched arme, and have given it unto whom I pleased mee.

6 But now I have given all these lands into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my servant, and the beasts of the field have I also given him to serve him.

7 And all nations shall serve him, and his sonne, and his sonnes sonne, untill the verie time of his land come also: then many nations and great kings shall serve themselves of him.

8 And the nation and kingdom which will not serve the same Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and that will not put their necke under the yoke of the King of Babel, the same nation will I visite, saith the Lord, with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, untill I have wholy given them into his hands.

9 Therefore heare not your prophets nor your soothsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your enchanters, nor your sojourners, which say unto you thus, Ye shall not serve the King of Babel.

10 For they prophesse a lie unto you to cause you to goe farre from your land, and that I should cast you out, and you should perish.

11 But the nation that put their neckes under the yoke of the King of Babel, and serve him, those will I let remaine still in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shall occupie it, and dwell therein.

12 I spake also to Zedekiah King of Judah according to all these wordes, saying, Put your neckes under the yoke of the King of Babel, and serve him and his people, that ye may live.

13 Thus will ye die, thou, and thy people by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation, that not will serve the King of Babel.

14 Therefore heare not the wordes of the prophets, that speake unto you, saying, Ye shall not serve the King of Babel: for they prophesse a lie unto you.

15 For I have not sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophesse a lie in my name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, both you, and the Prophets that prophesse unto you.

16 Also I spake to the Priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, heare not the wordes of your Prophets that prophesse unto you, saying, Behold, the vessels of the house of the Lord shall now shortly bee brought againe from Babel, for they prophesse a lie unto you.

17 Heare them not, but serve the King of Babel, that ye may live; wherefore should this cite be desolate?

18 But if they bee Prophets, and if the word of the Lord be with them, let them utter the word of the Lord, that the vessels which are left in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the King of Judah, and at Jerusalem, goe not to Babel.

19 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the Babel, and concerning the vessels of the vessels that are in this cite.

20 Which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel took not, when hee carried away the vessels of the house of the Lord, and the vessels of the King of Judah, and the vessels of the nobles of Judah, and Jerusalem.

21 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the King of Judah, and at Jerusalem,

22 They shall bee brought to Babel, and there they shall be untill the day that I visit them, saith the Lord: then will I bring them up, and restore them unto this place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

The false prophesie of Hananiah, 22 Jeremiah reprehendeth Hananiah, and prophesieth.

AND that same yeere, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah King of Judah in the fourth yeere, and in the fifth moneth, Hananiah the sonne of Azur the Prophet, which was of Shilon, came to mee in the house of the Lord, in the presence of the priests, and of all the people, and sayd,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, I have broken the yoke of the King of Babel.

3 Whichin two yeeres space I will bring into this place all the vessels of the Ladies house, that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke away from this place, and carried them into Babel.

4 And I will bring againe to this place Jeconiah the sonne of Jeboiakim King of Judah, with all them that were carried away captives of Judah, and went into Babel, saith the Lord: for I will breake the yoke of the King of Babel.

5 Then the Prophet Jeremiah said unto the Prophet Hananiah in the presence of the Priests, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the house of the Lord,

6 When the Prophet Jeremiah said, thus saith the Lord to doe, the Lord condemne thy words which thou hast prophesied, to restore the vessels of the Ladies house, and all that were carried captive from Babel, into this place.

7 But heare thou now this word that I will speake in thine eares, and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophets that have beene before me, and before thee in time past, prophesied against many countries, and against great Kingdomes of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence.

9 And the Prophet which prophesied of peace, when the word of the Prophet shall come to passe, then shall the Prophet be knowne that the Lord hath truly sent him.

10 Then Hananiah the Prophet took the yoke from the Prophet Jeremiah, which the false prophet speaketh, to trie the faith of the and heake it.

11 And Hananiah spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, God in whom I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, from the necke of all nations within the space of two yeeres: and the Prophet Jeremiah went his way.

12 ¶ Then the worde of the Lord came unto Jeremiah the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Jeremiah) saying,

13 Go, and tell Hananiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make for them yokes of iron.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, I have put a yoke of yron upon the necke of all these nations, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I have given him the beastes of the fildes.

15 Then said the Prophet Jeremiah vnto the prophet Hananiah, Heare now Hananiah, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou maketh this people to trust in a lie.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will cast thee from off the earth: this yere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

17 So Hananiah the prophet dyed the same yere in the seuenth moneth.

And it is manifest, that miracles cannot moue vs, neither can they moue God to touch the heart.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Jeremiah writeth vnto them that were in captiuitie in Babylon, 10 Hee prophesieth their returne after seuenie yeeres. 16 Hee prophesieth the destruction of the King and of the people that remaine in Ierusalem. 23 He threatneth the prophet that seduceth the people. 25 The death of Jeremiah is prophesied.

Now these are the wordes of the booke which Jeremiah the Prophet sent from Ierusalem vnto the residue of the Elders which were caried away captiues, and to the Priests, and to the Prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchad-nezzar had caried away captiue from Ierusalem to Babel.

1 ¶ After that Ieremias the King, and Azbani, and the Eunuchs, the princes of Iudah, and of Ierusalem, and the craftsmen and cunning men were departed from Ierusalem)

2 By the hand of Elasah the sonne of Iehoiakim, and Gemariah the sonne of Ithiel, (whom Zedekiah King of Iudah sent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) saying,

3 Thus hath the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel spoken vnto all that are caried away captiues, whom I haue caried to Babel: saying,

4 Build you houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eate the fruits of them.

6 Take you wines, and beget sonnes and daughters: and take wines for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to husbands, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that yet may bee increased there, and not diminished.

7 And seeke the prosperitie of the citie, whither I haue caused you to bee caried away captiues, and pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall you haue peace.

8 ¶ For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Let not your prophets and your soothsayers that be among you, deceiue you, neither giue care to your dreames, which you dreame.

9 For they prophesie vnto a lye in my Name: I haue not sent them, saith the Lord.

10 But thus saith the Lord, That after seuentie yeeres bee accomplished at Babel, I will visite you, and performe my good promise toward you, and cause you to returne to this place.

11 For I know the thoughts that I haue thought towards you, saith the Lord, even the thoughts of peace and not of trouble, to giue you an ende, and your hope.

12 Then shall you cry vnto mee, and yett shall you see mee, and I will heare you.

13 And you shall seeke mee, and find mee, because yett shall seeke mee with all your heart.

14 And I will be found of you, saith the Lord, and I will tene away your captiuitie, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I haue cast you, saith the Lord, and will bring you againe vnto the place, whence I caused you to be caried away captiue.

15 ¶ Because yett haue sayd, The Lord hath called vs by a prophet in Babel,

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord of the king, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, and of all the people that dwell in the citie, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captiuitie:

17 Euen thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will send vpon them the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile figges, that cannot be eaten, they are so naughty.

18 And I will persecute them with the sword, with the famine, and with the pestilence: and I will make them a terror to all kingdomes of the earth, and a murr, and astonishment and an hissing, and a reproch among all the nations whither I haue cast them.

19 Because they haue not heard my wordes, saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early, and sending them, but they would not heare, saith the Lord.

20 ¶ Heare yett therefore the word of the Lord al ye of the captiuitie, whom I haue sent from Ierusalem to Babel.

e The Prophet speaketh not this for the affliction that he bare to the tyrant, but that they should pray for the common rest and quietnesse, that their troubles might not be increased, and that they might with more patience and lesse griefe, waite for the deliuerance which God had appointed most certaine: for this not onely the Israelites, but all the world, yea, and the insensible creatures should reioyce when these tyrants should be destroyed, as Isa. 14. 4.

22 And all they of the captiuitie of Iudah, that are in Babel, shall take vp this curie against them, and say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whom the king of Babel burnt in the fire.

23 Because they haue committed villenie in Israel, and haue committed adulterie with their neighbours wiues, and haue spoken lying wordes in my name, which I haue not commanded them, euen I know it, and retriue it, saith the Lord.

24 Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the Nehelamite, saying,

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy name vnto all the people, that are at Ierusalem, and to Zephaniah the sonne of Baalshib the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying,

26 The Lord hath made thee Priest, for Jehoiada the Priest, that ye should be officers in the house of the Lord, for every man that raueth and maketh himselfe a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stocks.

27 Now therefore why hast thou not reproued Jeremiah of Anathoth, which prophesied vnto you?

28 For, for this cause hee sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This captiuitie is long: build houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eat the fruits of them.

29 And Zephaniah the Priest read this letter in the eares of Jeremiah the Prophet.

30 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremiah, saying,

31 Send to all them of the captiuitie, saying, Thus saith the Lord of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophesied vnto you, and I sent him not, and hee caused you to trust in a lie.

32 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will visite Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seede: hee shall not haue a man to dwell among this people, neither shall he beholde the good, that I will doe for my people, saith the Lord, because he hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 Hee merueth the enemies, 21 and comforteth the Church.

THE word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Declare thee all the words that I haue spoken vnto thee, in a booke.

3 For loe, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, saith the Lord: for I will restore them vnto the land that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it.

4 Again, these are the wordes that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah.

5 For thus saith the Lord, after ye haue heard a terrible voyce, of feare, and not of peace.

6 Demaund now, and behold, I am trouble with child. Therefore doe I holde every man with his handes on his loynes as a woman in trauaile, and all faces are turned vnto palenesse.

7 Alas, for this day is great: none shall bene like it: it is euen the time of Iacob's trouble, yet shall he be deliuered from it.

8 For in that day, saith the Lord of hosts, I will breake his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bonds, and strangers shall no more serue themselves of him.

9 But they shall serue the Lord their God, and Dauid their King, whom I will raise vp vnto them.

10 Therefore feare not, O my seruant Iacob, saith the Lord, neither be affraid, O Israel: for loe, I will deliuer thee from a farre country, and thy seede from the hand of their captiuitie, and Iacob shall turne againe, and shalbe in rest and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid.

11 For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to saue thee: though I utterly destroy all the nations wher I haue scattered thee, yet will I not utterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not utterly cut thee off.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Thy hunting is incurable, and thy wound is holagous.

13 There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medicines, nor helpe for thee.

14 All thy louers haue forgotten thee: they seeke thee not: for I haue stricken thee with the wound of an enemy, and with a sharpe chastisement for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy finnes were increased.

15 Why cryest thou for thine affliction? thy sorow is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy finnes were increased, I haue done thee things which thou hast not expected.

16 Therefore all they that denounce thee, shall bee deuoured, and all thine enemies shall be destroyed: and every one shall goe into captiuitie: and they that spolie thee, shall be spoiled, and they that robbe thee, will I giue to be spoiled.

17 For I will restore health vnto thee, and I will heale thee of thy woundes, saith the Lord, because they called thee, Thou art away, saying, This is Zion, whome no man seeketh after.

18 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will bring againe the captiuitie of Iacob vnto them, and haue compassion on his dwelling place: and the citie shall be builded vpon her own heape, and the palace shall remaine after the manner thereof.

I praye them for their finnes, but correct and chastise them, and so burneth the Lord, as he did punish them, 16. 33. 1. Meaning that the Church should be restored to their former state.

¶ Whereof I haue Gods benefites after their returne from Babylon, 23. and the spiritual ioy of the faithful in the Church.

A t the * same time, saith the Lord, will I bee the God of all the families of Israel,
and they shall be my people.

1 Thus saith the Lord, The people which * escaped the sword, found grace in the wilderness: he walked before Israel to come him to reit.

2 The Lord hath appeared vnto me * of thee, say they: * Pea, I haue loued thee with an everlasting love, therefore with mercie I haue visited thee.

3 Again I will build thee, and thou shalt be builded, O virgine Israel: thou shalt still be adorned with thy symple, and shalt go forth in the dance of them that be ioyfull.

4 Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaines of Samaria, and the planters shall plant them: shall make them common:

5 For the dayes shall come that the watchmen vpon the mount of Ephraim shall cry, Arise, and let vs go vp vnto * Zion,
to the Lord our God.

6 For thus saith the Lord, Reioyce with jubilation for Iacob, & shout for ioy among the chief of the Gentiles: publish payle, and say, O Lord, save thy people, the remnant of Israel.

7 Behold, I will bring them from the South country, and gather them from the outies of the world, with the blind and the lame among them, with the woman with child, and her that is deliuered also: a great company shall returne hither.

8 They shall come * weeping, and with mercie will I bring them againe: I will leade them by the riuers of * water in a straight way, wherein they shall not stumble:
for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is * my first borne.

9 Heare the word of the Lord, O yee
Gentiles, and declare in the vles as farre off, and say, He that scattered Israel, will gather him, and will keepe him as a shepheard doth his flocke.

10 For the Lord hath redeemed Iacob,
and ransomed him from the hand of * him,
that was stronger then he.

11 Therefore they shall come and reioyce in the height of Zion, and shall runne to the bountifullnesse of the Lord, euen for the 1 wheate, and for the wine, and for the oyle,
and for the increast of sheepe and bullocks:
and their soule shall be as a watered garden,
and they shall haue no more sorrow.

12 Then shall the virgine reioyce in the * dance, and the young men, and the olde men together: for I will turne their mourning into ioy, and will comfort them, and giue
them ioy for their sorrowes.

13 And I will replentish the soule of the priest with * farnes, and my people shall bee satisfied with my goodnesse, saith the Lord.

14 Thus saith * the Lord, A voyce was heard on his, a mourning and bitter weeping: Ra-bel weeping for her children, refused to be co-forted for her childre, because they were not.

15 Thus saith the Lord, Refraime thy voyce from weeping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shall be rewarded saith the Lord, and they shall come againe from the land of the enemy.

16 And there is hope of thine end, saith
the Lord, that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders.

17 I haue heard * Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected mee, and I was chastised as an * vntamed calfe: I conuert thou me, and I shall be conuerted: for thou art the Lord my God.

18 Surely after that I conuerted, I repent: and after that I was instructed, I sinned vpon my * thigh: I was ashamed, yea, euen confounded, because I did beare the re-
proch of my youth.

19 Is Ephraim * my deare sonne or pleasant child: yet since I spake vnto him, I still * remembred him: therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I will surely haue compassion vpon him, saith the Lord.

d Because their deliuerance from Babylon was a figure of their deliuerance from sinne, he sheweth how this should be procured, to wit, by Iesus Christ, whom a woman should conceive & bear in her wombe. Which is a strange thing in earth, because he should be borne of a virgin without man, or, he meaneth, that Ierusalem which is like a barren woman in her captiuitie should be fruitful, as shee that is joynd in marriage, and whom God blest with children.

e Having understood this vision of the Messiah to come, in whom the two houses of Israel and Iudah should be joynd, I reioyced. f I will multiply, and enrich them with people and cattell.

ser thine heart toward the path & way, that thou halt walked: turne againe, O virgin of Israel: turne againe to these thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou go astray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created a new thing in the earth: A WOMAN shall compass a man.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Yet shall they say this thing in the land of Iudah, and in the cities thereof, when I shall bring againe their captiuitie, The Lord bleste thee, O habitation of iustice and holy mountaine.

24 And Iudah shall dwell in it, and al the cities thereof together, the husbandmen and they that goe forth with the flocke.

25 For I haue satiate the wearie soule, and I haue replenished every lowly soule.

26 Therefore I waied, and beheld, and my sleepe was sweete vnto me.

27 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will low the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah: with the seede of man and with the seede of beest.

28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to throw downe, and to destroy, and to plague them, so will I watch ouer them, to build and to plant them, saith the Lord.

29 In those dayes shall they say no more, The fathers haue eaten a sowes grape, and the childrens teeth are set on edge.

30 But euery one shall die for his owne iniquitie: euery man that eateth the sowes grape, his teeth shall be set on edge.

31 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iudah.

32 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers, when I tooke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my covenant they brake, although I was an husband vnto them, saith the Lord.

33 But this shall bee the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel, After those dayes, saith the Lord, I will put my Law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts, and will be their God, and they shall be my people.

34 And they shall teach no more euery man his neighbour, and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lords, for they shall all know mee from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I will forgive their iniquitie, and will remember their sinnes no more.

36 If these ordinances depart out of my sight, saith the Lord, then shall the tribe of Irael cease from being a nation before me for euer.

37 Thus saith the Lord, If the heavens can be measured, or the foundations of the earth bee searched out beneath, then will I cast off all the seed of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the Lord.

38 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the citie shall be built to the Lord from the tower of Hanaanel, vnto the gate of the corner.

39 And the line of the measure shall goe forth in his presence vpon the hill Sion, and shall compass about to South.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, and all the hills vnto the brooke of Kidron, and vnto the corner of the highgate toward the East, shall bee holy vnto the Lord, neither shall it bee plucked nor destroyed any more for euer.

Jeremiah is cast into prison because he prophesied that the citie should be taken of the King of Babylon. 7 Hee sheweth that the people should come againe to their owne possession. 38 The people of God are his seruants, and he is their Lord.

The word that came vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, in the tenth yeere of Sedechiah King of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchadnezzar.

2 For then the king of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: and Jeremiah the Prophet was shut vp in the court of the palace, which was in the king of Iudahs house.

3 For Sedechiah king of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Wheresome hoste thou prophesist, and say, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will giue thee this citie into the hands of the king of Babel, and he shall take it.

4 And Sedechiah the king of Iudah shall not escape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but shall surely bee deliuered into the hands of the king of Babel, and shall speake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall behold his face.

5 And he shall leade Sedechiah to Babel, and there shall hee bee, until I visite him, saith the Lord: though wee fight with the Caldeans, yet shall not prosper.

6 And Jeremiah said, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

7 Behold, Hananeel, the sonne of Shalum thine vncle, shall come vnto thee and say, Buy vnto thee my field, that is in Anathoth: for I will by kindes apperceive thee, vnto thee to buy it.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The Prophet is monished of the Lord to pray for the deliverance of the people, which the Lord promised. 8 God forgiveth sinnes, for his ownnes sake. 15 Of the birth of Christ. 20 The kingdom of Christ on the Church shall never be ended.

2 <sup>Reouer,</sup> the word of the Lord came unto Meo Jeremiah the second time (while hee was yet shut up in the <sup>court</sup> of the prison) saying,

3 Thus saith the Lord, the maker <sup>thereof</sup>, the Lord that formed it, and established it, the Lord is his Name.

4 Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and shew thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not.

5 For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, concerning the houses of this cite, and concerning the houses of the Kings of Judah, which are destroyed by the <sup>c</sup> mountes, and by the sword,

6 They come to <sup>fight</sup> with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themselves with the dead bodies of men, whom I have slaine in mine anger and in my wrath: for I have hid my <sup>face</sup> from this cite, because of all their wickednesse.

7 Behold, I will give it health and amendment: for I will cure them, and will truelle unto them the abundance of peace, and truth.

8 And I will cause the captivitie of Judah, and the captivitie of Israel to returne, and will build them as at the first.

9 And I will: cleanse them from all their iniquitie, whereby they have sinned against mee: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they have sinned against mee, and whereby they have rebelled against mee.

10 And it shall be to me a name, a praise, and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which shall hear all the good that I doe unto them: and they shall come and tremble for all the goodnesse, and for the wealth, that I have done to them.

11 Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel, shall be heard in this place, which hath been desolate, without man, without beast, even in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, that her desolation, and our man, and without inhabitants, and without beast.

12 The voice of joy and the voice of gladnesse, the voice of the blythe groom, and the voice of the blythe, the voice of them that shall say, Praise the Lord of hostes, because the Lord is good: for his mercy endureth for ever, and of them that offer the sacrifice of praise in the house of the Lord. for I will cause to returne the captivitie of the land, as at the first, saith the Lord.

13 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, against this place, which is desolate without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof there shall be dwelling for ever, to rest their flockes.

14 In the cities of the <sup>mountaines</sup>, in the cities in the plaine, & in the cities of the South, and in the land of Benjamin, and about Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah, shall the sheepe passe againe, under the hand of him that ruleth them, saith the Lord.

15 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will raise up that good thing, which I have promised, unto the house of David, and to the house of Judah.

16 In those dayes and at that time will I cause the branch of righteousness to grow up unto David, and hee shall execute judgement, and righteousness in the land.

17 In those dayes shall Judah bee saved, and Jerusalem shall dwell safely, and he that shall call <sup>her</sup> is the Lord our righteousness.

18 For thus saith the Lord, David shall never want a man to sit upon the throne of the house of Israel.

19 Neither shall the Priests and Levites want a man before me to offer <sup>burnt</sup> offerings, and to offer meate offerings, and to doe sacrifice continually.

20 And the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah, saying,

21 Thus saith the Lord, If you can breake my covenant of the <sup>7</sup> day, and my covenant of the night, that there should not be day, and night in my season,

22 Then may my covenant bee broken with David my servant, that hee should not have a sonne to reigne upon his throne, and upon the Levites, and Priests my ministers.

23 As the armie of heauen cannot be numbered, neither the sand of the sea is measured: so will I multiply the seede of David my servant, and the Levites, that minister unto me.

24 Behold, the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah, saying,

25 Considerest thou not what <sup>this</sup> people have spoken, saying, The two families,

g Declaring that there is no deliverance nor joy, but whereas we seele remission of sinnes.

And in the fifth years of Jeioiakim the sonne of Iudah King of Iudah, in the fourth month, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Jerusalem, and to the people that came from the cities of Iudah unto Jerusalem.

Then read Baruch in the booke the prophetes in the house of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Ezechiah the scribe, in the higher court at the entry of the house gate of the Lords house, in the hearing of all the people.

Then Ezechiah the sonne of Gemariah the sonne of Ezechiah had heard out of the booke all the wordes of the Lord.

Then he went downe to the kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and hee tooke all the Princes late there, even Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Gemariah, and Elanai the sonne of Achib, and Gemariah the sonne of Ezechiah, and Jeioiakim the sonne of Iudah, and all the Princes.

Then Ezechiah declared unto them, all the wordes that hee had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

Therefore all the princes sent Jehudi the sonne of Ezechiah, the sonne of Shebemia, the sonne of Cushi, unto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roole, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah, took the roole in his hand, and came downe them.

And they sayde unto him, Sit downe now, and craue it, that wee may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

Nowe when they had heard all the wordes, they were afrayde, both one & other, and said unto Baruch, What wilt thou craue the king of all these wordes.

And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell us now how diddest thou write all these wordes at his mouth.

Then Baruch answered them, I receyved all these wordes into mine eares, and I wrote them with ynte in the booke.

Then said the Princes unto Baruch, Nowe therefore, thou and Jeremias, and let no man knowe where ye be.

And they went in to the King to the court, but they layde by the roole in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour, and tolde the king all the wordes, that hee might knowe.

Then the King sent Jehudi to let the wordes, and hee tooke it out of Ezechiahs the Chancellours chamber, and Jehudi read it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the Princes, which stood beside the King.

Nowe the king sat in the winter house, in the fourth month, and there was a fast proclaimed before the Lord.

And when Jehudi had read thereunto, because hee was with the pen-knife, and hee was the first that was on the heare, that was on the heare, hee was the first that was on the heare.

But they were not afraid, nor rent their garments, neither did they put any other seruantes that heard all these wordes.

Jeremias the sonne of Haniah, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had tolde the king, that hee would not burne the roole: but hee would not heare them.

But the King commaunded Jeremias the sonne of Haniah, and Gemariah the sonne of Haniah, and Shebemia the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Jeremias the Prophet: but the Lord said thus.

Then the word of the Lord came to Jeremias (after that the king had burnt the roole and the wordes which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremias) saying,

Take thee againe another roole, and write in it all the former wordes that were in the first roole which Jeioiakim the king of Iudah had burnt.

And then they say to Jeioiakim king of Iudah, Thus sayeth the Lord. Thou hast burnt this roole, saying, I will have them written therein, saying, that the king of Babel shall come, and destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast.

Therefore thus sayeth the Lord of Jeioiakim king of Iudah, he shall have a name to sit upon the throne of David, and his dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heat, and in the night to the frost.

And I will visit him and his seed, and his seruantes for their iniquitie, and I will bring upon them, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and upon the men of Iudah alike the cull that I have pronounced against them: but they would not heare.

Then tooke Jeremias another roole, and gave it Baruch the scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Jeremias all the wordes of the booke which Jeioiakim king of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

And King Iechonias the sonne of Iehoiakim, whose name was Iechonias, made king in the land of Iudah.

But neither hee, nor his seruantes, nor the people of the land would obey the wordes of the Lord, which hee spake by the mouth of the Prophet Jeremias.

And Iechonias the King, sent Jehucal the sonne of Shebemia, and Jeioiakim the sonne of Banaias the Priest to the Prophet Jeremias, saying, Pray now unto the Lord our God for us.

Then Jeremias went in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison.

Thus we see the continuall care that God hath ever over his to preferre them from the rage of the wicked.

Though the wicked thinke to have abolished the word of God when they have burnt the booke thereof: yet this declareth that God will not only raise it vp againe, but also increase it in greater abundance to their condemnation, as verse 31.

These are Iechonias words. Though Iechonias his sonne succeded him, yet because he reigned but three moneths, it was esteemed as no reigne.

¶ *Then Pharaohs butler was come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that besieged Jerusalem, heard tidings of them,
they departed from Jerusalem.*

¶ Then came the word of the Lord unto the Prophet Jeremiah, saying,

¶ *Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Thus shall ye say in the king of Iudah, that sent you unto me to inquire of mee, Behold, Pharaohs butler, which is come hither to helpe
you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne
land.*

¶ And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this cite, and take it, and burne it with fire.

¶ Thus saith the Lord, I Decree not your felices, saying, The Caldeans shall surely depart from vs: for they shall not depart.

¶ *For though ye had smitten the whole host of the Caldeans that fight against you,
and there remained but wounded men among them, yet should every man rise up in his tent, and burne this cite with fire.*

¶ When the host of the Caldeans was broken up from Jerusalem, because of Pharaohs arme.

¶ Then Jeremiah went out of Jerusalem to goe into the lande of Beniamin, separating himselfe thence from among the people.

¶ And when hee was in the gate of Beniamin, there was a chiefe officer, whose name was Iriah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and hee tooke Jeremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou hast fled to the Caldeans.

¶ Then said Jeremiah, What to saile, I flee me to the Caldeans: but hee would not heare him: so Iriah tooke Jeremiah, and disguised him to the princes.

¶ *And therefore the princes were angrie
with Jeremiah, and smote him, and laid him in prison in the house of Jehonathan the scribe, because they had made him the prison.*

¶ When Jeremiah was entered into the dungeon, and into the prisons, and had remained there a long time.

¶ Then Zedekiah the king sent, & tooke him out, and the king asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any word from the Lord? And Jeremiah said, Thus saith the Lord, thou shalt see him now into the hand of the king of Babel.

¶ Moreover, Jeremiah says unto King Zedekiah, What have I offended against thee, or against thy servants, so against this people, that ye have put me in prison?

¶ Caldeans are now your prophets, which prophecie unto you, saying, The king of Babel shall not come against you, neither against this land.

¶ *Therefore heare now, I pray thee, O
my lord the king: let my prayer be accepted before thee, that thou cause me not to returne to the house of Jehonathan the scribe, lest I die there.*

¶ *Then Zedekiah the king commanded that they should put Jeremiah in the court of the prison: and that they should give him
daily a piece of bread out of the Bakers store, untill all the bread in the cite were* eaten by. ¶ Thus Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAP. XXVIII

¶ By the station of the rulers Let us see to a dangerous. 10. As the request of Zedekiah the king commanded Jeremiah to be brought out of the dungeon. 17. Jeremiah showed the king how he might escape death.

¶ *Then Zedekiah the king of Iudah, and Gedaliah the sonne of Achish, and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashur
the sonne of Babelshai, heard the words that Jeremiah had spoken unto all the people, saying,*

¶ Thus saith the Lord, Ye that remaineth in this cite, shall die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence: but he that goeth forth to the Caldeans, shall live: for he shall have his life for a year, and shall live.

¶ Thus saith the Lord, The cite shall surely be given into the hand of the king of Babels arme, which shall take it.

¶ Therefore the Princes said unto the king, We beseech you, let this man be put to death: for thus hee hath weakened the hands of the men of warre: that remaine in this cite, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such words: unto them: for they shall seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

¶ *Then Zedekiah the king said, Behold, hee is in your hands, for the king can doe
you nothing.*

¶ *Then tooke they Jeremiah, and cast
him into the dungeon of Babelshai the sonne of Gemmelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Jeremiah with cords: and in the dungeon there was no water but myre: so Jeremiah stuck fast in the myre.*

¶ Now when Ebed melech the blacke Ebye, one of the Eunuchs, which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the dungeon (then the king was in the gate of Beniamin.)

¶ And Ebed melech went out of the kings house, and spake to the king, saying,

¶ My lord the King, these men have done euill in all that they have done to Jeremiah the Prophet, when they have cast him into the dungeon, and hee dieth in hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the cite.

¶ Then the king commanded Ebed melech the blacke Ebye, saying, Take thou hence thirtie men with thee, and raise Jeremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon, because hee dieth.

¶ So Ebed melech tooke the men with him, and went to the house of the king under the treasure, and tooke three old women raggs, and old woollen clothes, and let them downe by cordes into the dungeon to Jeremiah.

¶ And Ebed melech the blacke Ebye saide unto Jeremiah, Put now these old raggs, and old woollen clothes, under these cords, betweene the cords. And Jeremiah did so.

¶ So they came up Jeremiah with cords, and tooke him up out of the dungeon,

f Whom the king of Babel had now appointed governor over the rest of the Jews that he left behind.

14 Then they sent, and took Jeremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him unto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, that he should carry him home: so he dwelt among the people.

15 Now the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah, while he was shut up in the court of the prison, saying,

16 Goe and speake to Ebed-melech the blacke Ebre, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring my words upon this citie for rull, and not for good, and they shall be accomplished in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliver thee in that day, saith the Lord, & thou shalt not be given into the hands of the men whom thou fearest.

18 For I will surely deliver thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword, but thy life shall bee for a praye unto thee, because thou hast put thy trust in me, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

a Jeremiah hath leave to goe whither he will. b He dwelleth with the people that remains with Gedaliah.

The word which came to Jeremiah from the Lord after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had let him goe from Ramah, when hee had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were carried away captives of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were carried away captives unto Babel.

2 And the chiefe stewarde took Jeremiah, and sayde unto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague upon this place.

3 Now the Lord hath brought it, and done according as hee hath said: because ye have sinned against the Lord, and have not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come upon you.

4 And now beholde, I looke thee this day from the chaines which were on thine hands: if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke well unto thee: but if it please thee not to come with mee into Babel, & saye still: beholde, all the lande is before thee: whether it seemeth good, and convenient for thee to goe, thither goe.

5 For yet hee was not returned: therefore hee sayd, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whome the king of Babel hath made governour over all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe wheresoever it pleaseth thee to goe. So the chiefe steward gave him vittales and a reward, and let him goe.

6 Then went Jeremiah unto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, to Bethpaz, & dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Nowe when all the Captaines of the hoste, which were in the fieldes, even they and their men heard, that the King of Babel had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam governour in the land, and that he had committed unto him men, and women, and children, and of the house of the house, they were not carried away captives to Babel.

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Bethpaz, even Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Johanan, and Jonathan the sonne of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Azbub, and the sonnes of Epher, the Gileadites, and Jeraniah the sonne of Achab, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, & Isaac-ben-Isaiah, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serve the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and serve the king of Babel, and it shall be well unto you.

10 As for mee, beholde, I will dwell at Bethpaz to serve the Caldeans, which will come unto us: but you, gather you wine, and summer fruites, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities, until I have taken you.

11 Likewise when all the Jews that were in Judah, & among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countreys, heard that the king of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that he had set over them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan.

12 Then all the Jews remained out of all places where they were driven, and came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah unto Bethpaz, and gathered wine and summer fruites, very much.

13 Moreover Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were in the fieldes, came to Gedaliah in Bethpaz.

14 And sayd unto him, Knowest thou not that Sais the king of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee: but Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam beleeveth thee not.

15 Then Johanan the sonne of Kareah, spake to Gedaliah in Bethpaz secretly, saying, Let me go, I pray thee, and I will slay Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and no man shall knowe it. Wherefore should he kill thee, that all the Jews which are gathered unto thee, should be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish?

16 But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, sayde unto Johanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt not doe this thing: for thou speakest falsly of Ishmael.

people, whom Ishmael the son of Rebekah had carried away captive from Egypt: (After that he had slain Sebastian the son of Ishmael) even the young men of marriage, and the women, and the children and the eunuchs, whom he had brought a gain from Egypt:

Then all the captains of the hoste, and Tobanah the sonne of Kareah, and Jeremiah the sonne of Hoshafah, and all the people from the least to the most came.

2 And said vnto Jeremiah the Prophet,
I heare our prayer, wee beseech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left but a few of many, as thing eyes doe behold)

3 That the Lorde thy God may shew vs
the way wherein wee may walke, and the thing that we may doe.

4. Then Jeremiah the Prophet sayd vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I will pray vnto the Lord your God, according to your words, and whatsoeuer thing the Lord shall answer you, I wil declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you.

Kareah, and all the captaynes of the hoste,
which were with him, and all the people

Lord your God.

14 Saying, They, but we will go into the land of Egypt, where we shall see no war, nor hear the sound of the trumpet, nor have hunger of bread, and there will we dwell.

15 And now therefore heare the words of the Lord, ye remnant of Judah: thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, If ye set your faces to enter into Egypt, and go to dwell there,

16 Then the sword that ye feared, I shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which ye care, shall there hang upon you in Egypt, and there shall ye die,

17 And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there, shall die, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remain nor escape from the plague that I will bring upon them.

18 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath bene poured forth upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem: so shall my wrath be poured forth upon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt, and ye shall be a desolation, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproach, and ye shall see this place no more.

19 O ye remnant of Judah, the Lord hath said concerning you, Go not into Egypt: knowe certainly that I have admonished you this day.

20 Surely ye have dissembled in your hearts when ye sent me unto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for us unto the Lord our God, and declare unto us even according unto all that the Lord our God shall say, and we will do it.

21 Therefore I have this day declared it you, but you have not obeyed the voice of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent me unto you.

22 Now therefore, knowe certainly that ye shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the place whither ye desire to goe and dwell.

CHAP. XLIII.

Jonathan carrieth the remnant of the people into Egypt contrary to the mind of Jeremiah: 3 Jeremiah prophesieth the destruction of Egypt.

Now when Jeremiah had made an ende of speaking unto the whole people all the words of the Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had sent him to them, even all these words,

2 Then spake Azariah the sonne of Horeshiah, and Johanan the sonne of Kareab, and all the proud men, saying unto Jeremiah, Thou speakest falsely: the Lord our God hath not sent thee to say, Go not into Egypt to dwell there, f Thus God turneth the policie of the wicked to their owne destruction: for they thought themselves sure in Egypt, and there Nebuchadnezzar destroyed them and the Egyptians, Chap. 46. 35.

g Reade Chap. 26 5. & 44. 13. shewing that this should come upon them for their infidelitic and stubbornnesse. h For you were fully minded to goe into Egypt, whatsoever God spake to the contrary.

i To wit, in Egypt.

a Who was also called Jeremiah, Chap. 42. 1. b This declareth that pride is the cause of rebellion, and contempt of Gods ministers.

c When the hypocrite of the wicked is discovered, they burst forth into open rage: for they can abide nothing but flatteries, reade Isa. 30. 10. d He sheweth what is the nature of hypocrites: to wit, to feigne that they would obey God and embrace his word, if they were assured that his messengers spake the truth: though indeed they be most far from all obedience, to 3. But Butch the sonne of Baanah, witheth against us, for to deliver us from the hand of the Caldeans, that they may slay us, and carry us away captives into Babylon.

4 So Johanan the sonne of Kareab, and all the captives of the host, and all the people obeyed not the voice of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Judah.

5 But Johanan the sonne of Kareab, and all the captives of the host, and all the remnant of Judah, that were returned from all nations, whither they had bene taken, to dwell in the land of Judah:

6 Men, women, and children, and the kings daughters, and every person that Abuzar, and the chief men, had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, and Jeremiah the Prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voice of the Lord, thus came they to Tappanhes.

8 Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiah in Tappanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand, and hide them in the clay in the ditch, which is at the entry of Tappanhes, and in Tappanhes in the sight of the men of Judah.

10 And say unto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will send and bring Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babel, my servant, and will in his chaine upon these stones that I have hid, and hee shall spread his pavilion over them.

11 And when he shall come, he shall besiege the land of Egypt: such as are appointed for death to death, and such as are for captivity, to captivity, and such as are for the sword to the sword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and hee shall burne them, and carry them away captives, and he shall aray himselfe with the land of Egypt, as a shepherd putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace.

13 Hee shall breake also the images of I Beth shemesh that is in the land of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall be burne with fire.

CHAP. XLIIII.

Hee reprooveth the people for their idolatry: 15 They that see light by the threatening of the Lord are chastised. 26 The destruction of Egypt, and of the Iewes therein, is prophesied.

These were the words that came to Jeremiah concerning all the Iewes, which dwelt in the lande of Egypt, and remained at Theb and at Tappanhes, and at Pathos, and in the country of Pathos, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Pee have seene all the evil that I have brought upon Jerusalem, and upon the cities of Judah: and behold, this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein.

k As the caller of Beth-el was not the Israelites: no

more shall Che-
moth deliuer the Moabites,
1 Ebr. come up, or

l How are they destroyed that put their trust in their strength
and riches!

that see, shall answere,

a That is, his

strength.
o He willed the Catholics to lay afflictions ynow
upon them, till they be like drunken men
that fall downe
to their shame
and are derided
of all.

p Or, shall hee
clap his hands.

q Thou reioycest
to heare of his miserie.

r 2. 16. 6.

s He shall not exult against his neighbours.

t Reade Isa. 16. 7

f Which city was in the vtmost
border of Moab:
and hereby he signifieth that the whole land
should be destroyed, and the people caried away.

13 And Moab shall bee ashamed of Che-moth, as the house of Israel was ashamed of Beth-el their confidence.

14 How thinke you this, the are mighty and strong men of warre?

15 Moab is destroyed, & his cities burnt vp, and his chosen yong men are gone downe to slaughter, sayth the King, whose name is,
The Lord of hostes.

16 The destruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plagne halfter fast.

17 All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that knowe his name, say, Howe is the strong kasse broken, and the beautifulf tow!

18 Thou daughter that doest inhabite Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and sit in thirill: for the destroyer of Moab shall come vp vpon thee, and hee shall destroy thy strong holdes.

19 Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, & behold: as hee him that fleeth and that escapeth, and say, what is done?

20 Moab is confounded: for it is destroyed: howle, and cry, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is made waite.

21 And iudgement is come vpon y platue
countrie, vpon Holon and vpon Jahazah,
and vpon Bethphazath,

22 And vpon Dibon, and vpon Aroer,
and vpon the house of Diblatthaim.

23 And vpon Kiriatthaim, & vpon Bethgamul, and vpon Beth-meon.

24 And vpon Kerioth, and vpon Bozrah, and vpon all the cities of the lande of Moab farre or nere.

25 The house of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, sayth the Lord.

26 Make ye him drunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lord: Moab shall swallow in his vomite, and he also shall be in derision.

27 For didst not thou deride Israel, as though hee had bene found among theeues:
for when thou breakest of him, thou art rano-ued.

28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rocks, and be like the dove, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mount.

29 We haue heard the pride of Moab (hee is exceeding proud) his stoutnesse, and his arrogancie, and his pride, and the hauntinesse of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, sayth the Lord, but it shall not be so: and his dissimulations, for they doe not right.

31 Therefore will I howle for Moab,
and I will cry out for all Moab: mine heart
shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Iazer: thy planters are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea of Iazer: the destroyer is fallen vpon thy summer fruits, and vpon thy bintage.

33 And toy, and gladnesse is taken from the plentifull field & from the land of Moab:
and I haue caused wine to faile from the wine presse: none shall tread with shewing:
their shewing shall be no shewing.

34 From the cry of Ieshon vnto Elelech, and vnto Iahaz haue they made the people: from Iazer vnto Ieshon, the water of their yere of the shall bee as the waters also of Sibmah shall be water.

35 Wherefore, I will cause to cease Moab, sayth the Lord, him that offendeth in his places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like a thawne, and mine heart shall sound like a thawne for the men of Kir-heres, because the riches that hee hath gotten is perished.

37 For every head shall bee bald, and every beard plucked: vpon all the houses shall bee cuttings, and vpon the towers shall be a cloth.

38 And mourning shall bee vpon all the houst tops of Moab and in all the streets thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessel wherein is no pleasure, sayth the Lord.

39 They shall howle, saying, How is he destroyed: howe hath Moab turned the backe with shame: so shall Moab bee a derision and a curse to all them about him.

40 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I shall seee as an eagle, & shall spread his wings ouer Moab.

41 The cities are taken, and the strong holds are wonne, & the mighty men be in Moab at that day shall be as the heare of a woman in tranel.

42 And Moab shall be destroyed from being a people, because hee hath set by himselfe against the Lord.

43 Feare, and pit and snare shall be vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, sayth the Lord.

44 He that escapeth from the snare, shall fall in the pit, and hee that getteth vp out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring vpon it, even vpon Moab, the yere of their visitation, sayth the Lord.

45 They that fled, stood vnder the downe of Ieshon, because of the force: he the fire came out of Ieshon, and a flame from Sibon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the Adithion children.

46 Moab be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of Chemosh perisheth: for thy houses are taken captiues, and thy daughters led in to captiuitie.

47 Per will I bring against the captivity of Moab in the latter dayes, sayth the Lord. Thus far of the iudgement of Moab.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The words of the Lord against the Am-monites. 7 Idumea, 23 Damascus, 28 Kedar, 34
and Elam.

Vnto the children of Ammon thus saith the Lord, Ye hath Israel no sorrow: for ye hath bee none here: why then hath your king possessed Gad? and why then hath your king possessed Gad?

2 Therefore beholde, the dayes come,
sayth the Lord, that I will cause a mourning
in the country of Gad.

b To wit, of the Ammonites
king of the Israelites,

where hee heard in *Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall be a desolate heape, and there shall be burnt with fire: then shall I possess those that possessed him, saith the Lord.

16 And I will bring, for Ai is wasted: for ye daughters of Rabbah: gird you with sackcloth: mourne and runne to and fro by the hedges, for their king shall goe into captivity, and his Priests, and his Princes likewise.

17 Therefore gloriest thou in the valleys: thy hills flower away, O rebellious daughter: be trusted in her treasures, bying, altho shee come unto mee.

18 Behold, I will bring a *fear upon thee, saith the Lord God of hosts, of all those that be about thee, and yet shall be scattered every man a right way, and none shall gather him that perish.

19 And afterward I will bring againe the remnant of the children of Ammon.

20 O Edom thus saith the Lord of hosts, Is wisdom come no more in Teman? Is counsel perished from their children? Is their wisdom vanished?

21 For ye inhabitants of Dedan (* they are turned backe, and have confuted to mee) for I have brought the destruction of them upon him, and the time of his visitation.

22 If the *grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leave some grapes? If thieves come by night, they will destroy till they have enough.

23 For I have discovered Esau: I have uncovered his secrets, and hee shall not be able to hide himselfe: his seed is wasted, and his brethren and his neighbours, and there shall be none to say.

24 Leave thy *fatherlesse children, and I will requite them alme, and let thy widowes trust in me.

25 For thus saith the Lord, *Behold, thy whole iudgement was not to drinke of the cup: have assuredly drunken, and art thou that shall escape free? thou shalt not goe free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

26 For I have sowne by my selfe, saith the Lord, that *Bozrah shall be waste, and be a remnant, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall bee perpetuall desolations.

27 I have heard a rymour from the Lord, and an ambassadoy is sent unto the heathen, Gather you together, and come against us, and rise up to the battell.

28 For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among them.

29 The *fear, & the pride of thine heart hath deceived thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rocke, and keepst the height of the hill: though thou shouldst make thy nest as high as the Eagle: I will bring thee down from thence, saith the Lord.

30 Also Edom shall be desolate: every way that goeth by it, shall be astonished, and shall hiss at all the plagues thereof.

31 As in the overthrow of Sodom, and Gomorrah, and the places thereof never about, with the Lord: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sonnes of men remaine in it.

32 Behold, *hee shall come by like a lion from the dwelling of Jordan unto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Israel to rest, even I will make *him to baste away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like mee? and who will appoint mee the time? and who is the *shepherd that will stand before me?

33 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that hee hath devised against Edom, and his purpose that hee hath conceived against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least *of the flocke shall drave them out: surely hee *shall inake their habitations desolate with them.

34 The earth is moov'd at the noise of their fall: the crie of their voyce is heard in the red sea.

35 Behold, hee shall come by, and sit as the eagle, *and spread his wings over Bozrah, and at that day shall the heart of the strong men of Edom bee as the heart of a woman in trauell.

36 Unto *Damascus hee saith, Hamath is confounded, and Arpad, for they have heard evil tidings, and they are faint hearted: as one on the fearefull sea that cannot rest.

37 Damascus is discouraged, *and turneth her selfe to flight, *and feare hath seized her: anguish and sorowes have taken her as a woman in trauell.

38 How is the glorious *citie not referred, the cite of my ioy!

39 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets, and all her men of warre shall cut off in that day, saith the Lord of hosts.

40 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall consume the palaces of Ben hadad.

41 Unto *Kedar and to the kingdomes of Habor, which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel shall smite, thus saith the Lord, Arise, and goe by unto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East.

42 Their tents and their flocks shall they take away: yea, they shall take to themselves their *curtaines, and all their bests, and their camels, and they shall come unto them, feare is on every side.

43 I see, get you farre off: *they have consulted to dwell. O ye inhabitants of Habor, saith the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel hath taken counsell against you, and hath devised a purpose against you.

44 Arise, and get you by unto the wealthy nation, that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which hath neither gates nor bars, but dwell alone.

45 And their camels shall be a bootie, & the multitude of their cattell a spoyle, and I will scatter them into all winds, & the desertmost corners, and I will bring their destruction from all sides thereof, saith the Lord.

46 I will dwell in your places. f. He sheweth that they of Habor will see to the Arabians for succour, but that shall not avale them.

q To wit, Nebuchad-nezzar, after hee hath overcome Iudah which is meant by the swelling of Jordan, shall come against mount Seir and Edom.

r That is, the Israelites, whom the Edomites kept as prisoners to halle away from the place.

s The captiue and gourgmour of the armie, meaning, Nebuchad-nezzar.

t They shall not be able to resist his petie captiues.

u To wit, the enemy.

x As Chap. 48, 40. was said of Meab.

y Which is the chief cite of Syria, whereby hee meant the whole country.

z When hee heard the sudden coming of the enemy.

a He speaketh this in the person of the King and of them all of the country, who shall wonder to see Damascus the chief cite destroyed.

b Why, as King of Syria, a King, 20. 26. and had built these palaces, which were still called the palaces of Ben-hadad.

c Meaning, the Arabians and their borderers.

d Because they vied to dwell in tents, he nameth the things that pertaine thereto.

g That is, Persia, to called of Elam the sonne of Shem.

h Because the Persians were good archers, hee sheweth that the thing wherein they prae their trust should not profit them.

i I will place Nebuchad-nezzar there. And in these prophecies Jeremiah speaketh of those countries, which should be subdued vnder the first of those four monarchies whereas Daniel maketh mention.

k This may be referred to the empire of the Persians and Medes after the Caldeans, or vnto the time of Christ, as Chap. 48. 47.

33 And say: shall be a dwelling for heathens, and desolation for ever: there shall no man dwell there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it.

34 The words of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the Prophet, concerning Elam in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Iudah, saying,

35 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will break the bow of Elam, even the chief of their strength.

36 And upon Elam I will bring the four winds from the four quarters of heaven, & will scatter them towards all these winds, and there shall be no nation, whither the fugitives of Elam shall not come.

37 For I will cause Elam to be afraid before their enemies, and before them that seeke their lives, and will bring upon them a plague, even the indignation of my wrath, saith the Lord, and I will send the sword after them till I have consumed them.

38 And I will set my throne in Elam, and I will destroy both the King and the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but in the latter dayes I will bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, saith the Lord.

CHAP. L.

He prophesieth the destruction of Babylon, and the deliverance of Israel, which was in captiuitie.

The word that the Lord spake concerning Babel, and concerning the land of the Caldeans by the ministerie of Jeremiah the Prophet.

1 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set up a standard, proclaime it and conceale it not: say, Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, Merodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces.

2 For out of the South there cometh by a nation against her, which shall make her land waste, and none shall dwell therein: they shall flee, and depart, both man & beast.

3 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israel shall come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and weeping shall they goe, and seeke the Lord their God.

4 They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetual covenant that shall not be forgotten.

5 For people haue bene as lost sheepe: their shepherds haue caused them to goe astray, and haue turned them away to the mountaines: they haue gone from a mountain to hill, and forgotten their resting place.

6 All that found them, haue deuoured them, and their enemies said, Wee offend not, because they haue sinned against the Lord, the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers.

7 All that found them, haue deuoured them, and their enemies said, Wee offend not, because they haue sinned against the Lord, the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers.

8 Flee from the midst of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, as ye see as the hee goeth: before the flocke.

9 For loe, I will raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of nations from the South country, and they shall set themselves in aray against her, whereby shee shall be taken: their arrows shall be as of a strong man, which is expert, for none shall returne in vain.

10 And Caldes shall bee a spoyle all that spoyle her, shall bee satisfied, sayeth the Lord.

11 Because ye were glad and reioiced in destroying mine heritage, and because ye are grown fat, as the calves in the grass, and naped like strong horses,

12 Therefore your mother shall bee sore confounded, and shee that bare you, shall bee ashamed: behold, the uttermost of the nations shall be a desert, a drye land and a wilderness.

13 Because of the wrath of the Lord, it shall not be inhabited, but shall be wholly desolate: every one that goeth by Babel, shall be astonished, and shall sit at all her plagues.

14 But your times in aray against Babel round about: all ye that bend the bow, shooe at her, spare no arrows: for shee hath sinned against the Lord.

15 Crie against her round about: shee hath giuen her hand: her foundations are fallen, and her wall is destroyed: say it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as shee hath done, soe will hee.

16 Destroy the tower from Babel, and him that handleth the sicke in the time of haruett: because of the sinnes of the apostate they shall turne every one to his people, and they shall see every man to his owne land.

17 Israel is like scattered sheepe: the shep-herds haue dispersed them: first the King of Assur had deuoured him, and last this Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath broken his bones.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will fire the King of Babel, and his land, as I haue visited the King of Assur.

19 And I will bring Israel againe to his habitation: hee shall feede on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shall be satisfied upon the mount Ephraim and Simeon.

20 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the iniquitie of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall bee none: and the sinnes of Iudah, and they shall not be found: for I will bee mercifull vnto them, saith the Lord.

21 Goe vp against the land of the Philistines, euen against it, and against the inhabitants of it: Iehoi: destroy, and lay it waste after them, sayeth the Lord, and according to all that I haue commanded thee.

22 A crie of battell is in the land, and of great destruction.

23 How is the hammer of the world destroyed and broken! how is Babel become desolate among the nations!

14 I have shewed thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou wast not aware:
they are found, and also caught, because thou hadst broken against the Lord.

15 The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the work of the Lord God
of hosts in the land of the Caldeans.

16 Come against her: from the utmost border: open her bowles: tread on her even steues, and destroy her utterly: let nothing of her be left.

17 Destroy all her bullockes: let them go down to the slaughter. Also unto them, in their day is come, and the time of their visitation.

18 The voyce of them that flee, and escape out of the land of Babel to declare in Babylon the vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple.

19 Call up the archers against Babel:
all ye that bend the bow, besiege it round about: let none thereof escape: * recompense her according to her works, and according to all that she hath done, doe unto her: for the day herein provide against the Lord, even as against the holy one of Israel.

20 Therefore shall her yong men fall in the streets, and all her men of warre shall be destroyed in that day, saith the Lord.

21 Beholde, I come unto thee, O yownde man, saith the Lord God of hosts: for thy day is come, even the time that I will visite
thee.

22 And the proud shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him up: and I will make a dyer in his clothes, and it shall devour
all round about him.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, The children of Israel, and the children of Judah were oppressed together: and all that tooke them captives, helde them, and would not let them goe.

24 But their strong Redeemer, whose name is the Lord of hosts, her shall maintaine their cause, that hee may give rest to the land, and disquiet the inhabitants of Babel.

25 A sword is upon the Caldeans, saith the Lord, and upon the inhabitants of Babel, and upon her princes, and upon her wise
men.

26 A sword is upon the footslayers, and they shall die: a sword is upon her strong men, and they shall be afraid.

27 A sword is upon their horses, and upon their charets, and upon all chemilitarie, that are in the midst of her, and they shall be like women: a sword is upon her treasures, and they shall be loyde.

28 A drought is upon her waters, and they shall be dried up: for it is the land of burning images, and they doe upon their idols.

29 Therefore the * Jims with the Jims shall dwell there, and the * ostriches shall nest therein: for it shall be no more inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation unto generation.

30 As God destroyed * Sodom and Gomorrah with the places thereofe round about,

saith the Lord: so shall no man dwell there, neither shall the sonne of man remaine
therein.

41 Beholde, a people shall come from the South, and a great nation, and many kings shall bee raised up from the coastes of the earth.

42 They shall holde the bowe and the buckler: they are cruell and unmercifull:
their voyce shall roare like the sea, and they shall ride upon horses, and be put in aray like men to the battell against thee, O daughter of Babel.

43 The king of Babel hath heard the report of them, and his hands are waxed feeble:
fornie came upon him, even sorrow as of a woman in trouble.

44 Beholde, he * shall come up like a Lyon from the dwelling of Jordan unto the strong habitation: for I will make Israel to rest, and I will make them to haile away from her:
and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her: for who is like mee, and who will appoint mee the time? and who is the * sheheard that will stand before mee?

45 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that hee hath devised against Babel,
and his purpose that hee hath conceived against the land of the Caldeans: I surely the last of the flocke shall draw them out surely he shall make their habitation desolate with
them.

46 At the noyse of the winning of Babel
the earth is mooued, and the cry is heard among the nations.

C H A P. II.

6 Why Babylon is destroyed. 43 The vanity of solomon. 50 Jeremieh giueth his booke to Shereiah.

Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will raise up against Babel, and against the inhabitants that lift up their heart against mee,
a destroying * wind,

2 And will send unto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, and shall emptye her land:
for in the day of trouble they shall be against her on euery side.

3 Also to the bender that benderh his bowe, and to him that stretcheth himselfe up in his highgadding, will I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroy all her hoste.

4 Thus the flate shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, & they that are thrust through in her streets.

5 For Israel hath bene no * widow, nor Judah from his God, from the Land of hosts, though their land was filled with sinne against the holy one of Israel.

6 * Flee out of the midst of Babel, and deliuer euery man his soule: bee not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lords vengeance: he will render unto her a recompense.

7 Babel hath bene as a golden cup in the Lords hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine,
therefore doe the nations * rage.

8 Babel is suddenly fallen, and destroyed: howe for her, being halme for her sore, if shee may be healed.

could not be healed: forsake her, and let her goe every one into his owne country: for her iudgement is come up into heauen, and is lifted up to the clouds.

10 The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrowes: gather the shields: the Lord hath raised up the spirit of the king of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set up the standard upon the walles of Babel, make the watch strong: set up the watchmen: prepare the shoutes: for the Lord hath both deuided, and done that which hee spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwellest vpon many waters, abundant in treasures, thine ende is come, even the end of thy countenell.

14 The Lord of hostes hath sworne by his name, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillars, and they shall cry and shoute against thee.

15 We hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

16 Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and hee caueth the cloudes to ascend from the endes of the earth: hee turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures.

17 Every man is a deafe by his owne knowledge: every sonner is confounded by the graven image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breach therein.

18 They are vanitie, and the worke of error: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

19 The portion of Iacob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his Name.

20 Thou art mine hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I destroy kingdoms.

21 And by thee will I breake horse and horseman, and by thee will I breake the chariot and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee also will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake olde and yong, and by thee will I breake the yong man and the maide.

23 I will also breake by thee the shepherd and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the husbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dikes and vines.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeas all their evil, that they haue done in Zion, even in your sight, saith the Lord.

25 Behold, I come vnto thee, O destroying mountaine, saith the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and roll thee downe from the rockes, and will make thee a burning mountaine.

26 They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations, but thou shalt bee destroyed for ever, sayeth the Lord.

27 Set up a standard in the land: blow the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call up the kingdoms of Ararat, Minni, and Ashchenaz against her: appoint the prince against her: cause hoies to come up as the rough caterpillers.

28 Prepare against her the nations with the king of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land shall tremble and sorrow: for the deuce of the Lord shall be performed against Babel, to make the land of Babel waste without an inhabitant.

30 The strong men of Babel have crept to fight: they haue remained in their holden: their strength hath failed, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken.

31 A poste shall runne to meete the poste, and a messenger to meete the messenger, to shew the king of Babel, that his cite is taken on a sabbath thereof.

32 And that the passages are stopped, and the reedes burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

33 For thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, The daughter of Babel is like a threshing floor: the time of her threshing is come: yet a little while, and the time of her harvest shall come.

34 Nabuchad-negar the king of Babel hath denoured me, and destroyed mee: he hath made me an emptie vessel: he swallowed me up like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath cast me out.

35 The spoyle of me, and that which was left of mee, is brought vnto Babel, shall the inhabitant of Zion say: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldea, shall I reuendle say.

36 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord, Behold, I will maintaine thy cause, and take vengeance for thee, and I will raise up serpents, and diti up her springs.

37 And Babel shall be as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an hissing, without an inhabitant.

38 They shall roare together like lions, and yell as the lions whelpes.

39 In their hate I will make them feastes, and I will make them drunken, that they may reioyce, and sleepe a perpetual sleepe, and not wake, saith the Lord.

40 I will bring them downe like lambs to the slaughter, and like rammes and goats.

41 How is Tychemach taken! and how is the glorie of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an astonishment among the nations!

42 The sea is come up vpon Babel: shee is covered with the multitude of the waves thereof.

n He meaneth the Medes and Persians, as he did before call the Babyloians his hammer, Chap. 50. 23.

o Not that Babylon stood on a mountaine, but because it was strong, and seemed invincible.

43 Her cities are desolate: the land is dry
as a wilderness, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doeth the sonne of man pass threep.

44 I will also visite Bel in Babel, and I will bring out of his mouth, that which he hath swallowed up, and the nations that run
no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel
shall fall.

45 O people, goe out of the mids of her, and behoue ye eery man his soule from the
fiere wrath of the Lord,

46 Let your heart euen faint, & yet feare
the Lord, that shall be heard in the land: the counsell shall come this yeere, and after that in the other: yeere shall come a rumour, and cruell
in the land, and ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore beholde, the dayes come,
that I will visite the images of Babel, and the whole land shall bee confounded, and all her staine shall fall in the mids of her.

48 Then the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, shall reioyce for Babel: for the destruction shall come vnto her from the heaven, sayeth the Lord.

49 As Babel caused the slaine of Israel to fall, so by Babel the slaine of all the earth
shall fall.

50 Per that haue escaped the sword, goe away, stand not still: remember the Lord a farre off, and let Ierusalem come into your minde.

51 Alle are confounded because we haue heard reproch: shame hath covered our faces, for strangers are come into the Sancti-uaries of the Lords house.

52 Therefore beholde, the dayes come,
that I will visite her grauen images, and though all her land the mountains shall gone.

53 Though Babel should mount vp to heauen, and though she should defend her strength on high, yet from mee shall her destroyers come, sayeth the Lord.

54 A sound of a criss cometh from Babel, and great destruction from the lande of the Caldeans.

55 Because the Lord hath layed Babel
waite, & destroyed from her the great voyce,
and her wanes shall roare like great waters,
and a sound was made by their noise.

56 Because the destroyer is come vpon
her, even vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenseth, shall surely recompent.

57 And I will make drunke her princes,
and her wise men, her dukes and her nobles and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, sayeth the Lord whose name is the Lord of hostes.

58 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, The thicke wall of Babel shall be broken, and her gates shall be burnt with fire, and the people shall labour in vaine, and the folke in the fire, for they shall be weary.

59 The word which Ieremias the Prophet commanded Seralah the son of Neriah, the sonne of Masbiah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Iudah vnto Babel, in the fourth yeere of his reigne: and this Seralah was a peaceable prince.

60 So Ieremias wrote in a booke all the euill that should come vpon Babel: euen all these things that are written against Babel.

61 And Ieremias sayde to Seralah,
When thou comest vnto Babel, and shalt see, and shalt reade all these wordes,

62 Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place, to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer.

63 And when thou hast made an ende of reading this booke, thou shalt bind a stone to it, and cast it in the midst of Euphrates.

64 And shalt say, Thus shall Babel bee drownded, and shall not rise from the euill, that I will bring vpon her: and they shall be wea-rie. Thus saith the wordes of Ieremias.

21. m They shall not be able to resist, but shall labour in vaine.

killed before his face, and his eyes put out. 3. The Zedekiah was one and thertie yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yerres in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord,
according to all that Jehoiakim had done.

3 Doubtlesse because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Judah, till hee had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against
the king of Babel.

4 But in the ninth yeere of his reigne,
in the tenth moneth, the tenth day of the mo-neth came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, he and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and bulle forts against it round about.

5 So the city was besieged vnto the ele-uenth yeere of the king Zedekiah.

6 Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in the cittie, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the citty was broken vp and all the men of warre fled, & went out of the citty
by night, by the way of the gate betwene
the two walls, which was by the kings garden: (nowe the Caldeans were by the citty round about) and they went by the way of
the wilderness.

8 But the army of the Caldeans pursued after the king, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all his host was scatter-red from him.

9 Then they tooke the king and caried him vp vnto the king of Babel to Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudge-ment vpon him.

10 And the king of Babel slew the coun-sellers of Zedekiah, before his eyes: he slew also all the princes of Iudah in Riblah.

11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babel bound him in chains and carried him to Babel, and put him in prison, till the day of his death.

12 Now in the first month, in the 4. tenth day of the month (which was the nineteenth year of the king Nabuchad-nezzar king of Babel) came Nebuzar-adan chief steward which stood before the king of Babel in Jerusalem,

13 And burnt the house of the Lord, & the king's house, and all the houses of Jerusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

14 And all the army of the Chaldeans that were with the chief steward, brake downe all the walles of Jerusalem round about.

15 Then Nabuzar-adan the chief steward carried away captive certaine of the poore of the people, & the residue of the people that remained in the cite, and those that were fled, and fallen to the king of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nabuzar-adan the chief steward left certaine of the poore of the land, to dyse the vines, and to till the land.

17 Also the pillars of brass that were in the house of the Lord, and the bales, & the brazen sea that was in the house of the Lord, the Chaldeans brake, and carried all the brass of them to Babel.

18 The pots also and the besoms, and the instruments of musick, & the basins, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brass wherewith they ministered, tooke they away.

19 And the bowles, and the ashpens, and the basins, and the pots, and the candlesticks, and the incense dishes, and the cups, and all that was of gold, & that was of silver, tooke the chief steward away.

20 Also the two pillars, one Sea, and twelve brazen bulls, that were under the bases, which king Solomon had made in the house of the Lord: the brass of all these vessels was without weight.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteen cubites, and a third of twelve cubites did compass it, and the thickness thereof was foure fingers; it was hollow.

22 And a chapter of brass was upon it, and the height of one chapter was five cubites, with networie, and pomegranates upon the chapters round about, all of brass: the second pillar also, and the pomegranates were like unto these.

23 And there were ninety & six pomegranates on a side; and all the pomegranates upon the networie were an hundred and about.

24 And 3. chiefs steward tooke Shereph the chief Priest, and Sephaniah the son of Azbub, and the three keepers of the house.

25 He tooke also out of the cite an eunuch which had the oversight of the men of warre, and 7. men that were in the king's presence, which were found in the cite, and 4. other captaine of the hoste who murdered the people of the land, and 4. chief men of the people of the land, that were found in the midst of the cite.

26 Nabuzar-adan the chief steward tooke them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah.

27 And the King of Babel smote them, and slew them in Riblah, in the land of Hamath: thus Judah was carried away captive out of his owne land.

28 This is the people, whom Nabuchad-nezzar carried away captive, in the 4. tenth year, even three thousand Jewes, and three and twentieth.

29 In the eighteenth year of Nabuchad-nezzar he carried away captive from Jerusalem eight hundred thirtie & two persons.

30 In the three and twentieth year of Nabuchad-nezzar, Nabuzar-adan the chief steward carried away captive of the Jewes seven hundred forty and five persons: all the persons were foure thousand and six hundred.

31 And in the seven and thirtieth year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, in the first and twentieth day of the month, Evil-merodach king of Babel, in the first year of his reign, lifted up the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah, and brought him out of prison, 32 And spake kindly unto him, and set his throne above the throne of the kings, that were with him in Babel.

33 And changed his prison & garments, and he did continually eat bread before him all the dayes of his life.

34 His portion was a continual portion given him of the king of Babel, every day a certaine, all the dayes of his life, until he died.

Lamentations.

CHAP. I.

1 The Prophet bewaileth the miserable estate of Jerusalem, & sheweth that they have played because of their sinnes. The first and second chapter begin every verse according to the letter of the Hebrew Alphabet. The third hath three verses for every letter, and the fourth is as the first.

a The Prophet wondereth at the great judgement of God, seeing Jerusalem, which was so strong and so full of people, to be now destroyed and desolate.

1 In both the cite remains solitarie that was full of people: she is as a widow: shee that was great & among the nations, and prince among the proud cities, to made tributary.

2 Shee weepeth continually in the night, and her teares run downe by her cheekes: among all her lovers, she hath none to comfort her: all her friends have dealt unfaithfully with her, and are her enemies.

3 Judah is carried away captive, because of affliction, and because of great servitude: she dwelleth among the heathen, and findeth no rest: all her persecuters tooke her in the straites.

4 The wayes of Zion lament, because

h Some referre this to the blind men, which as they went, stumbled on blood, whereof the civic was full.

i Meaning the heathen which came to destroy them, could not abide them.

Or face.

k That is, the enemies.

l He sheweth two principall causes of their destruction: their cruelty and their vaice confidence in man: for they trusted in the helpe of the Egyptian.

m Our King Josiah in whom stood our hope of Gods favour, and on whom depended our state and life, was slain, whom he called appointed, because he was a figure of Christ.

n This is spoken by dejection.

Or, then thy wail, O Lord, shall be heard.

o He comforteth the Church by that after some time shall have an end, whereas the wicked should be evermore.

p This prayer is thought, was made when some of the people were carried away captive, others, as the poore, remained, and some went into Egypt and other places for succour: albeit in feeble manner the Prophet foreseeth their miseries to come, thus pruned.

15 Do they open unto them? Declare ye, ye prophets, he that saith, such not: therefore they fled away: and wandered: they have said among the heathen, They shall no more dwell there.

16 The anger of the Lord hath kindled them, her will is against them: they have hated the face of the Lord, and had compassion of the Church.

17 As they have waited for our deliverance, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for a saviour that should not fail us.

18 They thought steps that we cannot go in our distress: our end is near, our days are fulfilled by our end to come.

Ezekiel.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that Ichoiash by the counsel of Jeremiah and Ezekiel had yielded himselfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and so went into captivity with his mother and sisters: of his principles and of the people certain began to repene and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counsel: although the thing which they had prophesied should not come to pass, and therefore their effort should be still visible under the Captivity. By reason whereof Ichoiash his former prophecies, declaring by some visions and revelations, showed unto him, that the city of Jerusalem should be destroyed, and the people grievously persecuted by God: so much that they that remained, should be brought into cruel bondage. And left the people should desire in the future times, that they should see God will deliver his Church at that appointed, and also destroy their enemies which afflicted them, or rejoyced in their misfortune. The effect of the one and the other should chiefly be performed under Christ, of whom in this Booke are many notably promises, and in whom the plote of the new Temple should perfectly be restored. His prophecies of things in Caldea, at the time that Jeremiah prophesied in Iudah, and there began in the fifty year of Ichoiashs captivity.

C. H. A. P. I.

The time wherein Ezekiel prophesied, and in the vision of the throne. 1. The vision of the throne.

I came to pass in the fourth year, in the fourth month, and in the fifth day of the month, (as I was among the captives by the river) when I saw the heavens were opened, and I saw the visions of God. In the fifth day of the month, (which was the fifth year of King Joiaichin's captivity)

The word of the Lord came unto me, saying, The son of a man, stand upon thy feet, for I will speak unto thee. And he said unto me, Stand upon thy feet, and I will speak unto thee. And he said unto me, Stand upon thy feet, and I will speak unto thee.

And I looked, and behold, a white horse, and upon his back a rider, and he was clothed in white, and his name was called, and in the midst thereof, in the midst of the fire came out as the flames of a furnace.

And out of the midst thereof came the likeness of four beasts, and this was their form: they had the appearance of a man.

And every one had four faces, and every one had four wings.

And their feet were straight feet, and the sole of their feet was like the sole of a calf's foot, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brass.

And the hands of a man came out from under their wings: in the four parts of them, and they four had their faces, and their wings.

They were compassed by their wings one to another, and when they went forth, they returned not: but every one went straight forward.

And the similitude of their faces was as the face of a man: and they four had the face of a lion on the right side, and they four had the face of a bullock on the left side: they four also had the face of an eagle.

Thus were their faces: but their wings were spread out above: two wings of every one were joined one to another, and two covered their bodies.

And every one went straight forward: they went whither their spirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth.

The similitude also of the beasts, and their appearance was like burning coals of fire, and like the appearance of lamps: for the fire ran among the beasts, and the fire gave a glitter, and out of the fire there went lightning.

And the beasts ran, and returned the way whither they went.

And as I beheld the beasts, behold, a wheel appeared upon the earth by the beasts, having four faces.

The likeness of the wheels and their work was like unto a charyot: and they four had one frame, and their fashion, and their work was as one wheel in another wheel.

When they went, they went upon their four sides, and they returned not when they went.

They had also rings, and bright, and were fearful to behold, and their rings were full of eyes, round about them four.

And when the beasts went, the wheels went with them: when the beasts were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up.

Whither their spirit led them, they went, & whither the spirit of the wheels led them, and the wheels were lifted up besides them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheels.

When the beasts went, they went, and when they stood, they stood, and when they were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up besides them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheels.

And the similitude of the firmament upon the heads of the beasts was wonderful, like unto crystal, spread over their heads above.

And under the firmament were their wings straight, the one toward the other: every one had two, which covered them; and every one had two, which covered their bodies.

And when they went forth, I heard the noise of their wings, like the noise of great waters, and as the voice of the multitude, even the voice of speech, as the noise of an host: and when they stood, they let down their wings.

And there was a voice from the firmament that was over their heads, when they stood, and had let down their wings.

And above the firmament that was over their heads, was the fashion of a throne like unto a sapphire stone, and upon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man about upon it.

And I saw as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire round about within it to look to, even from his loynes downward: and to look to, even from his loynes downward, I saw as a likeness of fire, and brightness round about it.

As the likeness of the dove, that is in the cloud in the day of rain, so was the appearance of the light round about.

This was the appearance of the similitude of the glory of the Lord: and when I saw it, I fell upon my face, and I heard a voice of one that spake.

CHAP. III.

1. The Prophet being fed with the word of God, and with the constant boldness of the Spirit, is sent unto the people that were in captiuitie, by the office of true ministers.

2. I poure her sayde vnto me, Sonne of man, eate that thou findest: eate this roule, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel.

3. So I opened my mouth, and hee gaue me this roule to eate.

4. And hee sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I give thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweete as hony.

5. And hee sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, go, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my words.

6. For thou art not sent to a people of an unknown tongue, of an hard language, but to the house of Israel:

7. For thou art not sent to a people of an unknown tongue, of an hard language, whose words thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

8. But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey mee: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and stiff hearted.

9. Behold, I haue made thee as a signe against their faces, and the house of Israel shall be as a signe against thy forehead.

10. I haue made thy forehead as the flint, and harder then the flint: I haue made thee therefore, neither bee afraid of their looks, for they are a rebellious house.

11. He sayd moreover vnto me, Sonne of man, I haue made thee as a signe, that I speake vnto thee, and heare thou with thine eares.

12. And goe and enter to them that are in way captiuitie, vnto the children of the people, and speake vnto them, a tell them. Thus saith the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeede craile.

13. Then the Spirit tooke me by, and hee led me behind mee a noile of a great rushing, saying, Blessed be the glory of the Lord out of his place.

14. I heard also the noise of the wings of the beasts, that touched one another, and the rattling of the wheels that were by them, euen a noise of great rushing.

15. So the Spirit lift mee up, and tooke me away, and I was in bitterness, indignation of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me.

16. Then I came to them that were in way captiuitie to Tel-ab, that dwelt by the river Chebar. And I sat where they sat, and remained there astonished among them a seuen dayes.

17. And at the ende of seuen dayes, the word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

18. Sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the word at my mouth, and giue them warning from me.

19. When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou giuest him warning, and speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may live, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

20. Yet if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wicked way, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquitie, but thou hast delivered the soule.

21. Likewise if a righteous man turne from his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a stumbling blocke before him, and hee shall die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: he shall die in his iniquitie, and his righteousnesse, which hee hath done, shall not be remembered: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

22. Nevertheless, if thou admonish the righteous man, that the righteous liue not, and that he doeth not sinne, he shall live, because hee is admonished: also thou shalt haue delivered the soule.

23. And the hand of the Lord was there vpon mee, and hee sayd vnto me, Arise, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel, saying, Thus saith the Lord God, I haue sent thee vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God.

24. But they say, We will not heare thee, neither will we obey thee: for we are a rebellious house.

25. Therefore shall I be to them, as a signe, and thou shalt be to them, as a watchman.

a Whereby is meant that none is meete to bee Gods messenger before hee haue receiued the word of God in his heart, as verse 10. and haue a zeale thereto, and delight therein as Iere 1.6. r. uel 10. 10. I Ebr deepe lips.

people, and I will there talke with thee.

8 When I had risen by, and gone into the field, behold, the * glorie of the Lord stood there, as the glorie which I saw in the mount Sion, and I fell downe upon my face.

9 Then the spirit entred into me, which I met by upon my feete, and spake unto me, and said to me, Come, and I shal shew thee thine house.

10 But thou, O sonne of man, behold, they shall put hands vpon thee, and shall binde thee with them, and thou shalt not goe out among them.

11 And I will make thy tongue cleane as the soote of thy mouth, that thou shalt curse many, and shalt not bee to them as a rebellious sonne: for they are a rebellious house.

12 But when I shall haue spoken vnto thee, I will open thy mouth, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, let him heare, and hee that is with him, let him leaue: for they are a rebellious house.

CHAP. IIII.

The besieging of the cite of Ierusalem is figured. 9 The long continuance of the captiuitie of Iherusalem. 16 A hunger is prophesied to come.

1 Now also sonne of man, take thee a stick, and lay it before thee, and purtray vpon it the cite, even Ierusalem.

2 And lay siege against it, and build a bulwark against it, and cast a mound against it: so the campe also against it, and lay engines of warre against it round about.

3 Moreover, take an * yron panne, and set it for a wall of yron betwene thee and the cite, and direct thy face toward it, and it shall bee besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall be a signe vnto the house of Israel.

4 Sleepe thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the house of Israel vpon it, according to the number of the dayes that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beate their iniquitie.

5 For I haue laide vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquitie, according to the number of the dayes, even three hundred and ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beate the iniquitie of the house of Israel.

6 And when thou shalt accomplish this, sleepe againe vpon thy * right side, and thou shalt beate the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere.

7 Therefore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalem, and thine anner shall be vnto it, and thou shalt prophesie against it.

8 And behold, I will lay * hands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, til thou shalt end the dayes of thy siege.

9 Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheat, and barley, and beanes, and lentils, and millet, and * fitches, and put them in one vessel, and make thee bread thereof according to the number of the dayes; that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side, euen a three hundred and ninetie dayes shalt thou eate thereof.

10 And the meate, wherof thou shalt eate, shall bee by weight, euen a twentieth shekel a day: and from time to time shalt thou eate thereof.

11 Thou shalt drinke also water by measure, euen the first part of an * hin from time to time it self thou shalt drinke.

12 And thou shalt eate it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it in the dung that cometh out of man, in their sight.

13 And the Lord said, So shall the children of Israel eat their defiled bread among the Gentiles whither I will cast them.

14 Then said I, Oh, Lord God, behold, my soule hath not been polluted: for from my youth up, euen vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or meate in pieces, neither came there any * burlesome flesh in my mouth.

15 Then he said vnto me, Loe, I haue giuen thee bullockes * dung for mans dung, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreover, hee said vnto me, Sonne of man, behold, I will breake * the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eate bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 Because that bread and water shall faile, they shall be slayned one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquitie.

CHAP. V.

The signe of the haire, whereby is signified the destruction of the people.

1 And thou sonne of man, take thee a sheepe knife, or take thee a barbers rasor, and cause it to passe vpon thine head, and vpon thy beard: then take thee balances to weigh, and diuide the haire.

2 Thou shalt burne with fire the third part in the middes of * the cite, when the dayes of the siege are fulfilled, and thou shalt take the other third part, and smite about it with a knife, and the last third part thou shalt scatter in the wind, and I will draw out a sword after them.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a few in number, and bind them vp in thy * lap.

4 Then take of them againe, and cast them into the middes of the fire, and burne them in the fire: * for thereof shall a fire come forth into all the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, This is Ierusalem: I haue set it in the middes of the nations and countreyes, that are round about her.

6 And she hath changed my * iudgements

inea wickedness more then the nations, and my statutes more then the countreys that are round about her: for they have refused my iudgements, and my statutes, and they haue not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because your multitude is greater then the nations, that are round about you, and yet haue not walked in my statutes, neither haue ye kept my iudgements: no, ye haue not done according to the iudgements of the nations, that are round about you.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I, euen I come against thee, and will execute iudgement in the mids of thee, euen in the sight of the nations.

9 And I will doe in thee, that I neuer did before, neither will doe any more the like, because of all thine abominations.

10 For in the middes of thee, the fathers shall eat their sonnes, and the sonnes shall eat their fathers, and I will execute iudgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the winds.

11 Wherefore, as I live, saith the Lord God, Surely, because thou hast defiled my Sanctuary with thy filchinesse, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I also destroy thee, neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue any pity.

12 The third part of thee shall die with the pestilence, and with famine shall they be consumed in the mids of thee: and another third part shall fall by the sword round about thee: and I will scatter the last third part into all winds, and I will draw out a sword after them.

13 Thus shall mine anger be accomplished, and I will cause my wrath to cease in them, and I will be comforted: and they shall know, that I the Lord haue spoken it in my zeale, when I haue accomplished my wrath in them.

14 Moreover, I will make thee waste, and abhorred among the nations, that are round about thee, and in the sight of all that passe by.

15 So thou shalt be a reproch and shame, a chastisement and an astonishment vnto the nations, that are round about thee, when I shall execute iudgements in thee, in anger and in wrath, and in sharpe rebukes: I the Lord haue spoken it.

16 When I shall send vpon them the euill arrows of famine, which shall bee for their destruction, and which I will send to destroy you: and I will encrease the famine vpon you, and will breake your stacte of bread.

17 So will I send vpon you famine and euill beasts, and they shall spoyle thee, and pestilence, and blood shall passe thowm thee, and I will bring the sword vpon thee: I the Lord haue spoken it.

CHAP. VI.

1 He sheweth that Ierusalem shall be destroyed for their idolatry. 2 He propheseth the repentance of the remnant of the people, and their deliverance.

Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the mountains of Israel, and prophesy against them.

3 And say, Pee mountains of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God: thus saith the Lord God to the mountains, and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, Behold, I, euen I will bring a sword vpon you, and I will destroy your hie places:

4 And your altars shall be desolate, and your images of the sunne shall bee broken, and I will cast downe your staine men before your idoles.

5 And I will lay the dead carcases of the children of Israel before their idoles, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling places the citie shall be desolate, and the high places shall be laid waste, so that your altars shall be made waste and desolate, and your idoles shall be broken, and cease, and your images of the sunne shall be cut in pieces, and your temples shall be abolished.

7 And the staine shall fall in the mids of you, and yet shall know that I am the Lord.

8 Yet will I leaue a remnant, that you may haue some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when you shall be scattered thowm the countreys.

9 And they that escape of you shall remember me among the nations, where they shall bee in captiuitie, because I am grised for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from me, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they shall be displeased in themselves for the euill which they haue committed in all their abominations.

10 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, and that I haue not said in vain, that I would doe this euill vnto them.

11 Thus saith the Lord God, I will stretch forth my hand, and stretch forth with my foot, and say, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

12 He that is farre off, shall die of the pestilence, and he that is neere, shall fall by the sword, and hee that remaineth and is deliuered, shall die by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

13 Then sae yet shall know, that I am the Lord, when their staine men shall be among their idoles round about their altars, vpon every hie hill in all the toppes of the mountains, and vnder every greene tree, and vnder every thicke oke, which is the place where they did offer sweet saour to all their idoles.

14 So will I stretch mine hand vpon them, and make the land waste, and desolate: from the wilderness vnto Dablah in all their habitations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VII.

The ende of all the land of Israel shall suddenly come.

Moreover the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

And thou sonne of man, thus sayth the Lord God, And is come unto the land of Israel: the end is come upon the four corners of the land: and is come upon thee, and I will put my wrath upon thee, and will iudge thee according to the wayes, and will lay upon thee all thine abominations.

Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I have pittie: but I will lay thy iniquities upon thee: and thine abomination shall be in the midst of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

Thus sayth the Lord God, I beholde, even one euill is come.

And is come, the end is come, it hath come for thee: behold, it is come.

The imagining is come unto thee, that shall be in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is nere, & not the founding of the mountaines.

Thus I will shortly poyne out my hand vpon thee, and fulfill mine anger vpon thee: I will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations.

Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I have pittie: but I will lay vpon thee according to thy wayes, and thine abominations shall be in the midst of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord that smite.

Behold, the day, behold, it is come: destroying is gone forth, the Lord flourisheth with his holy bowdes: & shall smite.

A cruelty to rise vp into a rod of twise killed: more of them shall remaine, nor of this wickednes, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there be lamentation for them.

The time is come, the day draweth nere: is not the buyer retoyce, nor let him that selleth, & mouer for the wyath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

Where shall sellety, shall not returne to that which is sold, although they were yet sellers in the: wilow was dried all the multitude thereof, & they remaned not: neither were any encourage themselves in the punishment of his life.

They haue blowen the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battell: the way is vpon all the multitude thereof.

The sword is with out: and the pestilence, and the famine within: hee that is in the land, shall be with the sword, and hee that is in the field, famine and pestilence shall be with him.

But they that flee away from thence, shall scape, and shall be in the mountaines, and in the houses of the battell: all they shall be one for his iniquitie.

All hands shall be weak, and all knees shall fall away as water.

They shall also gird themselves with sackcloth, and feare shall couer them, and shame shall be vpon all faces, and baldnesse vpon their heads.

They shall cast their filtes in the streets, and their gold shall be cast farre off: their filtes and their gold cannot deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shall not salueth their bodies, neither fit their bodies: for this time to his iniquitie.

He had also for the beauty of his garments in maelstie: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set to farre from them.

And I will giue it into the handes of the strangers to be spoiled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, and they shall pollute it.

My face will I turne also from them, and they shall pollute my seuer place: for the destroyers shall enter into it, and desile it.

Wake a chaine: for the land is full of the iudgement of blood, and the citie is full of cruelty.

Wherefore I will bring the most wicked of the heathen, & they shall possesse their houses: I will also make the poyne of the mighty to cease, and their holy places shall be desiled.

When destruction cometh, they shall seeke peace, and shall not haue it.

Calamitie shall come vpon calamitie, and rumour shall be vpon rumour: then shall they seeke a vision of the Prophet: but the Law shall perish from the Priest, and counsel from the Ancient.

The king shall mourne, and the prince shall be clothed with desolation, & the handes of the people in the land shall be troubled: I will do vnto them according to their wayes, and according to their iudgements will I iudge them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VIIII.

An appearance of the similitude of God, & Ezekiel is brought to Ierusalem in the spirit. The Lords sheweth the Prophet the idolatries of the house of Israel.

And in the first yeere, in the first month, & in the first day of the moneth, as I sat in mine house, and the doores of Iudah were before mee, the hand of the Lord was vpon mee, and he brought me out by the way of the way.

Then I beheld, and lo, there was a figure, as the appearance of a fire to looke to, from his loynes downward, and from his loynes upward, as the appearance of brightness, and like vnto amber.

And he stretched out the likeness of an hand, & tooke mee by an hair of mine head, and the spirit lift mee vp betweene the earth, and the heauen, and brought mee by a Diuine vision to Ierusalem, into the enterie of the inner gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the stole of indignation, which prouoked indignation.

And beholde, the glory of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I saw in the field.

p Declaring that the cursings, and service of the idolaters are but infection & villeny before God. Pro. 1. 28. ifa 46. 9. Jer. 11. 11. Mal. 3. 4.

5 Then said he unto me, Sonne of man, lift up thine eyes toward the South, and behold, Southward at the gate of the altar, this hole of indignation was in the centre.

6 He said furthermore unto me, Sonne of man, tell thou not what they do: even the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here to cause me to depart from my Sanctuary: but yet turne thee & thou shalt see greater abominations.

7 And he caused me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, behold, an hole was in the wall.

8 Then said he unto me, Sonne of man, dig now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold, there was a doore.

9 And he said unto me, See in, and behold the wicked abominations that they doe here.

10 So I went in, and saw, and behold, there was every kind of creeping things and abominable brutes, and all the holes of the house of Israel painted upon the wall round about.

11 And there stood before them Centurie men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the mids of them stood Iazaniah, the sonne of Shaphan, with every man his center in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went by like a cloud.

12 Then said he unto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel doe in the darke, every one in the chamber of his imagerie? for they say, The Lord seeth us not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

13 Again he said also unto mee, Turne thee againe, & thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe.

14 And he caused me to enter into the entry of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the South: and beholde there sate women mourning for Tammuz.

15 Then said he unto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these.

16 And he caused me to enter into the inner court of the Lords house, & behold, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, betweene the porch, and the altar were about five and twentie men with their backs toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the sunne toward the East.

17 Then he said unto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Judah to commit these abominations which they doe here: for they have filled the land with cruelty, and have returned to provoke me: and lo, they have cast out a stinke before their noses.

18 Therefore will I also execute my wrath: mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I have pitty, and though they cry in mine eares with a loud voyce, yet will I not heare them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The destruction of the cite. 4 They that shall be saved, are marked. 8 A complaint of the Prophet for the destruction of the people.

1 He cryed also with a loud voyce in mine eares, saying, The visitations of the Lord have come. And every man hath a mark upon his hand to destroy it.

2 And beholde, five men came by the way of the big gate, which lieth toward the South, and every man a weapon in his hand to destroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linen, with a waterskinne by his side, and they went in and stood beside the brazen altar.

3 And the glory of the God of Israel was gone by from the Cherub, whereupon hee was, and stood on the i doore of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linen, which had the waterskinne by his side.

4 And the Lord sayde unto him, Goe through the mids of the cite, even through the mids of Jerusalem, and set a mark upon the foreheads of them that mourne, and cry for all the abominations that be done in the mids thereof.

5 And to the other he sayd, that I might heare, Go ye after him through the city, and saye thus: let your eye spare none, neither have pitty.

6 Destroy utterly the old, and the young, and the maids, and the children, and the women, but touch no man upon whom is the mark, and begin at my Sanctuary. Then they began at the Ancient men, which were first before the house.

7 And he said unto them, Defile a house, and fill the courts with the slain, then goe forth: and they went out, and sate them in the cite.

8 Now when they had slain them, and I had escaped, I fell before upon my face, and cryed, saying, Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in pouring out thy wrath upon Jerusalem?

9 Then sayd he unto me, The iniquitie of the house of Israel, and Judah is exceeding great, in that the land is full of blood, and the cite full of covetous judgement: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth us not.

10 As touching mee also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I have pitty, but will recompense their wayes upon their heads.

11 And beholde, the man clothed with linen which had the waterskinne by his side, made report, and said, Lord, I have done as thou hast commanded me.

h Which were the chiefe occasion of all that was in this Declareth, that the sinners of God have caused they see his indignations executed. k That is, with all wickedness, reade Isa. 1. 15.

CHAP. X.

1 Of the man that took two burning coales out of the middle of the wheeler of the Cherubims, & rehearset of the vision of the wheeler, of the bright, and of the Cherubims.

And

As I looked, behold, in the firmament that was about the head of the Cherubims, there appeared upon them as it were the similitude of a throne, as it were a throne of fire.

And hee spake unto the man clothed with wings, and said, Goe in betweene the wheels, even under the Cherub, and fill thine eyes with coales of fire from betweene the Cherubims; and scatter them aover the earth in my sight.

Then the Cherubims stood upon the four sides of the house, when the man went from the cloud filled the inner Court.

Then the glorie of the Lord went by from the Cherub, and stood over the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the glorie of the Lords glorie.

And the sound of Cherubims wings was heard unto the utter Court, as the voyce of the Kinglye God, when he speaketh.

And when hee had commaunded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, and from betweene the Cherubims, then he went in and stood beside the wheele.

And one Cherub stretched forth his hand from betweene the Cherubims unto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and took thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen: who took it and went out.

And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likeness of a mans hand under their wings.

And when I looked up, behold, four wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a Chrysolite stone.

And their appearance (for they were all four of one fashion) was as one wheele had bene in another wheele.

When they went forth, they went by their four sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they turned not as they went.

And their whole bodie, and their wings, and their hands and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, even in the same four wheeles.

And the Cherub cried to these wheeles saying, heare, saying, I heare.

And every beast had four faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the third face was the face of a lyon, and the fourth the face of an Eagle.

And the Cherubims were lifted up: and I saw the beast that I saw at the river Chebar.

And when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift up their wings to mount up from the earth, the same wheeles also turned with them before them.

When the Cherubims stood, they stood: and when they were lifted up, they lifted themselves by also: for the spirit of the beast was in them.

18 When the glory of the Lord departed from above the house of the house, and stood upon the Cherubims.

19 And the Cherubims lift by their wings, and mounted up from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were beside them: and every one stood at the entrie at the gate of the Lords house, at the East side, and the glorie of the God of Israel was upon them on high.

20 This is the draught that I saw under the God of Israel by the river Chebar, and I knewe that they were the Cherubims.

21 Every one had foure faces, and every one foure wings, and the likeness of mans hands was under their wings.

22 And the likeness of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I saw by the river Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was the selfe same, and they went every one straight forward.

CHAP. XI.

1 Who they were that seduced the people of Israel, 2 Against these he propheseth, shewing them how they shall be dispersed abroad. 3 The renewing of his heart cometh of God. 21 He threatneth them that leave wote their owne counsells.

1 And the Spirit lift mee up, and brought mee unto the East gate of the Lords house, which lieth Eastward, and behold, at the entrie of the gate were five and twentie men: among whom I sawe Jaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Delaiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people.

2 Then said he unto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischief, and devise wicked counsell in this citie.

3 For they say, It is not neede, let vs build houses: this citie is the Caldron, and we be the flesh.

4 Therefore prophesie against them, son of man, prophesie.

5 And the Spirit of the Lord fell upon mee, and said unto me, Speake, Thus saith the Lord, O ye house of Israel, this haue ye said, and I knowe that which I will say of your minds.

6 Many haue ye murdered in this citie, and yee haue filled the streets thereof with the slaine.

7 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, They that ye haue slaine, and haue layde in the middes of it, they are the flesh, and this citie is the Caldron, but I will bring you forth of the mids of it.

8 Yee haue feared the sword, and I will bring a sword upon you, saith the Lord God. 9 And I will bring you out of the mids thereof, and deliuer you into the hands of strangers, and will execute iudgements among you.

10 Yee shall fall by the sword, and I will iudge you in the border of Israel, and yee shall knowe that I am the Lord.

11 This citie shall not be your Caldron, neither shall ye be the flesh in the mids thereof, but I will iudge you in the border of Israel.

2 There was one consent betweene the Cherubims and the wheeles, h. Reade Chap. 9.3.

a Thus the wicked denied the Prophets, as though they preached but errors, & therefore gave themselves still to their pleasures.

b We shall not be pulled out of Ierusalem, till the hour of our death come, as the flesh is not taken out of the Caldron till it be sod.

c Contrarie to their vaine confidence he sheweth in what sense this citie is the Caldron: that is, because of the dead bodies that haue bene murdered therein, and so lie as flesh in the Caldron.

d That is, of the Caldeans.

e That is, in Riblah, Reade a. King. 25.6.

12 And ye shall know that I am the Lord: for ye have not walked in my statutes, neither executed my judgments, but have done after the manner of the heathen, that are round about you.

13 And when I prophesied, Belshazzar the sonne of Benaiah died: then fell I downe upon my face and cried with a loud voice, and said, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then utterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?

14 Against the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

15 Sonne of man, thy brethren, even thy brethren, the men of thy kinred, and all the house of Israel, wholly are they unto whom the inhabitants of Jerusalem have said, Depart ye hence from the Lord: for the land is given by in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, Although I have cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I have scattered them among the countreys, yet will I bee to them as a little Sanctuary in the countreys where they shall come.

17 Therefore say, Thus sayeth the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreys where ye have bene scattered, and I will give you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 And I will give them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within them: it shall be as one heart, and I will take the stonie heart out of their bodies, and I will give them an heart of flesh.

20 That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, and execute them: and they shall bee my people, and I will bee their God.

21 But upon them, whose heart is toward their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way upon their owne heads, sayeth the Lord God.

22 Then did the Cherubims lift up their wings, and the wheeles beset them, and the glorie of the God of Israel was upon them on high.

23 And the glorie of the Lord went up from the midst of the citie, and stood upon the mountaine which is toward the East side of the citie.

24 Afterward the Spirit tooke mee up, and brought mee in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea to them that were led away captives: so the vision that I had seene, went by from me.

25 Then I declared vnto them that were led away captives, all the things that the Lord had shewed me.

CHAP. XII.

1 The parable of the captivie. 18 Another parable whereby the disresse of hunger and thirst is signified.

The word of the Lord also came unto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, thou dwellest in y midds of a rebellious house, which have eyes to see,

and see: and they haue eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious house.

3 Therefore thou shalt come of many people, thou shalt go into captivitie, and shalt be by day in their sight: and thou shalt come from the place to another place in their sight: it is so possible that they may continue in their eyes, that they are a rebellious house.

4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy hand by day in their sight as the hand of one that goeth into captivitie: and thou shalt be taken as men in their sight, as they that goeth into captivitie.

5 Digge thou through the wall in their sight, and carrie out thereby.

6 In their sight shalt thou beare it upon thy shoulders, and carrest forth in the dark: thou shalt cover thy face, that thou see not the earth: for I have lifted up a signe vnto the house of Israel.

7 And as I was commanded, so I brought forth my hand by day, as the hand of one that goeth into captivitie: and by night I digged through the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in the dark, and I bent it upon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, said vnto thee, What? dost thou?

10 But say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, This I burden concerneth the chiefe in Jerusalem, and all the house of Israel, that shall come among them.

11 Say, I am your signe: like as I have done, so shall it be done vnto them: they shall goe into bondage and captivitie.

12 And the chiefe that is among them, shall beare upon his shoulder in the dark, and shall goe forth: they shall dig through the wall, to carrie out thereby: he shall cover his face, that hee see not the ground with his eyes.

13 By net also will I spread vpon him, and hee shall be taken in my net, and I will bring them to Babel to the land of the Chaldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.

14 And I will scatter toward every wind all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garrisons, and I will dynt out the foundations after them.

15 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreys.

16 But I will leaue a little number of them from the wood, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

17 Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, eate thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnesse,

19 And say vnto the people of the land, Thus sayeth the Lord God of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and of the land of Israel, They shall eate their bread with

f It seemeth that this notable man died of some terrible death, and therefore the Prophet feared some strange judgement of God toward the rest of y people. g They that remained still at Ierusalem, thus reproched them that were gone into captivitie, as though they were cast off, and forsaken of God, h They shall be yet a little church, shewing that the Lord will ever have some to call vpon his Name, whom he will preserve and restore, though they be for a time afflicted.

and drinke their water with abundance, because of the crueltie of him that dwelt therein. And yet shall they that are inhabitants thereof be as a people, and the land thereof be desolate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

11 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

12 Some of man, what is that power be that you have in the land of Israel, saying, Our days are prolonged, and all our business is prospering;

13 Tell them therefore, Thus saith the Lord God, I will make this power be to cease, and they shall no more use it as a power in Israel: but say unto them, The days are at hand, and the effect of every vision.

14 For no vision shall be any more in them, neither shall there be any flattering divination within the house of Israel.

15 For I am the Lord: I will speak, and that thing that I shall speak, shall come to pass: it shall be no more prolonged: for in your days, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, and will performe it, saith the Lord God.

16 Again the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

17 Some of man, behold, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that he seeth, he is many dayes to come, and he prophesieth of the times that are farre off.

18 Therefore say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, All my words shall no longer be delayed, but that thing which I have spoken, shall be done, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The word of the Lord against full prophets, which teach the people the words of their own hearts.

And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, prophesse against the people of Israel, that prophesse, and say thus unto them, that prophesse out of their own hearts, Heare the word of the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, Come unto the foolish prophets that follow their own spirit, and have seene nothing.

4 O Israel, thy Prophets are like the heere in the waste places.

5 He have not risen up in the gaps, neither made up the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battell in the day of the Lord.

6 They have seene vanity, and lying divination, saying, The Lord saith it, and the Lord hath not sent them: and they have comforted themselves to hope that they would confirme the words of their prophesie.

7 Have ye not learned a vain vision? and have not spoken a lying divination? ye say, The Lord saith it, albeit I have not said it.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, because ye have spoken vanity, and have said, therefore behold, I am against you, saith the Lord God.

9 And mine hand shall be upon the prophets that see vanity, and vpholding the vision, that see vanity, and drinke lies: they shall not be in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the book of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, because they have deceived my people, saying, Peace, and there was no peace: and one build up as a wall, and behold, the others daubed it with untempered mortar,

11 Say unto them which daube it with untempered mortar, that it shall fall; for there shall come a great storme, and I will send hailstones, which shall cause it to fall, and a storme winde shall breake it.

12 So when the wall is fallen, shall it not be sayde unto you, Calheze is the daubing where with ye have daubed it?

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will cause a storme winde to breake forth in my wrath, and a great storme shall be in mine anger, and hailstones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I will destroy the wall that ye have daubed with untempered mortar, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shall be discovered, and it shall fall, and ye shall be consumed in the midst thereof, ye shall know that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath upon the wall, and upon them that have daubed it with untempered mortar, and will say unto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof.

16 To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophesse upon Jerusalem, and the vision of peace for it, and there is no peace, saith the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou some of man, let thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesse out of their own heart, and prophesse thou against them, and say,

18 Thus saith the Lord God, Come unto the women that sow pillows under all arches, and make bables upon the head of every one that standeth by, to hurt soules: will ye hurt the soules of my people, and will ye give life to the soules that come unto you?

19 And will ye pollute mee among my people for handmaides of barley, and for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that should not die, and to give life to the soules that should not live, in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

20 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will have to doe with your pillows, wherewith ye hurt the soules to make them to die, and I will reave them from your armes, and will see the soules that even the soules, that ye have to make them to die.

21 Pour bailes also will I teare, and destroy my people out of your hands, and they shall be no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

22 Because with your lies ye have made the heart of the righteous sad, whom I have caused to depart from the body, and because ye were gould, and vpholding the vision,

CHAP. XIII.

4 The Lord sendeth false prophets forth in great numbers of the people. 22 He reproveth a small portion for his Church.

Then came certain of the Elders of Israel unto me, and said before me.

2 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

3 Some of man, these men have set by their idoles in their heart, and put the stumbling block of their iniquity before their face: should I, being required, answer them?

4 Therefore I speak unto them, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Every man of the house of Israel that setteth up his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling block of his iniquity before his face, and commeth to the Prophet, I the Lord will answer him that commeth, according to the multitude of his idoles.

5 Hear: I may take the house of Israel in their own heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles.

6 Therefore say unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Return, and withhold your tears, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For every one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israel, which departed from me, and setteth up his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling block of his iniquity before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lord will answer him for myself.

8 And I will set my face against that man, and will make him an example and proverb, and I will cut him off from the midst of my people, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

9 And if the prophet be deceived, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lord have deceived that prophet, and I will stretch out mine hand upon him, and will destroy him from the midst of my people Israel.

10 And they that beate their punishment: the punishment of the prophet shall be even as the punishment of him that altheth.

11 Hear the house of Israel may goe no more astray from me, neither be polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, saith the Lord God.

12 And the word of the Lord came againe unto me, saying,

13 Some of man, when the land shall be against me by committing a trespass, will I stretch out mine hand upon it, and will break the staff of the bread thereof, and will send famine upon it, and I will destroy man and beast together of it.

14 Though these three men, Noah, Daniel, and Job were among them, they shall deliver but their own souls by their righteousness, saith the Lord God.

15 If I bring my storme heades into the land, and they people it, so that it be desolate, that no man may passe thowme, because of beasts.

16 Though these three men were in the midst thereof, As I live, saith the Lord God, they shall save neither sonnes nor daughters: they only shall be delivered, but the land shall be waste.

17 If I bring a sword upon this land, and say, Sword, goe thow into the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it.

18 Though these three men were in the middes thereof, As I live, saith the Lord God, they shall deliver neither sonnes nor daughters, but they only shall be delivered themselves.

19 If I send a pestilence into this land, and pour out my wrath upon it in blood, so that I destroy out of it man and beast.

20 And though Noah, Daniel, and Job were in the middes of it, As I live, saith the Lord God, they shall deliver neither sonne nor daughter: they shall be delivered their own souls by their righteousness.

21 For thus saith the Lord God, I will much more when I send my storme judgements upon Jerusalem, even the sword, and famine, and the noyome blast, and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it.

22 Per behold, therein shall be left a remnant of them that shall be saved among both sonnes and daughters: behold, they shall come forth unto you, and ye shall see their way, and their enterprises: and ye shall be comforted, concerning the evil that I have brought upon Jerusalem, even concerning all that I have brought upon it.

23 And they shall comfort you, when ye see their way and their enterprises: and ye shall know, that I have not done without cause all that I have done in it, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

As the unprofitable wood of the vineyard is cast into the fire, so Jerusalem shall burn.

And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, what commeth of the vine tree above all other trees? and of the vine branch, which is among the trees of the forest?

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to doe my worke? or will men take a pinne of it to hang any vessel thereon?

4 Behold, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the ends of it, and the middes of it is burnt. Is it meant for any worke?

5 Behold, when it was whole, it was Therefore thus saith the Lord God, in the time that I am among the trees of the orchard, which I have given to the fire to be consumed, so will I give the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

And I will set my face against them: they shall go out from one fire, and another fire shall consume them: and ye shall know, that I am the Lord, when I set my face against them.

The Prophet declareth the benefits of God toward Jerusalem, as they wickedness. 46 He justifieth the wickedness of other people in comparison of the sins of Jerusalem. 47 The cause of the abominations which the Sodomites fell. 60 Merrie is promised to the repentant.

When the word of the Lord came unto Amos, saying,

Some of men, saith Jerusalem to Amos, saying,

And say, Thus saith the Lord God in Jerusalem, I have habitation and thy habitation is of the land of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

And in thy nativity when thou wast borne, the navel was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted, with salt, nor swathed in clothes.

How oft pitied thou to do any of these things, for to have compassion upon thee, then thou shalt call out in the open fields to the contempt of the person in the day that thou shalt leave.

And when I passed by thee, I saw thee polluted in thine own blood, and I said unto thee, when thou wast in the blood, Thou shalt live: when thou wast in thy blood, I said unto thee, Thou shalt live.

I have caused thee to multiply, as the fish of the sea, and thou hast increased and wast great: and thou hast gotten excellent monuments: thy breasts are full, and thou hast grown, where as thou wast naked and bare.

Now when I passed by thee, and looked upon thee, behold, thy time was the time of love, and I spread my skirts over thee, and covered thy nakedness: yea, I loved thee, and entered into a covenant with thee, saith the Lord God, and thou hast said, I will not.

Then wastest thou proud: water, yea, I washed away thy blood from thee; and I mounted thee with oyle.

And I clothed thee also with dyed linen, and I put thee with bangles thine, and I girded thee about with fine linen, and I covered thee with silk.

I removed them to mercy, favoured them, as thou.

The thou shouldst be a chaste wife, yet thou wast not: and endure thee with all wickedness, for I sanctified thee with mine holy spirit.

And I declared thee also with ornaments, and I put bangles upon thine hands, and a chain on thy neck.

And I put a frontier upon the face, and earrings in thine ears, and a beautiful crown upon thine head.

Thou wast thou deckt with gold and silver, and thy garments were of fine linen, and silk and dyed linen: thou diddest eat fine flour, and honey and oil, and thou wast very beautiful, and thou diddest grow up into a kingdom.

And thy name was spread among the heathen for thy beauty: for it was perfect through my beauty which I had set upon thee, saith the Lord God.

Howest thou dost trust in thine own beauty, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renown, and hast poured out thy fornications on every one that passed by, thy desire was to him.

And thou diddest take thy garments, and deckt thine high places with divers colours, and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things shall not come, neither shalt any do so.

Thou hast also taken thy faire jewels made of my gold, and of my silver, which I had given thee, and madest to thyself images of men, and diddest commit whoredoms with them.

And tookest thou dyed garments, and coveredst them: and thou hast set mine oil, and my perfume before thee.

Howest thou dost which I gave thee, of fine flour, oil, and honey wherewith I fed thee, thou hast eaten it: it is before thee for a sweet smell: thus it was, saith the Lord God.

Whosoever thou hast taken thy sonnes, and thy daughters, whom thou hast borne, and these hast thou sacrificed unto them: is it bee denoued, is this thy whoredome a small matter?

That thou hast slain my children, and delivered them to cause them to pass through fire for them?

And in all thine abominations and whoredoms, thou hast not remembered the days of thy youth, when thou wast naked, and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

And before all the wickedness, (more) which thou hast done, saith the Lord God.

Thou hast also built unto thee an high place, and hast made thee an high place in every street.

Thou hast built thine high place at every corner of the way, a high made thy beauty to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy feet to every one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredoms.

Thou hast also committed fornication with the Egyptians thy neighbours, which have great members, and hast increased thy whoredoms to procure me.

Behold, therefore I will stretch out mine hand over thee, and will diminish thee, and deliver thee unto the hands of them that hate thee, and to the hands of the Philistines, which are enemies of thy wicked way.

Thou hast played the whore also with the Jerusalem's judgement for her whoredome: Ezekiel. Sodom more righteous than the Egyptians, because thou wast inviolable: yet thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet comdest not to be punished.

29 Thou hast moored multiplied thy foundation from the lands of Canaan unto Caldea, and yet thou wast not punished here with.

30 Whome wast thou to chide, saith the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, even the works of a presumptuous woman?

31 In that thou buildest thine high place in the corner of every way, and makest thine high place in every street, and hast not bene as an harlot: that despitest a reward.

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and take others for her husbands.

33 They give gifts to all other whores, but thou givest gifts unto all thy lovers, and rewardest them, that they may come unto thee on every side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shall bee after thee: for in that thou givest a reward, and no reward is given unto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the words of the Lord.

36 Thus saith the Lord God, Because thy shame was poured out, and thy filthynesse discovered through thy fornications with thy lovers, and with all the stoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou diddest offer unto them.

37 Beholde, therefore I will gather all thy lovers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loved, with all them that thou hast hated: I will even gather them round about against thee, and will discover thy filthynesse unto them, that they may see all thy filthynesse.

38 And I will judge thee after the manner of them that are harlots, and of them that shed blood, and I will give thee the blood of wrath and jealousy.

39 I will also give thee into their hands, and they shall destroy thine high place, and shall breake downe thine high places: they shall strip thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy faire jewels, and leave thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also hang up a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swords.

41 And they shall burne up thine houses with fire, and execute judgements upon thee in the sight of many women: & I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt give no reward any more.

42 So will I make my wrath towards thee to rest, and my jealousy shall depart from thee, and I will cease and bee no more angry.

43 Because thou hast not remembered the days of thy youth, but hast provoked me with all these things, beholde, therefore I also have brought thy way upon thine head, saith the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine iniquities.

44 Beholde, all that his powers, shall be his powers against thee, saying, Give the mother, & so to her daughters.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, thou hast call off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy sisters, which spurne their husbands and their children: your mother is an Iditise, and your father an Amurite.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, and thy younger sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, & Sodom, & her daughters.

47 Per hast thou not walked after their ways, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy ways.

48 As I live, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither she nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.

49 Beholde, this was the iniquity of thy sister Sodom: Pride, fulnesse of bread, and abundance of idleness was in her, and in her daughters: neither did she strengthen the hand of the poore and needy.

50 But they were haughty, and committed abomination before me: therefore I took them away as pleased me.

51 Neither hath Samaria committed half of thy iniquities, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast justified the sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.

52 Therefore thou which hast justified the sisters, heare thine owne shame for this time, that thou hast committed more abominations then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast justified the sisters.

53 Therefore I will bring against thee captivities with the captivity of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captivities of Samaria, and her daughters: even the captivities of the captives in the midst of them.

54 That thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast justified the sisters.

55 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

56 For thy sister Sodom was not hated of by thy report in the day of thy pride.

57 Before thy wickednesse was discovered, as in that same time of the report of the daughters of Aram, & of all the daughters of the Philistines round about: which despite thee on all sides.

defend all his punishment to minde when thou shalt be by her example to feare my judgements. I therefore brought vnder by the Syrians & Philistines, & thou joined with the Syrians, or compassed about Ierusalem.

Or thou mayest beare rule.

Then hath I heard therefore thy wickedness, and thine abomination, saith the Lord.
For thus saith the Lord God, I might have been with thee, as thou hast done, when thou didst despise the oath, in breaking the covenant.

Nevertheless, I will remember my covenant made with thee in the dayes of thy youth, and I will confirm unto thee an everlasting covenant.

When thou shalt remember thy vows, and bee ashamed, when thou shalt receive thy sisters, both thy elder and thy younger, and I will give them unto thee for daughters, but not by the covenant.

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two Eagles.

And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

Sonne of man, put forth a parable and make a proverb unto the house of Israel.

And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great Eagle with great wings, & long wings, and full of feathers, which had diverse colours, came unto Lebanon, and took the best branches of the cedar,

And brake off the top of his twigs, & carried it into the land of merchants, and it is in a coile of merchants.

He took also of the seede of the land, and planted it in a fruitful ground: he placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tree.

And it budded up, & was like a spreading vine of low stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the roots thereof were under it: so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and shot forth buds.

There was also another great Eagle with great wings and many feathers, and when this vine did turne her roots toward it, and spread forth her branches toward it, she might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

It was planted in a good soyle by great waters, that it should bring forth branches, and beare fruit, and bee an excellent vine.

For thou, Thus saith the Lord God, shall it prosper? Shall he not pull up the roots thereof, and destroy the fruit thereof, and cause them to die? all the leaves of the vine shall wither without great power, & many people, to plucke it up by the roots thereof.

Behold, it was planted: but shall it

They thought to bee moistened by the waters Neuchad nezatz destroy it?

prosper? shall it not be dried up, and wither? when the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it grew.

Wherefore the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

Say now to this rebellious house, know ye not what these things mean? tell them, Behold, the King of Babel is come to Jerusalem, and hath taken the King thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him into Babel.

And hath taken one of the kings seede, and made a covenant with him, and hath taken an oath of him: hee hath also taken the princes of the land.

That the kingdome might bee in subjection, and not lift it selfe up, but keepe their covenant, and stand to it.

But hee rebelled against him and sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that they might give him helpe, and much people: shall he prosper? shall he escape, that doth such things? or shall he breake the covenant, and be delivered?

As I live, saith the Lord God, he shall die in the midst of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him King, whose oath hee despised, and whose covenant made with him, he brake.

Neither shall Pharaoh with his mighty holle, and great multitude of people, maintaine him in the warre, when they have cast by mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many perions.

For he hath despised the oath, and broken the covenant: yet loe, he had given a hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As I live, I will surely bring mine oath that hee hath despised, and my covenant that hee hath broken, upon his owne head.

And I will spread my net upon him, and hee shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel, & will enter into judgement with him there for his trespasses that he hath committed against me.

And all that flee from him with all his holle, shall fall by the sword, and they that remain, shall bee scattered toward all the windes: and yet shall know that I the Lord have spoken it.

Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take off the toppe of this his cedar, and will see it, and cut off the toppe of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it upon an high mountaine and great.

Even in the high mountaine of Israel will I plant it: it shall bring forth boughes, and beare fruit, and bee an excellent cedar, and under it shall remaine all birdes, and every foule shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof.

And all the trees of the ficke shall know that I the Lord have brought downe the high tree, and exalted the low tree: that I have dried up the greene tree, and made the drye tree to flourish: I the Lord have spoken it, and have done it.

finde. 21 To him that entendeth, a saluation promised. 22 Death is prophesied to the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

The word of the Lord came vnto mee againe, saying,

2 What meane yee that yee speake this prouerbe, concerning the land of Israel, saying, * The fathers haue eaten sowre grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

3 As I liue, saith the Lord God, ye shall blis this prouerbe no more in Israel.

4 Behold, all soules are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shall die.

5 But if a man bee iust, and doe that which is lawfull and right,

6 And hath not eaten * vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath * defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath * taken with a * meretricious woman,

7 Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restored the pledge to his dettoure: hee that hath sinned none by violence, * but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath covered the naked with a garment,

8 And hath not giuen foorth vpon * vsurie, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withholden his hand from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgement betwene man and man,

9 And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truly, he is iust, hee shall surely liue, saith the Lord God.

10 ¶ If he beget a sonne, that is a thiefe, or a shedder of blood, if hee doe any of these things,

11 Though he do not all these things, but either hath eaten vpon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife,

12 Or hath oppressed the poore and needie, or hath sinned by violence, or hath not restored the pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the idoles, or hath committed abominacion,

13 Or hath giuen foorth vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shall he liue: hee shall not liue: seeing hee hath done all these abominacions, * hee shall die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him.

14 ¶ But if he beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers finnes, which hee hath done, and feareth neither doth such like,

15 That hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife,

16 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withholden the pledge, neither hath sinned by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath covered the naked with a garment,

17 Neither hath withholden his hand from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but hee shall surely liue.

18 His father, because hee cruelly oppressed and sinned his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, hee shall die in his iniquitie.

19 Per say yee, * Therefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father, because the sonne hath executed iudgements and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue.

20 * The same soule that sinneth, shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteousness of the righteous shall be vpon him, and the wickednesse of the wicked shall be vpon him.

21 But if the wicked will retorne from all his finnes that hee hath committed, and keepe all my * statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue, and shall not die.

22 All his transgressions that hee hath committed, they shall not be mentioned vnto him, in his * righteousness that hee hath done, hee shall liue.

23 ¶ Vane I any desire that the wicked should die, saith the Lord God: I do not desire that hee should die, but that hee should be iust.

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, and doe according to all the abominacions that the wicked man doeth, shall hee liue: all his * righteousness shall be as a filthy rag, and hee shall not be mentioned: but in his transgression that hee hath committed, and in his iniquitie that hee hath sinned, in them shall hee die.

25 Per yee say, The way of the Lord is not * equal: heare now, O house of Israel. Is not my way equal for are not your wayes vnequall?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousness, and committeeth iniquitie, he shall euen die for the same, he shall euen die for his iniquitie that hee hath done.

27 Again, when the wicked turneth away from his wickednesse that hee hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, he shall liue: he shall saue his soule alive.

28 Because hee considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, he shall surely liue and shall not die.

29 Per saith the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equal. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equal? or are not your wayes vnequall?

30 There saie I will iudge you, O house of Israel, euerie one according to his wayes, saith the Lord God: returne therefore ye, and othens to turne away from all your transgressions: no iniquitie shall not be your destruction.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby yee haue transgressed, and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will yee die, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: canst thou therefore one another to retorne, and liue yee.

13 The nations also heard of him, and he was taken in their nets, and they brought him in chains unto the land of Egypt.

14 Now when she saw that she had waited, and her hope was lost, she took another of her whelpes, and made him a Iyon.

16 And he knew their widowes, and he destroyed their cities, and the land was waste, and all that was therein by the noise of his roaring.

17 Then the nations set against him on every side of the countrey, and layed their nets for him: so he was taken in their pit.

18 And they put him in prison & in chains, and brought him to the king of Babel, and they put him in holds, that his voice should not be heard upon the mountaines of Irael.

19 Thy mother is like a vine in thy blood, planted by the waters: shee brought forth fruite and branches by the abundant waters.

21 But she was plucked by in wrath: she was cast down to the ground, and the East wind dried up her fruite: her branches were broken, and withered: as for the rod of her strength, the fire consumed it.

22 And now she is planted in the wilderness in a dry and thirlicke ground.

23 And shee is gone out of a rod of her branches, which hath denoured her fruite, so that she hath no strong rod to be a scepter to rule: this is a lamentation, and shall be for ever.

CHAP. XX.

1 The Lord denieth that he will answer them when they pray, because of their unkindnes. 2 He remembereth that his people shall returne from captivitie, as by the fire that should be burnt in signification the burning of Ierusalem.

3 And in the seventh yeere, in the fifth month, the eighth day of the month, came the word of the Lord to enquire of the Lord, and after before me.

4 Then came the word of the Lord unto me saying,

5 Sonne of man, speake unto the Elders of Irael, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I live, saith the Lord God, when I am asked, I will not answer you.

6 Shall I judge them, some of man?

will thou judge them? canst thou judge them? stand the abominations of their fathers.

7 And say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when I chose Irael, and I lift up mine hand unto the seed of the house of Iacob, and made myself known unto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift up mine hand unto them, and sayde, I am the Lord your God,

8 In the day that I lift up mine hand unto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had promised for them, flowing with milke and honey, which is pleasant among all lands,

9 Then said I unto them, Let every man cast away the abominations of his eyes, and defile not your selves with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

10 But they rebelled against me, & would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to pour out mine indignation upon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.

11 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, and in whose sight I made myself known unto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

12 Howbeit I carried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wilderness.

13 And I gave them my statutes, and declared my iudgements unto them, which if a man do, he shall live in them.

14 Moreover, I gave them also my Sabbaths to be a signe betweene me and them, that they might know that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them.

15 But the house of Irael rebelled against me in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, he shall live in them, and my Sabbath have they greatly polluted: then I thought to pour out mine indignation upon them in the wilderness to consume them.

16 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them out.

17 Yet neverthelesse I lift up mine hand unto them in the wilderness, that I would not bring them into the land, which I had given them, flowing with milke and honey, which was pleasant above all lands.

18 Because they cast away my iudgements, and walked not in my statutes, but have polluted my Sabbath: for their heart went after their idoles.

19 Wherefore I mine eye spared them, that I would not destroy them, neither would I consume them in the wilderness.

20 But I sayd unto their children in the wilderness, Unlike yeer not in the ordinances thereby take an occasion to blaspheme my Name, or els that I had sought a means to destroy them more commodiously. h That is, my true religion, which I had commanded them, and gave themselves to serve me according to their owne fantasies, b This declared the great lenitie and patience of God, which called sinners to repentance before hee condemned them.

c I sweare that I would be their God: which manner of othe was observed from all antiquitie, where they used to lift up their hands toward the heaven, acknowledging God to be the author of truth, and the defender thereof, and also the iudge of the heart, willing that he should take vengeance, if they concealed any thing which they knew to be truth.

d God had forbidden them to make mention of the idoles, Exod. 23. 13. psal. 16. 4. Which thing declared the wickedness of man's heart, which judge Gods service by their eyes and outward senses.

f God hath ever this respect to his glory, that he would not have his name evil spoken of among the Gentiles for the punishment that his people deserved, in confidence whereof the godly cure prayed, as Exod. 32. 11. Num. 14. 13. Leuit. 18. 5. rom. 10. 5. gal. 3. 12. Exod. 30. 8 and 31. 13. dem. 3. 12. Num. 14. 28. 29. and 36. 5.

g Who might and to accuse mee

h That is, my true religion, which I had commanded them, and gave themselves to serve me according to their owne fantasies,

1 Whereby the holy Ghost comforteth them that say these things will follow the religion and example of their fathers, and not measure their doings by Gods word, whether they be approvable thereby or no, of your fathers, neither observe their manners, nor desire your selves with their idols.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keep my judgments and doe them,

20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shall be a signe betweene me and you, that ye may know that I am the Lord your God,

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against mee: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my judgments to doe them, which if a man doe he shall live in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation upon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wilderness.

22 Nevertheless I withheld mine hand, and had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lift up mine hand unto them in the wilderness, that I would scatter them among the heathen, & disperse them throughout the countreys,

24 Because they had not executed my judgments, but had cast away my statutes, and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after their fathers idoles.

25 Therefore I gave them also statutes that were not good, and judgments, wherein they should not live.

26 And I polluted them in their owne gifts, in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth the womb, that I might destroy them, to the ende that they might know that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore some of man speake unto the house of Israel, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Per in this your fathers have blasphemed me, though they had before grievously transgressed against me.

28 For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted up mine hand to give it to them, then they sawe every high hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of provocation: there also they made their sweete savour, and powred out there their drinke offerings.

29 Then I sayd unto them, What is the high place wherunto ye goe? And the name thereof was called Barmath unto this day.

30 Therefore say unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted after the manner of your fathers? and commit ye not whoredome after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your gifts, & make your selves to passe through the fire, you pollute your selves with all your idoles unto this day: shall I answer you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I live, saith the Lord God, I will not answer you when I am asked.

32 Neither shall that bee done that cometh into your minde: for ye say, We will be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreys, and burne wood and stone.

33 As I live, saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out.

34 And I will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye are scattered with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out.

35 And I will bring you into the wilderness of the people, & there will I pleade with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so will I pleade with you, saith the Lord God.

37 And I will cause you to passe under the roe, and will bring you into the bond of the covenant.

38 And I will chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgressed against me: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel, and you shall know that I am the Lord.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God: Goe you, and leave every one his idole, seeing that ye will not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts and with your idoles.

40 For in mine holy mountaine, even in the high mountaine of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the land, serve me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offerings, and the first fruites of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept your sweet smelling, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye have bene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shall know, that I am the Lord, when I shall bring you into the lands of Israel, into the land, for the which I lifted up my hand to give it to your fathers.

43 And there shall ye remember your lawes, and all your workes, wherein ye have bene defiled, and ye shall judge your selves worthy to be cut off, for all your evils, that ye have committed.

44 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I have respect unto you for my names sake, & not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt works. O ye house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

45 O Desolour, the wordes of the Lord came unto me, saying,

46 Some of man, let thy face towards the way of Teman, & drop thy word towards the South, and prophesie toward the East of the field of the South,

47 And say to the forest of the South, Heare the word of the Lord: thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will kindle a fire in thee, & it shall devoure all the greene wood in thee, and all the thicke wood: the continuall flame shall not bee quenched, and every

n I condemned those things, and counted the as-bominable which they thought had bene excellent, & to have declared most wale, Luke 16. 15. for that which God required, as most excellent, that gave they to their idoles.

n Not onely in the wilderness, when I brought them out of Egypt, but since I placed them in this land: which declared how prompt mans heart is to idolatry, seeing that by no admonitions he can be drawn backe.

and prophesied a lie unto thee to bring thee upon the necks of the wicked that are thine, whose day is come when their iniquitie shall have an end.

30 Shall I cause it to returne into his speech? I will iudge thee in the place where thou wast created, even in the land of thine habitation.

31 And I will powre out mine indignation upon thee, and will blowe against thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliver thee into the hand of deathly men, and skillfull to destroy.

32 Thou shalt be in the fire to bee devoured: thy blood shall bee in the mids of the land, and thou shalt bee no more remembered; for I the Lord have spoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ierusalem is reposed for ever. 25 Of the wicked doctrine of the false prophets and priests, and of their unsatiable covetousnesse. 27 The tyrannies of their rulers. 29 The wickednesse of the people.

Moreover the wordes of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Know thou some of man, wilt thou iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody citie: wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

3 Then say, Thus saith the Lord God, The cite sheweth blood in the mids of it, that her time may come, and maketh toolles against her selfe to pollute her selfe.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thy selfe in thine idoles, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy wayes to draw neere, and art come unto thy terme: therefore have I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countries.

5 Those that bee neere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art villed in name, and lowe in affliction.

6 Beholde, the princes of Israel every one in thee was ready to his power, to shed blood.

7 In thee have they despised father and mother: in the mids of thee have they oppressed the stranger: in thee have they vered the fatherlesse and the widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that carry tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eat upon the mountains in the mids of thee they commit abomination.

10 In thee have they dishonoured their fathers name: in thee have they vered her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And every one hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and every one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in law, and in thee hath every man covered his owne sister, even his fathers daughter.

12 In thee have they taken gifts to shed blood: thou hast taken usury and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God.

13 Beholde, therefore I have smitten mine hands upon thy covenanties, that thou hast shed, and upon the blood, which hath been in the mids of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be strong in the dayes that I come to doe with thee? I the Lord have spoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countries, and will cause thy singlenesse to cease from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine inheritance in thy life in the sight of the heathen, & thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

17 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

18 Some of man, The word of God is unto mee, as a spelle: all they are false, and chaine, and yoke, and lead in the mids of the furnace: they are even the dross of silver.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye are all as dross, behold, therefore will I gather you in the mids of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather flint and brasse, and yron, and lead, and tinne in the mids of the furnace, to blowe the fire upon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and will put you these, and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blow the fire of my wrath upon you, and you shall be melted in the mids thereof.

22 As silver is melted in the mids of the furnace, so shall ye be melted in the mids thereof, and ye shall know that I the Lord have powred out my wrath upon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

24 Some of man, say unto her, Thou art the land that is desolate, and has not relied upon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conspiracie of her prophets in the mids thereof like a roaring lion, raving the prayer: they have devoured widows: they have taken the riches and precious things: they have made her many widows in the mids thereof.

26 Her priests have broken my Law, and have defiled mine holy things: they have put no difference betweene the holy and the profane, neither discerned betweene the cleane, and the cleane, and have hid their eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am polluted among them.

27 Her princes in the mids thereof, as like wolves, ravening the pray to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne covetous lucre.

28 And her prophets have deceived them with untimpered moorie, seeing banquets, and drinking lyes into them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.

29 The people of the land have violently oppressed by shoyling and robbing, and have vered the poore, and the needy: yet they have oppressed the stranger against right.

30 And I sought for a man among them that should make up the hedge, and stand a Art thou ready to execute thy charge, which I commit unto thee against Ierusalem, that murdereth the Prophets and them that are godly? b That is, the time of her destruction, c To her owne undoing.

CHAP. XXIII

Of the idolatry of Samaria and Jerusalem, we do the names of Abolah and Abolishah.
The word of the Lord came again unto me saying,

2. Some of man; there were two women, the daughters of one mother.

And they committed fornication in Egypt, they committed fornication in their land: there were their breasts swollen, and there they broke the fountains of their virginity.

And the names of them were Abihah the elder, and Abihah her sister : and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters : thus were their names : Samaria is Abihah, and Jerusalem Abihah.

And Aphrah played the harlot : when he was mine, and she was set on fire with lovers, so wit, with the Assyrians her lovers.

6 Which were clothed with bleme silk, captaines and princes : they were all valiant young men, and horsemen riding upon policy.

7 Thus shee committed her whoresome with them, even with all them that were the chosen men of Achan, and with all on whom shee relied, and defiled her selfe with all their doles.

8 And he left her her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they lay with her, and they banished the breasts of virginity, and powdered their whoresome

9 Therefore I delivered her into the hands of her lovers, even into the hands of the Assyrians, upon whom she doted.

to Thelſe diſcovered her Shame : they took away her ſonnes and her daughters, and flew them with the ſword, and ſhe had no name among women : for they had put a ſhame upon her.

12 And when her sister Abigail sawe
this, she married her selfe with inordinate desire, more then three, and with her fornications,
more then her sister with her fornications.

11. She noted upon the Assyrians her neighbours, both captives and princes clothed in silvers lace, horsemen riding on horses : they were all pleasant young

Then I saw that they were killed, and they were both after one fox.

And that she increased her fornication :
 For when she saw men painted upon
 The wall, the images of the Gods and pain-
 tures with demurrors

14 And girded with girdles upon their loins, and with died attire upon their heads (looking all like princes after the manner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their habitation.)

16. I Boone, I Cry, as first I saw them, they her into the den of love, they beset her by their fornication, and her love pollute with them, and her lust departed from 18 And she discovered her fornication, and disclosed her shame: then mine eyes sought her, like as mine hand had sought

 her.

19 Yet she increased her whoredom more,
And called to remembrance the days of her youth, wherein shee had played the harlot in plaine street.

20 For they hatched upon their remnants,
whole members are as the members of asses,
in whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembrance the tickledness of thy youth, when thy tears were bruised by the Egyptians : therefore the pappes of thy youth are thine.

27 Therefore, O Holiest, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will raise up thy lovers against thee, from whom thine heart is turned, and I will bring them against thee
every one.

23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the aldeans, Babel, and Shoa, and Koa, all the Assyrians with them: they were pleasant young men, captives and princes: all they were valiant and renowned, ringing lions.

24. Then shall mine hand come against thee thy chariot, thy weapons, and thy horses, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee, buckler and spear, and helmet and about : and I will leave the punishment unto them, and they shall judge thee according to their judgments.

And I will lay mine indignation upon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee:
 they shall cut off thy nose and thine eares,
 and thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall carry away thy kinsmen, and thy daughters, and thy residue shall be deuoured by the enemy.

26 They shall also strippē thee out of thy thes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus will I make the wicked grief-ful from thee, and the fortification out of land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift thine eyes unto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

18 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliver thee into the hand of them, whom thou hatest: even into the hands of men from whom thine heart is departed.
19 And they shall handle thee desperately,

And thou shalt take away all thy labour, and thou shalt go thee naked and bare, and the shame of fornication shall be discovered, both thy wickedness and thy whoredome.

○ I will doe these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whooring after the Gentiles, and because thou art polluted with their idols.

AND in the eleuenth yeere, in the first day of the month, the wordes of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Behold, the gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shall be replenished.

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring by many nations against thee, as the sea inundeth by with his waues.

4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus, and breake downe their towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the mids of the sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall be a sport to the nations.

6 And her daughters which are in the isle, shall be slaine by the sword, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will bring vpon Tyrus Arbuchad-nogzar king of Babel, a king of kings, from the North, with horses and with charrets, and with bowemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shall slay with the sword the daughters in the isle, and he shall make a foue against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp by the backler against thee.

9 Hee shall set engines of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towers.

10 The dust of his horses that couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shall shake at the noyse of the horsemen, and of the wheeles, and of the charrets, when he shall enter into thy gates, as into the entre of a city that is broken downe.

11 With the bootes of his horses shall hee tread downe all the streets: he shall slay thy people by the sword, and the pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoile thy merchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the middes of the water.

13 Thus will I cause the sounde of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thy harpes shall be no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: thou shalt bee for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more. for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shall not the yles tremble at the sound of thy fall, and at the crye of the wounding, when they shall see slaine and murdered in the mids of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put on their byrned garments, and shall clasp their selues with astonishment: they shall be as the graine, and bee ashamed at every moment, and be amazed at thee.

17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited of the sea, the remanent clea which was strong in the sea, both he and her inhabitants, how comest thou hither to bee so all that day therein?

18 How shall the yles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, When I shall make thee a desolate cite, like the cities that are now inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee.

20 When I shall call thy women with them that descende into the pit, with the people of old time, and shall set thee in low parts of the earth, like the other cities, with them, I say, which are downe to the pit: is that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall bring my glory in the land of the living.

21 I will bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought, yet shalt thou neuer be found againe, saith the Lord God.

The Prophet bewaileth the destruction of Tyrus, shewing what were the riches, power and beautie thereof in times past.

THE wordes of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, take up a lamentation for Tyrus.

3 And say vnto Tyrus, that thou art the entre of the sea, which is the marke of the people for many yles. Thou saith the Lord God, O Tyrus, thou hast said, I am of perfect beautie.

4 Thy borders are in the entres of the sea, and thy builders haue made thee of perfect beautie.

5 They haue made all thy borders of firs trees of Oshin: thy haue brought cedars from Lebanon, to make mallets in thee.

6 Of the oaks of Baithan haue they made their oes: the companie of the Cyprusians haue made thy banks of purple, brought out of the yles of Chittim.

7 Fine linnen with hyacinth mores, brought from Egypt, was spread over thee to be the table, blue silke and purple, brought from the yles of Cilich, was thy canopie ring.

8 The inhabitants of Moan and Ima were thy mariners, O Tyrus: thy men that were in thee, they were thy pilots.

9 The ancients of Gebal, and the men thereof were in thee thy caruers: all the shippes of the sea with their mariners were in thee to occupie thy merchandise.

10 They of Berith, of Lub, and of Eder, in their arms: the men of warre they brought the shield and helmet in thee: they brought the bow and arrow.

11 The men of Arad, with their arms were upon the wallies round about, and the watchtowers were in the towers: they banded their shields upon the wallies round about: they have made thy beauty great.

12 They of Tarshish were thy merchants: the multitude of all riches, for silver, yron, tin, and lead, which they brought to the land.

13 They of Hanaan, Tubal and Sheber were thy merchants: concerning the lines of men, and they brought vessels of brass for thy merchandise.

14 They of the house of Togarmah brought to thy faires horses, and horsemen, and mules.

15 The men of Dedan were thy merchants: and the merchandise of many yles were in thine hands: they brought thee for a quene, homes, treeth, and peacocks.

16 They of Oram were thy merchants for the multitude of thy wares: they occupied thy faires with emeraydes, purple, and dyed woyle, and fine linnen, and coyall, and pearle.

17 They of Iudah and of the land of Idume were thy merchants: they brought to thy merchandise wheate of Sennar, and Dammah, and bonie, and oyle, and thyme.

18 They of Damascus were thy merchants in the multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Idume and white wooll.

19 They of Dan also arde of Hanaan, going to and fro, occupied in thy faires: ypon wyke, cassia and calamus were among thy merchandise.

20 They of Dedan were thy merchants in precious clothes for the chariots.

21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Idume occupied with thee in lamdes, and cammes, and goates: in these were thy thy merchandise.

22 The merchants of Sheba, and Raamah were thy merchants: they occupied in thy faires with the chylfe of all spices, and with all precious stones and gold.

23 They of Haran and Canneh, and Eber, the merchants of Sheba, Asshur and Chanaan were thy merchants.

24 These were thy merchants in all kind of things, in rayment of blue silke, and in dyed woyle, and in coffers for the oyle apparell, which were bound with wyke: chains also were among thy merchandise.

25 The ships of Tarshish were thy chiefe thy merchandise, and thou wast replenished, and made very glorious in the midst of the sea.

26 Thy robbers have brought thee into great waters: the East wynde hath broken thee in the midst of the sea.

27 Thy riches and thy faires, thy merchandise, thy mariners and pilots, and calym, and the occupiers of thy merchandise, and all thy men of warre that are in thee, and all the multitude which is in the midst of thee, shall fall in the midst of the sea, in the day of thy ruine.

28 The mountains that make at the sound of the crye of thy pilots.

29 And all that handle the oxe, the merchants, and all the pilots of the sea shall come downe from their ships, and shall stand upon the land.

30 And shall raise their voice to be heard against thee, and shall crye bitterly, and shall cast dust upon their heads, & wallow themselves in the ashes.

31 They shall plucke off their haire for thee, and gird them with a sackcloth, and they shall weep for thee, with sorrow of heart and bitter mourning.

32 And in their mourning they shall take up a lamentation for thee, saying, What crye is like Tyrrus, so destroyed in the midst of the sea?

33 When thy waies went forth of the sea, thou filledst many people, and thou diddest enrich the kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy merchandise.

34 When thou shalt be broken by the seas in the drythes of the waters, thy merchandise and all thy multitude, which was in the middest of thee, shall fall.

35 All the inhabitants of the yles shall be astonished at thee, and all their kings shall bee fowre astraide and troubled in their countenance.

36 The merchants among the people shall hiss at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and neuer shalt be any more.

against the beauty of thy wisdom, and they shall desire thy brightness.

8. They shall call thee wisdom in the day, and thou shalt be the death of them that are slain in the midst of the sea.

9. Wilt thou say thou becomest like a man, and thou shalt be a god: but thou shalt be a man, and not a god, in the hands of him that slayeth thee.

10. Thou shalt die the death of the uncircumcised by the hands of strangers: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11. I have uttered the word of the Lord come unto me, saying,

12. Sonne of man, take up a lamentation upon the king of Tyrus, and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord God, Thou hast by the summe, and art full of wisdom and perfect in beauty.

13. Thou hast bene in Eden the garden of God: every precious stone was in thy garment, the rubie, the topaze & the diamond, the chrysolite, the onyx, and the iasper, the saphire, emerald, and the carbuncle and gold: the workmanship of thy tymbels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14. Thou art the anointed Cherub, that covereth, and I have set thee so honour: thou wast upon the holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the middes of the stones of fire.

15. Thou wast perfect in thy wayes from the day that thou wast created, till iniquity was found in thee.

16. By the multitude of thy merchandise, they have filled the middes of thee with craft, and thou hast shined: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the mountaine of God, and I will destroy thee, & covering Cherub, from the middes of the stones of fire.

17. Thine heart was lifted up, because of thy beauty, and thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness: I will cast thee to the ground: I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee.

18. Thou hast despised thy sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquitie of thy merchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the middes of thee, which shall devour thee: and I will bring thee to ashes upon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold thee.

19. All they that know thee among the people, shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt bee a terror, and neuer shalt thou bee any more.

20. Again, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

21. Sonne of man, let thy face against Sidon, and prophesie against it.

22. And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Sidon, and I will be glorified in the middes of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall have executed judgements in her, and shall be sanctified in her.

23. For I will send into her pestilence, and blood into her streets, and the slain shall fall in the middes of her: the enemies shall come against her with the sword on every side, they shall know that I am the Lord.

24. And they shall see no more Sidon, nor shall they dwell in the house of Idume, nor shall they be a terror to all that are round about, and behold them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25. Thus saith the Lord God, When I shall have gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and be sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in the land, which I have given to me, saith the Lord God.

26. And they shall dwell safely there, and shall build houses and plant vines, and they shall dwell safely, when I have executed judgements upon all round about them that vexed them, and they shall know that I am the Lord their God.

He propheseth against Pharaoh and Egypt. The Lord promiseth that he will restore Egypt after fourscore years. Egypt is the remnant of Nebuchad-nexer for the labour which he wrought against Tyrus.

1. In the tenth yeere, and in the fourteenth, in the twelfth day of the month, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2. Sonne of man, let thy face against Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and prophesie against him, and against all Egypt.

3. Speak, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great dragon that lieth in the middes of his rivers, and hath said, The river is mine, and I have made it for my selfe.

4. But I will put hooks in thy nostrils, and I will cause the fish of the rivers to sticke unto thy scales, and I will bring thee out of the middes of thy rivers, and all the fish of thy rivers shall sticke unto thy scales.

5. And I will leave thee in the wilderness, both thee and all the fish of thy rivers: thou shalt fall upon the open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: I have given thee for meat to the beasts of the field, and to the fowles of the heaven.

6. And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the Lord, because they have bene a state of trade to the house of Israel.

7. When they rooke hold of thee with their hand, thou shalt be broken, and rent at their shoulder: and when they leaned upon thee, thou shalt break, and madest all their labour stand & bright.

8. Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a sword upon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee.

9. And the land of Egypt shall desolate, and waste, and they shall know that I am the Lord: because they have said, The river is mine, and I have made it.

10. Behold, therefore I come upon thee, and upon thy rivers, and I will make the land of Egypt utterly waste and desolate.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreys.

24 And I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babel, & put my word in his hand, but I will hate the Egyptians arms, and hee shall cast out fighting, as the fighting of Idun that is wounded betwixt him.

25 But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall know that I am the Lord. When I shall put my word into the hand of the king of Babel, and hee shall stretch it out upon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will weaken the Egyptians among the nations, and I will make them among the countreys, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXI.

2 A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians. 10 He propheseth a like destruction to them both.

1 Add in the eleventh yere, in the third moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake unto Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and to his multitude, whom art thou? like in thy greatnesse?

3 Behold, Asshur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and shot up very big, and his top was among the thicke boughes.

4 The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted him on his bed: the rivers running round about his plants, and sent out her little rivers unto all the trees of the field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted above all the trees of the field, and his boughes were multiplied, & his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the foules of the heauen made their nests in his boughes, and under his branches did all the beasts of the field bring forth their yong, and under his shadow dwelt all mightie nations.

7 Thus was hee faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his roote was neere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, and the cheestnut trees were not like his boughes; all the trees in the garden of God were not like unto him in his beautie.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, envied him.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because he is lifted up on high, and hath shot by his top among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lifted up in his height,

11 I have therefore deliuered him into the hands of the mighty among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I have cast him away for his wickednesse.

12 And the strangers have destroyed him, and the terrible nations, and they have broken him upon the mountains: and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughes are broken by all the rivers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and have forsaken him.

13 Upon his ruine shall all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beasts of the field shall be upon his branches.

14 And that none of all the trees by the waters shall be exalted by their height, neither shall shoot up their toppe among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaves stand up in their height, which thine I much reuer: for they are all deliuered unto death in the nether parts of the earth in the midst of the children of men, among them that goe downe to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused him to mourne, and I covered the deepe for him, and I did restrain the floods thereof, & the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field lamented.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: even all that are nourished with waters, shall be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They also went downe to hell with him unto them that be slain with the sword, and his arme, and they that dwell under his shadow in the midst of the heathen.

18 To whom art thou thus like in glory and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt bee cast downe with the trees of Eden unto the nether partes of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the midst of the uncircumcised, with them that be slain by the sword: this is Pharaoh, and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXII.

2 The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh king of Egypt. 12 Hee propheseth that destruction shall come vnto Egypt through the king of Babylon.

1 Add in the twelfth yere in the thirteenth moneth, & in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take up a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and say unto him, Thou art like a lion of the nations, and art as a dragon in the sea: thou hast cutt out thy rivers, and troubledst the waters with thy feet, and stampedst in their rivers.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, I will therefore spread my net over thee with a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come up into my net.

4 When will I leave thee upon the land, and I will cast thee upon the open field, and I will cause all the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill all the borders of the field with thee.

23. And I will lay thy flesh upon the mountains, and in the valleys, which shine bright.

24. I will also make, with thy blood, the land wherein thou art counted, come to the nations, and the rivers shall be full of thee.

25. And when I shall put thee out, I will cover the heaven, and make the waters dark: I will cover the suns with a cloud, and the moone shall not give her light.

26. All the lights of heaven will I make dark for thee, and bring a darkness upon the land, saith the Lord God.

27. I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring the destruction among the nations, and upon the countreys whom thou hast not known.

28. Yes, I will make many people afraid at thee, and their kings shall astonish and stand before thee, when I shall make my voice to glitter against their faces, and they shall be afraid at every moment, every man for his own life in the day of the fall.

29. For thus saith the Lord God. The sword of the king of Babel shall come upon thee.

30. By the sword of the mightie will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall be slain, and they shall destroy the name of Egypt, and all the multitude shall be consumed.

31. I will destroy also all the health thereof, from the great waters side, neither shall the heart of man trouble them anymore, nor the houses of the beast trouble them.

32. When will I make their waters dry, and cause their rivers to run like oyle, saith the Lord God.

33. When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shall be layd waste: when I shall smite all them, which dwell therein, then shall they know that I am the Lord.

34. This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

35. In the twelfth yeere also, in the fifth month day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord unto me, saying,

36. Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and cast them downe, even thou and the daughters of the mightie nations, into the nether parts of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit.

37. Althow dost thou say, I in beauty dwelle, and sleepe with the uncircumcised.

38. They that fall in the midst of them that are slaine by the sword: = shee is delivered into the sword: drawe her downe, and all her multitude.

39. The most mightie and strong shall be brought out of the midst of hell, with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and sleepe with the uncircumcised that bee slaine by the sword.

40. Althow is there and all his company: his graves are about him: all they are slaine, and fallen by the sword.

41. All these graves are made in the sides of the pit, and his multitude are round about his grave: all they are slaine, and fallen by the sword, which caused feare to be in the land of the living.

42. These are = Egypt and all his multitude, round about his grave: all they are slaine, and fallen by the sword, which are gone downe with the uncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, which caused themselves to be feared in the land of the living, yet have they joyne their shame with them that are gone downe to the pit.

43. They have made his bed in the midst of slaines with all his multitude: their graves are round about him, all these uncircumcised are slaine by the sword, which they have caused: their feare in the land of the living, yet have they joyne their shame with them that goe downe to the pit: they are layd in the midst of them that be slaine.

44. There is = Pharaoh, Tubal, and all their multitude: their graves are round about them: all these uncircumcised were slaine by the sword, which they caused: their feare to be in the land of the living.

45. And they shall sleepe with the slaine: of the uncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone downe to the grave, with their weapons of warre, and have layd their swordes under their heads, and their daggers shall bee upon their thighes: because they were the feare of the mightie in the land of the living.

46. Yes, thou shalt bee broken in the midst of the uncircumcised: and he with them that are slaine by the sword.

47. There is = Egypt his kings, and all his princes, which with their strength are layd by them that were slaine by the sword: they shall sleepe with the uncircumcised, & with them that are gone downe to the pit.

48. There be all the princes of the North, with all the Syrians which are gone downe with the slaine, with their feare: they are ashamed of their strength, and the uncircumcised sleepe with them that be slaine by the sword, and beare their shame with them that goe downe to the pit.

49. Pharaoh shall see them, and he shall be comforted over all his multitude: Pharaoh and all his armie shall be slaine by the sword, saith the Lord God.

50. For I have caused my feare to be in the land of the living: & he shall be layd in the midst of the uncircumcised, with them that are slaine by the sword, even Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

I bring the sword upon him, if the people of the land see the sinne of the watchman,
and make him to be a transgressor.

3 If when he seeth the sword come upon the land, he blow the tumpet, and warne
the people.

4 When he hath heared the sound of the tumpet, and will not be warnd, if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shall be upon his own head.

5 For he heareth the sound of the tumpet, and would not be admonished: therefore his blood shall be upon him, because he receiveth warning, shall save his life.

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blowe not the tumpet, and the people be not warnd, if the sword come,
and take any person from among them, he is taken away for his iniquitie, and his blood will I require at the watchmans
hand.

7 So thou, O house of man, I have made thee a watchman unto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the word as my mouth, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say unto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou dost not speake, when I admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie: and his blood will I require at thine hand.

9 Supperthilles, when I warne the wilked of his way to turne from it, if he doe not fugue from his way, hee shall die for his inquitie, but thou shalt deliuer thy soule.

10 Therefore, O thou house of man, speake unto the house of Israel: Thus saith the Lord God, say, If our transgressions and our sinnes be upon vs, and we are condemned because of them, how should we then live?

11 Say vnto them, O I live, sayeth the Lord God, I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way, and then shall hee live: turne you from your iniquities, for why will ye die, O ye house
of Israel?

12 Therefore thou some of man, say vnto the children of the people, The righteous-nesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that he returneth from his wickednesse, neither shall the righteous live for his righteousness, in the day that he sinneth.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shall surely live, if he be trust to his owne righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnesse shall be no more remembered, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed,
he shall die for the same.

14 Again, when I shall say vnto the wilked, Thou shalt die the death, if hee turne from his sinne, and do that which is lawfull and right.

15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge,
and giue againe that he hath robbed, & walke
in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely live, and not die.

16 None of his sinnes that he hath committed, shall be mentioned vnto him, because he hath done that which is lawfull, and he shall surely live.

17 Perish a signification of the punishment of the way of the Lord is not equal: but their way is as unequal.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousness, and commiteth iniquitie,
he shall surely die therefore.

19 But if the wicked turne from his wickednesse, and doe that which is lawfull
and right, he shall live thereby.

20 Per ye say, The way of the Lord is equal: ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euer after his wayes.

21 Also in the twelfth yeere of our expatriation, in the tenth moneth, and in the first of the moneth, one that had escaped from Jerusalem, came vnto me, and sayd, The siege is finished.

22 And the hand of the Lord had bene
vpon me in the evening afore he that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth, and ill be came to me in the morning: and when he had opened my mouth, I was as a dunne.

23 Again the word of the Lord came to me, and sayd,

24 Some of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, call and say, Abraham was but one, and he possessed the land: but we are many, therefore the land shall be giuen vs in possession.

25 And therefore say vnto them, Thus saith
the Lord God, Ye are with the blood, and life by your eyes toward your faces,
and shed blood: should ye then possess the
land?

26 Ye leane vpon your swordes: ye looke abomination, and ye desire every one his neighbours wife: should ye then possess
the land?

27 Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, I I live, so saith the Lord God,
in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword:
and him that is in the open field, will I ge-ue vnto the beasts to be deuoured: and they that bee in the towers and in the caues, shall be of the pestilence.

28 And I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the pompe of her strength shall cease: and the mountaines of Israel shall be desolate, and none shall passe thow.

29 Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I have layed the land desolate and waste, because of all their abominations that they haue committed.

30 Also thou some of man, the children of the people that I talke of thee by the way and in the doores of houses, and speake one to another, every one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the word that cometh from the Lord.

31 For they come vnto thee, as to a rich to come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy words, but they will not doe them: for with their mouthes they make a iustes, and their heart goeth after their cruelties.

32 And loe, thou art vnto them, as a singing song of one that hath a pleasant voice,
and can sing well: for they heare thy words, but

they shall not be lost.

For I will be to them as a good shepherd, as the Lord is to his people, and as the Lord is to his people, so will I be to my sheep, and as the Lord is to his people, so will I be to my sheep.

Chap 6.3.

3 The defoliation shall be as the trees of the land: because they have despised my word, saith the Lord. Mount Zion, thou shalt be desolate, thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

4 Because of man, for the fact against mount Zion, and against Jerusalem, because they have despised my word, saith the Lord. God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetual hatred, and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamity, when their iniquity was an end.

6 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee unto blood, and blood shall purchase thee: because thou hast despised my word, saith the Lord.

7 I will sell thee, and thou shalt be sold: and thou shalt be sold unto the heathen, and thou shalt be sold unto the heathen.

8 And I will sell thee, and thou shalt be sold: and thou shalt be sold unto the heathen, and thou shalt be sold unto the heathen.

9 I will make thee perpetual desolation, and the cities shall not be rebuilt, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast said, I will not see the Lord, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

11 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will even be according to thy oath, and according to thine indignation which thou hast sworn against me, saith the Lord.

12 And thou shalt know that I the Lord have heard all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountains of Israel, saying, They are made, they are made, they are made.

13 I will open your mouth, ye have spoken against me, and have multiplied your words against me, saith the Lord.

14 Thou shalt know that I the Lord God do speak, and thou shalt know that I the Lord God do speak, and thou shalt know that I the Lord God do speak.

15 As thou hast despised my word, saith the Lord God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

16 He prepared the way for the Lord, and he prepared the way for the Lord, and he prepared the way for the Lord, and he prepared the way for the Lord.

17 I the Lord God do speak, and thou shalt know that I the Lord God do speak, and thou shalt know that I the Lord God do speak.

18 Thou shalt know that I the Lord God do speak, and thou shalt know that I the Lord God do speak, and thou shalt know that I the Lord God do speak.

19 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

20 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

21 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

22 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

23 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

24 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

25 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

26 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

27 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

28 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

29 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

30 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

31 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

32 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

33 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate, and will make thee like the high places of Jerusalem: thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt be like the high places of Jerusalem.

f Meaning, that the, &c. by Christ shall dwell in the heavenly Jerusalem, which is meant by the land of Canaan. Psal. 109. 4. and 116. 7.

And I will bring you into the land of Canaan, and I will give it unto you for an inheritance. And I will be your God, and you shall be my people.

14 And I will put my Church in you, and ye shall live, and I will place you in your own land: then shall ye know that I the Lord have spoken it, and performed it, saith the Lord.

15 And the word of the Lord came again to me, saying,

16 Moreover, thou sonne of man, take thee a piece of wood, and write upon it, Unto Judah, and to the children of Israel his companions: then take another piece of wood, and write upon it, Unto Joseph the tree of Ephraim, and to all the house of Israel his companions.

17 And thou shalt joine them one to another into one tree, and they shall be as one in mine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people shall speak unto thee, saying, shalt thou not shew us what thou meanest by these?

19 Thou shalt answer them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the tree of Joseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellows, and will put them with him, even with the tree of Judah, and make them one tree, and they shall be one in mine hand.

20 And the pieces of wood wherein thou hast written, shall be in thine hand, in thy sight.

21 And say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen whither they be gone, and will gather them on every side, and bring them into their own land.

22 And I will make them one people in the land upon the mountains of Israel, and one king shall king to them all; and they shall be no more two persons, neither shall they be divided into two kingdoms.

23 Neither shall they be polluted any more with their idols, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will save them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they have sinned, and will cleanse them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their God.

24 And David my servant shall be king over them, and they all shall have one shepherd: they shall also walk in my judgments, and observe my statutes, and do them.

25 And they shall dwell in the land, that I have given unto Jacob my servant, where your fathers have dwelt, and they shall dwell therein for ever, saith the Lord. And my servant David shall be their prince for ever.

26 Moreover, I will make a covenant of peace with them: it shall be an everlasting covenant with them, and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my sanctuary among them for evermore.

27 And Tabernacle and shall be with them: yea, I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

28 Thus the Lord God said, I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

29 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

30 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

31 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

32 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

33 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

34 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

35 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

36 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

37 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

38 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

39 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

40 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

41 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

42 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

43 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

44 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

45 And I will be their God, and they shall be my people. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

iniquitie, because they trespassed against me:
therefore say I now thus from this time, and thenceforth, say I unto the house of Israel, I will

24 According to their commandments, and according to their transgressions have they gone into them, and will go forth from them.

25 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will bring against the captivity of Judah, & the captivity of Jerusalem, & will send against them all mine army, & will give them up into the hands of the king of Babylon, who shall cut off the remnant of them, & will drive away the residue of them, & will leave none of them, nor yet any remnant, nor yet any escape.

26. After that they had counted their men, and all their transgression; whereby they have transgressed against me, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without fear of any.

27 When I have brought them again from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies' lands, and am glorified in them in the sight of many nations.

28 Then shall they know, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to bee ledde into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any more there.

20 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I have poured out my Spirit upon the house of Israel, saith the Lord
God.

 In the nine and twentieth year of our being in captivity, in the beginning of the year, in the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth year after that the city was fallen, in the selfsame day, the hand of the Lord was upon me, and brought me thither.

2. Into the land of Thinel brought he me by a dreine villan, and let mee upon a very hie mountaine, whereupon was the building of a caſte toward the South.

And hee brought me to the bar, and he held, there was a man, whose business was to looke to, like heere, with a French tweed in his hand, and a red to measure
with: and he stood at the gate.

On 12 May 1942, the day after the attack on Pearl Harbor, the War Relocation Authority was established by Executive Order. The War Relocation Authority was the first federal agency to be created specifically to deal with the needs of Japanese-Americans. The War Relocation Authority was established to provide for the relocation of Japanese-Americans from the West Coast to the interior of the United States. The War Relocation Authority was the first federal agency to be created specifically to deal with the needs of Japanese-Americans. The War Relocation Authority was established to provide for the relocation of Japanese-Americans from the West Coast to the interior of the United States.

10 Some of the children of the gate Callough were there on this line, and then on that day. They were at the meeting and the night they are mentioned on this line, and on that day.

LI And he measured the breadth of the entrance of the gate ten cubites, and the height of the gate thirteen cubites.

12 The space also before the chambers was one cubit on this side, and the space was one cubit on that side, and the chambers were five cubits on this side, and five cubits on that side.

13 We measured then the gate from the roof of a chamber to the top of the gate the breadth was five and twenty cubits, door against door.

14. We made also postes of the same cubites, and the postes of the court, and the gates had one measure round about.

15 And upon the forefront of the entry of the gate unto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fifty cubits.

16 And there were narrow windows in the chambers, and in their ports within the gate round about, and likewise in the arches: and the umbilicos were round about within: and upon the polls were palm-trees.

17 When brought to the court, there were chambers, and a pavement made for the court room.

18 And the pavement was by the file of

on this line, and those on that line, and the police thereof and the army there-

9 And under these chambers was the entrance to the Court, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thicknes of the wall of the court toward the East, over against the separate place, and over against the wall.

11 And the way before them was after the manner of the chambers, which were toward the South, as long as they, and as broad as they; and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their houses.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, was a house in the corner of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the East, as we saw.

13 Then sayd hee unto mee, The South chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers wherein the Priests that approach unto the Lode, shall eat the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meat offering, and the mince offering, and the trespass offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priests enter therein, they shall not goe out of the holy place into the inner court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approach to those things, which are for the people.

15 Now when hee had made an ende of measuring the inner house, hee brought mee forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, & measured it round about.

16 Hee measured the East side with the measuring reed, five hundredth reedes, even with the measuring reede round about.

17 Hee measured also the South side, five hundredth reedes, even with the measuring reede round about.

18 And he measured the South side, five hundredth reedes with the measuring reed.

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured five hundredth reedes with the measuring reede.

20 Hee measured it by the four sides: it was a wall round about, five hundredth reedes long, and five hundredth broad to make a separation between the Sanctuary and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIIII.

1 Hee saith the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence he had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idolatry of the children of Israel for which they were consumed and brought to nothing. 9 Hee is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

1 Forward hee brought mee to the gate, & even the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voice was like a noyse of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

3 And the vision which I saw was like the vision, even as the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the river Chebar: and I fell upon my face.

4 And the glory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

5 So the Spirit tooke me up, & brought me into the inner court, and behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking unto me out of the house: and there stood a man by me,

7 Which sayd unto me, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for ever, and the house of Israel shall no more defile mine holy name, neither they, nor their kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeles of their kings in their hie places.

8 Albeit they let their thresholds by my thresholds, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall betwene me and them) yet have they defiled mine holy name with their abominations, that they have committed: wherefore I have consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeles of their kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for ever.

10 Thou sonne of man, shew this house to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednes, and let them measure the patterne.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they have done, shew them the forme of the house, and the patterne thereof, and the going out thereof, and the coming in thereof, and the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and doe them.

12 This is the description of the house, it shall bee upon the top of the mount: all the limits thereof round about shall be most holy. Beholde, this is the description of the house.

13 And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubites: the cubite is a cubite and an hand breadth, even the bottome shall be a cubite, and the breadth a cubite, and the border thereof by the edge thereof, round about shall be a span: and this shall be the height of the altar.

14 And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece shall be two cubites, and the breadth one cubite, and from the little piece to the great piece shall be four cubites, and the breadth one cubite.

15 So the altar shall be four cubites, and from the altar upward shall be four cubites.

16 And the altar shall be twelve cubites long, and twelve broad, and four square in the four corners thereof.

17 And the frame shall be foureteeen cubites long, and foureteeen broad in the four square corners thereof, and the border about it shall be halfe a cubite, and the bottome thereof shall be a cubite about, and the steps thereof shall be turned toward the East.

18 And

18 And he said unto me, Sonne of man, thus sayeth the Lord God, These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shall make it to offer the burnt offering thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt give to the Priests, and to the Levites, that be of the tribe of Judah, which approach unto me, to minister unto me, sayeth the Lord God, a young bullocke for a sinne offering.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the four corners of it, and on the four corners of the frame, and upon the border round about: thus shalt thou cleanse it, and reconcile it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offering, & burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuary.

22 But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offering, and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 When thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a young bullocke without blemish, and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord, & the Priests shall cast salt upon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offering unto the Lord.

25 Seven dayes shalt thou prepare every day an hee goat for a sinne offering: they shall also prepare a young bullocke and a ramme out of the flocke, without blemish.

26 Thus shall they seven dayes purifie the altar, and cleanse it, and consecrate it.

27 And when these dayes are expired, upon the eight day and so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offerings upon the altar, your peace offerings, and I will accept you, sayeth the Lord God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

He reprooveth the people for their offences. 7 The uncircumcised in heart and in the flesh. 9 Who are to be admitted to the service of the Temple, and who to be refused.

Then hee brought me toward the gate of the outward Sanctuary, which turneth toward the East, and it was shut.

2 Then said the Lord unto me, This gate shall be shut, & shall not be opened, & no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entered by it, and it shall be shut.

3 It appertaineth to the prince: the prince himselfe shall sit in it to eat bread before the Lord: hee shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall goe out by the way of the same.

4 When brought hee mee toward the North gate before the house: & when I looked, beholde, the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell upon my face.

5 And the Lord said unto me, Sonne of man, & marke well, and beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I say unto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the house of the Lord, and all the lawes thereof, and marke well the entering in of the house with every going forth of the Sanctuary.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious even to the house of Israel, Thus sayeth the Lord God, O house of Israel, ye have not enough of all your abominations,

7 Seeing that ye have brought into my Sanctuary strangers, uncircumcised in heart, & uncircumcised in flesh, to be in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine house, when ye offer my bread, even fat, and blood: and thus have broken my covenant, because of all your abominations.

8 For ye have not kept the ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selves have set other to take the charge of my Sanctuary.

9 Thus sayeth the Lord God, No stranger uncircumcised in heart, nor uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuary, or any stranger that is among the children of Israel.

10 Neither yet the Levites that are gone backe from mee, when Israel went astray, which went astray from mee after their idols, but they shall bear their iniquitie.

11 And they shall serve in my Sanctuary, and keepe the gates of the house, and minister in the house: they shall lay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people, and they shall stand before them to serve them.

12 Because they served before their idols, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquitie: therefore have I set up mine hand against them, sayeth the Lord God, and they shall bear their iniquitie.

13 And they shall not come neere unto me to do the office of the Priest unto me, neither shall they come neere unto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall bear their shame and their abominations, which they have committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the house, for all the service thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the Priests of the Levites, the sonnes of Zadok, that kept the charge of my Sanctuary, when the children of Israel went astray from mee, they shall come neere to me to serve me, and they shall stand before me to offer mee the fat and the blood, sayeth the Lord God.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuary, and shall come neere to my table to serve me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linen garments, & no wooll shall come upon them while they serve in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They shall have linen bonnets upon their heads, and shall have linen breeches upon their loines: they shall not gird themselves in the sweating places.

19 But when they goe forth into the better court, even to the better court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not come the people with their garments.

20 They that not also have their heads, shall have their locks to grow long, but round about their heads.

21 Neither shall any Priest drink wine when they enter into the inner court.

22 Neither shall they take for their wives women, as her that is divorced: but they shall take maidens of the tribe of the house of Asher, as a widow that hath bene the widow of a Priest.

23 And they shall teach my people the difference betweene the holy and prophane, and cause them to differene betweene the cleane and the cleane.

24 And in controversie they shall stande to judge, and they shall indige it according to my commandments: and they shall keepe my lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my Sabbaths.

25 And they shall come at no dead person to be his sometimes, except at their father, or mother, or sonne, or daughter, or brother, or sister, that hath had yet none husband: in any more they shall be defiled.

26 And when he is cleane, they shall receive him into seven dayes.

27 And when he is gone into the Sanctuary into the inner court to minister in the Sanctuary, he shall offer his sinne offering, saith the Lord God.

28 And the Priesthood shall bee their inheritance, I am their inheritance: therefore shall ye give them no possession in Israel, for I am their possession.

29 They shall eate the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering, and every dedicate thing in Israel shall be theirs.

30 And all the first of all the first borne, and every oblation, even all of every sort of your oblations shall be the Priests. Ye shall also give unto the Priests the first of your dough, that he may cause the blessing to rest in your house.

31 The Priests shall not eate of any thing, that is dead, or toyme, whether it bee foule or cleane.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promise are there separate three portions, of which the first is given to the priests and to the Temple, the second to the Levites, the third to the tribe, the fourth to the prince. 9 An exhortation unto the heads of Israel. 10 Of just weights and measures. 13 Of the first fruits. &c. 14 Of the inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation unto the Lord an holy portion of the land, five and twenty thousand reeds long, and ten thousand broad: this shall be holy in all the borders thereof about.

2 Of this there shall be for the Sanctuary five hundred in length, with five hundred in breadth, all square round about, and five cubits round about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And at this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twenty thousand, and the breadth of tenne thousand: and in it shall be the Sanctuary, and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shall bee the priests, which minister in the Sanctuary, which came neere to serve the Lord: and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuary.

5 And in the five and twenty thousand of length, and the tenne thousand of breadth, shall the Levites that minister in the house, have their possession for twenty chambers.

6 Also ye shall appoint the possession of the citie five thousand broad, and five and twenty thousand long over against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall bee for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shall bee for the prince on the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, even before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the least corner leastward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shall be by one of the portions from the least border unto the East border.

8 In this land shall bee his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppress my people, and the rest of the land shall they give to the house of Israel: according to their tribes.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, Let it suffice you, O princes of Israel: leave off crueltie and oppression, and execute judgement and justice: take away your exactions from my people, saith the Lord God.

10 Ye shall have just balances, and a true Ephah, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephah and the Bath shall be equal: a Bath shall containe the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof shall be after the Homer.

12 And the shekel shall be twenty gerahs, and twenty shekels, and a shekel and twenty shekels and sixteen shekels shall bee your Maneh.

13 This is the oblation that ye shall offer, the first part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheate, and ye shall give the first part of an Ephah of an Homer of Barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, even of the Bath of oyle, ye shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Oyl, (tenne Baths are an Homer: for tenne Baths fill an Homer.)

15 And one lambe of two hundred sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meate offering, and for a burnt offering, and for peace offerings, to make a reconciliation for them, saith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shall give this oblation for the prince in Israel.

17 And it shall be the princes part to give burnt offerings, and meate offerings, a drinke offering in the solemne feasts, and in the new moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the high feasts of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sinne offering, and the meate offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 Thus saith the Lord God, In the first month, in the first day of the month, thou shalt

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The sacrifice of the Sabbath and of the new moones, & Thorow which doores they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

Thus saith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall bee shut the sixe working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shall bee opened, and in the day of the new moone it shall bee opened.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the poste of the gate, and the priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and hee shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after, hee shall goe forth, but the gate shall not bee shut till the evening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entrie of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the new moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the prince shall offer unto the Lord on the Sabbath day shall bee sixe lambes without blemish, and a ramme without blemish.

5 And the meate offering shall be an Ephah for a ramme: and the meate offering for the lambes * a gift of his hand, and an Ephah of oyle to an Ephah.

a That is, as much as he will.

6 And in the day of the new moone it shall be a yong bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambes and a ramme: they shall be without blemish.

7 And hee shall prepare a meate offering, even an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ramme, and for the lambes b according as his hand shall bring, and an Ephah of oyle to an Ephah.

b Meaning, as hee shall thinke good

8 And when the prince shall enter, he shall goe in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall goe forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemn feastes, bee that entereth in by the way of the East gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and bee that cometh in by the way of the South gate, shall goe forth by the way of the North gate: hee shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but they shall goe forth out a gainst it.

10 And the prince shall be in the midst of them: he shall goe in when they goe in, and when they goe forth, they shall goe forth together.

11 And in the feastes, and in the solemnities the meate offering shall bee an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Ephah of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Nowe when the prince shall make a free burnt offering, or peace offering, unto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate, that turneth toward the East, and hee shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings as he did on the Sabbath day: after, he shall goe forth, and when he goe forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt dayly make a burnt offering unto the Lord of a lambe of one year, without blemish: thou shalt doe it every morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for it every morning, the first part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Ephah of oyle to mingle with the fine flour: this meate offering shall be continually by a perpetual ordinance unto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering, and the oyle every morning for a continual burnt offering.

16 Thus saith the Lord God, If the prince give a gift of his inheritance unto any of his sonnes, it shall be his sonnes, and it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he give a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruantes, then it shall be his to the yeere of libertie: after, it shall returne to the prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them.

18 Moreover, the prince shall not take of the peoples inheritance, nor shall hee thrust them out of their possessions: but hee shall cause his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that my people bee not scattered every man from his possession.

19 After, he brought me thorow the entrie, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priests, which stood toward the South: and behold, there was a place at the East side of them.

20 Then said hee unto mee, This is the place where the priests shall seethe the red passe offering, and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meate offering, that they should not beare them into the outer court, to sanctifie the people.

21 Then hee brought me forth into the outer court, and caused me to goe by the four corners corners

corners of the court: and behold, in every corner of the court, there was a court.

22 In the four corners of the court there were courts (corners of fourtie cubits long, and thirtie broad) (these four corners were of one measure).

23 And there went a wall about them, even about thirtie foute, and hitches were made under the walls round about.

24 Then said hee unto mee, This is the kitchen where the ministers of the house shall use the sacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The vision of the waters, that came out of the Temple. 2 The coasts of the land of promise, and the division thereof by tribes.

Afterward hee brought me unto the doore of the house: and behold, 3 waters shied out from under the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house floode towards the East, and the waters came downe from under the right side of the house, at the South side of the altar.

4 Then brought hee mee out toward the North gate, and led mee about by the way without unto the utter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on the right side.

5 And when the man that had the live in his hand, went forth Eastward, hee measured a thousand cubits, and hee brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

6 Again hee measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: again hee measured a thousand, and brought me through: the waters were to the loines.

7 Afterward hee measured a thousand, and it was a river that I could not passe over: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flow, as a river that could not be passed over.

8 And hee said unto me, Come of man, and thou shalt see this: Then hee brought me, and caused me to returne to the banks of the river.

9 Now when I returned, behold, at the banks of the river were very many trees on the one side, and on the other.

10 Then said he unto me, These waters shied out toward the East country, and runne downe into the plaine, and shall growe into a sea: they shall runne into another sea, and the waters shall be whole some.

11 And every thing that liveth, which shall live, where so ever the rivers shall come, shall live, and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall runne thither: for they shall be whole some, and every thing shall live whether the river runneth.

12 And then the fishers shall stand upon them, and from En-gedi even unto En-eglain, they shall spread out their nets: for their fish shall be according to their kinds, as the fish of the maine sea, exceeding many.

13 But the myrie places thereof, and the marshes thereof shall not be whole some: they shall be made salt pits.

12 And by this river upon the banks thereof, on this side, and on that side shall growe all fruitfull trees, whose lease shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof faile: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his moneths, because their waters runne out of the Sanctuary: and the fruit thereof shall be meate, and the lease thereof shall be for medicine.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, This shall be the border, whereby yee shall inherit the land according to the twelve tribes of Israel: Joseph shall have two portions.

14 And ye shall inherit it, one as well as an other: concerning the which I lift up mine hand to give it unto your fathers, and this land shall fall upon you for inheritance.

15 And this shall be the border of the land toward the Northside, from the maine sea toward Bethlon as men goe to Zedabab:

16 Hamath, Berthab, Shihaim, which is betwene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazer, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Haman.

17 And the border from the sea shall be Hazer, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shall be the North part.

18 But the East side shall yee measure from Haman, and from Damascus, and from Shebam, and from the land of Israel by Jordan, and from the border unto the East sea: and so shall be the East part.

19 And the Southside shall be toward Teman from Camar to the waters of the Euphrate, and the river of the maine sea: so shall be the South part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come over against Hamath: this shall be the West part.

21 So shall ye divide this land unto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And ye shall divide it by lot for an inheritance unto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be unto you as borne in the country among the children of Israel: they shall part inheritance with you in the middes of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall ye give him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The lot of the tribes. 2 The parts of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Levites, of the cities, and of the Prince are rehearsed.

Now these are the names of the tribes: from the Northside, to the coast toward Bethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazer, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northward the coast of Hamath, even from the East side to the West shall be a portion for Dan.

2 And by y border of Dan from the East side unto the West side, a portion for Asher.

3 And by the border of Asher from the East part even unto the West part, a portion for Naphtali.

¶ Or, tree for meate.

¶ Or, for bruises and sores.

I Meaning, that in this spiritual kingdom there should be no difference betwene Jew nor Gentile, but that all should be partakers of this inheritance in their head Christ.

a The tribes, after that they entered into the land under Joshua, divided the land somewhat otherwise then is here set forth by this vision.

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter unto the West side, a portion for Danassh.

5 And by the border of Danassh from the East side unto the West side, a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part even unto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East part unto the West quarter, a portion for Judah.

8 And by the border of Judah, from the East part unto the West part <sup>b</sup> shall bee the offering which they shall offer of fine and twentie thousand reedees broad, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side unto the West side, and the Sanctuary shall be in the midst of it.

9 The oblation that yee shall offer unto the Lord, shall bee of fine and twentie thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, even for the Priests shall be his holy oblation, toward the North fine and twentie thousand long, and toward the West ten thousand broad, and toward the East ten thousand broad, and toward the South fine and twentie thousand long, and the Sanctuary of the Lord shall bee in the midst thereof.

11 It shall be for the Priests that are sanctified of the sonnes of <sup>c</sup> Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray, when the children of Israel went astray, as the Levites went astray.

12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered, shall be theirs, a thing most holy by the border of the Levites.

13 And over against the border of the Priests the Levites shall have fine and twentie thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shall be fine and twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first fruits of the land: for it is holy unto the Lord.

15 And the five thousand that are left in the breadth over against the fine and twentie thousand, shall be a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbs, and the citie shall be in the middes thereof.

16 And these shall be the measures thereof, the North part five hundredth and foure thousand, and the South part <sup>d</sup> five hundredth and foure thousand; and the East part five hundredth and foure thousand, and the West part five hundredth and foure thousand.

17 And the suburbs of the citie shall bee toward the North two hundredth and fiftie, and toward the South two hundredth and fiftie, and toward the East two hundredth and fiftie, and toward the West two hundredth and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length over against the oblation of the holy portion shall bee ten thousand Eastward, and tenne thousand Westward: and it shall be over against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shall be for food unto them that serve in the citie.

19 And they that serve in the citie, shall bee of all the tribes of Israel that shall serve therein.

20 All the oblation shall be fine and twentie thousand with <sup>e</sup> fine and twentie thousand: you shall offer this oblation four square for the Sanctuary, and for the possession of twentie thousand the citie.

21 And the residue shall bee for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuary, and of the possession of the citie, over against the fine and twentie thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward over against the fine and twentie thousand toward the West border, over against shall be for the portion of the prince: this shall be the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuary shall be in the midst thereof.

22 Moreover, from the possession of the Levites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the middes shall be the princes: betweene the border of Judah, and betweene the border of Benjamin shall be the princes.

23 And the rest of the tribes shall bee due from the East part unto the West part, Benjamin shall be a portion.

24 And by the border of Benjamin, from the East side unto the West side, Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part unto the West part, Issachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Issachar from the East side unto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part unto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward <sup>f</sup> Gemoath, the border shall be even from a Tamar: two the waters of Jordan in Kadeth, and to the river, that runneth into the main sea.

29 This is the land, which yee shall divide unto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the bounds of the citie, on the North side five hundredth, and foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the citie shall bee after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates fourtyward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Judah, and one gate of Levi.

32 And at the East side five hundredth and foure thousand, and three gates, and one gate of Joseph; one gate of Benjamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, five hundredth and foure thousand measures, <sup>g</sup> three gates, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the West side five hundredth and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

35 It was round about eightene thousand measures, and the name of the citie from that day shall be, <sup>h</sup> The Lord is there.

b That is, the portion of the ground, which they shall separate and appoint to the Lord, which shall be divided into three parts: for the Priests, for the Prince, and for the citie.

THE ARGUMENT.

The great providence of God, and his singular mercie toward his Church are most lively here set forth, who neuer leaueh his deficiute, but now in their greatest miseries & afflictions giueth them purposes, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whom he adorned with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel alone all other had most special reuelations of such things as should come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the last end of the world, and to the generall resurrection, as of the foure monarchies and empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians and Romans. Also of the certaine number of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he should be the accomplishment thereof: moreover he sheweth Christs office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifices to take away sinnes, and to bring euermlasting life. And as from y beginning God euer exercised his people vnder the crosse, so he reacheth here, that altho that Christ is offered, he will still leaue this exercise to his Church vntill the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdome in the heauens.

In the thirde yere of the reigne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto Jerusalem, and besieged it.

2 And the Lord gaue Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hande, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which hee caried into the land of Shinar, to the house of his god, and hee brought the vessels into his gods treasure.

3 And the king spake vnto Ashpenaz the master of his Eunuches, that hee should bring certaine of the children of Israel, of the Kings seede, and of the princelings:

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well fauoured, and instructed in all wisdom, and well seene in knowledge, and able to enter knowledge, and such as were able to stand in the kings palace, and whom they might teach the science learning, and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

5 And the king appointed them porsion every day of a portion of the kings meate, and of the wine which hee dranke, to nourish them, and also by their good intreatie and learning of science, they might fauour rather him then the Iewes, and so might hee use him as gouernours in their land: moreover by the Iewes might bee better kept in subiection, fearing to offend him to these noble men. f The King required, that they should be of noble birth, that they should be learned, that they should be of a strong and hard nature, that they might doe him better serue: this hee did for his commodity, therefore it is not to praise his liberalitie: but he is worthy of praise, that hee esteemed learning, and that it was necessarie meane to gouerne by. g That they might forget their owne religion and countrey fashions, to serue him to his purpose: yet it is not to bee thought that Daniel knew his knowledge that was not goodly: in all points hee was of things and superstition, in so much that hee would not receiue which the King appointed him, but was content with the knowledge of naturall things. h That by their good nature, they might learne to forget the mediocritie of their thing them: three yere, that at the end thereof, they might stand before the king.

6 Now among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananias, Mishael, and Azarias.

7 Vnto whom the chiefe of the eunuches gaue other names: for hee called Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananias, Shadrach, and Mishael, Meshach, and Azarias, Abednego.

8 But Daniel had determined in his heart, that hee would not defile himselfe with the portion of the kings meate, nor with the wine which hee dranke: therefore hee required the chiefe of the Eunuches that hee might not defile himselfe.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into fauour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches said vnto Daniel, I feare my lord the king, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if hee see your faces worse liking then the other children, which are of your daye, then shall ye make mee lose mine head vnto the king.

11 Then sayd Daniel to Belshazzar, whom the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hananias, Mishael and Azarias, 12 Prooue thy seruants, I beseech thee, ten dayes, and let them giue vs to pulle to eat, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances be looked vpon before thee: and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of

should not entice him by his sweete poyson, to forget his religion and accustomed fabrie, and that in his meate and drinke hee might daily remember of what people hee was: and Daniel bringeth this in to shewe howe God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, and at length called him to be a Prophet. n He supposed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians: and therefore herein hee representeth them which are of no religion: for neither hee would condemne theirs, nor maintaine his owne. o Meaning, that within this space hee might haue the triall, and that no man should be able to discern it: and thus hee spake, being moued by the Spirit of God. p Nor that it was a thing abominable to eate daintie meates and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they should haue hereby bene wounne to the King, and haue refused their owne religion, that meate and drinke had bene accursed,

i To the intent that in this time they might both learne the manners of the Chaldeans, and also their tongue. k As well to serue at the table, as in other offices.

l That they might altogether forget their religion: for the Iewes gaue their children names, which might euer put them in remembrance of some point of religion, therefore this was a great temptation and a signe of seruitude which they were not able to resist.

m Not that he thought any religion to be in the meate or drinke (for afterward hee did eate) but because the king

the kings meat: and as thou seest, deale with the seruants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and proued them ten dayes.

15 And at the end of tenne dayes, their countenances appeared fairer, and in better liking then all the childrens, which did eate the portion of the kings meate.

16 Thus Belzar tooke away the portion of their meate, and the wine that they should drinke, and gave them pulle.

17 As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in all learning, and wisdom: also hee gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all visions and dreames.

18 Now when the time was expired, that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefs of the Eunuchs brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the king communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the king.

20 And in all matters of wisdom, and understanding that the king enquired of them, hee found them ten times better then all the enchanterers & astrologians, that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was unto<sup>n</sup> the first yeere of King Cyrus.

q This bare feeding and that also of Moses, when he fled from the court of Egypt, declareth that we must liue in such sobriety as God doth call vs vnto, seeing hee will make it more profitable vnto vs, then all dainties: for his blessing onely sufficeth.

shall show the interpretation.

¶ And the King answered and said to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from me. Ye will not make me vnderstand the dream with the interpretation thereof, ye shall be drawen in pieces, & your houses shall be made a iake.

6 But if yee declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receiue of me gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew me the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and sayd, Let the King shewe <sup>us</sup> his seruants the dream, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the King answered and sayd, I knowe certainly that yee: would gaue the time, because yee see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if yee will not declare mee the dreaime, there is but one iudgement for you:
for ye haue prepared lying & corrupt words,
to speake before me till the tyme be changed:
therefore tell mee the dreaime, that I may know, if ye can declare me the interpretation on thereof.

IO Then the Chaldeans answered before the King, and sayde, There is no man vpon earth, that can declare the Kings matters:
yea, there is neither king nor prince nor lord that asked such things at an inchanter or a Astrologian or Chaldean.

II. For it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the King was angry and in great furie, and commanded to be slay all the wise men of Babel.

13 And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slaine: and they sought Daniel and his fellowes to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsel and wisdom to Arioch the Kings chief steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, he answered and said vnto Arioch the kings capitaine, Why is the sentence so halfe from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that he would giue him leasure, and that he would shewe the King the interpretation thereof.

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Hananiab, Mishael, and Azariah his companions.

18 That they should beseech the God of heaven for grace in this secret, that Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19. Then was the secret revealed unto Daniel in a vision by night : therefore Daniel praised the God of heaven.

20 And Daniel answered and said, "The Name of God be praised for ever and ever for wisdom and strength are his,

21 And hee changeth the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: hee setteth up kings: hee giveth wisedome unto the wise, understanding to those that understand.

22. For underneath the deepe and secret things, he knoweth what is in the darkness, and the light dwelleth with him.

23. I change thee and people thee, O thou son of the fathers, that thou hast given my wisdom and strength, and hast shewed me more things that were desired of thee: for thou hast declared unto us the Kings matter.

24. Therefore Daniel went unto Arioch, whome the king had ordained to destroy the wise men of Babel: hee went and said thus unto him, Destroy not the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the king, and I will declare unto the king the interpretation.

25. Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in his haire, and said thus unto him, Thou found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captives, that will declare unto the king the interpretation.

26. Then answered the king and said unto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shew mee the dream which I have seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27. Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, The secret which the king hath demanded, can neither the wise, the astrologers, the enchanters, nor the soothsayers declare unto the king.

28. But there is a God in heaven that revealeth secrets, and sheweth the king Belshazzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. O by dream, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head upon thy bed, is this.

29. O king, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and hee that revealeth secrets, telleth thee what shall come.

30. As for mee, the secret is not shewed mee for any wisdom that I have, more then any other living, but onely to shewe the king the interpretation, and that thou mightest knowe the thoughts of thine heart.

31. O king, thou sawest, and beholdest, there was a great image: this great image whose glorie was to excellen, stood before thee, and the name thereof was terrible.

32. This images head was of fine gold, his breast and his armes of silver, his belly and his thighs of brasse.

33. His legs of yron, and his feet of yron and part of yron and part of clay.

34. Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image upon his feet, that tore of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35. Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the silver and the golde broken altogether, and became like the chaffe of the summer flowers, and the winde carried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36. This is the dream, and mee will declare before the king the interpretation thereof.

37. O king, thou art a king of kings: for the God of heaven hath given thee a kingdom, power, strength, and glorie.

38. And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beastes of the feldes, and the fowles of the heaven hath he given into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler of them all: thou art this head of gold.

39. And after thee shall rise another kingdom, inferior to thee, of silver, and another: third kingdom shall be of brasse, which shall beare rule over the earth.

40. And the fourth kingdom shall bee strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruith all these things, so shall it breake in pieces, and bruite all.

41. Whereas thou sawest the feet, and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdom shall bee divided, but there shall bee in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42. And as the toes of the feet were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdom be partly strong, and partly broken.

43. And whereas thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingel themselves with the seed of men: but they shall not toyne one with another, as yron cannot be mixt with clay.

44. And in the dayes of these kings, shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never bee destroyed: and this kingdom shall not bee given to another people, but it shall breake and destroy all these kingdoms, and it shall stand for ever.

45. Whereas thou sawest that the stone was cut off the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the silver and the golde: so the hardnes thereof, but to the vilest in respect of silver.

That is, the Romans empire shall subdue all these other aforesaid, which after Alexander were divided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians, and Egyptians. x. They shall have civill warres, and continuall discords among themselves. y. They shall by marriages and affinities, thinke to make themselves strong, yet shall they never bee joyned in hearts. z. His purpose is to shew that all the kingdoms of the world are transitory, and that the Kingdom of Christ shall onely remaine for ever.

a. Meaning Christ, who was sent of God, and not set up by man, whose kingdom at the beginning should be small and without beauty to mans iudgement, but should at length grow and fill the whole earth which he calleth a great mountaine, as verse 35. And this kingdom which is not onely referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to every member thereof, shall be eternall: for the spirit that is in them, is life eternall, Rom. 8. 10.

r Daniel leaureth out the kingdom of the Assyrians, which was before the Babylonian, both because it was not a Monarchie and general empire, and also because he would declare the things that were to come, to the coming of Christ, for the comfort of the elect among these wonderfull alterations: and because he calleth the Babylonian kingdom the golden head, because in respect of the other three, it was the best, and yet was of it selfe wicked and cruell.

i Meaning the Persians, which were not inferior in digните, power, and riches, but were worse, touching ambition, cruelty, and all kind of vice: shewing that the world should growe worse and worse, till it was restored by Christ.

t That is, of the Macedonians shall be of brasse, not alluding to the great God hath shewed the King what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dream is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

45 ¶ Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar fell upon his face, and his officers humbled him to Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meat offerings, and sweet odours unto him.

47 Also the King answered unto Daniel, and said, I know of a truth that your God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the revealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the King made Daniel a great man, and gave him many and great gifts: he made him governor over the whole province of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and about all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel made request to the King, and beset Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego over the charge of the province of Babel: but Daniel was in the gate of the king.

c This confession was but a sudden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exod. 9. 27, 28. but his heart was not touched, as appeared soone afterward. d Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this means he might relieve his poore brether which were grievously oppressed in this their captivietie; and also he received them, lest he should offend this cruel King, which willingly gave them. e Hee did not this for their private profit, but that the whole Church which was then there in affliction, might have some relief & ease by this benefit. f Meaning, that either he was a Judge, or that hee had the whole authoritie, so that none could be admitted to the Kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

1 The King setteth up a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they despised the Kings commandement, and are put into a burning oven. 25 By helpe in God they are delivered from the fire. 26 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

a Vn derpretence of religion and holinesse, in making an image to his idole Bel, he fought his owne ambition & vaine glorie; and this declareth, that he was not touched with the true fear of God before, but that he confessed him on a sudden motion, as the wicked, when they are overcome with the greatness of his workes. The Greeke interpreters write that this was done eighteen yeeres after the dream, and is may appeare, the King feared least the Lewes by their religion should have altered the state of his commonwealth, and therefore hee ment to bring all to one kinde of religion, and so rather sought his owne quietnesse then Gods glorie. b Shewing that the idole is not known for an idole so long as hee with the workmen: but when the ceremonies and customs are cited an vfed, and the consent of the people is thereto, then of a blocke they thinke they have made a god. c This was fulfilled: with the wicked at all times to approve their religion, if the Kings authoritie were alledged for the establishment thereof, not considering that the meane reason what Gods word did require.

ingbes, the reuerend, the countenances, the faces, and all the countenours of the houses were assembled unto the dedication of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set up: and they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set up.

4 ¶ Then an herald cried aloud, saying, Knowen to you, O people, nations, and languages,

5 That when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, fall downe and worship the golden image:

6 And whosoever shall not downe and worship, shall the same hour be cast into the middes of an hote fierie foame.

7 Therefore alosome as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and all instruments of musike, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image: that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set up.

8 ¶ By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldians, and grievously accused the Jewes.

9 For they spake and sayde to the King Nebuchad-nezzar, O King, live for ever.

10 Thou, O King, hast made a decree that every man that shall heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, shall fall downe and worship the golden image.

11 And whosoever shall not downe and worship, shall the same hour be cast into the middes of an hote fierie foame.

12 There are certaine Jewes whom thou hast set over the charge of the province of Babel, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O King, have not regarded thy commandement, neither will they serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image that thou hast set up.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: so these men were brought before the King.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said unto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, fear me, nor worship the golden image that I have set up?

15 Now therefore are ye ready to disobey my command: behold, the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, to fall downe and worship the image, which I have made: will ye worship it or not, ye shall be cast immediately into the middes of an hote fierie foame: for thus saith God that shall consume you in mine owne hand.

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered, and sayde to the King, O Nebuchad-nezzar, we are not careful to answer thee in this matter.

17 If hold our God whom we serve, O King, if they should bee damned in this hote matter, they say, that they are resolved to die for Gods sake.

delivered us from the hot fierce furnace, and her will deliver us out of thine hands, O Lord, our God, who art not, be it known to thee, O Lord, thou hast not deceived thy gods, nor the golden image, which thou hast made.

9 Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the fume of his visage was flaming against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore hee charged and commanded that they should heare the furnace once againe, times more then it was wont to be heare.

10 And hee charged the most valiant men of his army that were in his army, to bind Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hot fierce furnace.

11 So these men were bound in their coats, their hosen, and their clothes, with their other garments, and cast into the midst of the hot fierce furnace.

12 Therefore, because the kings commandment was strait, that the furnace should be exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slew these men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

13 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fell downe bound into the midst of the hot fierce furnace.

14 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King was astonished and rose up in haste, and spake, and said unto his counselliers, Did not we cast these men bound into the middes of the fire? And he answered, and said unto the king, Yea, O King.

15 And hee answered, and sayd, Loe, I have mine looke, walking in the middes of the fire, and they have no hurt, and the flame of the furnace is like the flame of the furnace.

16 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came near to the mouth of the hot fierce furnace, and spake and sayd, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, come forth: so Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego came forth of the middes of the fire.

17 Then his nobles, princes, and dukes, and the kings counselliers came together to see them, because the fire had no power over their bodies: for not an haire of their heads was burnt, neither were their coats changed, nor any smell of fire came upon them.

18 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake and sayd, Blessed bee the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and delivered his servants, who put their trust in him, and have changed the Kings commandment, and perished their bodies rather then they would serve a worship any god, save their owne.

19 Therefore I make a decree, that every nation, nation, and language, which speak any blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shall be hanged in pieces, and the fire houses shall be made a lake, because there is no God that can deliver after this sort.

20 Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, in the province of Babel.

21 Nebuchad-nezzar King unto all people, nations and languages that dwell in all the world, Peace be multiplied unto you:

22 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the high God hath wrought toward me.

23 How great are his signes, and how mightie art his wonders: his kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

24 Therefore, so they suffer double punishment. Meaning, so farre as his dominion extended. p. Reade Chap. 3. 44.

CHAP. IIII.

Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 27 The Prophet declareth how of a proud king hee should become as a beast. 38 After hee hath the power of God, and is restored to his former dignitie.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar being at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Sawe a dreame, which made mee afraid, and the thoughts upon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before me, that they might declare unto me the interpretation of the dreame.

4 So came the enchanters, the astrologians, the Chaldeans and the soothsayers, to whom I tolde the dreame, but they could not shew me the interpretation thereof.

5 Till at the last Daniel came before me, whose name was Belteshazzar, according to the name of my God, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in him: and before him I tolde the dreame, saying,

6 O Belteshazzar, chiefe of the enchanters, because I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dreame, that I have seene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed. And behold, I saw a tree in the middes of the earth, and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tree strong, and the height thereof reached unto heaven, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadowe under it for the beasts of the fildes, and the

10 This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel, not onely to have his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did, to make him forget the true religion of God.

11 Which also was a great griefe to the Prophet, to be numbered among the foretellers, and men whose practises were wicked and contrarie to Gods word. 12 By the tree, is signified the dignitie of a king, whom God ordeineth to be a defence for all kinde of men, and whose state is profitable for mankind.

a If this heate the king moved by Gods spirit would not see blasphemie unpunished, but made a law, and set a punishment to such transgressions, much more ought all they that professe religion, to take order that such impietie reign not, lest according as their knowledge and charge is greater, so farre as his

a There was no trouble that might cause me to dreame, and therefore it came onely of God.

b This was another dreame besides that which he saw of the four empires: for Daniel both declared what the dreame was, and what it meant, and here he onely expoundeth the dreame.

c In that that he sent abroad to others whose ignorance in times past he had experienced, and left Daniel which was ever ready at hand, to declare the nature of the vision, which never seeketh to the servants of God, but for very necessity, and then they spare no flatterings.

of the miracle to praise God, but his heart was there we see that miracles are not sufficient to convince the doctrine must chiefly be adioyned, without which can be no faith.

21 This is the interpretation, O king, and it is the decree of the most high, which is come vpon my lord the King,

22 That they shall drine thee from men, and thy dwelling shall bee with the beasts of the field : they shall make thee to eate as the beasts do : and they shall drine thee the drayn of heauen : and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou knowest, that the most high hath rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer he will.

23 Whereas they sayd, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdome shall remaine vnto thee : after that thou shalt know that the heauen hath the rule.

24 Therefore, O King, let my counsaile be acceptable vnto thee, and heare off thy sinnes by righteousness, and thine iniquities by mercy toward the poore : for loe, there be an healing of thine error.

25 All these things shall come vpon the king Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 At the end of twelue moneths he walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the king spake and sayd, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my name ?

28 While the woode was in the Kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee,

29 And they shall drine thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field : they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the open, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most high hath rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoeuer he will.

30 The very same houre toke this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and hee was drinen from men, and did eate grasse as the open, and his body was wet with the drayn of heauen, till his haire was growen as Eagles feathers, and his nalles like birds claws.

31 And at the ende of these dayes I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was reuolued vnto me, and I gaue thanks vnto the most high, and I praised and honoured him with lincith for ever, whose power is an everlasting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing : & according to his will he worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth : and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What dost thou ?

33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto mee, and I returned in the honour of my kingdome : my glorie and my beaurie was restored vnto mee, and my counsellors : and my princes sought vnto mee, and I was established in my kingdome, and my glorie was augmented toward me.

34 Nowe therefore, I Nebuchad-nezzar

CHAP. V.

Belshazzar king of Babylon sent an hand writing on the wall. The soothsayers called of the king cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel read it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The king is slaine: 31 Darius eniogeth the kingdom.

King Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and drank wine
before the thousand.

2 And Belshazzar himselfe hee called the wise, commanded to bring him the golden and silver vessels, which his father Nabuchadnezzar had brought from the Temple
in Jerusalem, that the king and his Princes, his wives, and his concubines might reioyce therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lord house at Jerusalem, and the king and his princes, his wives, and his concubines reioyce in them.

4 They drinke wine and played the game of golfe and ficker, of basle, of yards, of wood, and of stone.

At the same house appeared fingers of a mens hand, which wrote ouer a gainst the candlesticks upon the plattier of the wall of the kings palace, and the king saw the palm of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the myghts of his loynes were loosed, and he knewe faine one against the other.

Wherefore the king cryed aloud, that they should bring the Astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers. And the king spake and sayde to the wise men of Babel, Whosoever can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shall bee clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shall bee the third ruler in the kingdom.

8 Then came all the kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor show the king the interpretation.

9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed
in him, and his princes were affrighted.

10 Nowe the Queene by reason of the word of the King and his Princes, came into the chamber house, and the Queene spake, and sayde, O king, live for ever: let not thy prayer their idoles, nor that they thought that they were gods, but that there was a certaine vertue and good, which is able the opinion of all idoles to make the better be seene. I So hee that before was moued by this sight to tremble for feare of God, was thus wicked in their troubles seeking comfort from God, because they seeked not to him for comfort in all afflictions. h To wit, his grandmothers wife, which for her age was not before at the table when she heard of these strange newes,

thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdom, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and understanding and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him: whom the king Nabuchad-nezzar thy father the king, I say,
thy father, made chiefe of the Enchanter, Astrologians, Caldeans, and Soothsayers.

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and understanding (for hee did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubts) were found in him, even in Daniel, whom the king named Belteshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 When was Daniel brought before the king, and the king spake, and sayde vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the king brought out of Ierusalem?

14 Now I haue heard of thee, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and understanding and excellent wisdom is found in thee.

15 Nowe therefore, wise men, and Astrologians haue bene brought before mee, that they should reade this writing, and shewe mee the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the things.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest
shewe interpretations, and dissolve doubts: now if thou canst reade the writing, and shewe me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdom.

17 Then Daniel answered, and sayde before the king, Keepe thy rewardes to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the king, and shewe him the interpretation.

18 O King, heare thou, the most High God gaue vnto Nabuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdom, and maiestie, and honour
and glory.

19 And for the maiestie that he gaue him,
all people, nations, and languages trembled,
and feared before him: hee put to death whom he would: hee smote whom he would:
whom hee would hee set vp, and whom hee
would hee put downe.

20 But when his heart was puffed up, and his minde hardened in pride, hee was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke
his honour from him.

21 And he was driven from the society of men, & his heart was made like the beasts,
and his dwelling was with the wilde asses:
they fedde him with grasse like oren, and his body was wet with the dewe of the heauen, till hee knewe that the most High God bare rule ouer the kingdom of men, and that hee appointed ouer it, whomsoever he pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things,

23 But hast lift thy selfe by against the Lord of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wives and thy concubines haue drunk wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of silver and gold of yasse, yron, wood, and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is, and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

m After that God had to long time deferred his anger, and patiently waited for thine amendment.

n This word is twice written for the certaintie of the thing, shewing that God had most surely councelled: signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, and that a miserable end shall come on all that raise themselves against him.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made ruler over the governours. 5 An act against Daniel. 16 He is put into a den of lions by the commandement of the King. 23 He is delivered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put vnto the lions. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

1 ¶ I pleased Darius to set over the kingdom an hundred and twentie governours, which should bee over the whole kingdom.

2 And over these, three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the governours might giue accounts vnto them, and the king should haue no damage.

3 Now this Daniel was preferred aboue the rulers and governours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the king thought to set him over the whole realme.

4 ¶ Therefore the rulers and governours sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdom: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then sayde these men, Wee shall not find an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these governours went together to the king, and saye thus vnto him, Sir, Darius, the king.

7 All the rulers of the kingdom, the officers and governours, the counsellors, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the king, and so establishing a statute, that whosoever shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes save of thee, O king, he shall be cast into the den of lions.

8 Now O king, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore king Darius sealed the writing and the decree.

10 ¶ So when Daniel understood that he had sealed the writing, he went to his house, and his window being open in his chamber toward Jerusalem, he knelt vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and praised his God, as he did alwayes.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, and went vnto the king concerning the kings decrees, that thou not sealed the decree, that every man that shall make request to any God or man within thirtie dayes, save to thee, O king, shall bee cast into the denne of lions: The king answered, and sayd, The thing is true, according to the Lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and sayd vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captivity of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the king heard these wordes, he was sore displeased with himselfe, and let his heart on Daniel, to deliver him: and he laboured till the Sunne went downe to deliver him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the king, and sayd vnto the king, Understand, O king, that the Lawe of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree, nor statute which the king confirmeth, may be altered.

16 ¶ Then the king commaunded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lions: now the king spake, and sayd vnto Daniel, Thy God, vpon whom thou alwayes Ieruest, even he will deliver thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and layd vpon the mouth of the denne, and the king sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpoe might not bee changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musick brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 Then the king arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the den of lions.

20 And when he came to the denne, he cried with a lamentable voyce vnto Daniel, and

Or, not be troubled.

b This heathen King preferred Daniel a stranger to all his nobles and familiars, because the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others.

c Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but seeke by all occasions to deface them: therefore against such assaults there is no better remedie then to walke

vprightly in the feare of God, and to haue a good conscience, the living spake, and said to Daniel, Daniel, the servant of the living God, is not slain: (dost thou always suspect) a able to deliver thee from the Lyons?

Then said Daniel unto the king, Do thou see for ever.

21 For God hath sent his Angel, and hath shut the Lyons mouths, that they have not hurt me: for my justice was found out before him: and unto thee, O king, I have come no hurt.

Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should bring Daniel out of the den: so Daniel was hurt no more upon him, because hee<sup>a</sup> beheld in his God.

22 And by the commandment of the king, these men which had accused Daniel, were sought, and were cast into the denne of Lyons: even they, their children, and their wives: and the Lyons had the mastery of them, and brake all their bones in pieces, as when they came at the ground of the denne.

23 Afterward king Darius wrote, Unto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied unto you.

24 I make a decree, that in all the dominions of my kingdom, men tremble and feare before the God of Daniel: for he is the living God, and remaineth for ever: and his kingdom shall not perish, and his dominion shall be everlasting.

25 Hee sheweth and delivereth, and he wrought signes and wonders in heaven and in earth, who hath delivered Daniel from the power of the Lyons.

26 So this Daniel prospered in the reign of Darius, and in the reigns of Cyrus of Persia.

1 A vision of foure beasts is shewed unto Daniel. 2 The ten hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the everlasting kingdom of Christ.

1 At the first yere of Belshazzar king of Babylon, Daniel saw a dreame, and there were visions in his head, upon his bed: then hee in these fewe yeres, as Jeremiah had declared, the rest shall not be a deliverance from all troubles, and therefore encouraged them to looke for a comfort in the Messiah bee victed and revealed, by whom should be a universall deliverance, and all the promises fulfilled: and thus have certaine spoken in the destruction of the wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.

2 Daniel spake, and said, I saw in my vision by night, and beholde, the foure wings of the heauen stroue upon the great Sea:

3 And foure great beasts came by from the sea, one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a lion, and had eagles wings: I beheld, till the wings thereof were pluckt off, and it was lifted up from the earth, and set upon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was given him.

5 And beholde, another beast which was the second, was like a bear, and stood upon the one side: and hee had three ribbes in his mouth betwene his teeth, and they said thus unto him, Arise, and devour much flesh.

6 After this, I beheld, and loe, there was another like a leopard, which had upon his backe foure wings of a fowle: the beast had also foure heads, and dominion was given him.

7 After this, I sawe in the visions by night, and beholde, the fourth beast was fearefull, and terrible, and verie strong. It had great iron teeth: it devoured, and brake in pieces, and stamped the residue under his feete: and it was unlike to the beasts that were before it: for it had tenne hornes.

8 As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came up among them another little horn, before whom there were three of and cruell. e They were small in the beginning, and were shut vp in their mountaines and had no bit.

f That is, destroyed many kingdoms, and was insatiable. g To wit, the Angels by Gods commandment, who by this means published the ingratitude of the world.

h Meaning, Alexander the king of Macedonie. i That is, his foure chiefe captaines, which had the Empire among them after his death.

k It was not of himselfe, nor of his owne power, that hee gave all these countreys: for his armie comained but thirte thousand men, and hee overcame in one battell Darius, which had tenne hundred thousand, when hee was so heauie with sleepe, that his eyes were scarce open, as the fables report: therefore this power was given him of God.

l That is, the Romane Empire, which was as a monster, and could not bee compared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it.

m Signifying the tyrannie and greedinesse of the Romanes. n That which the Romanes could not quietly indure in other countreys, they would give it to other Kings and rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it againe: which liberality is heere called the stamping of the rest ynder the feete.

o That is, sundrie and diuers provinces, which were governed by the Deputies and Proconsuls, whereof every one might bee compared to a King. p Which is meant of Julius Cesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as Kings in effect, but because they could not rule, but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horn. For Mahomet came not of the Romane Empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of government: therefore this cannot bee applied unto them.

And also in this prophesie the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the Jewes unto the revelation of Christ.

q Some take it for the whole body of Antichrist. r Meaning, a certaine portion of the tenne hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was pluckt away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the libertie of choosing the Deputies to send into the provinces, and tooke the government of certaine countreys to himselfe.

b Which signified that there should be horrible troubles and afflictions in the world in all corners of the world, and at sundrie times.

c Meaning, the Assyrian & Caldean Empire, which was most strong and fierce in power, and most spoone come to their authority, as though they had had wings to flie:

yet their wings were pulled by the Persians, and they went on their feete, and were made like other men, which is here meant by mans heart.

For Augustus tooke from the Senate the libertie of choosing the Deputies to send into the provinces, and tooke the government of certaine countreys to himselfe

r These Romane Emperours at the first vied a certaine humanitie, and gentlenesse, and were content that others, as the Consuls & Senate should bear the name of dignity, so that they might haue the profit, and therefore in elections and counsels would be haue themselves according as did other Senators: yet against their enemies & those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruell, which is here meant by the proud mouth.

f Meaning, the places where God and his Angels should come to iudge these Monarchies, which iudgment should beginne at the first coming of Christ.

t That is, God which was before all times, and is here described as mans nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glorie.

u That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were ready to execute his commandement.

x This is meant of the first coming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainly reuealed by his Gospel. y Meaning, that he was astonished, when hee saw these Emperours in such dignitie and pride, & so suddenly destroyed at the coming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchie was suble to men of other nations. z As the three former Monarchies had an ende, at the time that God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so that this fourth haue, and they that patiently abide Gods appointment, shall enioy the promises. a Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the sonne of Dauid according to the flesh, as hee was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the cloudes: that is, being separate from the common fort of men by manifest signes of his diuinitie. b To wit, when hee ascended into the heauens, and his diuine Maiestie appeared, that all power was giuen vnto him in respect of that that hee was our Mediatour. c This is meant of the beginning of Christs kingdome, when God the Father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediatour, to the intent that hee should gouerne here his Church in earth continually, till the time that hee brought them to eternall life. d Through the strangeness of the vision. e Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10.

the first homes pluckt away: and beholde, in this home were eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld, till the thrones were set by, and the Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fierie flame, and his wheeles as burning fire.

10 A fierie stream issued, and came forth from before him: thousand thousands ministered vnto him, and ten thousand thousands stood before him: the iudgement was set, and the bookes opened.

11 Then I beheld, & because of the voyce of the presumptuous words, which the home spake: I beheld, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

12 As concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 As I beheld in visions by night, behold, one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and approached vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him.

14 And he gaue him dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations, and languages, should serue him: his dominion is an euermlasting dominion, which shall neuer be taken away, and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

15 I Daniel was troubled in my spirite in the middes of my bodie, and the visions of mine head made mee afraid.

16 Therefore I came vnto one of them that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this: so hee tolde mee, and shewed mee the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beasts which are foure, are foure kings, which shall arise out of the earth,

18 And they shall take the kingdome of the Saints of the most high, which possesse the kingdome for euer, when the time shall come.

19 After this I would know the truth of the fourth beast, which was so terrible to all the others, very fearful, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brass: which consumed, brake in pieces, and stamped the remnant vnder his feete.

20 Also to know of the tenne homes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom three fell, and of the home that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose liue was more stout then his fellows.

21 I beheld, and the same home battell against the Saints, yea, and preuailed against them.

22 Until the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saints of the most high: and the time approached, that the Saints possessed the kingdome.

23 Then he saith, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shall be unlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, & shall tread it downe and breake it in pieces.

24 And the ten homes out of this kingdome are ten kings: that shall rise: & another shall rise after them, and he shall be unlike to the first, and he shall subdue three kings.

25 And shall speake words against the most high, and shall consume the Saints of the most high, and thinke that he may change times and lawes, and they shall be giuen into his hand, vntill a time, and times, and the diuiding of time.

26 But the iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

27 And the kingdome, and dominion, reined them for terme of life: also the Romane world of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselves. i Verse 7. k This is meant of the fourth beast, which was terrible then the other. l Meaning the Romane Emperour most cruell against the Church of God both of the Iewes Gentiles. m Till God shewed his power in the preaching, and by the preaching of the Gospel came vnto his time, and obtained a famous name in the world, and were called the Church of God, or the kingdome of God. n Reale the commandment. o That is, shall make wicked decrees and persecute Gods word, and send thorow all their dominion, so that it should professe it. p These Emperours shall not cease they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their own power to change Gods lawes & mans, and as it were the order of the precept by Othanius, Tiberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitian.

q God shall suffer them thus to rage against his Church, which is meant by the time and times, but at length he will swage these troubles, and shorten the times for his Church. r 24, 25, which is heere meant by the diuiding of time, by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and this little home that it shall neuer rise vp againe. s Therefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that the Church haue rest and quietnesse, which though they doe not cease, yet they haue it in hope and by the preaching of the Gospel, beginning thereof, which is meant by these words, And therefore he here speaketh of the beginning of Christs kingdome in this world, which kingdome the faithful haue by the peace that they haue with Christ their head.

the graines of the kingdome under the beaten shall be giuen to the holy people of the most high, whose kingdome is an enduring kingdome, and all powers shall come and obey him.

10. Then this is the ende of the matter, h
Daniel had many cogitations which troubled me, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the vision in mine heart.

with the which God reuelled, and kept it in me
for the use of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

1. A vision of a battell betweene a ramme and a hee, 20 The vnderstanding of the vision.

2. In the third yere of the reigne of king Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto me, euen vnto me Daniel, after that which appeared vnto me at the first.

3. And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuer of Alai.

4. Then I looked vp and saw, and beheld, there stood before the riuer a ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were like: but one was higher then another, and the highest came by last.

5. I saw the ramme pushing against the rock, and against the rock, and against the rock: so that no beastes might stand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.

6. And as I considered, beheld, a goate came from the Iddeu ouer the whole earth,
and touched not the ground: and this goate had an horn that appeared betweene his eyes.

7. And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whom I had seene standing by the riuer, and ran vnto him in his fierce rage.

8. And I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being moued against him, hee smote
the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stande against him, but hee cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ramme out of his power.

9. Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great horn was broken: and for it came by four that appeared toward the four corners of the heauen.

10. And out of one of them came forth a lion to him, which is meant by this borne. h Antiochus in two sundry battels, and so had the two kings of Macedonia and Persians, i Alexanders great power was such that hee overcome all the East, he thought to returne home, when that there had rebelled and so died by the sword, which were famous for almost in the space of fifteene hundred yeres, successores before this Monarchy of Antiochus, whereof Cassander had Macedonia, Seleu-cus had the Iesse, and Ptolemus Egypt. l Which Antiochus, who was of a ferule and flatterring nature, was hated betweene him & the kingdome, & therefore he sought to haue neither princely conditions, nor kingdom, why he should obtaine this kingdome.

tle borne, which waxed very great toward the South, and toward the East, and toward the pleasant land.

10. Yea, it grew vp vnto the hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hoste,
and of the starres to the ground, and trode
vpon them.

11. And extolled himselfe against the prince of the hoste from whom the daily sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuary was cast downe.

12. And a time shall bee giuen him ouer the daily sacrifice for the iniquity: and it shall cast downe the truth to the ground, & thus shall it doe, and prosper.

13. Then I heard one of the Saintes speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto
a certaine one, saying, How long shall endure
the vision of the daily sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the desolation to tread both the Sanctuarie and the altare vnder foot?

14. And he answered me, Vnto the euening, and the morning, two thousand & three hundredth: then shall the Sanctuary bee
cleansed.

15. Now when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, behelde, there stood before mee like the similitude of a man.

16. And I heard a mans voice betweene
the banks of Alai, which called and sayde, Gabriel, make this man to vnderstand the vision.

17. So he came where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, & fell vpon my face:
but hee said vnto me, vnderstand, & some of man: for in the last time shall be the vision.

18. Now as he was speaking vnto me, I being asleepe fell on my face to the ground:
but hee touched me, and let me vp in my place.

19. And he sayd, Behold, I will shew thee what shall bee in the last: watch for in the end of the time appointed it shall come.

20. The ramme which thou sawest having two hornes, are the kings of the Medes and Persians.

21. And the goat is the king of Grecia, and the great borne that is betweene his eyes, is the first king.

22. And that that is broken, and foure stood vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shall stand vp of that nation, but not in his strength.

23. And in the ende of their kingdome, when the rebellions shall be consumed, a king
of fierce countenance, and vnderstanding

one, or a secret one, or a marvellous one. x That is, the Iewes sinnes, which were cause of this destruction. y That is, which sup-presseth Gods religion, and his people. z Christ answered me for the comfort of the Church. a That is, vntill so many naturall dayes be past, which make sixe yeres, three moneths and an halfe: for so long vnder Antiochus was the Temple profaned. b Which was Christ, who in this manner declared himselfe to the old fathers how he would be God manifested in the flesh. c This power to command the Angel declared that hee was God. d The effect of this vision shall not yet appeare, but a long time after. e Meaning that grece rage which Antiochus should shew against the Church. f That is, out of Grecia. g They shall not haue like power as had Alexander.
h Noting that this Antiochus was impudent, and cruell, and also craftie, that he could not be deceived.

m That is, toward Egypt.

ged against the elect of God, and

ous starres vnder

called, because they are separated

from the world.

q That is, God
who gouerneth
and maintaineth
his Church.

r He laboureth to abolish all religion, and therefore cast Gods
seruice out of the Temple, which God had chosen

as a little corner
from all the rest of the world to haue his name

there truly called vpon.

s He sheweth
that their sinnes
are the cause of these horrible afflictions: and yet comforteth
them, in that he appointeth this tyrant a time,

whom he would not suffer viceroy to abolish his religion.

t This borne shall dark: sentences shall stand vp.

24 And his power shall bee mightie, but not in his strength: and hee shall destroy wonderfull, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the mightie, and the holy people.

25 And through his<sup>l</sup> pollicie also, he shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, and he shall eroll himselfe in his heart, and by<sup>m</sup> peace shall destroy many: he shall also stand vp against the<sup>n</sup> Prince of princes, but he shall be broken downe<sup>o</sup> without hand.

26 And the vision of the evening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore scale thou vp the vision, for it shall after many dayes.

27 And I Daniel was stricken and sicke 9 certain dayes: but when I rose vp, I did the kings businesse, and I was astonished at the vision, but none understood it.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue that performed of God, which hee had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishment in Babilon. 5 A true confession. 20 Daniels prayer heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expoundeth vnto him the vision of the seuen weekes. 24 The anoynting of Christ. 25 The building againe of Ierusalem. 26 The death of Christ.

1 In the first yeere of Darius the sonne of Ahasuerus, of the kinde of the Medes, which was made king ouer the<sup>b</sup> realme of the Caldeans,

2 Even in the first yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstood by<sup>c</sup> bookes the number of the yeeres, whereof the Lord had spoken vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, that hee would accomplish seuen tie yeeres in the desolation of Ierusalem.

3 And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and I sought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes.

4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, Oh Lord God, which art great and mercifull, and keepest covenant<sup>d</sup> mercie toward them which loue<sup>e</sup> thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandements,

5 We haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie and haue done wickedly, yea, wee haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

6 For wee would not obey thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy name to our Kings, to our Princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O Lord, righteoulnes belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs<sup>f</sup> open shame, as appeareth

God to delay the time of their deliuerance prophesied by Ieremiah. e That is, haue all power in thy selfe to execute thy terrible iudgements against obdurate sinners. as thou art rich in mercy to comfort them which obey thy word and loue thee. f He sheweth that whensoever God punisheth, hee doeth it for iust cause: and thus the godly neuer accuse him of rigour as the wicked doe, but acknowledge that in themselves there is iust cause why he should so inreat them. g Ebre. confusion of face.

this day vnto every man of Iudah, & to the inhabitants of Ierusalem: yea, vnto all Israel, both neere and farre off, though all the countreys whither thou hast dwelt, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee.

8 O Lord, vnto vs appertained open shame, to our Kings, to our Princes, and to our fathers, because wee haue sinned against thee.

9 Yet compassion and forgiveness is in the Lord our God, albeit wee haue rebelled against him.

10 For wee haue not obeyed the<sup>h</sup> voice of the Lord our God, to walke in his lawes, which hee had layd before vs by the ministry of his seruants the Prophets.

11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy Law, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voice: therefore the<sup>i</sup> curse is poured vpon vs, and the othe that is written in the Law of Moses the seruant of God, because we haue sinned against him.

12 And hee hath confirmed his wordes, which he spake against vs, and against our iudges that iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not bene the like, as hath bene brought vpon Ierusalem.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs, with is written in the Law of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that wee might turne from our iniquities, and vnderstand thy trueth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his workes which hee doeth: for we would not heare his voyce.

15 And now, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and hast gotten thee renowne, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy righteousness, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath be turned away from thy cite Ierusalem thine holy mountaine: for because of our sinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem & thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs.

17 Nowe therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to shine vpon thy Sanctuary, that lieth waste for the<sup>j</sup> Lords sake.

18 O my God, incline thine eare, and heare: open thine eyes, and beholde our desolations, and the cite whereupon thy name is called: for wee doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne righteousness, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lord, heare. O Lord forgive. O Lord consider, and doe it: deferre not, for thine owne sake. O my God: for thy name is called vpon thy cite, and vpon thy people.

20 And whyles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne and the sinne of my people Israel, & did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for n He declareth here y that God would be merciful vnto the people of Israel. o Which declareth that when God smiteth downe his children, he doth not immediately lift them vp at once (for now the Angel had touched him twice) but by little and little. p Meaning, that he would not onely himselfe hidde the rage of Cambyfes, but also the other kings of Persia by Alexander the king of Macedonia. q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church vnder Christ, who is the head thereof.

18 Then there came againe, and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me.

19 And said, O man, greatly beloved, feare not: * peace be vnto thee: bee strong and of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto me, * I was strengthened, and said, Let my Lord speake: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then said hee, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the Prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of trueth: * and there is none that holdeth with mee in these things, but Michael your prince.

CHAP. XI.

1 A prophesie of the kingdoms which should be enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 Of Greece, 5 Of Egypt, 28 Of Syria, 36 And of the Romanes.

a The Angel as- surcth Daniel that God hath giuen him power to per- forme these things, seeing he appointeth him to assist Da- rius, when hee ouercome the Calkians. b Whereof Cambyfes that now reigned, was the first, the second Smerdes, the third Darius the sonne of Hy- daspis, and the fourth Xerxes, which all were enemies to the people of God, and shood against them. c For hee raised

A Lo I, in the first yeece of Darius of the Medes, euen I * stood to encourage and to strengthen him.

2 And now will I shew thee the trueth. Behold, there shal stand vp yet * three kings in Persia, and the fourth shall bee farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches hee shall stirre vp * all against the realme of Grecia.

3 But a * mightie king shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure.

4 And when he shall stand vp, * his kingdome shall be broken, * and shal be diuided toward the foure winds of heauen: and not to his posteritie, nor according to his dominion, which he ruled: for his kingdome shall be pluckt vp, euen to be for others besides * those.

5 And the * king of the South shall bee mightie, and one of * his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shall bee a great dominion.

6 And in y end of yeres they shall be toy- ned together: for the kings * daughter of the South shall come to the king of the North to make an agreement, but shee shall not receiue the power of the * arme, neither shall * hee continue, nor his * arme: neither shall hee be delivered to death, * they that haue her, and * hee that begate her, and hee that comforted her in these times.

7 But out of the budde of her * roots shall one stande vp in his stead, * which shall come with an arme, and shall enter into the fostrisse of the king of the South, and doe with them as hee list, and shall preuaile.

8 And shal also carrie captaiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of siluer and of golde, and hee shall continue * moe yeres then the king of the North.

9 So the king of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his * sonnes shall be stirred vp, and shall assemble a mightie great arme, and one * shall come and ouerthrow, and perschoe: then shall * he returne, and be stirred vp at his fostrisse.

11 And the king of the South shall be angrie, and shall come forth, and fight with him, euen with the king of the North: for hee shall set forth a great * multitude, and the multitude shall bee giuen into his hand.

12 Then the multitude shall bee prouide, and their heart shall bee lifted vp: for hee shall cast downe thousands: but he shall not still preuaile.

13 For the king of the North shall re- turne, and shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certaine yeres) with a mightie arme, and great riches.

14 And at the same time there shall * many stand vp against the king of the South: also the rebellious children of the * people shall exalte themselves to stablisy the vision, but they shall fall.

15 So the king of the North shall come, and cast vp a moimt, and take the strong citie: and the armes of the South shall * not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there bee any strength to with- stand.

16 And hee that shall come, shall doe vnto him as hee list, and none shall stand a-vp all the East countreys to fight against the Grecians: and albe it hee had in his arme nine hundred thousand men, yet in foure battells hee was discomfited and fled away with shame. d That is, Alexander the great. e For when his estate was most flourishing hee ouercame himselfe with drinke, and so fell into a discase: or as some write, was poisoned by Cassander. f For his twelue chiefe princes first diuided his kingdome among themselves. g After this his monarchie was diuided into foure: for Selucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdome of Macedonia, and Ptolemee Egypt. h Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition and crueltie, in causing his posteritie to be murdered, partly of the fathers chiefe friends, and partly one of another. i None of these foure shall be able to bee compared to the power of Alexander. k This is, his posteritie hauing no part therof. l To wit, Ptolemee king of Egypt. m That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and one of Alexanders princes shall bee more mightie: for hee should haue both Asia and Syria. n That is, Berenice the daughter of Ptolemee Philadelphus shall bee giuen in marriage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinitie that Syria and Egypt should haue a continuall peace together, sixe and fortie yeres. x Meaning, Seleucus and Antiochus the great, the sonnes of Calinicus shall make warre against Philopater the sonne of Philadelphus. y For his daughter Cleopatra was married to Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and was slaine whiles the warres were preparing. z That is, Philopater when hee shall see Antiochus trouble persons from him in Syria, and also ready to invade Egypt. Antiochus had sixe thousand horsemen and three thousand footemen. b After the death of Ptolemee Philadelphus Ptolemee Epiphanes his heire. c For now only Antiochus was against him, but also Philip king of Macedonia, and he brought great power with them. d For vnder Calinicus was alleged that place of Isaiah 19. 19. certaine of the heere shall come into Egypt to fulfill this prophesie: also the Antiochus shall be troubled which are in the Church, as by the word and counsell of God. e The Egyptians were made captiues by Antiochus captaine.

him: and he shall stand in the pleasure of his name, which by his hand shall be confirmed.

17 Again hee shall set his face to enter into the power of his whole kingdom, and hee shall conferre with him: thus shall hee doe, and he shall give him the daughter of women, to destroy her: but he shall not stand on his side, neither be for him.

18 After this shall hee turne his face vnto the west, and shall take many: but a prince shall come his shame to light vpon him, before that he shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon himselfe.

19 For he shall turne his face toward the east of his owne land: but hee shall be overthrowen and fall, and be no more found.

20 When shall stand vp in his place in the day of the kingdom, one that shall rule there: but after fower dayes hee shall be destroyed, neither in wrath, nor in battle.

21 And in his place shall stand by a velle person, to whom they shall not give the honour of the kingdom: but hee shall come in peaceably, and obtaine the kingdom by flatteries.

22 And the armes shall be overthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the covenant.

23 And after the league made with him, he shall worke deceitfully: for he shall come in, and overcome with a small people.

24 He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull pounce, and he shall doe that which his fathers haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shall dispute among them the pray and the spoile, and the substance, yea, and he shall support his deuices against the strong hold, even for a time.

25 Also he shall stir vp his power and his courage against the king of the South with a great army, and the king of the South shall be driven by to battell with a very great and mightie armie: but he shall not stand:

for they shall foretell and practise against him.

26 Yea, they that feede of the portion of his meate, shall destroy him: and his armie shall ouerflow: and many shall fall and be slaine.

27 And both these kings hearts shall bee to doe mischief, and they shall talke of deceit at one table: but it shall not auail: for yet the ende shall bee at the time appointed.

28 Then shall hee returne into his lande with great substance: for his heart shall be against the holy covenant: so that hee doe and returne to his owne land.

29 At the time appointed hee shall returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

30 For the ships of Chittim shall come against him: therefore hee shall say and returne, and set against the holy covenant: so shall hee doe, he shall euen returne: and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy covenant.

31 And armes shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuary of strength, and shall take away the dayly sacrifice, and they shall set by the abominable desolation.

32 And such as wickedly breake the covenant, shall hee cause to linne by flatterie: but the people that do knowe their Gods, shall perseuer and prosper.

33 And they that vnderstand among the people, shall instruct many: yet they shall fall by sword, and by flame, by captiuitie and by spoyle, many dayes.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a little helpe: but many shall cleaue vnto him faintly.

35 And some of them of vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time bee out: for there is a time appointed.

c Signifying his princes and the chiefe about him.

d Declaring that his soldiers shall burst out and venome their life to slay and to bee slaine for the safeguard of their prince.

e The vncle and the nephew shall take truce, and bunket together, yet in their hearts they shall imagine mischief one against another.

f Signifying, that it standeth not in the counsell of men to bring things to passe, but in the providence of God who ruleth the kings by a secret bridle, that they cannot doe what they list themselves.

g Which hee shall take of the Iewes in spoiling Ierusalem and the Temple, and this is told them before, to moone them to patience, knowing that all things are done by Gods providence. h That is, the Romane power shall come against him: for P. Popilius the ambassadour appointed him to depart in the Romans name: to which thing he obeyed, although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage, he came against the people of God the second time.

i With the Iewes which shall forsake the covenant of the Lord: for first he was called against the Iewes by Iason the big Priest, and this second time by Menelaus. k A great faction of the wicked Iewes shall holde with Antiochus. l So called because the power of God was nothing diminished, although the tyrant let vp in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympus, and so began to corrupt the pure seruice of God. m Meaning, such as bare the name of Iewes, but in deede were nothing lesse: for they sold their soules, and betrayed their brethren for gain. n They that remaine constant among the people, shall teach others by their example, and edifie many in the true religion. o Whereby hee exhorteth the godly to constancie, although they should perish a thousand times, and though their miseries endure neuer so long. p As God will not leave his Church destitute, yet will hee not deliuer it all at once, but so helpe as they may still seeme to fight vnder the crosse, as hee did in the time of the Macabees, whereof hee here prophesieth. q That is, there shall be euen of this small number, many hypocrites. r To wit, of them that feare God, and will lose their life for the defence of true religion, signifying also, that the Church must continually be tried and purged, and ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed the time: therefore we must obey.

At 36 And conquered all countreys yles, which were diuided from him. For whereas Antiochus was wont to contemne his ambassadors, and yet their ambassadours to shame in all places, Antiochus, in Lucius Scipio put him to flight, and caused his head to be cutt off, and his head to be put on a pole.

n By his wicked life, and obeying the will of the Lord. o For feare of the Romanes hee shall flee to the Temple of Iupiter Dodoneus, the counsell of the gods.

g That is, Seleucus shall succcede his father Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occasion of his brothers death, and was of a vile, cruell, and proud nature, and defamed his brothers sonne of the kingdom.

h Hee will conquer the kingdom without the consent of the people. i The great fortune powers shall come to helpe the king Antiochus against his vncle Antiochus, and yet shall they be overcome.

k Meaning Ptolemee Philometor Philopaters children cousin germane, and is here called the king, because he was the chiefe, and all other folloved him. l For hee came vpon him at vnauspicious time, and hee was the vncle Antiochus nothing. m Meaning, hee will content himselfe with the small holdes, and not with the great cities.

n Hee will know by craft to attaine to the chiefe. b Hee will not stand, but will be overcome with reason.

f Because the Angels purpose is to shew the whole course of the Lewes unto the coming of Christ, he now speaketh of the Monarchie of the Romanes, which he noteth by the name of a king, who were without all religion, and contemned the true God. i So long the tyrants shall preuaile as God hath appointed to punish his people: but he sheweth that it is but for a time.

u The Romanes shall obserue no certaine forme of religion as other nations, but shall change their gods at their pleasures, yes, contemne them, and preferre themselves to their gods.

x Signifying that they should be without all humanity: for the loue of women is taken for singular or great loue, as 2 Sam. i. 26. y That is, the god of power and riches: they shall esteeme their owne power a bone all their gods, and worship it. z Underpretence of worshipping the gods, they shall enrich their citie with the most precious jewels of all the world, because that hereby all men should haue them in admiration for their power & riches. a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods, and worshipped them in their temples, lest they should haue bene despised as Heathens: but this was to increase their fame and riches: and when they gaye any country, they so made others the rulers thereof, that the profite euer came to the Romanes. b That is, both the Egyptians and the Syrians shall at length fight against the Romanes, but they shall be overcome. c The Angel forewarneth the Lewes, that when they should see the Romans invade them, and that the wicked should escape their hands, that then they should not thinke but that all this was done by Gods providence, forasmuch as he warned them of it so long afore, and therefore he would still preferre them. d Hearing that Crassus was slaine, and Antonius discomfited. e For Augustus overcame the Parthians, and recovered that which Antonius had lost. f The Romans after this reigned quietly through all countreys, and from sea to sea, and in Iudea: but at length for their cruelty God shall destroy them.

36 And the king shall doe what him list: he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all that is God, and shall speake malicious things against the God of gods, and shall prosper till the wrath be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desires of women, nor care for any god: for he shall magnifie himselfe above all.

38 But in his place shall hee honour the god Bauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knew not shall hee honour with gold and with silver, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shall hee doe in the holdes of Bauzzim with a strange god whom he shall acknowledge: he shall increase his glory, and shall cause them to rule over many, and shall diuide the land for game.

40 And at the ende of time shall the king of the North push against him, and the king of the South shall come against him like a whirlwinde, with charrets, and with horsemen, and with many shippes, and hee shall enter into the countreys, and shall overflow and passe thowen.

41 Hee shall enter also into the pleasant land, and many countreys shall be overthowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, even Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch forth his hands also upon the countreys, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But he shall haue power over the treasures of golde and of silver, and over all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libyans, and of the blacke Moyses where he shall passe.

44 But the tidings out of the East and the North shall trouble him: therefore hee shall goe forth with great wrath to destroy and roote out many.

45 And he shall plant the tabernacles of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he shall come to his ende, and none shall helpe him.

z Underpretence of worshipping the gods, they shall enrich their citie with the most precious jewels of all the world, because that hereby all men should haue them in admiration for their power & riches. a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods, and worshipped them in their temples, lest they should haue bene despised as Heathens: but this was to increase their fame and riches: and when they gaye any country, they so made others the rulers thereof, that the profite euer came to the Romanes. b That is, both the Egyptians and the Syrians shall at length fight against the Romanes, but they shall be overcome. c The Angel forewarneth the Lewes, that when they should see the Romans invade them, and that the wicked should escape their hands, that then they should not thinke but that all this was done by Gods providence, forasmuch as he warned them of it so long afore, and therefore he would still preferre them. d Hearing that Crassus was slaine, and Antonius discomfited. e For Augustus overcame the Parthians, and recovered that which Antonius had lost. f The Romans after this reigned quietly through all countreys, and from sea to sea, and in Iudea: but at length for their cruelty God shall destroy them.

C H A P. XII.

Of the deliuerance of the Church by Christ.

At that time shall Michael stand up, the great prince, which standeth for the children of the people, and there shall bee a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there beganne to be a nation vnto that time: and at that time thy people shall be liuered, euery one that shall be found written in the booke.

2 And many of them sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to euermoring life, & some to shame & perpetual contempt. 3 And they that be wise, shall shine, as the brightnesse of the firmament: and they that turne many to righteousness, shall shine as the starres, for euer and euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, shut vp the wordes, and seale the booke: till the ende of the time: many shall runne to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased.

5 Then I Daniel looked, and beheld, there stood other two, the one on this side of the bynke of the river, and the other on that side of the bynke of the river.

6 And one said vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the river, when he held by his right hand and his left hand vnto heauen, and I waite by him that lieth for euer, that it be all carry for a time, two times and an halfe: and when he shall haue accomplished to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished. 7 And I heard the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the river, when he held by his right hand and his left hand vnto heauen, and I waite by him that lieth for euer, that it be all carry for a time, two times and an halfe: and when he shall haue accomplished to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished.

8 Then I heard it, but I understood it not: then sayd I, O my Lord, what shall be the ende of these things?

9 And he said, Doe thy way, Daniel: for the wordes are closed vp, and sealed, till the end of the time.

10 Many shall be purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue understanding: but the wise shall understand.

11 And from the time that the day of sacrifice shall be taken away, and the abominable desolation set vp, there shall be a thousand two hundred and ninetie dayes.

12 Blessed is hee that waiteth and cometh to the thousand three hundred and three dayes.

13 But goe thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest and stand up in thy lot, at the end of the dayes.

Hosea.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that the tenne tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtil counsell of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in stead of his true seruice commaunded by his worde, worshipped him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giuing themselves to most vile idolatrie and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophetes to call them to repentance: but they grew ever worse and worse, and still abused Gods benefites. Therefore now when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Iosaph, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as hee did at the same time Isaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselves to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet telleth them bastards and children borne in adulterie: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdome, and giue them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seuentie yeeres, though they remained still in their vices and wickednesse, and decided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselves by the sweetnesse of Gods promises, he set forth before them the two principall parts of the Lawe, which are the promise of salvation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part hee directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whom onely they should haue true deliuerance: and for the second, hee vseth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked manners and vices, and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, or els by threatnings of his iudgements to scare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Law containe these two points, yet the Prophets morcouer note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements, and the manner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophesied. 2 The history of the people. 3 The calling of the Gentiles. 4 Christ as the head of all people.

TH E word of the Lord that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the dayes of Azziah, Jorham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kings of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Iosaph king of Israel.

1 At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife of fornications, and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.

2 So he went, and tooke a Gomer the daughter of Diblaim, which conceived and bare him a sonne.

3 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name Jezreel: for yet a little, and I will visit the blood of Jezreel vpon the house of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.

4 And at that day will I also breake the bowe of Israel, in the valley of Jezreel.

5 She conceived yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God sayd vnto him, Call her name Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pittie vpon the house of Israel: but I will bitterly take them away.

6 Per I will haue mercie vpon the house of Iudah, and will saue them by the Lord their God, and will not saue them by bow, nor by sword, nor by battell, by horses, nor by holsemen.

7 Now when she had twined Lo-ruhama, she conceived, and bare a sonne.

8 Therewith God, Call his name Iouanah: for ye are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

9 Per the number of the children of Israel shall be as the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured nor tolde: and in the place where it was sayd vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shall be said vnto them, Ye are the sonnes of the liuing God.

10 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel bee gathered together, and appoynt themselves one head, and they shall come vp out of the lande: for great is the day of Jezreel.

cept he had preserued them, he declareth that though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the sonnes of the promise, should be without number, which stand both of the Iewes, and the Gentiles, Rom. 9.26. n To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who should bee the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles. o The calamitie and destruction of Izreel shall be so great, that to restore them shall be as a miracle.

h I will punish thee, that then thou mayest try whether thine idoles can helpe thee, and bring thee into such streitnesse, that thou shalt haue no lust to play the wanton.

i This he speaketh of the faithfull which are truly conuered, and also sheweth the vniuersal profit of Gods tods.

k This declareth that idolaters defraud God of his honor, when they attribute his benefits to their idoles. l Signifying, that God will take away his benefits when man by his ingratitude doeth abuse them. m That is, all her seruice, ceremonies, and inventions, whereby she worshipped her idoles. n I will punish her for her idolatry. o By shewing how harlots trimme themselves to please others, he declareth how the superstitious idolaters set a great part of their religion in decking themselves on their holy dayes. p By my benefits in offering her great grace and mercie, euen in that place where she shall thinke her selfe destitute of all helpe and comfort. q Which was a plentiful valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wilderness, as Ios. 7. 1. and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing from death, and an entrie into life. r Shee shall then praise God as she did when she was deliuered out of Egypt.

with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, and her adulteries from betwene her breasts,

3 <sup>a</sup> Let I strip her naked, and let her as in the day that she was borne, and make her as a wilderness, and leaue her like a drie land, and lay her for thirt.

4 And I will haue no pittie vpon her children: for they be the children of fornications.

5 For their mother hath played the harlot: shee that conceived them, hath done shamefully: for she said, I will goe after my flouers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.

6 Therefore behold, I will stop <sup>b</sup> thy way with thornes, and make an edge, that the shall not find her paths.

7 Though shee follow after her louers, yet shall she not come at them: though shee seeke them, yet shall she not find them: then shall she say, I will go and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now.

8 Now he did not know that I <sup>c</sup> gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her siluer and gold, which they bestowed vpon Baal.

9 Therefore will I returne, & take away <sup>d</sup> my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe lent to couer her shame.

10 And now will I discouer her <sup>e</sup> lewdnesse in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand.

11 I will also caule all her murth to cease, her feast dayes, her newe moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her solenne feasts.

12 And I will destroy her vines, and her fig trees, whereof she hath sayd, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen me: and I will make them as a forest, and the wilde beasts shall eat them.

13 And I will visit vpon her the dayes <sup>f</sup> of Baalun, wherein she burnt incense to them; and shee decked her selfe with her earerings and her itewels, and she followed her louers, and forgaue me, saith the Lord.

14 Therefore, behold, I will <sup>g</sup> allure her, and bring her into the wilderness, & speake friendly vnto her.

15 And I will giue her her vineyardes from thence, & the valley <sup>h</sup> of Achzab for the doore of hope, and she shall sing there as in the dayes of her youth, & as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, saith the Lord, thou shalt call me <sup>i</sup> Iehoua, and shalt call me no more Baali.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalun out of her mouth, and they shall be no more remembered by their <sup>j</sup> names.

18 And in that day will I make a covenant with them, with the <sup>k</sup> wilde beasts, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bow, and the sword and the barrell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely.

19 And I will marrie thee vnto me for euer, yea, I will marrie thee vnto me for righteousnesse, and in iudgement, and in mercie and in compassion.

20 I will euen marrie thee vnto me in faithfulness, and thou shalt know the Lord. 21 And in that day I will heare, saith the Lord, I will euen heare <sup>l</sup> the heauens, and they shall heare the earth,

22 And the earth shall heare the wine, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Ierel.

23 And I will sowe her vnto me in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pittied, & I will say to them which were not my people, <sup>m</sup> Thou art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God.

CHAP. III.

1 The Lewes shall be cast off for their iniquities, Afterward they shall turne to the Lord.

Then said the Lord to me, <sup>n</sup> Goe yet, and thou a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and <sup>o</sup> loved the wine betwels.

2 So <sup>p</sup> I bought her to mee for fifteen pieces of siluer, & for an homer of barley and an halfe homer of barley.

3 And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abide with <sup>q</sup> me many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt bee to none other man, and I will be so vnto thee.

4 For the children of Israel shall remain many dayes without a king, and without a prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert, and seeke the Lord their God, and David their King, & shall feare the Lord, and his goodnesse in the latter dayes.

perciuing the greatnesse of my lone, should haue abided bene vnder duty: for fifteen pieces of siluer were bought of a slave, Exod. 21. 32. d I will trie thee a long time in dowdhood whether thou wilt be mine or no. e Meaning, in all the time of their captiuitie, but also vnto Christ. f They should neither haue poliehe nor Religion, and their idols also in they put their confidence should be destroyed. g This is of Christs kingdome, which was promised vnto David in Psalme 72. 17.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint against the people, and the Priests of I. s. ach.

Apoc.

1 Wear the tounge of the Lord, yee children of Israel: for the Lord hath a contemne with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring, they breake out, and blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the land mourne, and every one that dwelleth therein, shall be cut off with the beasts of the field, and with the fowles of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shall be taken away.

4 Ye: let none rebuke, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shall thou fall in the day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy mother.

6 Thy people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou hauest no part to mee: and seeing thou hast forgotten the Lawe of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were increased, so they sinne against mee: therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 They eat up the finnes of my people, and lift up their hands in their iniquitie.

9 And there shall bee like people, like priest: for I will visite their wayes upon them, and reward them their deeds.

10 For they shall eat, and not haue enough: they shall commit aduulterie, & shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heede to the Lord.

11 Collyboure, and wine, and new wine take away their heart.

12 Thy people aske counsell at their flocks, and their staffe teacheth them: for the spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from under their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the toppes of the mountaines, and burne incense vpon the hills vnder the oaks, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall be harlots, and your spouses shall be whores.

14 I will not visite your daughters when they are harlots, nor your spouses when they are whores: for they themselves are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not understand, shall fall.

15 Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, yet let not Iudah sinne: come not yet vnto Beth-aen, neither goe yet vp to Beth-aen, nor I weare, the Lord Iureth.

16 For Israels rebellious as an unruly heifer. Know the Lord will feede them as a lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is toynd to idoles: let him alone.

18 Their drunkennesse stinckerth: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to lay with shame. Bring ye.

19 The winde hath bound them vp in her wings, and they shall bee ashamed of their sacrifices.

1 Against the Priests and rulers of Israel. The helpe of man is in vaine.

2 O Priests, heare this, and hearken ye, O house of Israel, and giue yee eare, O house of the King: for iudgement is toward you, because yee haue bene a snare on Ephraim, and a net spread vpon Tabor.

3 Yet they were profound, to decline to slaughter, though I haue bene a rebuker of them all.

4 I know Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from mee: for now, O Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

5 They will not giue their minds to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the mids of them, and they haue not knowne the Lord.

6 And the wife of Israel doeth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel & Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them.

7 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullockes to seeke the Lord: but they shall not finde him: for hee hath twined him selfe from them.

8 They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten strange children: now shall a moneth denounce them with their poison.

9 Blow ye the trumpet in Sibraim, and the shawme in Ramah: crye out at Beth-aen, after thee, O Benjamin.

10 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to know the truth.

11 The princes of Iudah were like them that remove the bound: therefore will I powre out my wrath vpon them like warre.

12 Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in God complained that Iudah is infected, and willett them to learne by their example to returne in time.

For albeit the Lord had honored this place in time past by his presence, yet because it was abused by their idolatry, hee would not that he should resort thither. He calleth Beth-el, that is, the house of God, Beth-aen, that is, the house of iniquitie, because of their abominations set vp there, signifying that no place is holy, where God is not purely worshipped, v God will so disperse them, that they shall not remaine in any certain place. x They are so iniquitous in receiving bribes, that they will command men to bring them vnto them. y To carie them suddenly away.

there is no hope in them. g Their destruction is not farre off. h That is, all Israel comprehended vnder this part, signifying that the Lords plagues should pursue them from place to place, till they were destroyed. i By the success they shall know that I haue surely determined this. k They haue turned upside downe all political order, and all manner of religion.

1 To wit, after king Jeroboams commandment, and did not rather follow God,

m In stead of seeking for remedy at Gods hand,
n Who was king of the Assyrians, judgment, because he willingly walked after the commandment.

12 Therefore will I be unto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Judah as a cankerworm.

13 When Ephraim saw his sickness, and Judah his wound, then went Ephraim unto Ashur, and sent unto king Sareb: yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will bee unto Ephraim as a Lyon, and as a Lyons whelp to the house of Judah: I, even I will spoyle, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will goe, and returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, and seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke me diligently.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickednes of the Priests.

1 Come, and let vs returne to the Lord: for he hath spoiled vs, and hee will binde vs by: he hath wounded vs, and he will binde vs by.

2 After two dayes will hee reuise vs, and in the third day he will raise vs by, and we shall liue in his sight.

3 Then shall wee haue knowledge, and in deuour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Judah, how shall I entreate thee: for your goodnesse is as a morning cloud, and as the morning dew it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I cut downe by the Prophet: I haue slaine them by the words of my mouth, and thy iudgements were as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired mercie, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offerings.

7 But they like a men haue transgressed the couenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8 Silead is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as theeuers wait for a man, so the company of Idollers murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischief.

10 I haue sene villaine in the house of Israel: there is the whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Dea, Judah hath set a plant for thee, whiles I would returne the captiuitie of my people.

a He sheweth the people how they ought to turne to the Lord that he might call backe his plagues.

b Though hee cometh vs from time to time, yet his helpe will not be farre off, if we returne to him.

c You seeme to haue a certaine holiness, and repentance, but it is vpon the sudden, and as a morning cloud.

d I haue still laboured by my Prophets, and as it were framed you to bring you to amendment, but all was in vaine: for my word was not meate to feede them, but a sword to slay them.

e My doctrine which I taught thee, was most euident.

f Hee sheweth to what scope his doctrine needed, that they should ioyne the obedience of God, and the love of their neighbour with outward sacrifice.

2 Of the vices and wantonnesse of the people. 12 Of the punishment.

VVhen I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was disclosed, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsely: and they theise commeth in, and the robber spoyleth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednesse: now their owne impenitions haue brent them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the king glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a whore: ouen beate by the baker, which ceaseth from raising vp, & from kneading the dough, until it be unleavened.

5 This is the day of our king: the princes haue made him sicke with dragons of wine: he stretched out his hand to consume.

6 For they haue made ready their heart like an oven, whiles they lie in wait: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning he burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all vnde as an oven, and haue deuoured their Iudges: all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that callest vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath mixed himselfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

9 Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, a gray haire is here and there vpon him, yet hee knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testified to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a house decaying, without heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Ashur,

12 But when they shall goe, I will spread my net vpon them, and draw them downe as the fowles of the heauen: I will chastise them as their congregation hath heard.

13 Close vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shall be vnto them, because they haue transgressed against me: though I haue redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against me.

14 And they haue not cryed vnto me with their hearts, when they howled vpon their beds: they assemble themselves for wine and wine, and they rebell against me.

15 Though I haue bound, and strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischief against me.

16 They returne, but not to the most high: they are like a deceitfull bow: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage of their tongues: this shall be their destruction in the land of Egypt.

ther it is better to cleaue onely to God, or to seek the help of man. 1 According to my cuses made to the whole congregation of Israel. 2 That is, diuers times redeemed them, and delivered from death. 3 When they were in affliction, and cried vnto me for helpe. 4 They only desired commodity and wealth, and paid not for me their God. 5 They boast of their owne strength, and paid not whilome for me and my seruants. Psal. 73. 9.

CHAP. VII. The destruction of Iudah and Israel, because of their idolatrie.

to the trumpet to thy mouth: be thou come down against the house of the Lord, because they have transgressed my covenant,
and trespass against my law.

2 Israel shall cry unto me, My God,
we know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemy shall pursue him.

4 They have let up a king, but not by me: they have made princes, and I knew it:
not of their silver and their gold have they made them: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy calf, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them:
how long will they be without an innocent!

6 For it came even from Israel; the workman made it, therefore it is not God:
but the calf of Samaria shall be broken in pieces.

7 For they have blown the wind, & they shall reap the whirlwind: it hath no stalk:
the bud shall bring forth no meal: if it be
it bring forth, the strangers shall devour it.

8 Israel is devoured, now that they be among the Gentiles as a vessel wherein is no pleasure.

9 For they are gone up to Asshur: they are a wild ass alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired lovers.

10 Yet though they have hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shall know a little, for the burden of the king, and the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shall be to sinne.

12 I have written to them the great things of my Law: but they were counted
as a strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mince offerings, and care it: but the Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquity, and visit their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth temples, and Judah hath increased strong cities: but I will sende a fire upon his cities, and it shall devour the palace thereof.

15 I will be in respect of their owne inventions, & saying to the Lord, but he accepteth no service, which they have appointed.

CHAP. XI.

Of the hunger and captivity of Israel.

1 Pitye not, O Israel, thy lot, as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring
from thy God: thou hast loved a reward upon every voice that thou hear.

2 The floor, & the winepress shall not thresh thee, in the new wine shall faile in her.

3 They will not dwell in the Lords land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will care to unclean things in Asshur.

4 They shall not offer wine to the Lord, because they have lived by playing the whore, then to be enslaved to some husband, c. These outward things that thou hast done from thee. d All their doings both touching the Lord, shall be rejected as things polluted.

neither shall their sacrifices be pleasant unto him: but they shall bee unto them as the bread of mourners: all that eat thereof, shall bee polluted: for their head & for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord.

5 What will ye doe then in the solemn day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For loe, they are gone from a destruction: but Egypt shall gather them up, & Chem-phis shall burye them: the nettle shall possesse
the pleasant places of their silver, and the thorne shall bee in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come: the dayes of recompence are come: Israel shall know it: the prophet is a foole: the spiritual man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquity: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim shall be with my God: but the prophet is the snare of a fouler in all his wayes, and hated in the house of his God.

9 They are deeply set: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore hee will remember their iniquity, he will visite their sinnes.

10 I found Israel like a grave in the wildernes: I sawe your fathers as the first ripe in the figtree at her first time: but they went to Baal-peor, and separated themselves unto that shame, and their abomi-nations were according to their lovers.

11 Ephraim their glory shall flee away like a bird: from the birth, and from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring up their children,
yet will I deprive them from being mine: yea,
wor to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I sawe, is as a tree in Cyprus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the mur-derer.

14 O Lord, give them: what wilt thou give them? give them a barren wombe and drie breasts.

15 All their wickednesse is in Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednes of their inventions, I will cast them out of mine house: I will love them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried up: they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay even
the dearest of their body.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

18 They shall be as the heathen, & shall use the idoles. n Signifying, that God would destroy their children by these sundry means, and so consume them by little and little.

o As they kept tender plants in their houses in Tyrus, to preserve them from the cold aire of the sea, so was Ephraim at the first voto me, but now will I give him to the slaughter. p The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather then this great slaughter should come upon their children. q The chiefe cause of their destruction, that they commit idolatry, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

Israel is an empire vine, yet hath it brought forth fruit vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruit thereof her hath increased the altars: according to the goodnesse of their lande they haue made faire images.

2 Their heart is diuided: now shall they be found faulty: he shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, Alas haue no king because we feared not the Lord: and what should a king do vs?

4 They haue spoken words, swearing falsely in making a covenant: thus iudgement groweth as woxewood in the furrowes of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall feare because of the calfe of Beth-auen: for the people thereof shall mourne over it, and the Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall bee also brought to Ashur, for a present vnto king Tard: Ephraim shall receiue shame, and Israel shall bee ashamed of his owne counsell.

7 Of Samaria, the king thereof is destroyed, as the fenne vpon the water.

8 The hie places also of Auen shall be destroyed, euen the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall grow vpon their altars, and they shall say to the mountains, Tower vs, and to the hills, Fall vpon vs.

9 O Israel, thou hast sinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they stood: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not touch them.

10 It is my desire that I should chastise them, and the people shall bee gathered against them, when they shall gather themselves in their two furrowes.

11 And Ephraim is as a heifer bled to death in threshing: but I will passe by her faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Judah shall plow, and Iacob shall breake his clouds.

12 Some to your selues in righteousness: reape after the measure of mercie: breake vp your fallow ground: for it is time to seeke the Lord, till he come & raigne righteousness vpon you.

13 But you haue plouted wickednesse: yee haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten the fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thine own wayes, & in the multitude of thy strong men.

14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall bee destroyed, as Shalman destroyed Betharbel in the day of battell: the mother of the children was dashed in pieces.

15 So shall Beth-el do vnto you, because of your malicious wickednesse: in a morning shall the king of Israel be destroyed.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefites of the Lord toward Israel: their ingratitude against him.

When Israel was a childe, then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

2 They called them, but they went from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images.

3 I led Ephraim also, as one should bear them in his armes: but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cords of a man, with bands of loue, and I was to them, as he that taketh off the yoke from their lawes, and I layde the meate vnto them.

5 He shall no more returne into the land of Egypt: but Ashur shall be his king, because they refused to conuert.

6 And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them because of their owne counsels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though they called them to the most high, yet none at all would heare him.

8 How shall I gine thee vp, Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee, Israel? how shall I make thee, as a Admah? how shall I set thee as Zeboun: mine heart is turned within me: my repentings are rolled together.

9 I will not execute the mercies of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holie one in the middes of thee, and I will not enter into the citie.

10 They shall walke after the Lord: hee shall roare like a lyon: when hee shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare.

11 They shall feare as a sparrow out of Egypt, and as a dove out of the land of Ashur, and I will place them in their houses, saith the Lord.

12 Ephraim compasseth mee about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Judah yet ruleth with God, and is faithful with the Saints.

fatherly affection, that his mercie towards his children iudgements, as he declareth in the next verse. I To comfort but wil cause thee to yeeld and to receiue thee to mercie: for meane of the small number which shall walke after the Lord. I Egyptians and Assyrians shall bee afraid when the Lord shall see his people. I Gouerneth their estate according to God: which doth not degenerate.

CHAP. XII.

He admonisheth by Iacobs example to trust in God and not in man.

Ephraim is fedde with the winde, and followeth after the East winde: he increaseth dayly lies and destruction, and they do make a covenant with Ashur, and eyle is carried into Egypt.

2 The Lord hath also a controuersie with Judah, and will visit Iacob, according to his wayes, according to his workes will he recompense him.

And had power ouer the Angells, and hee kept and prayed vnto him: he found him in Beth el, and there he spake with vs.

For the Lord God of hostes, the Lord is himselfe his memoriall.

Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercie and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.

He is a Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loneth to oppresse.

And Ephraim said, notwithstanding, I am rich, I haue found me out riches in all my labours: they shall finde none iniquitie in me, that were wickednesse.

Though I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in the dayes of the solemne feast.

I haue also spoken by the Prophets, and I haue multiplied visions, & vied similitudes by the ministerie of the Prophets.

Is there iniquitie in Gilad? surely they are banitie: they sacrifice bullockes in Gilad, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

And Jacob fled into the countrey of Ram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheepe.

And by a Prophet the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he returned.

For Ephraim moued him with his places: therefore shall his blood bee powred vpon him, and his reproch shall his Lord requite him.

My benefices, I will bring thee againe to dwell in the land of the Tabernacles, which thou doest now con-

CHAP. XIII.

The abomination of Israel. 3 And cause of their destruction.

When Ephraim spake, there was trembling: he exalted himselfe in Israel, hee hath sinned in Sam, and is dead.

And now they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their silver, and idoles according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftsmen: they lay one to another, whosoever sacrifice a man, let them kill the calves.

Therefore they shal be as the morning cloud, and as the morning dewe that passeth away, as the chaffe that is drinen with a winde, as the chaffe that is drinen with a winde, and as the chaffe that goeth out of the chimney.

The children after the example of Abraham, they would exhort one another to the same, and they would calue their idoles.

4 Yet I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but me: for there is no Saviour besides mee.

I bid knowe thee in the wilderness, in the land of night.

As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.

And I will be vnto them as a very lion, and as a leopard in the way of Ashtur.

I will meete them as a Beare that is robbed of her whelps, and I will breake the kail of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a Lyon: the wilde beaust shall feare them.

O Israel, one hath destroyed thee, but in me is thy helpe.

I am: where is thy king, that should helpe thee in all thy cities: and thy Iudges, of whom thou saydest, Giue me a king, and princes?

I gaue thee a king in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath.

The iniquitie of Ephraim is bound vp: his sinne is hid.

The saydowes of a trauelling woman shall come vpon him: there is an vnwise sonne, else would he not stand still at the time, euen at the breaking forth of the children.

I will redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: death, I will be thy death: O graue, I will be thy destruction: repentance is hid from mine eyes.

Though hee grewe vp among his brethren, an East winde shall come, euen the winde of the Lord shall come vp from the wilderness, and drie vp his betle, and his fountaine shall be dried vp: he shall spoyle the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

CHAP. XIII.

The destruction of Samaria. 1 He exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requirith prayse and thanks.

Samaria shall be desolate: for she hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sword: their infants shall bee dashed by pieces, and their women with child shall be ript.

O Israel, returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie.

Take vnto you wordes, and turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so will we render the calues of our lips.

Ashtur shall not saue vs, neither will he ride vpon horses, neither will wee say any more to the worke of our hands, Yee are our Gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie.

I will heale their rebellion: I will loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

I will bee as the dewe vnto Israel: hee shall growe as the lillie, and fasten his roots.

We will leaue off all vaine confidence and pride, e He declareth how readie God is to receiue them that doe repent, roots.

He calleth them to repentance, and reprobeth their ingratitude.

Thy destruction is certaine, & my benefices thou declarest that it cometh not of me: therefore thine owne malice, idolatrie and vaine confidence in men must needs be the cause thereof.

I am alone, I am I.

It is surely laid vp to be punished, as Iere. 17. 1.

But would come out of the wombe, that is, out of this danger, wherein he is, and not tarie to be stifled.

Meaning, that no power shall resist God when he will deliuer his, but euen in death will he giue them life.

I Because they will not turne to mee, I will not change my purpose.

He exhorteth them to repentance, to auoide all these plagues, willing them to declare by words their obedience and repentance.

He sheweth them how they ought to confesse their sinnes.

Declaring, that this is the true sacrifice that the faithfull can offer, euen thanks and praise, Heb.

any more with Idols: I have bene him, and looked upon him: I am greene firre tree: upon mee is the faith.

10 He is a wife, & he shall understand these things: and prudent, and he shall knowe them: for the wayes of the Lord are righteous, and the just shall walke therein: but the wicked shall fall therein.

Joel.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Joel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine remaine still obſtinate. Secondly, he threatneth greater plagues, becauſe they grew daily in a more hardneſſe of heart; and rebellion againſt God, notwithstanding his puniſhments. Thirdly he exhorted them to repentance, ſhewing that it muſt bee earneſt, and proceede from the heart, becauſe they had grievouſly offended God. And ſo doing, hee promiſeth that God will bee mercifull, and not forget his covenant that he made with their fathers: but will ſend his Chriſt, who ſhall gather the ſcattered ſheepe, and reſtore them to life and libertie, though they ſeemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A propheſie againſt the Iewes. 2 He exhorted the people to prayer and faſting, for the miſerie that was at hand.

3 We moune of the Lord that came to Joel the ſonne of Beſubai.

4 Heare ye this, O Elders, and hearken all ye inhabitants of the land, whether ſuch a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

5 Tell you your children of it, and let your children ſhewe to their children, and their children to another generation.

6 That which is left of the palmer worme, hath the graſshopper eaten, and the reſidue of the graſshopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the reſidue of the canker worme hath the caterpillar eaten.

7 Awake ye drunkardes, and weepe, and howle all ye drinkers of wine, becauſe of the new wine: for it ſhall bee pulled from your mouth.

8 Yea, a nation cometh vpon my land, mightie, and without number, whoſe teeth are like the teeth of a lyon, and hee hath the lawes of a great lyon.

9 He maketh my vine waſte, and pulleth off the bark of the figge tree: hee maketh it bare, and caſteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white.

10 He maketh like a virgin giuen with ſackcloth for the husband of her youth.

11 The meate offering, and the drinke offering is cut off from the houſe of the Lord: the Priests the Lords miniſters mourne.

12 The field is waſted: for the corne is deſtroyed, & the new wine is dried up, and the oyle is decayed.

13 Wee ye aſhamed, O husbandmen; howle, O ye vine dreſſers for the wheat, and for the barley, becauſe the harneſt of the field is perished.

14 The vine is dried up, and the fig tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree, and the palme tree, and the apple tree, even all the trees of the field are withered: ſurely the top is withered away from the ſonnes of men.

15 Gird your ſelves and lament, ye Priests, howle ye miniſters of the altar: come, and lie all night in ſackcloth, ye miniſters of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the houſe of your God.

16 Sanctifie you a faſt: call a ſolemne aſſembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the houſe of the Lord your God, and cry unto the Lord.

17 Alas: for the day, for the day of the Lord is at hand, & it cometh as a deſtruction from the Lord which is hid.

18 Is not the meate cut off before our eyes: and loy, and gladneſſe from the houſe of our God?

19 The ſeede is rotten under their clodde: the garnes are deſtroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

20 Howle: did the beaſtes mourne: the herds of cattell pine away, becauſe they have no paſture, and the ſlocks of ſheepe are deſtroyed.

21 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath deuoured the paſtures of the wilderneſſe, and the flame hath burnt up all the trees of the field.

22 The beaſtes of the field cry alſo unto thee: for the ſtamps of waters are dried up, and the fire hath deuoured the paſſures of the wilderneſſe.

CHAP. II.

Hee propheſieth of the coming and crueltie of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to mooue them to convert. 18 The ſigne of God toward his people.

1 I will ſhew the trumpet in ſion, and ſhew a ſigne in mine holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.

2 A day of darkeneſſe, and of blacke- neſſe, a day of cloudes, and obſcuritie, as the morning ſpread vpon the mountaines, ſo ſhall there be a great people, and a mightie: there was none like it from the beginning, neither ſhall be any more after it, vnto the preſent of many generations.

a Signifying the Princes, the Priests, and the gouernours.

b He calleth the Iewes to the conſideration of Gods iudgements, who had now plagued the fruites of the ground for the ſpace of ſoure yeere, which was for their finnes, and to call them to repentance.

c Meaning, that the overflow of the exceſſe and drunkenneſſe, was taken away.

d This was an other plague wherewith God had puniſhed them, when he ſtirred vp the Aſſyrians againſt them.

e Mourne grieuouſly as a woman which hath loſt her husband, to whom ſhee hath bene married in her youth.

f The tokens of Gods wrath did appeare in his Temple, in ſo much as Gods ſeruiſe was leſſe off. g All comfort and ſubſtance for nouriſhment is taken away.

He denoueth before him, and he him a flame burneth up: the flames in the garden of Eden before him, and become him a desolate wilderness, so that no shall escape him.

He beholdeth of him is like the sight of waters like the boisterous, so that they can hear the noise of charres in the coppes at the mountaines shall they leape, like the noise of a flame of fire that deuorith the thicket, and as a might of people prepared to the battell.

Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces shall gather blackness.

They shall runne like strong men, and go by to the wall like men of warre; and every man shall go forward in his wayes,
and they shall not stay in their paths.

Neither shall one thought murder, but every one shall walke in his path: and when they fall upon the woode, they shall not bee mourned.

They shall runne to and fro in the city:
they shall runne upon the wall: they shall clime up upon the houses, and enter in at the windows like the thieves.

The earth shall tremble before him,
the heavens shall shake, the sunne and the moone shall be darker, and the starres shall be hid to their shining.

And the Lord shall utter his voyce before his hostes: for his hostes is very great:
as he saying that doeth his words: for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible,
and who can abide it?

Therefore also now the Lord saith,
Turne you vnto me with all your heart,
and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning.

And rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God, for he is gracious and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repented him of the euill.

Who knoweth, if he will: returne and repent and leaue a blessing behind him, euen
a meate offering, and a drinke offering vnto
the Lord your God?

Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a call: call a solemn assembly.

Gather the people: sanctifie the Congregation, gather the Elders: assemble the children, and those that sucke the breasts:
let the biddesome goe forth of his chamber,
and the bide out of her bide chamber.

Let the Priests, the ministers of the Lord wepe betweene the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and thou shalt not bring deuetie into reproch that the heathen should ryle vnto them.

For the mouth they say among the people, Where is their God?

Then will the Lord be zealous ouer
his land, and spare his people.

For, the Lord will answer, and say vnto his people, Beholde, I will send you come and wine, and oyle, and you shall bee glad as heretofore: and I will not make you a reproch among the heathen.

For I will reuenge mine ill from you of your enemies, and I will digne him into a land: barren and desolate, with his soul toward the sea. And he shall end to the utmost sea, and his sinke shall come up, and his corruption shall ascend, because he hath hated himselfe to doe this.

I feare not the land, nor be glad and re-
ioyce: for the Lord will doe great things.

Be not afraid, ye valley of the flints:
for the pastures of the wilderness are greene:
for they haue brought forth their fruit: the figge tree
and the vine doe giue their fruit.

We glad then, ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God: for hee hath given you the ruine of your enemies, and he will cause to come downe for you the raine, euen the first raine: and the latter raine in the month of May.

And the barnes shall be full of wheate,
and the presses shall abound with wine and oyle.

And I will render you the payes that the grasshopper hath eaten, the canker worme
and the caterpillar, and the palmer worme,
my great hostes which I sent among you.

Do you that eate and be satisfied, and waite the flame of the Lord your God, that hath dealt mercifully with you: and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

For shall also knowe that I am in the mids of Iherusalem, and that I am the Lord your God, and none other: and my people shall never be ashamed.

And afterward will I powre out my Spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shall prophesie: your young men shall dream, and your old men shall see visions.

And also vpon the seruants, and vpon
the maydes in those dayes will I powre my Spirit.

And I will shew wonders in the hea-uens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

The sunne shall be turned into dark-nesse, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

But whosoever shall call on the Name of the Lord, shall be saved: for in mount Zion, and in Ierusalem, shall be deliuerance, as the Lord hath sayd, and in the remnant, whom the Lord shall call.

For he would preserve them. The power of nature shall seeme to be changed for the horrible afflictions that shall be in the world,

your head:

5 For yee haue taken my silver and my golden and pleasant things.

6 The children also of Iudah, and the children of Jerusalem haue you sold vnto
the Grecians, that ye might send them farre
from their borders.

7 Beholde, I will raze them out of the

the mighty men.

12 Let the heathen bee wakened, and come vp to the valley of Jehothaphat: for there will I sit to iudge all the heathen round about.

13 Put in your sickles, for the harvest is ripe: come, get you downe, for the wine

17 So shall ye know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy mountaine: then shall Jerusalem bee holy,
and there shall no strangers go: they shall be my people.

18 And in that day shall the mountains drop downe new wine, and the hills shall flow with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah shall run with waters, and a fountain shall come forth of the house of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Schemon.

19 Egypt shall bee waste, and Edom shall be a desolate wilderness, for the timber
of the children of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Iudah shall dwell for ever, and Jerusalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will cleanse their blood, that I haue not cleansed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

m The malicious enemies shall haue no part of the promised to cleanse them and to make them pure vnto
the Lord.

Amos.

THE ARGUMENT.

Among many other Prophets that God raised vp to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their wickednes and idolatry, he stirred vp Amos, who was an herdman or shepheard of a poore towne, and gaue him both knowledge and constancie to reprove all estates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements against them, except they did in time repent: shewing them that if God spare the other nations about them, who had sinned as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but their finnes will punish them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by vnfeined repentance. And finally hee comforteth the godly with hope of the comming of the Messiah, by whom they should haue perfit deliuerance and saluation.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophesie of Amos. 3 The word of the Lord against Damascus, 6 the Philistims, Tyru, Idumea and Ammon.

IN the wordes of Amos, who was among the herdsmen
at Becca, which he saw vpon Israel in the daies of Oziah King of Iudah, and in the daies of Jeroboam the sonne of Ioash King of Israel, two yere before the earthquake.

2 And he said, The Lord shall roare from Zion, and utter his voyce from Jerusalem, and the dwelling places of the shepherds shall perish, and the top of Carmel shall withere.

3 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Damascus, and for foure,
I will not turne to it, because they haue threshed Saba, with threshing instruments of Egypt.

4 Therefore will I send a fire into the houle of Hazael, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ben Hadad.

man. 2 The antiquitie of their buildings shall not iudgements, reade Ierem. 49. 27.

a Which was a

in Iudca, but he prophesied in Israel.

b In his daies
the kingdome of Israel did most flourish.

c Which, as Iosephus writeth, was when Vzziah would haue sur-
ped the Priests office, and therefore was smitten with the leprosie.

I will break also the barres of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikerah: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth-eben, and the people of Aiam shall go into captivitie unto him, saith the Lord.

Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyre, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they carried away prisoners the whole captivitie to shew them by in Tyre.

Therefore will I send a fire upon the walls of Tyre, and it shall devour the palaces thereof.

And I will cut off the inhabitants from Tyre, and him that holdeth the scepter from Babylon, and turne mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistines shall perish, saith the Lord God.

Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyre, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they have the whole captivitie in Edom, and have not remembered the brotherly covenant.

Therefore will I send a fire upon the walls of Tyre, and it shall devour the palaces thereof.

Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because he did pursue his brother with the sword, and did cast off all pitié, and his anger spoiled him evermore, and he hated to watch him always.

Therefore will I send a fire upon Teman, and it shall devour the palaces of Teman.

Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they have ript by the women with childre of Edom, that they might enlarge their borders.

Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall devour the palaces thereof, with shewing in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whirlwind.

And their King shall goe into captivitie, hee and his princes together, saith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Judah, and Israel.

Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the bones of the King of Edom into lime.

Therefore I will send a fire upon Moab, and it shall devour the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet.

And I will cut off the Judge out of the mids thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Judah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they have cast away the Law of the Lord, and have not kept his commandment, and their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers have walked.

Therefore I will send a fire upon Judah, and it shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem.

Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they sold the righteous for silver, & the poore for shoes.

They gave over the head of the poore in the dust of the earth, and pervert the wayes of the mecke: and a man and his father will goe in to a maid to dishonour mine holy Name.

And they lie downe upon clothes layd to pledge by every altar: and they s. duntke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

Per destroyed I the Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oaks: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruit from above, and his root from beneath.

Also I brought you up from the land of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeeres thorow the wilderness, to possesse the land of the Amorite.

And I raised up of your sonnes for Prophets, and of your young men for Sazarites. Is it not even thus, O yee children of Israel, saith the Lord?

But yee gave the Sazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophesie not.

Behold, I am pressed under you, as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaves.

Therefore the swift shall perish from the swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mightie save his life.

For hee that handleth the bow, shall stand, and hee that is swift of foot, shall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the horse, save his life.

And he that is of a mightie courage among the strong men, shall slee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

I Yee contemned my benefices, and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stop the mouthes of my Prophets, k You have wearied me with your finnes, Isa. i. 14. l None shall bee delivered by any means.

CHAP. III.

He reproveth the house of Israel of ingratitude, for the which God will punish them.

Heareth this word that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, even against the whole familie which I brought up from the land of Egypt, saying,

Don't only have I knownen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visit you for all your iniquities.

Can two walke together except they be agreed?

Will a lion roare in the forest, when he hath no pray? or will a Lyons whelp cry out of his den if he have taken nothing?

Heeth not of himselfe, but as God guideth and mooveth him, which is called the agreement betweene God and his Prophets, c Will God threaten by his Prophets, except there be some great occasion?

e I bespake noe Judah vnto whom his promises were made, much more he will not spare this degenerate kingdom.

d They esteemed most vile bribes more then mens liues,

e When they have spoyled him and thrown him to the ground, they gape for his life.

f Thinking by these ceremonies, that is, by sacrificing, and being necre mine altar, they may excuse all their other wickednesse.

g They spyle others and offer thereof vnto God, thinking that hee wil dispense with them, when he is made partaker of their iniquitie.

h The destruction of their enemies, & his mercie toward them, should have caused their hearts to melt for loue toward him.

k You have wearied me with your finnes, Isa. i. 14. l None shall bee delivered by any means.

a I have onely chosen you to be mine among all other people, and yet you have forsaken me, b Hereby the Prophet signifieth that hee spea-

d Can anything come without Gods providence?

e Shall his threatenings be in vaine,

f Shall the Prophets threaten Gods judgement, and the people not be afraid?

g Doeth any aduerſitie come without Gods appointment?

h God dealeth not with the Ifraclites as hee doeth with other people: for hee

cuert warneth them before of his plagues, by his Prophets.

i Because the people cuert murmured against the Prophets, hee threateth that Gods Spirit moued them so to ſpeake as they did.

k He calleth the ſtrangers, as the Philiftims and Egyptians, to be witneſſes of Gods iudge-;

ments against the Ifraclites for their crueltie and oppreſſion.

l The fruit of their crueltie and theft appeareth by their great riches, which they haue in their houſes.

m When the Lion hath ſatiated his hunger, the ſhepherd ſindeth a legge or a tip of an eare, to thew that the ſheepe haue bene woried.

n Where they thought to haue had a ſure hold, and to haue bene in ſafetie.

5 Can a bird fall in a ſnare vpon the earth, where no ſnare is? or will he take by the ſnare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

6 Or ſhall a trumpet be blown in the citie, and the people bee not afraid? or ſhall there bee euill in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lord God will doe nothing, but hee reneweth his ſecret vnto his ſeruants the Prophets.

8 The Lyon hath roared: who will not be afraid? The Lord God hath ſpoken: who can but prophesie?

9 Proclaime in the palaces at Aſhdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and ſay, Aſſemble your ſelues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: to behold the great tumults in the mids thereof, and the oppreſſed in the mids thereof.

10 For they know not to doe right, ſaith the Lord: they ſtope by violence, and robbrie in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, An aduerſarie ſhall come euen round about the countrey, and ſhall bring downe thy ſtrength from thee, and thy palaces ſhall be ſpoyled.

12 Thus ſaith the Lord, As the ſhepherd taketh out of the mouth of the Lyon two legges, or a peece of an eare: ſo ſhall the children of Iſrael be taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and in Damalcus, as in a couch.

13 Heare and teſtifie in the houſe of Iakob, ſaith the Lord God, the God of holies.

14 Surely in the day that I ſhall viſite the tranſgreſſions of Iſrael vpon him, I will alſo viſite the altars of Beth-el, and the houſes of the altar ſhall be broken off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I will ſmite the winter houſe with the ſummer houſe, and the houſes of yuorie ſhall periſh, and the great houſes ſhall be conſumed, ſaith the Lord.

16 The fruit of their crueltie and theft appeareth by their great riches, which they haue in their houſes. m When the Lion hath ſatiated his hunger, the ſhepherd ſindeth a legge or a tip of an eare, to thew that the ſheepe haue bene woried. n Where they thought to haue had a ſure hold, and to haue bene in ſafetie.

CHAP. IIIII.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

a Thus he calleth the princes and gouernours, which being ouerwhelmed with the great abundance of Gods benefites, forgate God, and therefore hee calleth them by the name of beaſtes and not of men.

b They encourage ſuch as haue authoritie ouer the people, to powle them ſo that they may haue profite by it.

c Hee alludeth to fiſhers which catch fiſh by hookes and thornes.

Hear ye this woide yee kine of Baſhan, that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppreſſe the poore, & deſtroy the needie, and they ſay to their maſters, Bring, and let vs drinke.

2 The Lord God hath ſworne by his holineſſe, that ſoe the dayes ſhall come vpon you, that hee will take you away with choynes and your poſteritie with ſiſhhookes.

3 And yee ſhall goe out at the breaches, euerie kowe forward: and yee ſhall caſt your ſelues out of the palace, ſaith the Lord.

4 Come to Beth-el, and tranſgreſſe to Gilgal, and multiplye tranſgreſſion, and bring your ſacrifices in the morning, & your tithes after three yeeres.

5 And offer a thankſgiving of leaues, publiſh and proclaime the free offerings in this ſakeſay: O yee children of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God.

6 And therefore haue I giuen you plenty of cereale in all your cities, and plenty of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, ſaith the Lord.

7 And alſo I haue withholden the rain from you, when there were yet three moeths to the harueſt, and I cauied it to raine vpon one citie: and haue not cauied it to raine vpon another citie: one peece was rained vpon, and the price whereof was not returned vnto me, ſaith the Lord.

8 So two or three cities wandered vnto one citie to drinke water, but they were not ſatiſfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, ſaith the Lord.

9 I haue ſmitten you with blaſting, and mildew: your great gardens and your vineyardes, and your figge trees, and your olive trees did the palmer worme deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, ſaith the Lord.

10 Wellenere haue I ſent among you, after the manner of Egypt: your yong men haue I ſlaine with the ſword, and haue taken away your hoſies: and I haue made the ſtunke of your centres to come by euen into your noſtrils: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, ſaith the Lord.

11 I haue ouerthrowen you, as Sodome, and Gomorah: and ye were as a ſtrech and plucked out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, ſaith the Lord.

12 Therefore thus will I doe vnto thee, O Iſrael: and because I will doe this vnto thee, prepare to meet the God, O Iſrael.

13 For ſo be that ſometime the mountaine, and createth the winde, and declarerh vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkeneſſe, and walketh vpon the high places of the earth, the Lord God of holies is his name.

CHAP. V.

Alamentation for the captiuitie of Iſrael. Care yee this woide, which I lift vp by you, euen a lamentation of the houſe of Iſrael.

2 The virgin Iſrael is fallen, and ſhall no more riſe: ſhee is left vpon her land, and there is none to raiſe her vp.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord God, The citie which went out by a thouſand, ſhall leaue an hundredeth: and that which went forth by an hundredeth, ſhall leaue ten to the houſe of Iſrael.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord vnto the houſe of Iſrael, Seeke ye me, and ye ſhall liue.

5 But ſeeke not Beth-el, nor enter into Gilgal, and goe not to Beer-ſheba: for Gilgal ſhall go into captiuitie, and Beth-el ſhall come to nought.

6 Seeke the Lord, and ye ſhall liue, ſaith the Lord God: therefore he ſaith that theſe ſhall come to nought.

burne out like fire in the house of Ioseph, and denoure it, and there be none to quench it in Beth el.

They turne a iudgement to iudgement, as they haue said in the earth. They make the shadow of death into the morning, and hee maketh the day dark as night: hee calleth the waters of the sea, and pouereth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

He strengtheneth the deRoyer against the minstre: and the deRoyer shall come against the fortresse.

They haue hated him, that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that breaketh wrightly.

Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, and ye take from him burthen of wheat, ye haue built houses of burne, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye haue plained pleasant vineyardes, but ye shall not drinke wine of them.

For I knowe your manifeste transgressions, and your mightie sinnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewards, and they open the poore in the gate.

Therefore the iudice shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time.

Seeke good and not euill, that ye may liue: and the Lord God of hostes shall be with you, as you haue spoken.

Hate the euill and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may bee that the Lord God of hostes will be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph.

Therefore the Lord God of hostes, the Lord sayeth thus, Mourning shall be in all houses, alas, and they shall say in all the high wayes, Alas, alas: and they shall call the husbandmen to lamentation, and such as can moue, to mourning.

And in all the vines shall be lamentation: for I will passe thorow the, sayeth the Lord.

Alas vnto you, that desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to do with it? the day of the Lord is darkened and not light.

As if a man did flee from a Lyon, and a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

Shall not the day of the Lord bee darkened, and not light? euen darkened and no light in it?

I hate & abhorre your feast dayes, and I will not smell in your solemne assemblies.

Though yee offer me burnt offerings, and meate offerings, I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of your fat beasts.

Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs: (for I will not heare the multitude of thy viols)

And let iudgement runne downe as waters, & righteousness as a mighty riuer.

Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness forty yeeres, O house of Israel?

But you haue borne Sicut your king, & Chym, your images, and the statute of your gods, which ye made to your selues.

Therefore will I came you to go into captivity beyond Damascus, sayeth the Lord, whose Name is the Lord of hosts.

CHAPTER VI.

Against the princes of Iuda dwelling in pleasures. We to them that are at ease in Zion, and trust in the mountaine of Samaria, which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them.

Go ye vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistines: see: they better then their kingdomes? or the border of their lands greater then your border.

Ye that put farre away the euill day, and approach to the seat of iniquitie?

They lie vpon beds of purple, & stretch themselves vpon their beds, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calves out of the stall.

They sing to the sound of the viol: they tinnit to themselves instruments of mulicke like Dauid.

They drinke wine in bowles, & anoint themselves with the chief ointments, but no man is for the affliction of Ioseph.

Therefore now shall they goe captiue with the first that goe captiue, and the sorrow of them that stretched themselves, is at hand.

The Lord God hath sowne by himselfe, sayeth the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre the excellencie of Iakob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliuer vp the city with all that is therein.

And if there remaine ten men in one house, they shall die.

And his uncle shall take him vp and burne him to carry out the bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him that is by the sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shall say, None. Then shall he say, I hold thy tounge: for we may not remember the Name of the Lord.

For beholde, the Lord commandeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the little house with clefts.

Shall houses runne vpon the rocke? or will one plowe there with oren: for yee haue turned iudgement into gall, and the tonnesse and ryot. As he caused diuers kindes of instruments to be made to serue Gods glory, so these did contend to inuent as many to serue their wanton affections and lusts. If they persecuted their brethren, whereof now many were slaine, and caried away captiue.

Some reade, the ioy of them that stretch themselves shall depart. Reade Ierem. 51. 14. I that is, the riches and pompe.

The destruction shall be so great, that none almost shall be left to burie the dead: and therefore they shall burne them at home, to carry out the burnt ashes with more ease.

I That is, to some neighbour that dwelleth round about. M They shall be so affrighted at this destruction, that they shall no more boast of the name of God, and that they are his people: but they shall bee dumbe when they heare Gods Name, and a horre it, as they that are desperate or reprobate. Hee compareth them to barren rockes whereupon is in vaine to bestow labour: shewing that Gods benesites can haue no place among them.

a The Prophet: threatheth the wealthy, which regarded not Gods plagues nor menaces by his Prophets.

b These two cities were famous by their full inhabitanes the Canaanites: and seeing before time they did nothing: saile them that were there borne, why should you looke that they should saue you which were brought in to dwell in other mens possessions?

c If God haue destroyed these excellent cities in three diuers kingdomes, as in Babylon, Syria, and of the Philistines, and hath brought their wide borders into a greater straitnesse, then yours are yet, thinke you to be better, or to escape?

d Ye that continue still in your wickednesse and thinke that Gods plagues are not at hand, but greeue your selues to all idleness, wan-

by another pla-

che: that was to feare the Prophet, that he might depart, and not re-proue their idolatrie there openly, and so hinder his profit. h Thus he sheweth by his extraordinary vocation, that God hath giuen him a charge which he must needs execute.

Thus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto
me, and behold, hee formed a grasshoppers in the beginning of the shooting vp of the latter growth: and loe, it was in the latter growth: after the kings mowing.

2 And when they had made an ende of eating the grasse of the land, then I sayd, O Lorde God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iakob: for he is small.

3 So the Lorde repented for this. It shall not be, sayth the Lorde.

4 Thus also hath the Lorde God shewed vnto me, and behold, the Lorde God called to iudgement by fire, and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eat vp a part.

5 Then sayd I, O Lorde God, cease, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iakob: for he is small.

6 So the Lorde repented for this. This also shall not be, sayth the Lorde God.

7 Thus againe he shewed me, and behold, the Lorde stood vpon a wall made by line: with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lorde sayd vnto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayd, A line. Then sayd the Lorde, Behold, I will set a line in the mids of my people Israel, and will passe
by them no more.

9 And the hie places of Ithak shalbe desolate, and the temples of Israel shalbe destroyed: and will rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sword.

10 ¶ Then Amaziah the Priest of Bethel sent to Ieroboam king of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the mids of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his words.

11 For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shalbe led away captive out of their owne land.

12 Also Amaziah sayd vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eate thy bread and prophesie there.

13 But prophesie no more at Beth-el: for it is the kings chappel, and it is the kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, and sayd to Amaziah, I was no Prophet, neither was I a Prophets sonne, but I was an heard-man, and a gatherer of wild figs.

15 And the Lorde took me as I followe
the flocke, and the Lorde sayd vnto me, Prophesie vnto my people Israel.

16 Know therfore heare thou the word of the Lorde. Thou sayst, Prophesie not vnto Israel, and I speake nothing against the house of Ithak.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, The wife shall bee an harlot in the citie, and the sonnes and the daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be diuided by mee, and thou shalt bee in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely goe into captivity out of his land.

Thus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto
me, e beholde, a basket of summer fruit.
2 And he said, Amos, what seest thou?
And I sayd, A basket of summer fruit.
Then sayd the Lorde vnto me, The ende is come vpon my people of Israel, I will passe
by them no more.

3 And the songs of the Temple shall bee
howlings in that day, sayth the Lorde God:
many dead bodies shalbe in euery place: they shall cast them forth with silence.

4 Deare this, O ye that are idle vpon
the poore, that ye may make the needy of the land to faile,

5 Saying, When will the new moon
be gone, that we may sel come and the Sabbath, that we may sell forth debase, and make the Sabbath small, and the shekel great, and fallifie the weights by deceit?

6 That loe may buy the poore for siluer, and the needie for shoes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheat?

7 The Lorde hath sworn by the exellence of Iakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their works.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this?
and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein: and it shall rise vp wholly as a flood, and it shall be cast out, and drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day, sayeth the Lorde God,
I will euen cause the sunne to goe downe at cleare day.

10 And I will turne your festiues into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackcloth vpon all loynes, and baldnesse vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely
sonne, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lorde
God, that I will send a famine in the land,
not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water,
but of hearing of the word of the Lorde.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the South euen vnto the East shall they run to and fro to seeke the word of the Lorde, and shall not finde it.

the young women be hungry, and shall say,

we have lacked the word which is the food thereof.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Iudomites which came of Esau, were mortall enemies of Iacob, and therefore did not onely vex them continually with iudicious kindness, but also stirred up others to fight against them. Therefore when they were now in their greatest prosperitie, and almost triumphed against Israel, which was in great affliction and misery, God raised up his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, inasmuch as God had now determined to destroy their vnderstanding, which did so vex them, and to send them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the kingdome of Messiah, which he had promised.

Obadiah. Thus saith the Lord God against Edom, I will make haue a running from the Lord, and an ambassador, is, sent among the heathen: and, and let vs be against her to battell.

Beholde, I have made thee small among the heathen: thou art utterly destroyed, and thou shalt be as a name that is forgotten.

6 How are the things of Edom sought by, and his treasures searched?

7 All the men of thy confederacie have dynen thee to the bottom: the men that were at peace with thee, have deceived thee, and prevailed against thee: they that eat thy bread, have laid a wound under thee: there is none understanding in him.

8 Shall not I in that day, saith the Lord, even destroy the wise men out of Edom, and understanding from the mount of Edom?

9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shall be afraid, because every one of the mount of Edom shall be cut off by slaughter.

10 For thy crueltie against thy brother Jacob, shame shall cover thee, and thou shalt be cut off for ever.

11 When thou stoodest on the other side, in the day that the strangers carried away his substance, and strangers entred into his gates, and call lots upon Jerusalem, even thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shouldst not have beholdden the day of thy brother, in the day that he was made a stranger; neither shouldst thou have rejoyced over the children of Judah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldst not have spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou shouldst not have entred into the gate of my people in the day of their destruction; neither shouldst thou have once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor have layde hands on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Neither shouldst thou have stood in 17 But upon mount Zion shall be deliverance, and it shall be holy, and the house of Jacob shall possess their possessions.

18 And the house of Jacob shall be a flame, and the house of Joseph a flame, and they shall kindle in them and devour them: and there shall be no remnant of the house of Jacob in the Lord hath spoken it.

19 And they shall possess the Mount of the Lord, the Mount of Edom, and the plain of the Philistines: and they shall possess the fields of Ephraim, and the fields of Simeon, and Benjamin shall have Gilead.

20 And the captivitie of this host of the children of Israel, which were among the Philistines, shall possess unto Jazephath, and the captivitie of Jerusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possess the cities of the South.

Jonah.

THE ARGUMENT.

When Jonah had long prophesied in Israel, and had little profited, God gave him express charge to goe and denounce his iudgements against Nineveh the chiefe citie of the Assyrians, because hee had appointed, that they which were of the heathen, should convert by the mighty power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching, that Israel might see how horribly they had provoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres, had not converted to the Lord for so many Prophets, and so diligent preaching. He prophesied vnder Iona and Ieroboam, as a King, 14. 35.

CHAP. I.

3 Jonah first when he was sent to preach, 4. A tempest arising, and hee is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

5 The word of the Lord came: also unto Jonah the sonne of Amittai, saying,

2 Arise, and goe to Nineveh, that great citie, and crie against it: for their wickedness is come before me.

3 But Jonah rose up to flee into Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, and went downe to Japho: and hee found a shippe going to Tarshish: so hee payed the towers, and at this time there were an hundred and twenty children therein, Chap. 4. 11. d Whereby he deniest, that would not promptly follow the Lords command, place to his owne reason, which perswaded him that nothing at all profited there, seeing hee had done so much for his owne people, Chap. 4. 3. e Which was the shippe called shipping thither, called also Ioppe, a After that he had preached a long time in Israel: and so Ezekiel, after that for a time hee had prophesied in Babylon, Ezek 1. 1. b For seeing the great obstination of the Israelites, he sent his Prophets to the Gentiles, that they might provoke them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable for Nineveh was the chiefe citie of the Assyrians, her thereof, and went downe into it, that he might see with them unto Tarshish, from the presence of the Lord.

But the Lord sent out a great winde from the sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

Then the mariners were afrayde, and said every man unto his god, and cast the burden that were in the ship, into the sea to lighten it of them: but Ionah was gone downe into the bowes of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

So the Shipmaster came to him, and said unto him, What meanest thou, O Sleeper? Arise, call upon thy God, if so be that God will thinke upon vs, that we perish not.

And they said every man to his fellow, Come, and let vs cast lots, that we may knowe, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lots, and the lot fell vpon Ionah.

Then sayd they vnto him, Tell vs for what cause this euill is vpon vs: what is thy occupation? and whence comest thou? which is thy country? and of what people art thou?

And he answered them, I am an Hebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

When were the men exceedingly a-fraide, and sayd vnto him, Altho hast thou told this: (for the men knew, that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had told them.)

Then sayd they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought, and was tempestuous.)

And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto vs: for I know, that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

Wherefore, the men took him, and cast him into the land, but he was swallowed of the great walghe, and was foundlesse againe.

Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lord, and said, We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish in this maner: for we lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as it pleaseth thee.

So they took vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, & the sea ceased from her raging.

Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vowes.

After the Lord had prepared a great shallop for Ionah, and Ionah was in the belly of the fish three daies, and three nights.

And he said, But this was done for feare and not for love, neither according to Gods worde, would chastise his Prophet with a most terrible plague, and hereby also confirmed him of his fauour and grace which was inquired him.

CHAP. II.

1. Jonah is in the fishes belly. 2. His prayer, to be delivered.

Then Ionah prayed vnto the Lord his God out of the fishes belly.

1. And sayde, I cryed in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly of hell cryed I, and thou heardest my voyce.

2. For thou hadst cast me into the bottom in the mids of the sea, and the floods compassed mee about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

3. Then I sayd, I am cast away out of thy sight: yet wilt thou looke againe towards thine holy Temple.

4. The waters compassed me about vnto the soule: the depth closed me round about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head.

5. I went downe to the bottomne of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about mee for euer, yet hast thou thought vp my life from the pit, O Lord my God.

6. When my soule fainted within mee, I remembered the Lord, and my prayer came vnto thee into thine holy Temple.

7. They that wait vpon lying vanities forsake their owne mercy.

8. But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voyce of thanksgiving, and will say that thou hast done: saluation is of the Lord.

9. And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast vp Ionah vpon the dry land.

And all these dangers, as it were raising mee from death to life, e They that depend vpon any thing luse on God alone, f They refuse their owne felicitie, and that goodnes which they should esteem of God.

CHAP. III.

1. Jonah is sent againe to Ninuech. 2. The repentance of the king of Ninuech.

And the word of the Lord came vnto Jonah the second time saying,

Arise, goe into Nineuech that great citie, and preach vnto it the preaching, which I haue bid thee.

2. So Jonah arose and went to Nineuech according to the word of the Lord: now Nineuech was a great and excellent citie of three dayes iourney.

3. And Jonah began to enter into the citie a dayes iourney, and he cryed, and said, Yet fourtie dayes, and Nineuech shall be overthrowen.

4. So the people of Nineuech beleueed God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them euen to the least of them.

5. For Jonah came vnto the King of Nineuech, and he arose from his throne, and he layed his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloth, and sate in ashes.

6. And hee proclaimed and said through Nineuech, (by the counsell of the king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man nor beast, bullocke nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feede nor drinke water.

7. But let man and beast put on sack-

a Being now swallowed vp of death, and seeing no remedie to escape, his faith

braut vnto the Lord, knowing that out of the very bell he was able to deliuer him.

b For hee was now in the fishes belly, as in a graue or place of darkness.

c This declared what his prayer was, and how he laboured between hope and despair, considering the neglect of his vocation, and Gods iudgements for the same: but yet in the end faith gaue the victory.

d Thou hast deliuered me from the belly of the fish, and all these dangers, as it were raising mee from death to life, e They that depend vpon any thing luse on God alone, f They refuse their owne felicitie, and that goodnes which they should esteem of God.

a This is a great declaration of Gods mercie, that hee recueth him againe & sendeth him forth as his Prophet, which had before shewed so great infirmities.

b Reade Chap. 1. 2.

c He went forward one day in the citie, and preached, and so hee continued till the citie was conuered.

d For hee declared that he was a Prophet sent to them from God to denounce his iudgements against them.

The great goodnesse of God toward his creatures.

Therefore it displeased Jonah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he wayed vnto the Lord, and said,
I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country?
therefore I presented it to thee vnto Tarshish: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, slowe to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repentest thee of the evil.

3 Therefore now, O Lorde, take, I be-

¶ So Jonah went out of the citie, & on the East side of the citie, and there made him a booth, and sat under it in the shadow: till he might see what should be done in the citie.

6 And the Lord God prepared a gourd and made it to come by over Jonah, that might be a shadowe over his head, and deli-uer him from his griefe. So Jonah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worme which morning rose the next day: and it smote
gourd that it withered.

8 And when the Sunne did arise, he prepared also a feruent East wind; and the Sunne beat vpon the head of Ionah, so that hee fainted, and wished in his heart to die, and said, It is better for mee to die, then to liue.

9 And God said vnto Jonah, Doeſt thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he ſaid
I doe well to be angry vnto the death.

10 Then said the Lord, Thou hast be-

For the inhabitant of Bethoch wailed for good, but came from the Lord unto the gate of Jerusalem.

Thou inhabitant of Achish, binde the chariot to the wheels of peace: he is the beginning of the shine to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

Therefore shalt thou give presents to Simeon: Gath: the houses of Achish shall be as a lie to the kings of Israel.

For will I bring an ydeler unto thee, O inhabitant of Bethoch, hee shall come unto Achish: the gloire of Israel.

Thou first voice of Jerusalem, and so diddest infect Jerusalem, to make the Philistines thy neighbours, but they shall destroy thee of Jerusalem. He prophesied against Jerusalem, and because it signified an heritage, he sayeth that God shall have it in possession. For so they thought themselves to be the heritage of their citie.

CHAP. II.

Threatnings against the women and dainties of the people. 6 They would teach the Prophets to prophesie.

Woe unto them that imagine iniquity, and worke wickednesse upon their beddes: when the morning is light they say, peace it is, because their hand is hard power.

And they cover themselves, and take them in vanity, and houses, and take them away: they oppose a man and his house, even against his heritage.

Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, against this familie have I denised a plague, wherewith yee shall not plucke your necks, and yee shall not goe so proudly, for this time is full.

In that day shall they take up a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, woe be utterly woe: for he hath changed the portion of my people: thou hast taken it away to restore it unto me: but hath divided our fields.

Therefore thou shalt have mine that shall call a cry by lot, in the congregation of the Lord.

They that prophesied, Prophets yee not. They shall not prophesie to them, neither shall they take shame.

Thou that art named the house of Jacob, is the Spirit of the Lord scorned: are these his works? are not my wordes good unto him: that walketh uprightly?

But hee that was yesterday my people, is risen up on the other side, as against an enimie: they spoile the beautiful garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

The women of my people have ye cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their children have ye taken away my glory continually.

Arise and depart, for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, even with a sore destruction.

If a man walke in the Spirit, and would lie falsely, saying, I will prophesie unto thee of wine, and of strong drink, hee shall even be the Prophet of this people.

I will surely gather thee woe, O Jacob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, as the flocke in the middest of their fold: the citie shall be full of bruit of the men.

Against the tyrannie of Princes and false Prophets.

And I thus heare, I pray you, O heads of Jacob, and yee princes of the house of Israel: should not yee know? judgements?

But they hate the good, and love the evil: they plucke off their skinner from them, and their flesh from their bones.

And they eate also the flesh of my people, and flay off their skinner from them, and they breake their bones, and choppe them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

Then shall they cry unto the Lord, but hee will not heare them: hee will even hide his face from them at that time, because they have done wickedly in their works.

Then shall they cry unto the Lord, but hee will not heare them: hee will even hide his face from them at that time, because they have done wickedly in their works. I shall visite their wickednesse: for though I heare the godly before they cry, I will not heare thee though they cry, I will.

Thus

Ye shall have no more kinde to divide, as you had in times past, and as you vied to measure them in the bulle.

Thus the people warne the Prophets, that they speake to them no more: for they cannot abide their threatenings.

God saith that they shall not prophesie, nor receive no more of their rebukes nor thanks.

Are these your works according to his law? ye have despised the godly find my words comforted: I have said, that is, aforesaid.

The poore can have no commodity by them, but they spoyle them as though they were enemies.

That is, their substance and living, which is Gods blessing, and as it were part of his glorie.

I Jerusalem shall not be your safeguard: but the cause of your destruction.

That is, shew himselfe to be a Prophet. He sheweth what prophesie they delight in: that is, in flatteries, which tell them pleasant tales, and speake of their commodities.

To drive them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

That thing which is just and lawfull, both to govern my people right, and also to discharge your owne conscience.

The Prophet condemneth the wicked government not only of countenance, but of heart, but compasseth them to wolves, lions, and most cruell beasts.

7 Then shall the Seers be ashamed, and the soothsayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer their lips, for they haue none answer of God.

8 Yet notwithstanding, I am full of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iacob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Iacob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.

2 Yea, many nations shall come and say, Come, and let vs goe vp to the mountaine of the Lord, and to the house of the God of Iacob, and hee will teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his pathes: for the Law shall goe forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem.

3 And hee shall iudge among many people, and rebuke mightie nations a farre off, and they shall breake their swords into mattocks, and their speares into sithes: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation, neither shall they learne to fight any more.

6 At the same day, saith the Lord, will I gather her that hath beene cast out, and her that I have afflicted.

7 And I will make her that hath beene remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mightie nation: and the Lord shall reigne ouer them in mount Zion, from henceforth euen for euer.

8 And thou, O tower of the flocke, the strong hold of the daughter Zion, when thou shalt be come, euen the first dominion, and kingdom, shall come to the daughter Jerusalem.

9 Now why dost thou cry out with lamentation? is there no king in thee? is thy counsellier perished? for sorrow hath taken thee, as a woman in traualle.

10 Sorrow a mourning, O daughter Zion, like a woman in traualle: for now shalt thou goe forth of the citie, and dwell in the field, and shalt goe into Babel, but there shalt thou be deliuered: there the Lord thy redeemer thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shall be consumed, and our eye shall looke vpon Zion.

4 And hee shall stand, and sit in the strength of the Lord, and in the maiestie of the power of the Lord his God, and they shall dwell still: for now shall he be magnified unto the ends of the world.

5 And hee shall be our peace when Ashur shall come into our lande: when hee shall come in our palaces, then shall we cast against him truen shepherds, and eight punishment men.

6 And they shall destroy: Ashur with the sword, and the land of Ashur with their weapons: thus shall he be delivred from Ashur, when hee cometh into our lande, and when hee shall tread within our borders.

7 And the remnant of Jacob shall be among many people, as the dewe from the Lord, and as the showers upon the grasse, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeeth in the power of man.

8 And the remnant of Jacob shall be among the Gentiles, in the midwes of many people, as the yon among the heales of the waters, and as the yons whelpie among the flocks of sheepe, who when he goeth thowen, treadeth downe and treadeth in pieces, and man can delivred.

9 Thine hand shall be lift up upon thine enemies, and all thine enemies shall bee cut off.

10 And it shall come to passe in that day, that the Lord, that I will cut off thine borders out of the midwes of thee, and I will deliver thy civities.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and overthrow all thy strong holdes.

12 And I will cut off thine enchanters out of thine hande: and thou shalt have no more soothsayers.

13 Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the midwes of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine handes.

14 And I will plucke by the grones out of the midwes of thee: so will I destroy thine cities.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation upon the heathen, which they have not heard.

And the grasse of the fildes, and not on the hope of deliver all things wherein thou putteth thy confidence and idolatry, and so will helpe thee, that the like hath not bene heard.

An exhortation to the dworne creatures to heare the judgement against Israel being unkind, 6 That manner of sacrifices doe please God.

7 Then say now what the Lord saith, 8 I will show, and contend before the mountains, and let the hills heare thy voyce.

And the obstinacie of his people.

2 Heare ye, O mountains, the Lords quarrell, and ye mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarrell against his people, and he will plead with Israel.

3 O my people, what have I done unto thee: or wherein have I grieved thee: testify against me.

4 Surely I brought thee up out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of servants, and I have sent before thee Moses Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balah king of Moab had devised, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from Shittim unto Gilgal, that yet may know the righteousness of the Lord.

6 Wherewith shall I come before the Lord, and bowe my selfe before the Lord? Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with calves of a yere old?

7 Until the Lord bee pleased with thousands of rammes, or with ten thousand rivers of oyle: shall I give my first borne for my transgression, even the fruit of my body for the sinne of my soule?

8 We have sinned thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requirith of thee: surely to doe justly, and to love mercie, and to humble thy selfe, to walke with thy God.

9 The Lords voyce cryeth unto the cities, and the man of wisdome shall see thy name: Heare the robb, and who hath appointed it.

10 Art yet the treasures of wickednesse in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable?

11 Shall I fill the wicked balances, and the bag of deceitfull weights?

12 For the rich men thereof are full of crueltie, and the inhabitants thereof have spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.

13 Therefore also will I make thee sick in limiting thee, and in making thee desolate, because of thy sinnes.

14 Thou shalt eat, and not be satisfied, and thy casting downe shall be in the midst of thee, and thou shalt take holme, but shalt not deliver: and that which thou desirest, will I give up to the sword.

15 Thou shalt sowe, but not reape: thou shalt tread the olives, but thou shalt not anoynt thee with oyle: and make sweete wine, but shalt not drinke wine.

16 For the statutes of Omri are kept,

b I have not lost thee, but belowed infinite benefits upon thee.

c That is, remember my benefits from the beginning, how I considered you from Balams curse, and also spued you from Shittim, which was in the plains of Moab, till I brought you into the land promised.

e Thus the people by hypocriticie sake how to please God, and are contented offer sacrifices, but will not change their lives.

f There is nothing so deare to man, but the hypocrites will offer it unto God, if they thinke thereby to avoid his anger: but they will never be brought to mortifie their own affections, and to give themselves willingly to serve God as he commaundeth.

THE ARGUMENT.

As they of Nineveh shewed themselves prompt and ready to receive the words of God at Ionah preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certain time rather giving themselves to worldly means to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the fear of God, wherein they had begun, they cast off the cure of Religion, and so returned to their former, and provoked Gods iust judgement against them in afflicting his people. Therefore their crime Nineveh was destroyed, and Meroch-baldan King of Babel (as some thinke Nebuchadnezzar) enjoyed the Empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath a continual care of his Church, these three Prophets to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should bee further consolation. ### THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet complained vnto God, considering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godly, which endure all kinde of affliction and crueltie, and yet can see none end. Therefore he had the reuelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans should come and take them away captiues, so that they could looke for none ende of their troubles as yet, because of their stubburnnesse and rebellion against the Lord. And lest the godly should despair, seeing this horrible confusion, he comforteth them by this, that God will punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and cruelty shalbe at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithfull to patience by his owne example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they should comfort themselves.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the ignorant.

1 O Lord, I have heard thy voyce, and was affraid: O Lord, reuile thy worke in the middes of the people, in the middes of the yeres make it known: in wrath remember mercie.

2 God commeth from Teman, and the holy one from mount Paran, Selah. his glorie couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his myrie.

3 And his brightnesse was as the light: hee had hornes coming out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power.

4 Before him went the peitlence, and burning coles went forth before his feete.

5 Hee stood and measured the earth: hee beheld and disuolued the nations, and the euerlasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hills did bow: his wayes are euerlasting.

6 For his iniquitie I saw the tents of Cushon, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble.

7 Was the Lord angrie against the rivers: or was thine anger against the floods: or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride vpon thine horses: thy charers brought saluation.

8 Thy horse was manifestly reuiled, and the horses of the tribes were a sure word.

9 Whereby is meant a power that was toyed with his brightnesse: which was hid to the rest of the world, but was reuiled in mount Sinai to his people. Exod. 16. 1. Signifying that God hath wonderfull meanes, and euer had a marueilous power when he would deliuer his Church. g. The iniquitie of this king of Syria in vexing thy people, was made manifest by thy iudgement, to the comfort of thy Church, Iudg. 3. 10. and also of the Midianites, which destroyed themselves, Iudg. 7. 25. h. Meaning, that God was not angrie with the waters, but that by this meane he would destroy his enemies, and deliuer his Church. i. And so didst vnto all the elements as instruments for the destruction of thine enemies. k. That is, thy power. l. For hee had not onely made a covenant with Abraham, but renned it with his posteritie.

Selah; thou diddest cleane the earth with rivers.

10 The mountaines saw thee, and they trembled: the firme of the waters was broken: the deepe made a noise, and lift vp his hand on high.

11 The Sonne and Moone stood still in their habitation: at the light of thine arrows they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

12 Thou trodest downe the land in anger, and diddest treade the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation with thine arrow: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discoveredst the foundation vnto the necke, Selah.

14 Thou diddest strike thowen with his owne stones the heads of his villages: they came out as a whitewinde to scatter mee: their rejoycing was as to deuoure the people secretly.

15 Thou diddest walke in the sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I heard, my belly trembled: my lips shooke at the voyce: rottennesse entered into my bones, and I trembled in myselfe, that I might rest in the day of trouble: for when hee commeth by vnto the people, he shall destroy them.

17 For the figge tree shall not flourish, neither shall fruit be in the vine: the laboure of the Olive shall faile, and the figers shall yeeld no meate: the sheepe shall be cut off from the fold, and there shall be no bullocke in the stables.

18 But I will refoyce in the Lord: I will say in the God of my saluation.

THE ARGVMENT.

Seeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, he denounceth the great iudgement of God which was at hand, shewing that their country should be vnto destroyed, and they caried away captiues by the Babylons. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull, he prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistines, Moabites, Assyrians and others, to assure them that God had a continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so hee exhorted the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercie by reason of the free promise of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shew them the effect of that grace, whereby in the ende they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

Threatnings against Iudah and Ierusalem,
because of their idolatry.

The word of the Lorde which came unto Zephaniah the sonne of Cushi, the son of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of Iosiah, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah.

1 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lorde.

2 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the fowles of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shalbe to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lorde.

3 I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Iah from this place, and the name of the Chemarims with the Idoists,

4 And them that worship the holte of heauen vpon the house tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lorde, and sweare by Malcham,

5 And them that are turned backe from the Lorde, and those that haue not sought the Lorde, nor inquired for him.

6 See still at the presence of the Lorde God: for the day of the Lorde is at hand: for the Lorde hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sacrificed his goates.

7 And it shall be in the day of the Lorde, that I will visite the Princes and Princes children, and all such as are clothed with strange apparell.

8 In the same day also will I visite all those that dance vpon the theholde to musicke, which fill their masters houses by melody and decet.

9 And in that day, sayeth the Lorde, there shall bee a noyse, and cry from the city gate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the temple.

10 I should see inhabitants of the lowe place: for the company of the merchants is destroyed: all they that beare siluer, are cut off.

11 And as that time will I search Ierusalem with lightes, and visite the men that are hidden in their dregs, and lay in their houses: the Lorde will neither doe good nor benefit.

12 Therefore their goods shalbe spoiled, and their houses waste: they shall also build houses, but not inhabit them, and they shall plant vineyards, but not drinke thereof.

13 Therefore as I liue, sayth the Lorde, the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they have payned my people, and magnified themselves against my docters.

14 Therefore as I liue, sayth the Lorde, the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they have payned my people, and magnified themselves against my docters.

the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lorde is neere: it is neere and hasteth greatly, even the voice of the day of the Lorde: the strong man shall cry there bitterly.

15 That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauinesse, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscuritie and darkenesse, a day of cloudes and blacknesse.

16 A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the high towers.

17 And I will bring distress vpon men, that they shall walke like blind men, because they haue sinned against the Lorde, and their blood shall be poured out as dunt, and their flesh as the dung.

18 Neither their silver nor their golde shalbe able to deliuer them in the day of the Lorde, neither shall they be denoured by the fire of his ielousie: for he shall make euen a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

CHAP. II.

Hee cometh to returne to God, prophesying destruction against the Philistines, Moabites, and others.

After your sences, euen gather you, O nation not worthy to be loued.

2 Before the decree come forth, and ye be as chaffe that passeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lorde come vpon you, and before the day of the Lorde anger come vpon you.

3 Seeke ye the Lorde all the mecke of the earth: which haue wrought his iudgement: seeke righteousness, seeke lowlinesse, it is bee that ye may bee hid in the day of the Lorde wrath.

4 For Azrah shall be forsaken, and Ashkelon desolate: they shall dwile out Ashdod at the noone day, and Ekron shall be rooted up.

5 Allee vnto the inhabitants of the sea coast: the nation of the Cherethims, the word of the Lorde is against you: O Canaan, the land of the Philistines, I will euen destroy thee without an inhabitant.

6 And the sea coast shalbe dwellings, and cottages for shepheards and sheepefolds.

7 And the coast shall bee for the remnant of the house of Iudah to feede there vpon: in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lodge toward night: for the Lorde their God shall visite them, and turne away their captivity.

8 I haue heard the reproch of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they have payned my people, and magnified themselves against my docters.

9 Therefore as I liue, sayth the Lorde, the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they have payned my people, and magnified themselves against my docters.

10 Therefore as I liue, sayth the Lorde, the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they have payned my people, and magnified themselves against my docters.

10 This shall they have for their pride, because they have reproched, and magnified themselves against the Lord of hosts people.

11 The Lord will be terrible unto them, for he will consume all the gods of earth, and every man shall worship him from his place, even all the pies of the heathen.

12 Peruzzians also shall be slain by my sword with them.

13 And hee will stretch out his hand against the North, and destroy Ashur, and will make Nineveh desolate, and waste like a wilderness.

14 And flocks shall lie in the middes of her, and all the beastes of the nations, and the pelicans, and the owle shall abide in the hyper postes of it: the voyce of birds shall sing in the windowes, and desolations shall bee upon the postes: for the cedars are uncovered.

15 This is the rejoycing cite that dwelt careless, that sayd in her heart, I am, and there is none besides mee: how is shee made waste, and the lodging of the beastes: every one that passeth by her, shall hiss and wagge his hand.

4 Against the government of Ierusalem 8 Of the calling of all the Gentiles. 13 A comfort to the residue of Iffrah.

W Deth her that is filthy and polluted, to the robbing cite.

2 She heard not the voyce: she receiveth not correction: she trusted not in the Lord: she drew not neere to her God.

3 Her princes within her are as roaring Lyons: her Judges are as wolues in the evening, which leave not the bones till the morning.

4 Her prophets are light, & wicked persons: her priests have polluted the Sanctuary: they have wrested the Law.

5 The Lord is in the mids thereof: hee will doe none iniquitie: every morning doeth hee bring his iudgement to light, hee faileth not: but the wicked will not learne to be ashamed.

6 I have cut off the nations: their towers are desolate: I have made their streetes waste, that none shall passe by: their cities are destroyed without man, and without inhabitant.

7 I said, Surely thou wilt feare me: thou wilt receive instruction: so their dwelling should not be destroyed, howsoever I visited them, but they rose early and corrupted all their works.

8 Therefore wait ye upon me, saith the Lord, until the day that I rise up to the praye: for I have determined to gather nations, and that I will assemble the kingdoms to poyse upon them mine indignation, even all my fierce wrath: for all the earth shall be denounced with the fire of my wrath.

9 Surely I then will I turne to the people a pure language, that they may all call upon the name of the Lord, to serve him with one consent.

10 From beyond the rivers of Ethiopia, the daughter of my dispersed, praying unto me, shall bring me an offering.

11 In that day shall thou not be ashamed for all thy workes, wherein thou hast transgressed against mee: for then I will take away out of the mids of thee them that rejoyce of thy pride, and thou shalt no more be proud of mine holy mountaine.

12 Then will I leave in the mids of thee an humble and poore people: and they shall trust in the name of the Lord.

13 The remnant of Israel shall doe none iniquitie, nor speake lies: neither shall a deceitfull tongue be found in their mouth: they shall bee fed, and lie downe, and none shall make them afraid.

14 Repoyce, O daughter Zion: be ye full, O Israel: be glad and crysope with all thine heart, O daughter Ierusalem.

15 The Lord hath taken away thy iudgements: her hath cast out thine enemy: the King of Israel, even the Lord is in the mids of thee: thou shalt bee no more evill.

16 In that day it shall be sayd to Ierusalem, feare thou not, O Zion: let not thine hands bee faint.

17 The Lord thy God in the mids of thee is mightie: he will smite, he will crysope over thee with joy: he will quiet himselfe in his loue: hee will crysope over thee with joy.

18 After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, and then shall bare the reproch of it.

19 Behold, at that time will I bring all that afflict thee, and I will save her that hateth thee, and gather her that was cast out, and I will get them praye and fame in all the lands of their shame.

20 At that time will I bring you again, and then will I gather you: for I will give you a name and praye among all people of the earth, when I turne backe your captivity before your eyes, saith the Lord.

THE ARGUMENT.

When the time of the twentie yeeres captiuitie, prophesied by Ieremieah, was expired, God raised up Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi to comfort the Iewes, and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spirituall Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and consummation hee declareth that plague of famine, which God sent then among them, was a iust reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet hee comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promise of greater felicity, inasmuch as the Lord will finish the works that he hath begun, and send Christ, whom he hath promised, and by whom they should come to perfect joy and glory.

CHAP. I.

The time of the prophesie of Haggai. 8. An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

In the second yeere of king Darius, in the first moneth, the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord (by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai) vnto Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak, the hie Priest,

Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come, that the Lordes house should be builded.

Then came the word of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

Is it time for your houses to dwell in, which houses, and this house lie waste? Wherefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your houses.

¶ Yee haue sown much, and bring in little: yee eate, but yee haue not enough: yee drinke, but yee are not filled: yee clothe you, but yee bee not warme: and hee that sarneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bag.

Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

Goe vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this house, and I will bee glorified in it, and I will bee glorified, saith the Lord.

¶ Yee looked for much, and loe, it came to little: and when yee brought it home, I did consume it. And why, saith the Lord of hostes, because of mine house that is waste, and yee runne euery man vnto his owne house.

¶ Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed his raine from deawie, and the earth stayed her fruit.

¶ And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the fountaines, and vpon the wine, and vpon the

oile, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

¶ When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, with all the remnant of the people, heard the voyce of the Lord their God, and the wordes of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

¶ Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lordes message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

¶ And the Lord stirred vp the spirit of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the house of the Lord of hostes their God.

CHAP. II.

He sheweth that the glory of the second Temple shall exceede the first.

¶ In the foure and twentieth day of the first moneth, in the second yeere of king Darius,

¶ In the twentieth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

¶ Speake now to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

¶ Who is left among you, that saw this house in her first glorie, and how doe you see it now? Is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it as nothing?

¶ Yet now bee of good courage, O Zerubbabel, saith the Lord, and bee of good comfort, O Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest: and bee strong all ye people of the land, saith the Lord, and doe it: for I am with you, saith the Lord of hostes.

¶ According to the word that I covenanted with you, when yee came out of Egypt: so my spirit shall remaine among you, feare yee not.

¶ For thus saith the Lord of hostes, ¶ Yet a little while, and I will shake the heauens, and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land.

¶ This declared that God was the author of the dooctrine, and that he was but the minister, Exod. 14. 31. Iud. 7. 20. Ag. 15. 28.

¶ Which declared that men are vaine and dull to serue the Lord, neither can they obey his word or his messengers before God reforme their hearts, and giue them new spirits, Iohn 6. 44.

¶ For the people according as Isa. 32. 11. and Exek. 41. 1. had prophesied, thought this Temple should haue bene more excellent then Salomons Temple, which was destroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets meant the spirituall temple, the Church of Christ.

¶ That is, go forward in building the Temple.

¶ He exhorteth

them to patience, though they see not as yet this Temple so glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this should bee accomplished in Christ, by whom all things should be renewed.

d Meaning, Christ, whom all ought to look for and desire: or by desire, he may signify all precious things, as riches and such like.

e Therefore when his time cometh, he can make all the treasures of the world to serve his purpose: but the glory of this second Temple doth not stand in material things, neither can be built.

f Meaning, all spirituall blessings and felicitie purchased by Christ, Phil. 4. 7. g That is, the flesh of the sacrifices: whereby he signifieth that that thing, which of it selfe is good, cannot make an other thing for:

and therefore they ought not to iustific themselves by their sacrifices and ceremonies: but contrarie, he that is vncleane and not pure of heart, doth corrupt those things, and make them detestable vnto God, which else are good and godly. h Consider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.

8 And I will mone all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this house with glory, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 The silver is mine, and the golde is mine, saith the Lord of hostes.

10 The glorie of this last house shall be greater then the first, saith the Lord of hostes: and in this place will I give peace, saith the Lord of hostes.

11 In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Aske now the priests concerning the Law, and say,

13 If one beare a holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt doe touch the bread, or the pottage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meat, shall it be holy? and the Priests answered, and said, No.

14 Then said Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be vncleane? And the Priests answered, and said, It shall be vncleane.

15 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, saith the Lord: and so are all the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here is vncleane.

16 And now, I pray you, consider in your minds: from this day, and afore, even afore a stone was laid vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but twine: when one came to the three pefse for to draine out fittie vessels out of the pefse, there were but twentie.

18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildew, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to mee, saith the Lord.

19 Consider I pray you, in your minds, from this day, and afore from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was laid: consider it in your minds.

20 Is the seed yet in the barn? as yet the vine, and the fig tree, and the pomegranate, and the olive tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I bless you.

21 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying,

22 Speake to Zerubbabel the printer of Iudah, and say, I will shake the heavens and the earth.

23 And I will ouerthrowe the throne of kingdomes, and I will destroy the strength of the kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrowe the charers, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the rider shall come downe, euery one by the sword of his brother.

24 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my servant, the sonne of Shealtiel, saith the Lord, and will make thee as a signet: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord of hostes.

this his dignitie should be most excellent, which was fulfilled in Christ.

Zechariah.

THE ARGUMENT.

TWO moneths after that Haggai had begunne to prophesie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore hee putteth them in remembrance, for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnsainedly, and not abuse the great benefite of God in their deliuerance, which was a signe of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull should haue, from death and sinne, by Christ. But because they still remained in their wickednesse and coldnesse to see forth Gods glorie, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, he rebuketh them most sharply: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he euer mixeth the promise of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receiue Christ, in whom all should be sanctified to the Lord.

CHAP. I.

1 Hee exhortieth the people to returne to the Lord, and to shew the wickednesse of their fathers. 2. He signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

IN the eighth moneth of the second yeere of Darius came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah, the sonne of Iddo, the Prophet, saying,

2 The Lord hath bene soye displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore say thou vnto them, thus saith the Lord of hostes, Turne ye vnto mee, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes.

2 Be not ye as your fathers, vnto whom grievously punished. I der your fruites declare to you people, and that hee hath wrought in you by his spirit, and you: for else man hath no power to returne to God, but conuert him, as Ierem. 31. 18. Lament. 3. 11. Iam. 1. 18. and 45. 21.

b This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mention.

their names. <sup>a</sup> Prophets have cried, saying, Come ye to the Lord of hostes, I will weep from your evil wayes, and from your wicked workers: but they would not heare, nor hearken unto mee, saith the Lord.

<sup>b</sup> Your fathers, where are they? and do the Prophets live for ever?

<sup>c</sup> But did not my wordes and my statutes, which I commanded by my servants the Prophets, take holde of your fathers? And as they returned, and said, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe unto vs, according to our owne wayes, and according to our workers, so hath hee dealt with vs.

<sup>d</sup> Upon the foure and twentieth day of the eleventh moneth, which is the moneth Shebat, in the second yere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

<sup>e</sup> I saw by night, and beholde a man riding vpon a red horse, and he stood among the myrre trees that were in a bottom, and behinde him were three red horses speckled and white.

<sup>f</sup> Then said I, O my Lord, what are these and the Angel that talked with mee, said vnto mee, I will shew thee what these be.

<sup>g</sup> And the man that stood among the myrre trees answered and said, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to goe throughout the world.

<sup>h</sup> And they answered the Angel of the Lord, that stood among the myrre trees, and said, Wee haue gone throughout the world: and behold, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest.

<sup>i</sup> Then the Angel of the Lord answered, and said, O Lord of hostes, how long wilt thou be vnmmercifull to Jerusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now thei cheerelesse and ten yeres?

<sup>j</sup> And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with me, with good wordes and comfortable words.

<sup>k</sup> So the Angel that communed with mee, said vnto mee, Crie thou, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I am te'lous ouer Jerusalem and Zion with a great te'l.

<sup>l</sup> And am greatly angrie against the careless heathen: for I was angrie but a lile, and they helped forward the affliction.

<sup>m</sup> And bringeth his matters to passe. <sup>n</sup> Who was the herald of the horsemen. <sup>o</sup> These signified the diuine Angels, by whom God sometime punisheth and rebuketh, and bringeth forth his workes in diuers fortres, and the mediator prayed for the saluation of his church, as was declared when all the countreys about them were at a time God deferre his helpe & comfort from them, and declareth that he longeth them still most deere, and that hee will not forsake his children, or an husbands his wife, and that for them, his helpe is euer ready. <sup>p</sup> In deede I shewed my selfe but a lile angrie towards the enimie would haue destroyed them also, and the end of my chastisements.

<sup>q</sup> Therefore thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Jerusalem with tender mercie: mine house shall bee builded in it, sayeth the Lord of hostes, and a line shall be stretched vpon Jerusalem.

<sup>r</sup> Crie yet, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, My cities shall yet a bee builded with plenty: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Jerusalem.

<sup>s</sup> Then lift I by mine eyes, and sawe, and beholde, foure hornes.

<sup>t</sup> And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And hee answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Jerusalem.

<sup>v</sup> Then said I, What come these to doe? And hee answered, and sayd, These are the hornes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift by his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift by their hornes ouer the land of Iudah to scatter it.

<sup>w</sup> These carpenters, which with their mallets and hammers breake these hard and strong hornes, which would overthrow the Church, and declare that none enemies borne is so strong, but God hath an hammer to breake it in pieces.

CHAP. II.

The restoring of Ierusalem and Iudah.

<sup>a</sup> I lift by mine eyes againe and looked, and beholde, a man with a measuring line in his hand.

<sup>b</sup> Then said I, Whither goest thou? And he said vnto me, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

<sup>c</sup> And beholde, the Angel that talked with mee, went forth: and another Angel went out to meete him.

<sup>d</sup> And said vnto him, Runne, speake to this young man, and say, Jerusalem shall be inhabited without wals, for the multitude of men and cattell therein.

<sup>e</sup> For I, saith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of fire round about, and will be the glorie in the mids of her.

<sup>f</sup> So he came forth, and flee from the land of the North, saith the Lord: for I haue scattered you into the foure winds of the heauen, saith the Lord.

<sup>h</sup> For thus saith the Lord of hostes, After this glorie hath he sent me vnto the nations, which spoiled you: for hee that toucheth and dwell in peace among all their enemies. <sup>i</sup> To defende my Church, to feare the enemies, and to destroy them if they approach neere. <sup>j</sup> In me they shall haue their full felicitie & glory. <sup>k</sup> He calleth to them, which partly for feare, and partly for their owne ease remained still in captiuitie, and so preferred their owne priuate commodities to the benefits of God promised in his Church. <sup>l</sup> As it was I that scattered you, so haue I power to restore you. <sup>m</sup> By flying from Babylon and coming to the Church. <sup>n</sup> Seeing that God hath begun to shew his grace among you by deliueying you, hee continueth the same till toward you, and therefore sendeth mee his Angel, and his Christ to defend you from your enemies, that they shall not hurt you, neither by the way nor at home.

<sup>q</sup> The abundance shalbe so great that the places of flocks shall not be able to containe these blessings, that God will send, but shall euen breake for fullnesse.

CHAP. III.

A prophesie of Christ and of his kingdome.

a He prayed to Christ the Mediator for the state of the Church.

b Which declareth that the faithfull haue
not onely warre
with flesh and blood, but with Satan himselfe
and spirituall
wickednesse,
Ephes. 6. 12.

c That is, Christ
speakech to God
as the Mediator
of his Church,
that he would rebuke Satan: and here he sheweth himselfe to be the continuall
preferuer of his Church.

d Meaning, that Iehoshua was wonderfully preserved in the captiuitie,

and now Satan sought to afflicke and trouble him, when hee was doing his office. e In respect of the glorious garments, and the precious stones that the Priests did weare before the captiuitie, and by this contemptible state the Prophet significeth that these small beginnings shall be made excellent when Christ shall make the full restitution of his Church. f He sheweth of what ap-parell he speaketh, which is, when our filthie finnes are taken away, and wee are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the spirituall restitution. g The Prophet prayeth, that besides the rayment, the Priest might also haue tyre for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignitie of the Priesthood might be perfect: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King: and here all such are condemned that can content themselves with any meane reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet desireth the perfection, and obtaineth it.

h That is, haue rule and gouernment in my Church, as thy predecessours haue had. i Whereby hee meaneth, to haue the whole charge and ministerie of the Church.

And hee shewed mee Iehoshua the high Priest, and <sup>b</sup> Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.

2 And the Lord said vnto Satan, The Lord repproue thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem, repproue thee. Is not this a brand taken out of the fire?

3 Now Iehoshua was clothed with fil-thie garments, and stood before the Angel.

4 And he answered and spake vnto those that stood before him, saying, Take away
the filthie garments from him. And vnto him hee said, Behold, I haue caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of rayment.

5 And I said, Let them set a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lord testified
vnto Iehoshua, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also iudge mine house, and shalt also keepe my courts, and I will

giue thee place among them that stand by.
8 Heare now, O Iehoshua the high Priest, thou and the fellows that stand by thee: for they are monuments persons: but behold, I will bring forth the Branch my seruant.

9 For loe, the stone that I haue layde
before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shall be foren eyes: behold, I will cut out the graining thereof, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will take away the iniquitie of this land in one day.

10 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall yee call euery man his neighbour vnder
the vine, and vnder the figge tree.

m That is, Christ, who did so humble himselfe, that hee became the seruant of God, but also the seruant of men: and therefore in him they should haue comfort, although in the world they were concerned, Isa. 53. 1. ier. 33. 14. 15. 16. 17. 18. 19. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31. 32. 33. 34. 35. 36. 37. 38. 39. 40. 41. 42. 43. 44. 45. 46. 47. 48. 49. 50. 51. 52. 53. 54. 55. 56. 57. 58. 59. 60. 61. 62. 63. 64. 65. 66. 67. 68. 69. 70. 71. 72. 73. 74. 75. 76. 77. 78. 79. 80. 81. 82. 83. 84. 85. 86. 87. 88. 89. 90. 91. 92. 93. 94. 95. 96. 97. 98. 99. 100.

dome of Christ, Isa. 2. 2. micah. 4. 4. hog. 2. 10.

CHAP. IIII.

The vision of the golden candlestick, and the exposition thereof.

And the Angel that talked with mee,
came againe and wakened mee, as a man
that is raised out of his sleepe.

2 And said vnto mee, What seest thou?
and I said, I haue looked, and behold, a candlestick all of gold with a bosome vpon
the top of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen pipes to the lampes, which were vpon the top thereof.

3 And two olie trees ouer it, one vpon
the right side of the bosome, and the other vpon
the left side thereof.

4 So I answered, and spake to the Angel that talked with mee, saying, What are these, my Lord?

5 Then the Angel that talked with mee, answered and said vnto mee, Knowest thou not what theseth be? And I sayde, No, my Lord.

6 Then he answered and spake vnto me,
saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

7 What art thou, O great mountain,
before Zerubbabel? thou shalt bee a plaine,
and hee shall bring forth the head stone

e Who was a figure of Christ, and therefore this vision referred to all the Church who are his body and members.
f He sheweth that Gods power onely is sufficient to preuent theough hee we no mans helpe thereunto. g Hee saith power of the aduersaries to a great Mountain, who are fewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindered Zerubbabel, who representeth Christ, who the enemies daily laboure
the building of his spirituall Temple, but all in vaine. h
The enemies thinke to flay this building, yet Zerubbabel shall highest stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, so that the shall reioyce, and pray vnto God that hee would and fauour toward the Temple.

thereof.

k By punishing the Caldeans, mine anger ceased, & you were delivered.

l To receive of him and the other three, money to make the two crowns: which were men of great authority among the Jews, & doubted of the restitution of the kingdom and of the priesthood, and hurt others by their example.

m Because this could not be attributed to any one according to the Law, therefore it followeth that Iehothua must represent the Messiah, who was both Priest and King.

n Meaning, Christ, of whom Iehothua was the figure: for in Greeke they were both called Iesus. o That is, of himselfe, without the helpe of man. p Which declareth that none could build this temple, whereof Haggai speaketh, but onely Christ: and therefore it was spirituall, and not materiall, Haggai, 2. 20. q Whereof Iehothua had but a shadow. r The two offices of the kingdome and priesthood shall be so ioynted together, that they shall bee no more disiectured. s Who was also called Heldai. t He was also called Iosiah. u That they may acknowledge their infirmities, which looked that all things should have bene restored inconspicuously: and of this their infirmities the two crowns shall remane as tokens. Acts 1. 6. x That is, the promises by the preaching of the Gospel that helpe toward the building of this spirituall temple. y If ye will beleue and remaine in the obedience of faith.

CHAP. VIII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people is the cause of their affliction.

a Which contained part of November and part of December.

b That is, the rest of the people that remained yet in Caldea, sent to the Church at Ierusalem, for the resolution of these questions, because these scandals were consented upon by the agreement of the whole Church, the one in the moneth that the Temple was destroyed, and the other when Gedaliah was slaine, Yere. 41. 2. c By weeping and mourning appeare what exercises they used in their fasting. d That is, prepare my selfe with all deuotion to this fast. e Which was now since the time the Temple was destroyed.

the North countries, have purified my people in the fourth moneth.

f And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

10 Take of them of the captivity, even of Belshazzar, and of Tobiah, and of Jehonah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and go unto the house of Iosiah, the sonne of Zephaniah.

11 Take euen silver and gold, and make crownes, and let them upon the head of Iehothua, the sonne of Iehozabab: the high Priest.

12 And speake unto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, and sayth, Beholde the man whose name is the Branch, and he shall growe out of his place, and he shall build the Temple of the Lord.

13 Then he shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the glory, and shall sit and rule upon his throne, and he shall be a Priest upon his throne, and the counsell of peace shall be betwene them both.

14 And the crownes shall bee to Helem, and to Tobiah, and to Jehonah, & to them the sonne of Zephaniah, for a memoriall in the Temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are farre off, shall come and builde in the Temple of the Lord, and ye shall know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me unto you. And this shall come to passe, if ye will obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

hostes unto me, saying,

16 Speake unto all the people of the land, and to the Priests, and say, when ye fasted, and mourned in the first and fourth moneth, even then I fastened ye, did ye fast unto me? & so he I suppose it?

17 And when ye did eat, and when ye did drinke, did ye not eat? for your felices, and drinke for your felices?

18 Should ye not heare the words, which the Lord hath cryed by the ministry of the former Prophets, when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited?

19 And the word of the Lord came unto Zechariah, saying,

20 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, Execute true iudgement, and shewe mercie and compassion, every man to his brother.

21 And appeale not the widow, nor the fatherlesse, the stranger, nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euil against his brother in your heart.

22 But they refused to hearken, and pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.

23 Pea, they made their hearts as adamant stone, lest they should heare the law, and the words which the Lord of hostes sent in his spirit by the ministry of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes.

24 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cryed, and they would not heare, so they cried, and I would not heare, sayth the Lord of hostes.

25 But I scattered them among all the nations, whome they knewe not: thus the land was desolate: after them, that no man passed thither: nor returned: so they layed the pleasant land waste.

hypocricie, which thought by their fasting to please God, and things as they invented, and in the meane season would not doe as hee commanded. k Hee sheweth that they did not fast with sincere heart, but for an hypocricie, and that it was not pure religion, because that they lacked these offices of charity, which should haue declared that they were godly. Math. 23. 23. l I would not eare the Lords burden, which was too great for them: would beare their owne, which was headie and grievous, thinking to weake thereby: which similitude is taken of our shrink at the yoke, Nehem. 9. 29. m Which declineth rebelled not onely against the Prophets, but against the Spirit, that spake in them. n That is, after they were carried captiue, their finnes whereby they prouoked Gods anger.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Of the returns of the people unto Ierusalem, and of the mercy of God toward them. 16 Of good works. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

A came the word of the Lord of hostes to me, saying,

2 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, I was jealous for Zion with great ieiounesse, and I was ieiune for her with great wrath.

3 Thus sayth the Lord, I will returne into Zion, and will dwell in the middes of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shall be called a city of truerie, and the Mountaine of the Lord.

Land of holies, the holy mountaine. Thus saith the Lord of holies, I here will see a olde men and old women dwell in the streets of Ierusalem, and every man with his staffe in his hand for very age.

And the streets of the cite shall be full of boyes and girles, playing in the streets thereof.

Thus saith the Lord of holies, Though it be impossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be impossible in my sight, saith the Lord of holies.

Thus saith the Lord of holies, Behold, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey.

And I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the midst of Ierusalem, and they shall be my people, and I will be their God in truth, and in righteousness.

Thus saith the Lord of holies, Let your hands be strong, ye that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day that the foundation of the House of the Lord of holies was laide, that the Temple might be builded.

For before these dayes there was no hire for man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out, or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, every one against his neighbour.

But now, I will not increase the residue of this people as aforesaid, saith the Lord of holies.

For the seede shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruit, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heavens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

And it shall come to passe, that as yet there was a curse among the heathen, O house of Israel, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and ye shall be a blessing: feare not, for your hands shall be strong.

For thus saith the Lord of holies, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers sinned mee unto wrath, saith the Lord of holies, and repented not.

So againe haue I determined in these dayes, to doe well unto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

These are the things that ye shall doe. Speake ye every man the truth unto his neighbour: execute iudgement truly and roughly in your gates.

And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and looe to false oath: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

And the word of the Lord of holies came unto me, saying,

Thus saith the Lord of holies, The fast of the fourth month, and the fast of the seuen, and the fast of the tenth, and the fast of the twelfth, shall be to you a remembrance, and ye shall begin to doe well, which is to pardon his iniquities in grace.

of the tenth shall bee to the house of Iudah joy and gladnesse, and prosperous high feasts: therefore I will be merciful and peace.

Thus saith the Lord of holies, I will be merciful to you, and the inhabitants of great cities.

And they that dwell in one cite, shall goe to another, saying, We be as God and pray before the Lord, and seek the Lord of holies: I will goe also.

For great people and mighty nations shall come to seeke the Lord of holies in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

Thus saith the Lord of holies, In those dayes shall ten men take hold out of all languages of the nations, euen take hold of the skirt of him that is a Jew, and say, We will goe with you: for we haue heard that God is with you.

The great zeale that God should giue the Gentiles to come to his Church, and to ioyne with the Iewes in the true religion, which should be in the kingdom of Christ, Isa. 56. micah 4. 1.

CHAP. IX.

The threatening of the Gentiles, 9 The coming of Christ.

The burden of the word of the Lord in the land of Hamath: and Damascus shall bee his rest: when the eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shall be toward the Lord.

And Hamath also shall border there by: Tyus also and Sidon, though they bee very wise.

For Tyus did build her selfe a strong hold, and heaped up silver as the dust, and gold as the mire of the streets.

Behold, the Lord will spoyle her, and he will smite her: power in the Sea, and she shall be denoured with fire.

Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Gaza also shall be very sorrowfull, and Ekron for her countenance shall be ashamed, and the king shall perish from Gaza, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

And the stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistines.

And I will take away his blood out of his mouth: and his abominations from between his teeth: but hee that remaineth, euen he shall be for our God, and hee shall be as a prince in Iudah, but Ekron shall be as a Iebusite.

And I will campe about mine house against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come upon them.

Though they of Tyus thinke themselves invincible by reason of the Sea that compasseth the mround about, yet they shall not escape Gods iudgements. Meaning, that all should be destroyed save a few, that should remaine as strangers. Hee promisheth to deliuer the Iewes when he shall take vengeance on their enemies for their crueltie, and wrongs done to them. As the Iewes had bene destroyed, so should Ekron and all the Philistines. Hee sheweth that Gods power only shall bee sufficient to deserve his Church against all adversaries, bee they neuer so well, or as terrible their power neuer so often.

Which first was appointed, when the citie was besieged, and was the first fall of these four: and here the Prophet sheweth that if the Iewes will repent, and turne wholly to God, they shall haue no more occasion to fall, or to the signes of desolation: for God will send them joy and gladnesse.

He declareth

the great zeale that God should giue the Gentiles to come to his Church, and to ioyne with the Iewes in the true religion, which should be in the kingdom of Christ, Isa. 56. micah 4. 1.

a Whereby he meaneth Syria.

b Gods anger shall abide upon their thiefe citie, and not spare for much as that.

c When the Iewes shall convert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies.

d That is, by Damascus: meaning that Hamath or Antiochia should be under the same rod and plague.

e He secretly sheweth the cause of their destruction, because they dejected all other by their craft and subtiltie, which they cloaked with this name of Wisdom.

1 That is, God hath now scene the great injuries and afflictions wherewith they have been afflicted by their enemies,

m That is, he hath righteousness and situation in himselfe for the use and commoditie of his Church,

n Which declareth that they should not looke for such a king as should be glorious in the eyes of man, but should be poore, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deliuer his: and this is meant of Christ, as Matt. 21.5.

o No power of man or creature shall be able to let this kingdom of Christ, and he shall peaceably gouerne them by his word, p That is, from the red sea, to the sea called Syria: and by their places which the Iewes knew he meant an infinite space and compass over the whole world.

q This is, from Babylon, to the Temple, or the Church which is saved by the blood of Christ, whereto the blood of the sacrifice was a figure, and is heere called the covenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, and let it with them for the love that he beareth unto them. r That is, God sheweth that he will deliuer his Church out of all dangers, so that they neuer so great. That is, into the holy land, where the citie and the Temple are, whereto God will defend you. s That is, the Church, which seemeth to be in danger of their enemies on every side, and yet liued in hope that God would restore them to libertie. x That is, double benefit and prosperitie in respect of that, which your fathers enjoyed from Dauid's time to the captiuitie. y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which bee here meant by the Grecians. z Hee promisseth that the Iewes shall destroy their enemies and haue abundance and excess of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: which things are not to moue them to intemperancie, but to kinde in a thankfull remembrance of Gods great liberality. a The faithfull shall be preferred, and reuerenced of all, in the very enemies shall be compelled to effeme them: for Gods glory shall shine in them; as Iosephus declared of Alexander the great, when he met with the high Priest.

any more: for now I haue scene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shout for ioy, O daughter Jerusalem: behold, thy king cometh vnto thee: he is iust, and saved himselfe, poore, and riding vpon an asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the charrets from Ephraim, and the horse from Jerusalem: the bow of the battell shall be broken, and he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shall bee from sea vnto sea, and from the river vnto the end of the land.

11 Thou also shalt bee saved through the blood of thy covenant. I haue looked thy prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the strong holde, ye prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I bent as a bowe for me: Ephraim hand haue I filled, and I haue raised by thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants fowd.

14 And the Lord shall be scene ouer them, and his arrow shall bee south as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blow the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirlwindes of the south.

15 The Lord of hosts shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, and subdue them with living stones, and they shall drinke, and make a noyse as thow wine, and they shall be filled like bowels, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the focke of his people: for they shall bee as the stones of the crowne lifted vp vpon his land.

17 For how great is his goodnesse! and how great is his beautie! cogite: shall make the young men cheerefull, and new wine the matrons.

Meaning, Ierusalem, or the Church which is saved by the blood of Christ, whereto the blood of the sacrifice was a figure, and is heere called the covenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, and let it with them for the love that he beareth unto them. r That is, God sheweth that he will deliuer his Church out of all dangers, so that they neuer so great. C. H. A. P. X.

2 The vanitie of idolatrie. 3 The Lord promise to visit and comfort the house of Iuda.

4 That is, the Lord shall come to visit the house of Iuda, and shall make whoredoms, and give you houses of rain, and to euery one grace in the field.

5 Surely the shepherds haue spoken vanity, and the soothsayers haue scene a lie, and the diviners haue told a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepherd.

6 My wrath was kindled against the shepherds, and I did disse the house of Iuda, and will make them as this beautiful house in the battell.

7 Our of him shall the corner come south: one of him the nable, out of him the bow of battell, and out of him euery supporter of tribute also.

8 And they shall be as the mighty men, which tread downe their enemies in the mire of the streets in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders and bowes shall be confounded.

9 And I will strengthen the house of Iuda, and I will preferre the house of Ioseph, and I will bring them againe, as I purie them: and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.

10 And they of Ephraim shall be as a giant, and their heart shall reioyce as though wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad: and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

11 I will visite for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall encrease, as they haue encreased.

12 And I will sowe them among the people, and they shall remember me in farre countreies: and they shall lue with their children, and turne againe.

13 I will bring them againe out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Assyria, and will bring them into the land of Oilead and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

14 And he shall goe into the sea with affliction, and shall swim the women in the sea, and all depthes of the river shall bee dry, and the pride of Asshur shall bee cut downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall be part away.

15 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his strength, saith the Lord.

That is, the renne tribes, which should haue been to the rest of the Church. i Wherein hee declared that God, who needeth no great preparation wherewith to for with a becke or hiss, he can call them from all places. k Though they shall yet be scattered, and seeme to bee shall bee profitable vnto them: for there they shall knowlege of my Name, which was accomplished in pel, among whom it was first preached: 1. Not that they returne into their country, but be gathered and kept by the doctrine of the Gospel. m Hee alludeth to the people out of Egypt, whereas the Angel said of the rulers.

CHAP. XI.

The destruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithful is committed to Christ. 7 A grimmous punishment is inflicted on Judah and Sodom.

Then the doores, O Lebanon, and the cherubs shall devour the cedars.

Three trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mightie are destroyed: the oaks of Baian, for the delcious fured is cut downe.

Here is the voice of the howling of the shephard: for their glory is destroyed: the voice of the roaring of lions howles: for the gate of Iorden is destroyed.

Thus sayth the Lord my God, Feede the shepe of the slaughter.

They that possesse them, slay them, and kille not: and they that sell them, say, Blessed be the Lord: for I am rich, and their owne shepherds spare them not.

Surely I will no more spare those that dwell in the land, sayth the Lord: but loe,

I will deliuer the men every one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his king: and they shall smite the land and out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

For I fed the shepe of slaughter, even the poore of the flocke, and Iooke unto mee two slaues: the one I called Beauty, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the shepe.

Three shepherds also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule loathed them, and their soule abhorred me.

Then said I, I will not feede you: that they might let it be: and that they perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eate, euerie one the flesh of his neighbour.

And Iooke my staffe, even Beauty, and make it, that I might bidemill my countme, which I had made with all people.

And it was broken in that day: and so the poore of the shepe that waited upon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

And I sayd unto them, If ye thinke it good, giue mee a my wages: and if no, leaue off: in they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of silver.

And the Lord sayd unto mee, Cast it unto the potters: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And Iooke the thirtie pieces of silver, though in their life and doings they committed their gaine to Gods blessing, which commeth from the Lord.

I will cause one to destroy another: whom he thought worthy to shew mercy unto.

Wherby hee sheweth his care and diligence to suffer them to have no euill rulers, because they are so wicked.

Meaning the people, because they were so wicked: these great benefites of God. O Hee sheweth me profit by Gods iudgements.

Behold, hee scourgeth them of malice and wickednes, which hee had bestowed on them, but esteemed them as things of no value: that it was too little to pay his wages: which hee had made a law silent to couer the Temple, pieces of silver, and cast them to the potters in the house of the Lord.

Then make I mine other staffe, even the Bands, that I might dissolve the friendship betwene Judah and Israel.

And the Lord sayd unto mee, Take to thee yet the instruments of a foolish shephard.

For loe, I will rayse up a shephard in the land, which shall not looke for the thing that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambs, nor deale that that is ymer, nor feede that that standeth by: but he shall eate the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pierces.

Idole shephard that leaureth the flocke: the fowle shall bee upon his arme, and upon his right eye.

His arme shall bee cleane dried up, and his right eye shall be utterly darkened.

By the arme hee signifieth strength, and iudgement by the eye, that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and iudgement.

and found, By the arme hee signifieth strength, and iudgement by the eye, that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and iudgement.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

The burden of the word of the Lord upon Israel, sayth the Lord, which spread the heavens, and layd the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

Behold, I will make Ierusalem a cup of poyson unto all the people round about: and also with Judah will be drinke, in the siege against Ierusalem.

And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it up, shall be toyme, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

In that day, sayth the Lord, I will smite euery hoyle with blindness, and his rider with madness, and I will open mine eyes upon the house of Judah, and will smite euery hoyle of the people with blindness.

And the princes of Judah shall say in their hearts, The inhabitants of Ierusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hosts their God.

In that day will I make the princes of Judah like coles of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about: on the right hand and one the left: and Ierusalem shall bee inhabited againe in her owne place, even in Ierusalem.

The Lord also shall preserve the tents of Judah, as aforesaid: therefore the glory of the house of David shall not boast, nor the glory of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Judah.

In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and be that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as David: and the house of David shall be as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them.

And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

And I will powre upon the house of David,

And I will powre upon the house of David,

And I will powre upon the house of David,

Signifying, that they should haue a certaine kinde of regiment, and outward shew of gouernement: but in effect it should bee nothing: for they should be wolves and deuouring beasts in stead of shepherds.

And in health, as he doth wisdom and iudgement by the eye, that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and iudgement.

That is, them tribes which neglected Gods benediction in deliuering their brethren, & had rather remain in captiue, then to returne home, when God called them.

Ierusalem shall be defended against all her enemies: so shall God defend all Judah also, and shall destroy the enemies.

Every captaine that had many vnder him afore, shall now thinke that the small power of Ierusalem shall be sufficient to defend them against all enemies because the Lord is among them.

The people which are now as it were dispersed by the fields, and lie open to their enemies, shall be no lesse preferred by my power, then if they were vnder their kings.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleaue riddance of idolatrie. 3 The zeale of the godly against false prophets.

1 In that day there shall bee a fountaine opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for wine and for cleannesse.

2 And in that day, sayth the Lord of hosts, I will cut off the names of the dooles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembered: and I will cause the prophets, and the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any shall yet prophesse, his father and his mother that begate him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lies in the name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begate him, shall thrust him through, when hee propheseth.

4 And in that day shall the prophets be ashamed every one of his vision, when hee hath prophesied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

5 But he shall say, I am no Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught me to be an husbandman from my youth vp.

7 Arise, O Lord, vpon my highnes, and vpon the man, that is my fellow, sayth the Lord of hosts: smite the shepherds, and the sheepe shall bee scatterd: and I will turne mine hand vpon the little ones.

8 And in all the lande, sayth the Lord, two parts therein shall bee cut off, and the third part shall be left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part thorow the fire, and will fine them as the silver is fined, and will try them as gold is tried: they shall call on my name, and I will beare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the doctrine that shall preceide out of his Church, and of the reformation thereof.

2 Hold, the day of the Lord cometh, and thy people shall bee diuided in the mids of thee.

3 For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battell, and the cite shall be taken, and the houses spoiled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the cite shall goe into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the cite.

4 Then shall the Lord go forth, and fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of battell.

5 And his feete shall stande in that day vpon the mount of oliues, which is before Ierusalem on the East side, and the mount of oliues shall cleaue in the mids thereof toward the East and toward the West there shall be a very great valley, and halfe of the mountaine shall remoue toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

6 And yet shall flee vnto the valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines shall reach vnto Azal: yea, ye shall flee like as ye fled from the earthquake in the dayes of Oziah King of Iudah: and the Lord is my God shall come, and all the saints with thee.

7 And in that day shall there be no cleere light, but darke.

8 And there shall be a day (it is knowne to d So that out of all the parts of the world they shall see the which was before hid with this mountaine: and this becometh the spiritual Ierusalem the Church. e Hee speaketh of the cries, which could not able Gods presence, but should haue been places, where they might hide them among the Rocks. f Because they did not ascribe to his wordes, hee turneth to God, and comforteth himselfe in his knowledge that these things should come, and faith that Gods thine Angels will come to performe this great thing.

which they say not night, but about the morning time it shall be light.
And in that day shall there be rivers of water from Jerusalem, half of them toward the East sea, and half of them toward the West sea, and shall be both in summer and winter.

8 And the Lord shall be king over all the earth: in that day shall there be one Lord,
and his name shall be one.

9 All the land shall be turned as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the south of Jerusalem: and it shall be lifted up, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate unto the place of the first gate, unto the corner gate, and from the tower of Hannanial,
under the kings minarets.

10 And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be no more destruction, but Jerusalem shall be safely inhabited.

11 And this shall be the plague, wherewith the Lord shall smite all people, that have fought against Jerusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand upon their feet, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, and their tongue shall consume in their mouth.

12 But in that day a great tumult of the Lord shall be among them, and every one shall take the hand of his neighbour, and no man shall rise up against the hand of his neighbour.

13 And Judah shall fight also against Jerusalem, and the arms of all the heathen shall be gathered round about, with a golden and silver, and great abundance of apparel.

14 Yet thus shall the plague of the house of the Lord, of the altar, and of the altar, and of all the beasts that be in their tents as this plague.

15 But it shall come to passe that every one that is left of all the nations, which came against Jerusalem, shall come up from year to year to worship the King the Lord of hosts,
and to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

16 And when to will not come up of all the families of the earth unto Jerusalem to worship the King the Lord of hosts, then upon them shall come no raine.

17 And if the familie of Egypte got not up, and come not, it shall not raine upon them:
his shall be the plague, wherewith the Lord will smite all the heathen, that come not up to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

18 This shall be the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations, that come not up to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

19 In that day shall there be written upon the buldges of the houses, The holiness unto the Lord, and the posts in the Lorde house shall be like the buldges before the altar.

20 Yet, every pot in Jerusalem, and Judah shall be holy unto the Lord of hosts, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and seeke therein: and in that day there shall be no more the Canaanite in the house of the Lord of hosts.

o The enemies
are rich, and therefore shall not come for a pray, but to destroy and shed
blood.

p As the men
should be destroyed, ver. 12.

tians, which were greatest enemies
to true religion,

they were put now (whether to labour, or to serve in warre)

holy, because the Lord had sanctified them.

s As precious thus
one as the other,
because they shall be sanctified.

t But all shall be pure and cleane,
and there shall neither be hypocrite, or any that shall corrupt the true service of God.

Malachi.

THE ARGUMENT.

His Prophet was one of the three, which God raised up for the comfort of his Church after the captivity, and after him there was no more vntill Iohn Baptist was sent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they should with more fervent desires looke for the coming of Messiah. He confirmeth the same doctrine, that the two former doe, but chiefly he reprooveth the Priests for their covetousness, and for that they served God after their owne fancies, and not according to the prescrip of his word. Hee also noteth certaine peculiar sinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and many wives, murmuring against God, impietie, and such like.
Notwithstanding, for the comfort of the godly, hee declareth that God would not forget his promise made unto their fathers, but would send Christ his messenger, in whom the Covenant should be accomplished, whose coming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and joy unto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel, & chiefly the Priests.

1 The burden of the worde of the Lord to Israel by the ministerie of Malachi.

2 I have loved you, sayth
the Lord: yet ye say, Wherein hast thou loved vs? Elias the Tishbite Jacobs brother, sayth the Lorde:
yet I loved Iacob.

3 And I: hated Esau, and made his mountaines waste, and his heritage a wil-dernes for dragons.

4 Though Edom say, We are impowerished, but we will returne, and build the desolate places, yet sayth the Lord of hosts,
They shall build, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickednesse, and the people with whom the Lorde is angry for ever.
5 And your eyes shall see it, and ye shall say, The Lord will be magnified upon the border of Israel.
6 Some honoureth his father, as a servant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? And if I be a master, where is my feare, saith the Lord of hosts unto you.
7 Wretches that despise my Name: and yet say, We will build us a bulwark, we will escape. Hee noteth their great hypocrisie, which would not see their faults, but most impudently couered them, and so were blinde guides.

desolate places, yet sayth the Lord of hosts,
They shall build, but I will destroy it, and
they shall call them, The border of wicked-

God, that he may bestow mercie upon vs:
this hath bene by your means: will hee regard your petitions, I sayeth the Lord of houses?

IO 24th Is there even among you, that would stur the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vain: I have no pleasure in you, saith the Lord of hosts, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 Far from the rising of the Sunne to the going downe of the same, my Name is great among the Gentiles, and in every place incense shall bee offered unto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, both the Kings

your blessings: yea, I have cursed them already, because ye doe not consider it in your heart,

call dung hyon your faces, even the dung of your solemn feasts, and you shall be un-brought to it.

4 And ye shall know, that I have given this commandment vnto you, that my couenant which I made with Levi, might stand, saith the Lord of hostes.

5 By covenant was with him of life and peace, and I gave him fear, and he feared mee, and was afraid before
me.

6 The law of <sup>his</sup> trieth was in his mouth and there was no iniquitie found in his lippes: hee walked with mee in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from in-iquitie.

7 For the Priests' lips should not knowledge, and they should seek the Law
at his mouth; for he is the messenger
of the Lord.

8 But ye are gone out of the way: ye have caused many to fall by the Law: ye have broken the covenant of God, sayth the Lord of Hosts.

9 Therefore haue I also made you to be testified, and rule before all the people, because ye haue not my wayes, but haue bene
partiall in the Law.

10. Do we not all one Father? hath not one God made us? why do we transgress every one against his brother, and break the covenant of our fathers?

11 Judah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel, and in Jerusalem: for Judah hath defiled the tabernacle of the Lord, which hee loved, and hath married the daughter of a stranger.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the servant
out of the Tabernacle of Isaac, and him that offereth an offering unto the Lord of offerings.

13 And this haue yet done againe: and covered the altar of the Lorde with traps, with weeping and with mourning: because

I preferred Levi a certaine Lawe to serve me, and forsooke my glory with all humilitie and lowliness that the Priests ought to have knowledg in the word of the Lord. I He is as the treasure house and ought to give to every one according to their need or referre it for himselfe. m Shewing that whoe receiveth Gods will is not his messenger and Priest.
n Declareth the ingratitude of the Jewes toward God
because they were all borne of one father Abraham, and yett they refused to be his people, they ought neither to be his brethren. o Whereby they had bound themselves to an holy people. p They have joynted themselves with them that are of another religion. q That Ye cause the people to lament, because they have refused their sacrifices, to that they seeme to sacrifice unto
me.

cause the time was come, that the Iewes should bee destitute of Prophets vntill the time of Christ, because they should with more ser-uente mindes desire his coming, the Prophet exhorted them to exercise themselves diligently in studying the law of Moses in the meane season, whereby they may continue in the true religion, and also bee armed against all tentations.

Prophet before the coming of the great and fearefull day of the Lord.

6 And hee shall turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers: lest I come and consume the earth with burning.

and loyning the father and children in one vaine of faith: in the father shall turne to the religion of his sonne which is to Christ, and the sonne shall embrace the faith of the father, Abraham, Ishak and Iacob. h The second point of his was to denounce Gods iudgements against them that would conue Christ.

The end of the Prophets.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGUMENT.

These bookes that follow in order after the Prophets vnto the newe Testament, are called APOCRYPHA, that is, bookes which were not receiued by a common consent to be read and expounded publickly in the Church, neither yet serued to proue any point of Christian religion, save in as much as they had the euidence of the other Scriptures called Canonically to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were receiued to be read for the aduancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the history, and for the instruction of godly manners: which bookes declare that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, and left them not vntirely destitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnesseth that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his providence, who had both so threatened by his Prophets, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the trial of his children.

I. ESDRAS.

CHAP. I.

1 Iudas appointeth Priests, and keepeth the Testimony 7 Offerings for the Priests & the people.
21 The order of the Levites. 23 The upright life of Iudas. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Iosabab appointeth king. 35 The destruction of Ierusalem.

And Iudas kept the Passouer to his Lord in Ierusalem, and offered the Passouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth,

2 And appointed the Priests according to their dayly courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And he spake to the Levites the holy ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselves to the Lord, to let the holy Arke of the Loude in the house, which Salomon the sonne of Dauid had build.

4 And Iudas, he shall no more beare the Arke vpon your shoulders: nowe therefore loue the Loude your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid king of Israel, and according to the matiey of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Levites, which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passouer, & make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Passouer after the Loyses commandement giuen to Moyses.

7 And Iudas gaue to the people that was present, thirte thousand lambes and kids with three thousand calves.

8 These were giuen of the kings possessions according to the promise, to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Levites. Then gave Iudas and Zacharias and Ieruelus the gouernours of the Temple to the priests in the Passouer two thousande six hundred sheepe, and three hundred calves.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, & Samaias and Zachariael his brethren, and Iabias, and Ithielus, and Iozam captaines gaue to the Levites for the Passouer five thousand sheepe, and seven hundred calves.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests & the Levites stood in order, hauing vbleauned bread according to the tribes.

11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the bookes of Moyses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they roasted the Passouer with fire as appertained, and they sod their offerings with perfumes in caldons and pots, Exod. 12.8.

13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offered the fat vnto the evening, and the Levites did make ready for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to the appointed ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, and Azarias, and Eddinus, which was of the kings appointment.

16 And the porters were at every gate so that it was not lawfull that any shoulde passe his ordinary watch: for their brethren the Levites made ready for them.

17 And in that day those things which appertained to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished, that they might offer the Passouer,

18 And offer sacrifices vpon the altar of the Loude, according to the commandement of king Iudas.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passouer, and the feast of vbleauned bread seven dayes.

20 And there was not such a Passouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the kings of Israel did not offer such a Passouer, as did Iudas, and the priests, and the Levites, and the Iewes, and all Israel, which were found to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iudas was this Passouer kept.

23 The workes of Iudas were bright disco;

before his Lord with a heart full of godliness.

24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, to wit, of those that sinned and did wickedly against the Lord, above every nation and kingdome, and grieved him with sensible things, so that the wordes of the Lord stood up against Israel.

25 A Now after all these acts of Josias, it came to passe that when Pharaoh king of Egypt came to moue war at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Josias went out against him.

26 But the king of Egypt sent to him, saying: What haue I to doe with thee, O king of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with mee, and the Lord hasteneth me forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord.

28 But Josias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Ieremias the Prophet, by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But hee set himselfe in battell array against him in the field of Megiddo, and the Princes came downe to king Josias.

30 And the king sayde to his seruants, Concupe me out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.

31 So hee gat vpon on his second chariot, & being come againe to Ierusalem hee changed his life, and was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Iudea was Josias bewailed, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Josias, and the gouernours, and their wiues did lament him vnto his day: and this was ordained in all the kindred of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of the histories of the kings of Iudea, & euery one of the acts that Josias did, and his glory, and his knowledge in the law of the Lord, and the things which hee did before, and the things now rehearsed are registred in the booke of the kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 Then they of the nation tooke Ioschaz the sonne of Josias, and made him king in stead of his father Josias, when hee was thre and twenty yere olde.

35 And hee reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem thre moneths: for the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 Hee taxed also the people of an hundred talents of siluer, and one talent of gold.

37 And the king of Egypt made Joachim his brother king of Iudea and Ierusalem.

38 And hee bound Ioschaz and his gouernours: but when hee had taken Saraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twenty and five yere olde was Joachim, when hee reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Lord.

40 When hee rose against him came vp Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, who when hee had bound him with a chaine of brasse, led him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lord, and carried them away, & set them in his temple at Babylon.

42 But all his actes, and his prophecies, and his reproch, are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings.

43 And Ioachim his son reigned for him: and when hee was made king, hee was threene yere olde.

44 And hee reigned thre moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and hee did euill in sight of the Lord.

45 C So a yere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And hee made Sedecias king of Iudea and Ierusalem, when hee was one and twentie yere olde, and hee reigned eleuen yeres.

47 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, neither did hee heare the wordes spoken by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord.

48 For after that hee was sworne to king Nabuchodonosor, hee forswore himselfe by the name of the Lord, and fell away, and hardened his necke and his heart, and transgressed the lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouernours of the people, and the Priests committed many things against the Lawes, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

50 Nevertheless the God of their fathers sent his messenger to call them backe, because hee feared them, and his owne Eberniaric.

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day, that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets.

52 So that hee, being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednes, commanded the kings of the Chaldeans to invade them.

53 These killed their yong men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare yong man, nor mayden, neither old man nor child among them.

54 But hee deliuered them all into their handes, and all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small, with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke, and caried away the kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the house of the Lord, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem, and burnt their towres with fire.

56 They consumed also all the precious things thereof, and brought them to nought, and those that were left by the sword, hee caried away into Babylon.

57 And they were seruants to him, and to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Ieremias.

58 And that the lande might enjoy her Sabbaths all the time, that it was desolate, till seventy yeres were accomplished.

CHAP. II.

1 Cyrus gaue leave to his serues to returne, to see the holy vessels. 2 The names of them that returned. 3 Their aduersaries did lesch building, and the Kings letters for the same.

Im. 1. 7.

Im. 1. 11.
and 2. 11.

3 The Lord raised up the spirit of Cyrus King of the Persians, and hee made proclamation throughout all his kingdom, even by expresse letters,

4 Saying, Thus saith Cyrus King of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, even the Lord, hath made me King over the whole world.

5 And hee hath commanded me to build him an house in Jerusalem, which is in Iudea.

6 If there bee any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, even his Lord bee with him, and let him goe up to Jerusalem, which is in Iudea, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: hee is the Lord which dwelleth in Jerusalem.

7 All they then that dwell in the places round about those, I say, that are in his place, let them give him with gold and silver:

8 With gifts, with horses and cattell, and other things, which shall be brought according to the voices, into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem.

9 Then arose the chiefe of the families of Iudea, and of the tribe of Benjamin, and the Priests and Levites, and all whose mind the Lord had moved to go up, and build an house to the Lord in Jerusalem.

10 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with silver and gold, with horses, and cattell, and with divers vovues of many whose minds were stirred up.

11 Also king Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had carried out of Jerusalem, and had consecrated them in the Temple of his idols.

12 Now when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them out, he delivered them to Bigthan his treasurer, 13 By whome they were given to I Abasur the gouernour of Iudea.

14 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cups, and a thousand silver cups, basins of silver for the sacrifices, nine and thentie diols, of gold thirtie, and of silver two thousand foure hundred and tenne, and a thousand other vessels.

15 So all the vessels of golde and silver, which they carried away, were five thousand foure hundred, threethore and nine.

16 They were brought by Sanabassar king them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Jerusalem.

17 But in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians, Belemus, & Withidates, and Labellus, and Rathiunus, and Belemus, and Semellius the secretarie, and others which were loyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle here following against them that dwell in Iudea and Jerusalem, TO THE KING, ARTAXERXES OVR LORD.

18 Thy seruantes, Rathiunus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the secretarie, and the rest of their counsell, and the Iudges which are in Coelofyria and Phenice,

19 See it nowe therefore knownen to our lord the king, that the Iewes which came by from you, are come to vs into Ierusalem, that rebellious and wicked ette, and build the market places, and make up the walls thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

20 Therefore if this citie bee built, and the walles bee finished, they will not onely not endure to pay tribute, but also will resist Kings.

21 And because the things pertaining to the Temple goe forward, we thought it not meete to passe ouer such a thing.

22 But to declare it to our Lord the king, that if it bee thy pleasure, it may bee sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

23 And thou shalt find in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this citie did alwayes rebel, and did trouble both kings and cities.

24 And that the Iewes are rebellions, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.

25 Now therefore, O lord the King, wee declare it, that if this citie bee built, and the walles thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passage into Coelofyria, and Phenice.

26 Then the king wrote againe to Rathiunus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Beleserthmus, and to Semellius the secretarie, and to the rest of those that were loyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria & Phenice, these things that follow.

27 I haue read the Epistle, which ye sent to me: therefore I commanded, that it should be sought out, and it was found, that this citie hath alwayes practised against kings,

28 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and wars, and how that mightie kings and herce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which tooke tribute of Coelofyria, and Phenice.

29 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build by the citie, & that it be taken heede that no more be done.

30 And that those wicked things which should molest the king, goe not forward.

31 Then when Rathiunus, and Semellius the secretarie, and the rest, which were loyned with them, had read the things, which King Artaxerxes had written, they moved their tents with speede to Ierusalem with horses and men in aray.

32 And began to see them which built, so that the building of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the second yere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

CHAP. III.

The feast of Darius. 16 The three wise sentences.

Now when Darius reigned, hee made a great feast to all his subiects, and to all those of his owne house, and to all the Princes of Media and Persia,

2 And to all the gouernours and capitaines, and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Triphopia of an hundred and seuen and thentie provinces.

3 And when they had eaten and drinke, and were satified, they departed, and king Darius went into his chamber, and slept till hee wakened againe.

4 In the meane time three yong men of the

the garde, keepers of the kings body, sayde one to another,

5 Let every one of vs speake a sentence, and hee that shall overcome, and whose sentence shall appeare better then the others, Darius the king shall giue him great gifts, and great things in token of victorie,

6 As to weare purple, and to drinke in golde, and to sleepe in golde, and a chariot with hidles of golde, an head tirc of fine linnen, and a chaine about his necke.

7 And he shall sit next to Darius for his wisdome, and shalbe called Darius counsil.

8 Then every man wrote his sentence and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillow of King Darius,

9 And said, when the King rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the king and the three Princes of Persia should iudge to bee wisest, to him should the victorie be giuen, as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The king is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Celomen are strongest, but truely ouercommeth all things.

13 ¶ And when the king rose, they tooke the writings and gaue them to him, and hee read them,

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernours and the captaiues, and lieutenantes, and the counsils,

15 And sate him downe in the Councell, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he said, Call the yong men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strenght of wine,

18 And said on this maner, O yee men, how strong is wine! It deceiveth all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the minde of the king and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bond man and of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also every thought into ioy and gladnesse, so that one remembereth no maner of sorrow nor debt.

21 It maketh every heart rich, so that one remembereth neither king nor gouernor, and cansteth to speake all things by talents.

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no mind to loue either friends or brethren, and a little after they draw out swordes,

23 But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.

24 O yee men, is not wine strongest, which compelled to doe such things: and hee held his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strenght of a king: ¶ Of the strenght of women. 34 Of the strenght of truth, which sentence was approved, 37 and his petition granted.

Then the second which had spoken of the strenght of the king, began to say,

25 O yee men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?

3 But the king is yet greater: for he ruleth

all things, and is Lord of them, so that they doe all things which he commandeth them.

4 If he bid them make war one against another, they do it: if he send the out against the enemies, they go: he brake downe mountaynes, and wals, and to wiers.

5 They kill and are killed, and doe not passe the commandement of the king: if they overcome, they bring all to the king, almost the peoples as all other things,

6 And those also which go not to warrs and battell, but till the earth: for when they haue sowne it againe, they reape it, and bring it to the King, and compel one another to pay tribute to the King.

7 Yet he is but one man: if he bid, kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if he bid them, Spake desolace, they make desolace: if he bid, Build, they build.

9 If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people, and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sleeth downe, he eateth, and drinketh, and sleepech.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one goe and doe his owne will, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O yee men, how should not the king be strongest, seeing hee is thus obeyed? So he held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the third which had spoken of women & of the truth (this was Saphobal) began to speake,

14 O yee men, neither the mightie King, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them of both dominion ouer them: are they not women?

15 Celomen haue borne the king, & all the people which beare rule by sea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them: which planted the vines of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments and make men honourable, neither can men doe without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together gold and siluer, or any goodly thing, doe they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Do they not leaue all those things and giue themselves wholly vnto her, and gaze, and gaze vpon her, & all men desire her more then gold or siluer, or any precious thing?

20 A man leauech his owne father which hath nourished him, and his owne country, and is ioynd with his wife.

21 And for the woman he leopardech his life, and neither remembereth father nor mother nor country.

22 Therefore by this yee may knowe that the women beare rule ouer you: doe yee not labour and trauell, and giue and bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sword and goeth forth to kill and to sleaile, and to saile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers,

24 And he sleeth a Lion & goeth in darke-nesse, and when he hath stollen, rauened and spoiled, he bringeth it to his loue.

25 Therefore a man toucheth his owne wife more then father or mother.

1 Or, pounds.

16 *How many have run mad for women, and how many have perished and have erred
for women.*

17 *How also have perished and have erred
for women.*

18 *How therefore doe you not belorne mee?
Is not the King great in his power? Doe not all regions feare to touch him?*

19 *Yes I saw him and Apame, the kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bactarius,
sitting on the right hand of the King,*

20 And shee tooke the crowne off the Kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and stroke the king with her left hand.

21 *But in the meane season the King gaped and eyed on her: and if she laughed at him, he laughed: and if shee were angry with him, hee was angry: that hee might be reconciled with
her.*

22 Then then, O ye men, are not women more strong, seeing they doe thus?

23 Then the King and the Priestess looked one vpon another, and he began to speake of the men.

24 O ye men, are not women stronger? great is earth, and the heauen is high, & the Sunne whirls in his course: for he turneth round about men in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

25 *Is not he great that maketh these things?
For the truth is greater and stronger then all.*

26 All the earth cattereth for truth, and the heauen blessed it: and all things are shaken and troubled, neither is there any vniust thing with it.

27 *The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, men are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all these wicked works are such,
and there is no truth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.*

28 But truth doeth abide, and is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer and euer.

29 *Which her there is no receding of persons without her: but she doeth the things which are not sheweth from vniust and wicked things,
and all men fauour her works,*

30 *Neither is there any vniust thing in her argument, and this is the strength and the kingdome and the power, and maiestie of all ages.
This is the God of truth.*

31 So hee ceased to speake, and then all the people cried and said, Truth is great and strong.

32 *Then the King said vnto him, Like what thou wilt heere that which is appointed, and we will giue it thee, because thou art found the truth, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by mee,
and shalt be called my cousin.*

33 Then he said to the King, Remember thy word that thou hast vowed to build Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdom,

34 And to send againe at the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus let apart when he made a vow to cut off Babylon, and would to send them thither.

35 Thou also hast vowed to build the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Iuda was destroyed by the Chaldeans.

36 And now, O lord the king, this is that which I desire and require of thee, and this is my magnificence, which I require of thee: I re- quire therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vow which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the King of heauen.

37 Then King Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewards, and lieutenants, and capitaines, and gouernours, that they should bring on the way both him, and all that were with him, which went vp to build Jerusalem.

38 And hee wrote letters to all the Lieutenants in Carthage, and Phenice, and to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, and build the citie with him.

39 And hee wrote for all the Iewes, which went vp out of his kingdom vnto Iuda, concerning their libertie, that no prince nor Lieutenant, nor gouernor, nor steward should enter into their doores,

40 *And that all the region which they kept,
should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let goe the villages of the Iewes which they held,*

41 *And that every yeere there should be giuen
for the building of the Temple twentie talents
vntill it were built,*

42 *And to mainteine the burnt offerings by-
on the altar euery day (as they had a commandement to offer seuentene) other ten talents euery
yeere:*

43 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the citie, should haue libertie, as well they as their posteritie, and all the Priestes that went away.

44 Hee wrote also touching the charges, and the Priestes garment, wherein they should minister.

45 And hee wrote that they should giue the Leuites their charges, vntill the house were finished, and Ierusalem built.

46 Also hee wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.

47 And he sent away at the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, and what soe-uer Cyrus had commanded to doe, hee also commanded to doe it, and to send to Ierusalem.

48 *And when the young man was gone forth, hee lift vp his face to heauen towards Ierusalem, and gaue thanks to the King of hea-
uen,*

49 *Saying, O if thee is the victory, and of thee is wisdom, and of thee is glory, and I am thy
seruant.*

50 Blessed be thou which hast giuen me wis-dome: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our fathers.

51 So he tooke the letters, and went out and came to Babylon, and told all his brethren.

52 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because hee had giuen them freedome and libertie.

53 To goe vp and to build Ierusalem, and the Temple, where his name is renowned, and they reioiced with instruments of musike and toy seuen dayes.

35 All the ministers of the Temple, and the sonnes of the seruants of Salomon, were thus hundredth, seuentie and two.

36 These came vp from Themereth, and Thelerias: Carathalant and Alar leading them.

Neither could they know their families for they had been so long in Babylon, the sons of Iddan the sonne of Iddan, the sons of Iddan, five hundredth fiftie and

And of the Priests those which exercised the office of Priests, were not found the sonnes of Aaron, the sonnes of Iddan, the sonnes of Iddan, which had taken for wife Augias, one of the daughters of Iddan.

And was called after his name and when the description of the kindred of these men had been sought in the register, and could not be found, they were set apart from the office of Priests.

For Iddan and Artharias said to them, that they should not be partakers of the things, till there arose an high Priest clothed with ephraim and truth.

So all they of Israel, from them of thine yeere old, and little children, were I for-thousand, besides men servants and women servants, two thousand three hundredth and fiftie.

Their servants and handmaides were seven thousand, three hundredth fourtie and seven:
the singing men and women, two hundredth, forty and five.

Camels, four hundredth thirtie and five:
and oxen, seven hundredth, thirtie & six mules,
two hundredth forty and five: besides that bare
the yoke, five thousand, five hundredth, twentie and five.

And there were of the governours after their families, which when they were come to the Temple in Jerusalem, vowed to build the house in his owne place according to their power.

And to give to the treasure of the works,
a thousand pound in golde, and five thousand pound in silver, and an hundredth priestly garments.

And the Priests and the Levites and the people dwell in Jerusalem, and in the country, and the holy singers and the porters, and all Israel in their villages.

But when the seventh moneth was come, and when the children of Israel were every one at home, they were all gathered together by one accord into the open place of the first gate, which is toward the East.

Then Jesus the sonne of Josadec and his brethren the Priests, with Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel and his brethren, rising up, made found the altar of the God of Israel.

So offer burnt offerings upon it according as it is written in the booke of Moyse the son of God.

Whether also there were gathered against them of all nations of the land: but they dwelt the altar in his owne place, although all the nations of the land were their enemies and hated them, and they offered sacrifices according to the law, and burnt offerings to the Lord, morning and evening.

They kept also the feast of tabernacles, as it is observed in the Law, and offered sacrifices more than was requisite.

And afterwards, the continuall oblations and offerings of the Sabbath, and of the new moons and of all holy feastes.

And all they which had made any vows to God, began to offer sacrifice unto God in the first day of the seventh moneth, although the temple of God was not yet built.

They gave also money to the maidens and to the workmen, and meat and drinke with gladnesse.

And charots to the Edomites, & to those of Cyprus to bring Cedar wood out of Libanus, which should be brought by fleets to the haven
of Joppa, according to the commandement given unto them by Cyrus king of Persia.

And in the second yeere and second mo-neth came into the Temple of God in Jerusalem, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Jesus the sonne of Josadec, and their brethren, and the Priests and Levites, and all they that came out of captivitie into Jerusalem.

And laide the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the second moneth of the second yeere, after their returne into Judea and Jerusalem.

And they appointed the Levites from twentie yeere old over the workes of the Lord, and Jesus and his sonne and his brethren, and his brother Gadaniel, and the sonnes of Jeda-don with the sonnes of Joda, the sonne of Jeda-don, with their sonnes and brethren, even all the Levites with one accord did followe after the workes, calling upon the workes in the house of God: thus the workmen built the Temple of
the Lord.

And the Priests stood clothed with their long garments with muscull instruments, and trumpets, and the Levites the sonnes of Asaph
with cymbales,

Singing and blessing the Lord, according to the ordinance of David king of Israel.

And they sung loud voyce songs to the prayse of the Lord, because his mercie and glorie is for ever in all Israel.

Then all the people blew trumpets, and cried with loud voyce, praising the Lord for the raising up of the house of the Lord.

Also some of the Priests and Levites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancients which had seen
the former house,

Came to see the building of this with weeping & great crying, and many with trumpets
and joy cried with loud voyce.

So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people:
yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets,
so that they were heard farre off.

Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Juda and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what noise of trumpets it was.

And they knew that they of the captivitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

Wherefore they coming to Zorobabel,
and Jesus, and the chiefe of the families, sayde unto them, Let vs build also with you.

For we obey your Lord as you doe, and sacrifice unto him since the dayes of Ahasa-raeth king of the Assyrians, which brought vs hither.

Then Zorobabel, and Jesus, and the chiefe
of the families of Israel sayd to them, It doeth not appertaine to vs, and to you to build an house
to the Lord our God.

For we alone will build it to the Lord God of Israel, as it becometh vs, & as Cyrus the king of the Persians had vs.

72 Howbeit the people of the land made them slyly that were in Iudea, and letted them to build the worke, and by their ambushments and seditions and conspiracies hindered the finishing of the building.

73 All the time of king Cyrus life: so that they were let from the building two yeres, untill the reigne of Darius.

CHAP. VI.

1 Of Aggeus and Zacharias: 2 The building of the Temple. 3 Sisyntes would let them. 7 His Epistle to Darius. 23 The Kings answer to the contrarie.

Exa. 5. 1. 1. 1.

But in the second yere of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the sonne of Addo the Prophets prophesied to the Jewes, even unto them that were in Iudea and Jerusalem, in the Name of the Lord God of Israel, which they called & upon.

† Greeke upon them.

2 Then Zorobabel sonne of Salathiel, and Jesus the sonne of Joidec stood up, and began to build the house of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem, the Prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them.

3 ¶ In that time Sisyntes the gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathabouzanus with his companions came unto them,

4 And said unto them, By whose commaundement build you this house and this building, and enterpise all these other things? and who are the builders that enterpise such things?

5 But the ancients of the Jewes had grace of the Lord, after that hee had visited the captiuitie,

6 That they were not letted to build, untill it was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answer was receiued.

7 ¶ The copie of the Epistle, which hee did write and sent to Darius: S I S I N T E S gouernour of Syria and of Phenice, and Sathabouzanus, and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute king Darius.

8 It may please the king our master plainely to vnderstande, that when wee came to the countrey of Iudea, and entred into the citie of Jerusalem, wee found in the citie of Jerusalem the ancients of the Jewes that were of the captiuitie.

9 Building an house to the Lord great and new, of beuen stones, and of great price, and the timber already layd vpon the walles.

10 And these workes are done with great speede, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their handes, so that it will be finished with all glorie and diligence.

11 Then wee asked their ancients, saying, By whose commaundement build you this house, and lay the foundation of these workes?

12 We asked them these things to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore wee demanded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, We are the seruants of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

8. King. 6. 2.

14 And this house was built by many yeres agoe by a king of Israel great and strong, and was finished.

15 But when our fathers, prouoking God to wrath, turned against the Lord of Hosts, which is in heauen, hee deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor king of Babel, and of the Chaldeans.

16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it, and caried the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, king Cyrus wrote that this house should be built up.

18 And the holy vessels of golde and of silver, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house at Jerusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the king took out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to I Sanabassar.

19 And a commaundement was giuen him him, that he should carie away those vessels, and put them in the Temple at Jerusalem, and that this Temple of the Lord should be built in this place.

20 Then the same Sanabassar, being come thither, layde the foundations of the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, and since that time till now, it is in building and is not finished.

21 Nowe therefore if it please the king, let it be sought up in the kings libraries concerning Cyrus.

22 And if it be found that the building of the house of the Lord at Jerusalem hath bin done by the content of king Cyrus, and if it seme good to the lord our king, let him make vs answer concerning these things.

23 Then king Darius commanded to search in the kings libraries that were in Babylon, and there was found in Ecabata, which is a towne in the region of Media, a place where such things were layde up for memorie.

24 In the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus, king Cyrus commanded the house of the Lord at Jerusalem to be builded, where they did sacrifice with the continuall fire.

25 Of the which the height should be of threescore cubites, the breadth of threescore cubites, with three rowes of beuen stones, and one row of new wood of that countrey, and that the costes should be payed out of the house of king Cyrus.

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, as well those of golde as of silver, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house in Jerusalem, and brought into Babylon, should be restored to the house which is in Jerusalem, and let in the place where they were afore.

27 Also he commanded that Sisyntes gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathabouzanus, and their companions, and those which were constitute captaiues in Syria & Phenice, should take heede to reframe from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Iudea, and the Elders of the Jewes to build that house of the Lord in that place.

28 And I also haue commaunded to build it cleane up againe, and that they bee diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Jewes, till the house of the Lord be finished.

29 And that some part of the tribute of Co-

lochia

and Phenice, should bee diligently given unto me for sacrifice unto the Lord, and to enrich the government, for buls, rammes, and lambs:

9 And come, and salt, and wine, and oile, constantly every yeere without faile, as the Priests which are in Jerusalem shall require to be spent every day.

10 That offerings may be made to the hie God
by the king and his children, and that they may live in their lives.

11 Furthermore he commanded that whosoever should transgresse any thing afore spoken of this, or derogate any thing thereof, that a tree should be taken out of his possession, and hee be hanged thereon, and that his goods should be the spoyle.

12 And thereto let the Lord whose name is blessed upon, bestow every king and nation, which stretcheth out his hand to hinder or to aid to that house of the Lord which is in Jerusalem.

13 Darius the king have ordained that it should be diligently executed according to these things.

CHAP. VII.

Spirits and his companions follows the Kings commandment, and helps the Levites to build the Temple. 5 The time that it was built. 10 They keepe
the Passover.

1 For Sennes the gouernour of Cordocynia and Phenice, and Sathabouzan, & their companions obeying King Darius commande-
ments.

2 Assisted diligently the holy works, working with the ancients & gouernours of the Sanctuary 3 And the holy workes prospered by Agge-us and Zacharias the Prophets which prophesied.

4 So they finished all things by the commandement of the Lord God of Israel, and with the consent of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes kings of the Persians.

5 Thus the holy house was finished in the four and twentieth day of the month Adar in the first yeere of Darius king of the Persians.

6 And the children of Israel, and the Priests and the Levites, and the rest which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, bin according to the things written in the booke of the Lawes.

7 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lord, an hundred bulles, two hundred rammes, foure hundred lambs.

8 And twelve gaues for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Israel.

9 And the Priests & the Levites stood according to their kindreds, clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Moyses, and also the porters
in every gate.

10 And the children of Israel offered a sacrifice together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the first moneth, after that the Priests and Levites were sanctified.

11 But all the children of the captiuitie were sanctified together, but all the Levites were sanctified together.

12 And they offered the Passouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren
the Priests, and for themselves.

13 Then all the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did eate, when all they that had separated themselves from the administrations of the people of the land, and sought the Lord.

14 And they kept the feast of unleavened bread seven daies, reioycing before the Lord.

15 Because he had turned the countellor of the king of the Assyrians towards them to strengthen their hands in the workes of the Lord God
of Israel.

3 This Chasas went out of Babylon, and was a scribe well taught in the Law of Moyses, given by the Lord God of Israel.

4 Also the King gaue him great honour, and hee founde grace in his sight in all his requests.

5 With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priests and Le-uites, and of the holy singers, and of the Doct-ters, and of the ministers of the Temple who were in Jerusalem.

6 In the seventh yeere of the reigne of Artaxerxes, and in the first moneth: this was the fourth yeere of the King, for they went out of Babylon in the first day of the first mo-neth.

7 And came to Ierusalem according as the Lord gaue them speede in their iourney.

8 For Chasas had gotten great knowledge, so that hee would let nothing passe that was in the Lawe of the Lord, and in the commandements, and he taught all Israel all the statutes and iudgements.

9 So the Commission written by King Artaxerxes was given Chasas the Priest, and reader of the Lawe of the Lord: the copie thereof fol-loweth.

10 King Artaxerxes to Chasas the Priest, and reader of the Lawe of the Lord, Salutation.

11 For as much as I consider things with pittie, I haue commanded that they that will and believe of the nation of the Iewes, & of the Priests and Levites, which are in our kingdom, should go with thee into Israel.

12 Therefore as many as be willing, let them depart together, as it hath seemed good to mee
and my seuen friends the countellers,

13 That they may visite the things that are 53 3 in

in Judea and Jerusalem diligently, as it is contained in the Law of the Lord.

14 And carry the gifts to the Lord of Israel in Jerusalem, which I and my friends have vowed; also all the golde & silver, which shalbe found in the countrey of Babylon appertaining to the Lord in Jerusalem.

15 Which that which is given of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might be brought to Jerusalem, as well silver as gold, for bulles, and rammes, and lambes, and things thereunto pertaining,

16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lord upon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Jerusalem.

17 And whatsoeuer thou and thy brethren will doe with the golde or silver, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lord, which are given thee for the use of the Temple of thy God, which is in Jerusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Jerusalem.

19 And what other things sooner thou shalt remember for the use of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt give it out of the kings treasure.

20 And I also King Artaxerxes haue commanded the treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatsoeuer Elfdas, the Priest and reader of the Lawe of the highest God, shall sende for, they shoulde give it him with all speede, euen to the summe of an hundred talents of silver.

21 And likewise vnto an hundred cozes of corne and an hundred peeces of wine and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things be done to the highest God, according to the Lawe of God with diligence, that warre come not upon the kingdome of the King and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commaunded, that of none of the Priests or Leuites, or holy singers, or porters, or ministers of the Temple, or of the workemen of this Temple, no tribute nor tax be taken, nor that any haue power to take them in any thing.

24 Thou also, Elfdas, according to the will-dome of God, ordeine iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the Lawe of thy God, and teach those, which are not instructed.

25 And let all those which shall transgresse the Lawe of God and the King, bee diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penaltie of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Elfdas the Scribe saide, Blessed be the only Lord God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the King to glorifie his house which is in Jerusalem,

27 And hath honoured mee before the King, and the counsellors, and all his friends and gouernours.

28 ¶ Therefore I was encouraged by the helpe of the Lord my God, and gathered men of Israel to goe by with me.

29 These are the guides after their families and order of dignities, which came up with me out of Babylon in the reigne of Artaxerxes the King.

30 Of the sonnes of Phenix, Serios, of the sonnes of Ithamar, Samari, of the sonnes of Dauid, I Letrus.

31 Of the sonnes of Sberchias, of the sonnes of Phares, Zacharias, and with him were counted an hundred and fiftie men.

32 Of the sonnes of Salomon, Adellonias, the sonne of Zacharias, and with him two hundred men.

33 Of the sonnes of Sathor, Sberchias the sonne of Iseolus, and with him three hundred men: of the sonnes of Adin, I Dorch sonne of Ionathas, and with him two hundred and fifty men.

34 Of the sonnes of Elam, I Iffas sonne of Gethololias, and with him seuen men.

35 Of the sonnes of Sappharias, Sarias sonne of Ithael, and with him seuen men.

36 Of the sonnes of Ioad, I Barias sonne of Iseklus, and with him two hundred and thirtie men.

37 Of the sonnes of Sando, A Salimoth sonne of Iosaphias, and with him an hundred and threecore men.

38 Of the sonnes of Babi, Zacharias sonne of Bebal, and with him twenty and eight men.

39 Of the sonnes of I Akath, Iohannes sonne of Acatan, and with him an hundred and tenne.

40 Of the sonnes of Adonitcan the last: and these are the names of them, Eliphalas, I Iseul and Balas, and with them seuen men: of the sonnes of I Bagouth sonne of Iftacorus, and with him seuen men.

41 ¶ And I gathered the together to the flood called Cheraz, and pitched our tents there three dayes, and numbered them.

42 But when I had found there none of the Priests nor Leuites,

43 I sent to Ctesar, and beheld, there came I Ghasman, and Anathan, and Sannan, and Iordion, and Sathan, Ennatan, Zacharias, and Iosellamon the chiefe; and with them.

44 And I bade them to go to Daddens the captaine which was in the place of the treasure.

45 Which charge to bid Daddens and his brethren, and the treasurers that were there, to lead to be them, which shoulde offer sacrifice in the house of our Lord.

46 And they brought vnto vs by the mighty hande of our Lord learned men of the sonnes of Moth, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Akath, to wit, I Susebrian and his sonnes, and his brethren bring eightreene.

47 And Isebia, and I Annon, and I Sahan his brethren of the sonnes of I Cananias, with their sonnes, twentie persons.

48 And of the ministers of the temple, which Dauid gaue, and those which were rulers over the worke of the Leuites, to wit, ministers of the Temple, two hundred and twentie, of whom all the names were requiried.

49 ¶ And there I proclaimed a fast for the young men before the Lord to aske of him a good iourney both for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattle.

50 For I was ashamed to aske the King footemen or horsemen, or conduct for safety.

against our enemies,

61 Because we had said to the King, that the house of our Loyde should bee with them that he should direct them in all things.

62 Therefore we played our Loyd againe according to these things, whom we found fauourable.

63 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the Priests, and of the Levites, twelve men, to wit, Shabai and Athamas, and with them tenne of their brethren.

64 And I weighed them the silver and the golde, and the holy vessels of the house of our Loyde, which the King and his counsellors, and his prince, and all Israel had given.

65 And I weighed them five hundred and thirtie talents of silver, and silver vessels of an hundred talents, and an hundred talents of golde,

66 And twenty golden basins, & twelve vessels of brass, of fine brass shining like golde.

67 And I saide to them, You are also holy to the Loyde, and the vessels are holy, and the golde, and the silver is a dowre to the Loyde of our fathers.

68 Watch and keepe them, till that you give them to the heads of the families of the Priests, and Levites, and captains of the families of Israel in Jerusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

69 So the Priests and Levites tooke the silver and the golde, and the vessels, and caried them to Jerusalem to the temple of the Loyd.

70 And we departed from the flood Thera, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Jerusalem, according to the mightie power of our Loyde with vs: and the Loyde deliuered vs from the beginning of our journey from all enemies. So we came to Jerusalem.

71 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the silver that was weighed, and the golde was deliuered into the house of our Loyde to Sharnoth the Priest, the sonne of Iozab.

72 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phinees: and there were with them, Iosabab the sonne of Ielus, and I Joeth sonne of Sabbadai, Levites: all was deliuered them by number and weight.

73 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

74 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Loyd God of Israel, euen twelue bulles for all Israel, rams hundred, and steere,

75 Lambes threethou and twelue, twelue goates for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Loyd.

76 And they presented the commandements of the King to the Kings steward, and to the gouernours of Coelosyria and Phenice, who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.

77 ¶ When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the Princes and the Priests, and the Levites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land.

78 For the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Canaanites, and Chetites, and Phereizites, and Jebusites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Ammonites.

69 For they haue dwelt with these daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy seed is mixed with the strange people of the land, and the gouernours and rulers haue bene partakers of this wickednesse from the beginning of the thing.

70 And as soone as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and I pulled the haire off mine head, and of my beard, and late me downe in wofull, and very sad.

71 Then also all they that were moued with the word of the Loyd God of Israel, came to mee whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I late very sad till the evening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees, and stretched forth mine handes to the Loyd,

73 And said, O Loyde, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face. Ezra. 9. 6.

74 For our sinnes are increased about our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.

75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers we are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our sinnes therefore, and our fathers, we with our brethren, with our Kings & Priests haue bene giuen by to the Kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, and for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now how great hath thy mercy bene, O Loyde, that there should be left vs a roote and name in the place of thine holinesse!

78 And that thou shouldst reueale to vs a light in the house of the Loyd our God, and giue vs meate in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, wee were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the Kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meate.

80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Loyde, and saye by Edon that is desolate, and giue vs assurance in Iudea and Jerusalem.

81 And now, O Loyde, what shall we say, hauing these things: for wee haue transgressed thy Commandements, which thou hast giuen by the handes of the seruants the Prophets, saying,

82 * Because the lande which ye goe to inhabit, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filthinesse, Deut. 7. 1.

83 Therefore now ye shall not toyne their daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes,

84 Neither shal you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that ye may be made strong, and eate the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked woikes, and for our great sinnes: yet, O Loyde, thou hast forborne our sinnes,

86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but we againe haue turned backe to transgresse thy Law, and to mixe with the uncleannesse of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not bee angry with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldst neither leane vs roote, nor seede, nor name :

88 But O Lord of Israel, thou art true : for there is a roote left, euen vnto this day.

89 Behold, we are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can we endure before thee for these things.

Ezra. 10. 1.

90 ¶ And as Esdras prayed and confessed and wept, and lay upon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Ierusalem of men and women, and yong children : for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

¶ Or, Israh.

91 Then Jeronias the sonne of I Jeel of the sonnes of Israel, crying out, sayd, O Esdras, we haue sinned against the Lord God : we haue taken in marriage strange women of the nations of the land.

92 And now all Israel is doubtfull : therefore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lord to put away all our wiues, which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seeme good to thee, and to all them that obey the Law of the Lord, rise vp and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doeth it appertaine, and we are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Esdras arose, and made all the chiefe of the families of the Priests and Leuites of all Israel to sweare, that they would doe thus : and they swore.

CHAP. IX.

7 After Esdras had read the lawe for the strange wiues, so they promise to put them away.

Ezra. 10. 6.

Then * Esdras rose from the court of the Temple, and went to the chamber of Ioanah the sonne of Eliashib,

2 And being lodged there, hee did eate no bread nor drinke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Iudea and Ierusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Ierusalem.

4 And that all they which should not meete there within two or thre dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, should haue their cattell confiscate to the Temple, and be cast out from among them of the captiuitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Iuda and Benjamin, came together within thre dayes, into Ierusalem : this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude late in the broad place of the Temple shab : because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Esdras arose and sayd to them, Ye haue sinned : for ye haue married strange wiues, so that ye haue augmented the finnes of Israel.

8 Nowe therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers,

9 And doe his will, and separate your selues from the people of the land, & from the strange wiues.

10 Then all the multitude cried out and said with aloud voyce, Wee will doe so as thou hast saide.

11 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that we cannot stande without, and the worke is not of our day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter,

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and they which haue strange wiues of our families, tarry :

13 And let the Priests and Iudges come out of all places at the day appointed, till they haue appealed the ward of the Lord against vs in this matter.

14 Then Ionathas Asaels sonne, and I Esdras sonne of I Ebecan were appointed concerning these things, and Holoisam and Sathai : us did helpe them.

15 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things.

16 Esdras the Priest also chose vnto certaine men, chiefe of their families, all by name : and they late together in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.

17 And they made an ende of the things pertaining to them that had married strange wiues in the first day of the first moneth.

18 And there were found of the Priests which had married strange wiues,

19 Of the sonnes of Iehus, the sonne of Josi dec, and of his brethren, I Barcias, and Eleazar, and Iosibus, and I Ionadan.

20 Who also gaue their handes to eat out their wiues, and offered a ramme for their conciliation in their purgation.

21 And of the sonnes of Emmer, I Ananias, and Iabdens, and Canes, and Saneius, and I Hieriel, and Azarias.

22 And of the sonnes of I Shasai, Elionas, I Bassias, Imaelus, and Iasbanai, and I Iediel, and I Tallas.

23 And of the Leuites, I Ionabatus, and I Emis, and I Colius, who was called I Calitas, and I Bartheus, and I Doubas, and I Ionas.

24 Of the holy Singers, I Eliasurus, I Barchurus.

25 Of the porters, I Sallumus, & I Tobanias, 26 Of them of Israel, of the sonnes of I Shorus, I Hiermas, & I Edias, and I Balchias, and I Maclius, and I Eleazar, I Asubias, and I Bannias, and I Iacharias, and I Iudiel, and I Hiermor, and I Aedias.

27 Of the sonnes of I Ela, I Barthanias, I Iacharias, and I Iudiel, and I Hiermor, and I Aedias.

28 And of the sonnes of I Zamoth, I Chadas, I Elsimus, I Othonias, I Farimoth, and I Sabatus, and I Sarduus.

29 Of the sonnes of I Bebai, I Ioannes, and I Ananias, and I Iosabad, and I Emarbas.

30 Of the sonnes of I Sami, I Olanus, I Balmuchus, I Ebaas, I Asubius, I Asai, and I Hiermor.

31 And of the sonnes of I Adai, I Anthus, I Iosias, I Accamus, and I Sadius, & I Barthanias, and I Seichel, and I Salmus, and I Bannias.

32 And of the sonnes of I Anas, I Elionas, I Ateas, and I Edichias, & I Sabbens, and I Simon, & I Chosamite.

33 And of the sonnes of I Aom, I Atanias, and I Barthias, and I Bannaias, I Elphat, and I Bannalles, and I Semei.

34 And of the sonnes of I Paani, I Jeremias, I Ombis, I Matrus, I Nel, I Bama, and I Bannias, and I Amos, I Carabasion, and I Euabias, and I Bannimatanahus, I Elisafis, I Amis, I Chali, I Samis, I Selemias, I Barthanias, and I Iosias, I Satus, I Chis, I Asubius, and I Sannas.

Samuel, Samitis, Iosaphus.

And of the sonnes of Ephraim, Manasses, Ephraim, Izel, Banaias.

All their married strange women, and put them with their children.

And the Priests and the Levites dwelt in Jerusalem, and in the country, the first day of the seventh month, and the children of Israel in their home houses.

Then all the multitude assembled together with one consent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the East.

And spake to Eshbas the Priest, and craved, that he should bring the Lawe of Moyses, which had ben given by the Lord God of Israel.

Then brought Eshbas the chiefe Priest the Lawe to all the multitude, both man & woman, and to all the Priests, that they might heare the Lawe the first day of the seventh month.

And he read in the first broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, when the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the Law.

So Eshbas the Priest and reader of the Lawe, stood upon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.

And there stood by him I Bargarthias, Samu, Ananias, Azarias, Durias, Ezecias, and others at his right hand.

And at his left hand I Bhabanias, and I Bhabanias, Abthabaphus, Nabarias.

Then Eshbas took the booke of the Lawe before the multitude (so he late honourably before them all)

And they all stood upright when he re-pounded the Lawe, and Eshbas blessed the Lord the most high God, the most mighty God of boites.

And the whole multitude cryed Amen.

Then Iesus, and I Anus, and Sarabias, and Abimus, and Jacobus, Sabatarias, Antani-
as, Batanias, and Calistas, Azarias, and Iosaphus and Ananias, & Bhabas, the Levites lift up their handes, and fell downe on the ground,
and worshipped the Lord.

And taught the Lawe of the Lord, and stood also earnestly upon the reading.

Then sayde I Archibartus to Eshbas the chiefe Priest and Reader, and to the Levites, that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy unto the Lord, and all have wept in hearing of the Law.

Soe therefore and eate the fatte meates,
and drinke the sweet drinckes, and send presents
to them that haue nor.

For this day is holy to the Lord, and be not sory: for the Lord God will glorifie you.

So the Levites commaunded all these things to the people, saying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not sad.

Then they departed all to eat and drinke,
and to reioyce, and to give presents to them that had not, and to make good cheare.

For they were yet filled with the wordes wherewith they were instructed, when they were assembled together.

II. Esdras.

CHAP. I.

The people is reproved, for their unfaithfulness.
So God will haue another people, if these will not be reformed.

The second booke of the Prophet Eshbas, the son of Saratias,
the sonne of Azarias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Sabanias, the son of Sadoch, the son of Achitob, 2 The sonne of Achias, the sonne of Bithrees, the sonne of Wel, the sonne of Amarias, the sonne of Azie, the sonne of Barimuth, the sonne of Aza, the sonne of Dias, the sonne of Bouth, the sonne of Abisei, the sonne of Bithers, the sonne of Eleazar.

The sonne of Aaron (of the tribe of Levi)
which Esdras was prisoner in the land of Medes
in the reigne of Artaxerxes king of Persia.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me,

For, and shew my people their finnes, and their children their wickednes, which they haue committed against me, that they may tell their finnes children.

For the finnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten mee, and have offered vnto strange gods.

I haue not I brought them out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage: but they have provoked me vnto wrath, and despised my commandes.

And thou olt thou the haire of thine head,
and sit all euill upon them: for they haue not been obedient vnto my Lawe, but they are a rebellious people.

How long shal I forbear them, vnto whom
I haue done so much good?

Many kinges haue I destroyed for their sakes: Pharaon which his seruantes and al his armie haue I smitten downe.

All the nations haue I destroyed before them: I haue destroyed the East, the people of the two countreys Tyrys & Sidon, and haue slaine al their enemies.

Speake thou therefore vnto them, saying,
Thus sayeth the Lord,

I haue led you through the Sea, and haue given you a lure way, since the beginning: I gaue you Moyses for a gubler, and Aaron for a Priest.

I gaue you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders haue I done among you: yet
haue ye forgotten me, saith the Lord.

Thus sayeth the Almightye Lord, The quailles were a token vnto you: I gaue you cents for a safeguard, wherein ye murmured:

And ye triumphed not in my Name for the destruction of your enemies, but ye yet murmure
still.

Where are the benefites that I haue done
for you? when ye were hungry in the wilderness,
did ye not cry vnto me,

Saying, Why hast thou brought vs into this wilderness, to kill vs? It had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians, then to die
in this wilderness.

I had pittie vpon your mournings, and gaue you Manna to eate: I vnto ye did eate

33 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, Your house shall be desolate: I will call you out as the wilde doth the stubble.

34 Your children shall not have generation: for they have despised my commandement, and done the thing that I hate, before me.

35 Your houses will I give unto a people to come, who shall beleue mee though they heare mee not, and they, unto whom I neuer shewed miracle, shall doe the things that I commaund them.

36 Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.

37 * I will declare the grace that I will doe for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnesse, and though they have not seene mee with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleue the things that I say.

38 Now therefore brother, behold what great glory, I see the people that come from the East.

39 Unto whom I will give for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Elias, Amos, Micah, Joel, Abdias, Jonas.

Zacharias, and Malachias (which is called the messenger of the Lord.)

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue fiddeth with her new children. The Gentiles are called.

Thus saith the Lord, I brought thee out of bondage: I gave thee also my commandments by my seruants the Prophets, whom they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

1 The mother that beare them, hath hated them, for you away, O children: for I am a widow and forsaken.

2 I brought you up with gladnesse, but with sorrowe and heavinesse have I lost you: for ye have sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

3 But what shall I now doe unto you? I am a widow and forsaken: goe ye, O my children, and aske mercy of the Lord.

4 And thee, O Father, I call for a witness for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my covenant,

5 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a shyle, that their kindred be not continued.

6 Let their names bee scattered among the heathen: let them be put out of the earth, which have despised my covenant.

7 Accuse unto thee, O wicked people, remember * what I did to Sodom and Gomorrah.

8 Behold land is mixed with clouds of pitch and heapes of ashes: so will I doe unto them, that heare me not, saith the Almighty Lord.

9 Behold land is mixed with clouds of pitch and heapes of ashes: so will I doe unto them, that heare me not, saith the Almighty Lord.

10 * Thus saith the Lord unto Ezechias, Tell my people, that I will give them the kingdom of Ierusalem, which I would have given unto Israel.

11 And I will get me glory by them, and give them the everlasting tabernacles, which I have prepared for those.

12 They shall haue at will the tree of life smelling of oymment: they shall neither labour nor be weary.

13 So ye, and ye shall receive it: pray that the time, which is long, may be shortened: the kingdom is already prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heaven and earth to witness: for I have abolished the euill, and created the good: for I live, saith the Lord.

15 Forer, embrace thy children, and bring them up with gladnesse: make their feet as fast as a pillar: for I have chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And those that bee dead, will I call by from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I have known my name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the childles: for I have chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I will send thee my seruants Elias and Jeremie to help thee, by whose counsel I have sanctified and prepared for thee twelve trees laden with diuers fruits.

19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke and hony, and seven mighty mountaines, whereupon there grow roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with joy.

20 Execute iustice for the widow: judge the cause of the fatherles: give to the poore: deliver the fatherles: clothe the naked.

11 Heale the wounded, and sicke: laugh not at him man to scoone: defend the creple, and let the blinde come into the light of my cleerenesse.

12 Heepe the old and the yong that are with in thy walles.

13 Wherever thou findest the dead, take them and bury them, and I will giue thee the first place in my resurrection.

14 Abide still, O my people, and rest: for thy saluacion shall come.

15 Mourne thy children, O thou good nurse:
sorrowe thy teete.

16 Some of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shall perishe: for I will seeke them from a mong the number.

17 Be not heaueie: for when the day of trouble and heauinesse cometh, other shall weepe and bee sorrowfull, but thou shalt bee merrie, and have abundance.

18 Thy heathen shall enuie thee, and shall doe
nothing against thee, saith the Lord.

19 Mine hands shall couer thee, so that thy foemen shall not see thee.

20 Be ioyfull, O thou mother, with thy children: for I will deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

21 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I will bring them out of the lides of the earth, and will shew mercie vnto them: for I am mercifull, saith the Lord Almighty.

22 Embrace thy children, vntill I com and take mercy vnto them: for my fountaines runne
out, and my grace shall not faile.

23 I Chas. receined a charge of the Loyde
vnto the mount Ioyed, that I should goe vnto Mount Sion, but when I came to them, they did me off, and despised the commandement of
the Lord.

24 And therefore I say vnto you, O yee heathen, that heare and vnderstand, waite for your saviour, who shall giue you euertlasting rest: for he is nere at hand, that shall come in the ende of the world.

25 Be ready to the reward of the kingdome:
for the euertlasting light shall shine vpon you for euermore.

26 See the shadow of this worlde: receiue the son of your glory: I tell thee my Saviour openly.

27 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and bee glad, giuing thanks vnto him that hath called you into the heauenly kingdome.

28 Arise and stand vp, and behold the number of them that are sealed for the feast of the Lord,

29 which are departed from the shadowe of the world, and haue receined glorious garments
of the Lord.

30 Take the number, O Sion, and shut vp them that are ashy in robes, which haue sal-ued the Lawe of the Lord.

31 The number of thy children whome thou hauest brought forth, is fulfilled: beleeue the power of the Lawe, that the people haue which bene called from the beginning may be sanctified.

32 I Chas. saw vpon mount Sion a great people whom I could not number, and they all praised the Lord with songs.

33 And in the way of them there was a yong man in stature then them all, and vpon his head of his head hee set crownes, and better then the others, which I much mar-velled at.

34 So I asked the Angel, and said, who are
these, my Lord?

35 The Angel answered and said vnto me, These bee they that haue put off the mortall clothing, and haue put on the immortall, & haue confessed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

36 Then said I vnto the Angel, What yong man is he that seteth crownes in them, and giueth them the palmes in their handes?

37 And he answered, and said vnto me, It is the Sonne of God, whom they haue confessed in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them, that had stood so strongly for the Name of the Lord.

38 Then the Angel said vnto mee, See thy way, and tell my people, what, and howe great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seene.

CHAP. III.

4 The wonderous works, which God did for the people, are recited. 31 Ephraim marvelleth that God suffereth
the Babylonians to haue rule over his people, which yet are sinners also.

1 In the thirtieth yere after the fall of the citie,
I as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to mine heart,

2 Because I saw the delolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my spirit was sore moued, so that I began to speake feareful wordes to the most high,
and sayd,

4 O Lord, Lord, thou speakest at the beginning when thou alone plantest the earth, and gauest commandement vnto the people,

5 And a bodie vnto Adam, without soyle, Gen 2.7.
who was also the workmanship of thine handes,
and hast breathed in him the breath of life, so that he liued before thee,

6 And ledst him into Paradise, which thy right hande had plaued, or euer the earth
brought forth,

7 Euen then thou gauest him commandement to loue thy way: but he transgressed it: and immediatly thou appointedst death to him & his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people, and kindreds out of number.

8 And every people walked after their own will, and did wonderfull things beside thee, and despised thy commandements.

9 But at the time appointed thou bough-test the flood vpon those that dwelt in the world
and destroyedst them,

10 So that by the flood, that came to euery
one of them, which came by death vnto Adam,

11 Yet thou lesteest one, euen * Noe, with his household, of whom came all righteous men.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth,
began to multiplie, and the number of the children, people, and many nations were increased, they began to bee more vngodly then the first.

13 Noe when they liued wickedly before thee, thou didst chuse thee a man from among them, whose name was * Abraham.

14 Whom thou louedst, and vnto whom only thou shewedst thy will.

15 And madest an euertlasting couenant with him, promising him sharid thou wouldest neuer
forsake his seed.

16 And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, * vnto
Isaac also thou gauest Jacob and Esau, and didst

19 And thy glory went thence four gates of fire, with earthquakes, wind and cold, that thou mightest give the Law unto the seed of Jacob, that which the generation of Israel should diligently observe.

20 Per tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy Law might bring forth fruit in them.

Gen. 3. 6.

21 For Adam first having a wicked heart, was overcome and vanquished, and all they that are borne of him.

22 Thus remained wickedness loyned with the Law in the hearts of the people, with the wickedness of the roote: so that the good departed away, and the tulle abode still.

27 Therefore thou gavest thy citie over into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon. any better, that they should have the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and saw their wicked deedes without number (for this is the thirtieth yeere that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged.

30 For I saw, how thou sufferedst them that sinne, and sparedst the wicked doers, whereas thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preserved thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I cannot perceive howe this commeth to passe. Are the deedes of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so beleeveth thy testimonies as Jacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruit: for I have gone here & there throughout the heathen: I see them flourishing, and thinke not upon thy commandements.

34 Alas! thou therefore our wickednes now in the ballance, and theirs also that dwell in the world, and no mention of thee shall be found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it they that dwell on the earth have not sinned in thy sight? or what people hath so kept thy commandements?

36 Thou hast surely find that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. III.

2 The Angel reproveh Esdras, because he seemed to enter into the profound judgements of God.

And the Angel that was sent unto me, whose name was Uriel, answered,

2 And sayde, Thine heart hath taken too much upon it in this world, and thou hast not comprehended the waies of the highest.

3 Then answered I, Pea, my Lord. Uriel answered me, and said, I am sent to thee from the waies, and to let forth thine understanding from thee.

4 Declarest if thou canst declare me one, I will shew thee also the way that thou desiredst to see, and I will let thee from whence the wicked heart cometh.

5 And I said, Tell on, my Lord. Then said he unto me, Doe thy way, weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the wind, or call me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and said, either man is borne, that can do that which thou requestest me, concerning these things?

7 And he said unto me, If I should aske thee how deepe dwellings are in the mids of the sea, or how great things are in the beginning of the depth, or how great things are in the descending out of the heauen, or which are the bowels of Paradise.

8 Peradventure thou wouldest say unto me, I never went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I ever clumbe up to heauen.

9 But now have I asked thee but of fire and wind, and of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from the which things thou canst not be separated, and yet canst thou give me none answer of them.

10 He sayd moreover unto me, Thine own things, and such as are grown up with thee, canst thou not know?

11 Howe shouldest thou bestell them beable to comprehend the wayes of the wised, and know outwardly in the corrupt world, to understand the corruption, that is hidden in my sight?

12 Then I sayd unto him, It were better that we were not at all, then that we should live in wickedness, and to suffer, and not to know wherefore.

13 And he answered me, and sayd, I came to a forest in a plaine where the trees beide a counsell.

14 And sayd, Come, let vs goe fight against the sea, that it may give place to vs, and that we may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea toke counsell, and sayd, Come, let us goe by and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get another country for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was better: for the fire came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the land stood up and stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betwene them two, whom wouldest thou iustifie? or whom wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered, and sayd, Certly it is foolish purpose, that they both have devised: for the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he me, and sayd, Thou hast given right iudgement: but why wast thou not thy selfe also?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the land, and the sea for the floods, so * they that dwell upon earth, can understand nothing, but that which is upon earth: and they that are in the heavens, the things that are about the height of the heavens.

23 Then answered I, and sayde, I desireth God, I desireth understanding be given me.

24 For I did not purpoe to enquire of thine wyl things, but of such as wee daily meddle withall, namely: wherefore Israel is made a reuolt to the heathen, and for what cause the people whom thou hast loved, is given ouer to such nations, and why the law of our fathers is abolished, and the wyttren ceremonies are come to none effect,

25 Why we are tolled to and fro through the land as the grasshoppers, and our life is a vayne thing, and we are not thought worthy to obayne mercy.

26 But what wilt he doe to his name, which is taken upon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

27 Then answered he mee, & said, The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt maruaile: for the world hatheth fast to passe away.

28 And cannot comprehend the things that are promised to the righteous in tyme to come: for this worlde is full of vnrightheousnesse and wickednesse.

29 But to declare thee the things whereof thou hast asked, the euill is sowne, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

30 If the euill now that is sowne, be not turned vpon downe, and if the place where the euill is sowne, passe not away, then cannot the thing come, that is sowne with good.

31 For the come of euill seed hath bene sowne in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlinesse hath hee brought vp vnto this tyme? And how much shall hee bring forth vntill the harvest come?

32 Ponder with thy selfe, howe much fruite of wickednesse the corne of euill seedes bringeth forth.

33 And when the stalkes shall be cut downe, which are without number, howe great an harvest must be prepared.

34 Then I answered, and sayd, Howe, and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yeeres set, and euill?

35 And he answered me, saying, Waste not to knowe the most high: for thou labourst in vaine to be aboute him, though thou endeavour neuer so much.

36 Did not the soules also of the righteous ask question of these things in their chambers, saying, Howe long shall I thus hope? and when cometh the fruite of my barne and our wages?

37 And vpon this Ieremiel the Archangel answered, and sayde, When the number of the sinners is filled in you: for hee hath weighed the world in the ballance.

38 The measure of the times is measured: the yeeres are counted by number, and they shall not be without end, till the measure thereof be full.

39 Then answered I and said, O Lord, Lord, we are all euill full of sinne,

40 And for our sake peraduenture the harvest of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So he answered me and said, God and aske a woman with child, when shee hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.

41 Then sayd I, No, Lord, she cannot. And he said vnto me, In the game the places of soules are like the wombe.

42 For as shee that is with child, hatheth to escape the necessity of the trauell, so doe these places hatheth to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou desirest to see, shall bee shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and sayd, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meete thereto.

45 Shew me whether there be more to come then is past, or more things past, then are to come.

46 What is past, I knowe, but what is to come, I knowe not.

47 And he sayd vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48 So I stood, and beholds, a hote burning oven passed before me: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and beholds, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before me a watry cloud, and sent downe much raine with a storme: and when the stormie raine was past, the drops came after.

50 Then said he vnto me, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the drops, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand, and the drops and the smoke were much.

51 Then I played, and sayd, I liue, thinkest thou, vntill that time? What shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 He answered me and sayd, Of the tokens whereof thou hast asked me, I can tell thee a part: but I am not sent to shew thee of thy life: for I doe not knowe it.

C H A P. V.

1 In the latter times truth shall be hid. 10 Vnrightheousnes and all wickednesse shall reigne in the world. 23 Israel is rescued, and God deliuereth them. 35 God doeth all things in season.

Neithertheless concerning the tokens, behold, the times shall come, that they which dwell vpon earth, shall be taken in a great number, and the way of the truth shall be hid, and the land shall be barren from faith,

2 And * iniquitie shall be increased more then thou hast seene now, or hast heard in time past. Mat. 24. 12.

3 And it shall come to passe that one shall see in foote, and thou shalt see the land desolate, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God grant thee to liue, thou shalt see after the third trumpet, that the sunne shall suddenly shine againe in the night, & the moone three times a day.

5 Blood shall drop out of the woods, and the stone shall giue his voyce, and the people shall be moued.

6 And he shall rui, of whom they hope not that dwell vpon earth, & the soules shall change place,

7 And the sea of Sodom shall cast out fish and make a noise in the night, which many shall not knowe, but they shall all heare the voyce thereof.

8 There shall be a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake forth, and the wild beastes shall change their places, and menstrous women shall beare monsters.

9 And salt waters shall be found in the sweet, and all friends shall fight one against another, then shall we hide it selfe, and understanding depart into his secret chamber.

10 It shall be sought of many, and yet not bee found: then shall vnrightrousnes and voluptuousnesse haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land also shall as ke another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone thowowe thee? And it shall say, yea.

12 At the same time shall men hope, but not obtayne: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.

13 To shewe thee such tokens I haue leane, and if thou wilt pray againe, and weepe as now, and fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnesse went thowowe all my body, and my minde was feeble and fainted.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, held me, comforted mee, and set me vp vpon my feete.

16 And in the second night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto mee, saying, whither hast thou bene? and why is thy countenance so heauie?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie?

18 Up then and eate, and forsake vs not, as the shepheard that leaueth his flock in the hands of the cruell wolves.

19 Then sayd I vnto him, Goe thy wayes from me, and coue not neere me: and when hee heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning, and weeping, as vntill the Angel had commaunded me.

21 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were very grievous vnto mee againe,

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I began to talke with the most High againe,

23 And said, O Lord, Lord: of euery foresh of the earth, and of all the trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyard.

24 And of all landes of the world thou hast chosen thee one pit, and of all the flowers of the ground thou hast chosen thee one lillie,

25 And of all the depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one riner, and of all builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue, and of all the cattell that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people, thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whom thou lovest, thou gauest a lawe, that is proued of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why hast thou giuen

this one people vnto many? and thou hast roote thou hast set orders, & hast scattered thine onely people among many.

29 They treade them downe, which bene withstoode thy promises, and beleue not thy testimonies.

30 And if thou diddest so much hate thy people, they should haue bene punished with thine owne hands.

31 ¶ Now when I had spoken these wordes, the Angel that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me,

32 And said vnto me, Heare me, and I will teach thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I said, Speake on, my Lord. Then sayd he vnto mee, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou thyselfe, then be doth that made them?

34 And I sayd, yea, Lord: but of very sorrow haue I spoken: for my reines paine me euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most High, and to seeke out part of his iudgment.

35 And he sayd vnto mee, Thou hast not. And I sayd, Wherfore, Lord, wherfore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not seene the trouble of Iakob, and the griefe of the sheche of Israel.

36 And he sayd vnto me, Number vnto mee the things that are not yet come, or gather me the droops that are scattered, or make me the withered flowers greene againe.

37 Open me the places that are closed, and bring mee forth the winds that are shut vp therein: shew me the image of a voyce, and then will I declare thee the thing, that thou hast asked and laboured to know.

38 And I said, O Lord, Lord, who can knowe these things, but hee that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these things, wherof thou hast asked mee?

40 Then sayd he vnto me, Like as thou canst doe none of these things, that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefite, that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I sayd, Beholde, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shall they doe that haue bene before me, or we that be now, or they that shall come after vs?

42 And hee sayd vnto mee, I will compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slacknesse of the last, so there is no slacknesse of the first.

43 Then I answered, and sayd, Consider thou not make at once those that haue bene, those that are now, and those that shall come, that thou mightest shew thy iudgement the better?

44 Then answered hee me, The creature, sayd he, cannot preuent the Creator, neither can the world hold them at once, that shall be created therein.

45 And I sayd, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the people created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it into this continue all men at once.

46 And he said vnto me, Like the wombe of a woman, & say vnto her, Why must thou haue borne more than thyngest foorth? & require her to bring forth ten at once.

47 And I said, Surely she cannot, but by diuine of time.

48 Then said he vnto me, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times when seede is sown vpon it.

49 For as a yong child begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordined the times which I haue created.

50 I asked againe, and said, Seeing thou hast now shewed mee the way, I will procede to shew before thee: for our mother, whome thou hast tolde mee is yong, & draweth thee vnto vnto age.

51 He answered me, and said, Like a woman that travaileth, and shee will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou hast now brought forth, like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And shee shall answer thee, Some were borne in the flower of youth, others were boyne in the time of age, when the wombe failed.

54 Consider now thy selfe, how that yee are lesse of stature, then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you, lesse than yee, as the creatures which now begin to be olde, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then said I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shewe thy seruant, by whome doest thou gouerne thy worke-manhip?

CHAP. VI.

God hath foreseene all things in his secret counsell, and as author thereof, and hath created them for his children, 25 The felicitie of the age to come.

AND hee said vnto mee, In the beginning when the rounde worlde was made, and before the borders of the worlde were set, and before the windes blew one against another.

1 Before the noise of thunders sounded, before the bright lightning did shine forth, before the foundations of Paradise were laid:

2 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the mountaine powres were established, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

3 Before the heights of the ayre were lifted up, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chymnies in Sion were built:

4 Before the present yeeres were fought out, and before the affections of them that were faine, were turned away, and they that had layd up the treasure of faith, were sealed.

5 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by mee alone, and by none other: by mee also they shall bee ended, and by none other.

6 Then answered I, and said, What shall be the vision of times? or when shall bee the end of the first, and the beginning of it that fo-

loweth?

8 And hee said vnto mee, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Jacob and Esau were borne of him, * Jacobs hand held first the heele of Esau.

Gen. 25. 26.

9 For Esau is the end of this worlde, and Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hands of man is betwix the heele and the hand. Other thing, Elias, as he thou not.

11 I answered then, & said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 12 I beseech thee, make an ende to shew thy seruant thy tokens, wherof thou shewedst me part the last night.

13 So he answered mee, and said, Stand by vpon thy feete, and heare a nightie sounding voyce.

14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest shall not bee mooued.

15 And therefore when hee speaketh, bee not afraid: for of the ende shall bee the worde, and of the foundation of the earth shall it bee understood.

16 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth and is moued: for it knoweth that it must be changed at the end.

17 And when I had heard it, I stood by vpon my feete, and hearkened, & beholds, there was a voyce that spake, and the sounde of it was like the sound of many waters:

18 And it sayde, Beholds, the dayes come, that I will come and inquire of them that dwell vpon the earth,

19 And when I beginne to enquire of them, who by their vnrightheousnesse haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion shall be fulfilled,

20 And the world that hath banish away, shall be scaled, then wil I shew these signes: the books shall be opened before the heauen, and they shall see all it together.

21 And the children of a yere old shall speake with their voyces: the women with child shall bring forth vntimely children of thre or foure moneths olde, and they shall live that are rayled vpon.

22 Then suddenly shall the setowen places appeare as the vnstowen, and the full storehouses shall suddenly be found empty.

23 And the trumpet shall sound, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afrast.

24 At that time shall friendes fight with friendes, as with enemies: and the earth shall feare with them: the springs of the welles shall stand still, and in thre houres they shall not runne.

25 Whosoener remaineth from all these things that I haue tolde thee, shall bee saved and see my saluation, and the end of your worlde.

26 And the men that are receiued, shall see it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shall bee changed, and turned to another meaning.

27 For euill shall be put out, and deceit shall be quenched.

28 But faith shall flourish, corruption shall be overcome, and the trinitie which hath bin so long without fruit, shall come forth.

II. Esdras.

30 And when hee talked with me, beholde, I looked a little upon him before whome I stood.

31 And these words sayd hee vnto me, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.

32 If thou wilt pray againe, and fast seuen dayes more, I will tell thee more things, & greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

33 For thy voice is heard before the highest: surely the mightie hath seene thy righteous dealing: he hath seene also thy chastitie, which thou hast kept since thy youth.

34 Therefore hath he sent me to shew thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Bee of good comfort, and feare not.

35 And haue not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.

36 And after this I wept againe, and fasted seuen daies in like maner, that I might fulfil the three weekes which he had appointed me.

37 And in the eight night was mine heart bered within me againe, and I began to speake before the most high.

38 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse.

39 And I sayd, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creation (euen the first day) and commandedst * that the heauen and the earth should be made, and the woake followed thy word.

40 And then was there the spirit, and the darknesse was on euerie side with silence: there was no mans voice as yet created of thee.

41 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy woake.

42 Upon the second day thou createdst the heauenly aere, and commandedst it, that going betwene, it should make a diuision between the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

43 Upon the third day thou commandedst, that the waters should bee gathered together in the seventh part of the earth: fire parts diddest thou dele, & kept them to the intent that of these there should be that should serue thee, being women of God and filled.

44 As soone as thy word went forth, the woake was incontinently made.

45 For immediately great and innumerable fruit did spring vp, and many diuers pleasures for the taste, & flowers of vchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderful smell, and these things were created the third day.

46 * Upon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the sunne, and of the moone, and the order of the starres.

47 And gauest them a charge, to doe * seruice men vnto man that was for to be made.

48 And vpon the fift day thou saidst vnto the seventh part * where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth beasts, as fowles and fishes: and it was so.

49 For the dunbe waters, and without life brought forth liuing things at the commandement of God, that the nations might praise thy wondrous woakes.

50 Then diddest thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Lutarhan.

51 And didst separate the one from the other:

for the seventh part where the water was gathered, could not hold them.

52 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dued vp the third day, that he should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hilles.

53 But vnto Lutarhan thou gauest the seventh part, that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.

54 Upon the first day thou gauest commandement vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beasts, cattell and creeping things.

55 And besides this Adam, whom thou madest lord ouer all the woakes which thou hast created, of him come were all, and the people also, whom thou hast chosen.

56 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the world in such lakes.

57 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto beasts, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessel.

58 And now, O Lord, beholde, these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, are begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

59 And we thy people (whom thou hast called the first borne, the only begotten, and thy first loue) are giuen into their hands.

60 If the world then bee created by our sakes, why haue we not the inheritance thereof in possession: or how long shall we suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

1 Without tribulation none can come to felicity, 12 God aduersifeth all in tyme, 28 The coming and death of Christ, 32 The resurrection and last iudgement, 43 after the which all corruption shall cease, 48 All fell in Adam, 59 The true life, 63 The mercies and goodnesse of God.

AND when I had made an ende of these wordes, there was sent vnto me an Angel, which had bene sent downe to mee the night afore.

2 And he sayd vnto mee, Up, Chusan, and heare the wordes that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I sayd, Speake on, my God. Then sayd he vnto me, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great.

4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the riuer,

5 What could go into the Sea to looke vp on it, and to rule it? If he went not thowt the narrow, how could he come into the broad?

6 There is also another thing: a city is builded, and set vpon a broad field, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrow, and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is a fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left.

8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betwixt the fire & the water, so that thou couldst not one man go there.

9 If this cite were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if hee neuer went thowt the fire before it, how could hee receive his inheritance?

10 And I sayd, It is so, Lord. Then said he, Give me the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes have I made the law: and when Adam transgressed my statute then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the world narrow, full of sorrow and travail: they are full of sin and guilt, and full of perils, and dangerous.

13 For the entrances of the fourworld were narrow, and brought immortall fruit.

14 If then they that are living, labour not to come by their sin and hostile things, they can not attaine to those things that are his.

15 Wilt thou then disquietest thou thy selfe, seeing thou art corruptible: and wilt thou art mortall, seeing thou art mortall?

16 And wilt thou not consider in thy mind the things to come, rather then them that are present?

17 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, seeing thou hast named in thy law, that the righteous shall inherit these things, and that the vngodly shall perishe.

18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in having the large things? yet they that have liued vngodly and suffered straitnesse, shall not see the large things.

19 Then he sayd vnto me, There is no iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most high.

20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the law of God that is appoynted.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as come, to oft as they came, what they should doe to haue life, and what they should obserue to moyn punishment.

22 Wherefore, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined home things.

23 And desecrated themselves by their wicked doings, and denied the power of the most high, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But they despised his law, and refused his counsailes: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his works.

25 And therefore, Elias, vnto the empty deserty things, and to the full, full things.

26 Beholde, the tyme shall come, that these things which I haue tolde thee, shall come to passe, and the blythe shall appeare, and there shall come death, and be seene that now is vnder the sun.

27 And whosoever shall escape these euils, he shall see my wonders.

28 For my sonne Iesus shall appeare with thee that be with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce within foure hundredth yeeres.

29 After these same yeeres shall my sonne come, and all men that haue life.

30 And the world shall be turned into the olde waye by seven dayes, as in the foylinggements, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seven dayes, the world that is now, shall be raysed vp: and that shall die, shall be rayged.

32 Then the earth shall restore those, that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that were therein in silence, and the secret places shall be the sources that were commingled vnto them.

33 And the most high shall appeare vpon the seats of iudgement, and iustices shall be nish away, and long suffering shall haue an ende.

34 Justice onely shall continue: the trusty shall remaine, and faith shall be strong.

35 The works shall follow, and the reward shall be bestowed: the good deeds shall be of force, and unrighteousness shall haue no more rule.

36 Then sayd I, * Abraham prayed first for the Sodomites, and * Iohannes for the sathers that sinned in the wilderness:

37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achar and Sammel,

38 And * Dauid for the destruction, * and Salomon for them that came into the Sanctuary,

39 * And Elias for those that receiued raine, and for the dead that he might liue, 40 And * Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib, and diuers others for many.

41 Euen so now, seeing vice is increased, and wickednesse aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherefore shall not the same effect followe also now?

42 Then hee answered me, and sayd, This present life is not the ende: oft times honour is retained in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weak.

43 But the day of iudgement shall be the end of this world, and the beginning of the immortality to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperancie shall passe away: insubletie shall be cut off: righteousness shall grow vp, and the verity shall spring vp.

45 Then shall no man bee able to saue him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victory.

46 I answered then, and sayd, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that he should not haue sinned.

47 For what profit is it for men in this present life to be in heauinesse, and after death to feare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? * for in that that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee.

49 For what profit is it vnto vs, if there be promised an immortall life, when wee do the works that bring death?

50 And that an everlasting hope should bee promised vs, seeing that we betide our selues to deadly vanitie?

51 And that there should bee appoynted vs dwellings of health and safety, if we haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glory of the most high should be kept to defend them which haue in a patient life, if wee haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternall Paradise should bee giued, whose fruit remained incorruptible, wherein is safety and health, if we will not enter into life?

54 (For we haue bene conuersant in unpleasant places)

55 And that the faces of them, which haue

abstained, should shine more then harres, if our faces be blacker then darknesse :

56 For while we lived, we did not remember when we did unrighteously, that wee should suffer after death.

57 Then antwered he me, and sayd, This is the manner of the battell, which man, that is born in the earth, shall fight.

58 That if he be overcome, he should suffer as thou hast sayd, but if he get the victory, he should receive the thing that I sayd.

Deut. 30. 19.

59 For this is the life, wherof Moyses spake vnto the people, while he lived, saying, * Choose the life that thou mayest live.

60 Neuertheless, they beleueed him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor me also which haue sayd vnto them.

61 That beauiestie should not so bee to their destruction, as toy should come vnto them, to whom saluation is persecuted.

62 I answered then and sayd, I know, Lord, that the most high is called mercifull, in that he hath mercy vpon them, which are not yet come to that world.

63 And that he hath pitie on those that walke in his Law.

67 For if hee were not abundant in his mercies, the world could not continue, nor they that haue the possession thereof.

68 We pardoneth also: for if he gaue not of his goodnesse, that they which haue done euill might be reitueed from their wickednesse, the ten thousand part of men should not remaine aliue.

69 And if he, being iudge, forgaued not those that he healeth with his word, and tooke away the multitude of sinnes,

70 There should peraduenture be very fewe left in an innumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The number of the godly is small. 6 The workes of God are excellent. 20 Esdras prayeth for him and for his people. 39 The promise of saluation to the iust.

55 The destruction of the world.
A 3d he answered me, saying, The most high made this world for many, but the world to come for few.

2 I will tell thee a similitude, O Esdras. As when thou akest the earth, it shall say vnto thee, that it giueth much earthy matter to make pore, but little dust that gold cometh of, so is it with the worke of this world.

Mat. 20. 16

3 * There be many created, but few shall bee saved.

4 Then answered I, and sayd, Then swallow vp the wit, O my soule, and deuoure understanding.

5 For thou hast promised to heare, and thou hast promised: for thou hast no longer space, but the life giuen thee.
